Heenan forwarded a challenge to England, to fight Mace, Hurst, Klog, or any other man in England, for the sum of $10,000. It is also stated that Heenan's effer embraces several other points, viz. that he (Heenan) will stake $10,000 to $3,000 if Mace will come to this country and agat in Canada; he will give Moce $1,000 to $3,000 if Mace will come to this country and agat in Canada; he will give Moce $1,000 to $3,000 to $3,000 if Mace will ome to this country. There propositions are very fair and equitable, and certainly cannot meet with any objection if the Londoners are anxious to test the abilities of the American case more. In his former trip to that country the Boy had to defray his own expenses, which, with those of his trainers, amounted to a vary large sum. The pecuniary stake at issue was almost nothing compared to the outlay he was subjected to while there. And now, as the London sporting press and some of the prominent sporting men of that city have intimated the readiness with which Heenan could be accommodated in a second match, Meenan Chaltenges all England.
