I but anticipate the inevitable verdict of history in placing STEFHEN A. DOVGLAS high upon this roll of fame. With no peculiar advantages at the outset, except those with which Nature had endowed him; born in comparative obscurity, and bowed down by the privations of poverty, he yet elevated himself, at last, among the most brilliant intellects of our land. In the fulness of his strength, he gave many undoubted in its freedom; and in the last trembling accents which fell from his lips, as the rude</li> </ul>	aner, and not way to provide the back of these, and if the ware ignored, and the lesson they teach un- heeded, all our efforts will be in vain. I would be doing violence to my own deep-seated convictions, and neglecting what seems a plain daty, if, while writing. I should omit to mention them. God reigns now, and governs the world now by his con- trolling Providence, as much as he did in the time of the Jews, and there is much in their history by which we may now profit. When the eleven tribes went to war with Benjamin, on account of the out- rage to the Levite, they went in a spirit of arro- gant boasting, and were twice signally defeated, and did not snoceed till they humbled themselves and repented—Judges. chaps. 19, 20, and 21. When Gideon and his 300 men delivered Is:ael from the Midissitish host, they went forth in an humble spirit of dependence upon God, and he sent a nocturnal panic among the energy, who destroyed each elter—Judges. dhap. 7. So he sent his angel by night and slew 185 000 of the Assyrians—24 Kings, ohap. 10 Many more such instances might be soloted for my purpose; so, teo, could many be pointed out in our own early history, and in the history of our English Paritan ancestors. God can cause one to chase a thousand as well now as then. It is true that the age of miraoles has passed, but all history, as well as the Bible, tonches that God punibles nations for their	portant arrival. THEY ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE. Yesterday her Imperial Highness, attended by the Duchess d'Abrances, the Countess de Montho- lon, and a French officer of the Prince's suite, went to the New York Hotel, when they attended di- vine service at Bt Stophen's (Roman Catholio) Church, in Twenty-eighth street, near the Third avenue; when Grand High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Dr. Chummings, pastor of the church. The imperial party attracted great attention It is unnecessary to say that the Princess is very young, as that fact is generally known. The Duchess de Abrantes, however, is supposed to be still younger. The Countess de Montholon is un American by birth, and the daughter of the Freach general, Gratiot, who played so distin- galished a part in our Revolutionary war. She will attend the Princess during her stay. THEY EXPECT TO VISIT WASHINGTON. Yesterday afternoon one of our reporters went off to the Jerome Napolean, a beautiful vessel lying at the entrance of the North river, and had an interview with the Count de Medun, who po- litely informed him that, as the Prince travelle	establish the legitimacy of her son. The suit and its results, in the defect of Madame Bosaparte, are too recent and well known to require more than a bare alluaion to them. THE PRINCESS CLOTILDE is a daughter of Victor Emmanuel, King of Sardinia-now King of Italy-a union which tended to cement more firmly the triendly relations exist- ing between the French and Sardiniau Govern- ments previous to the breaking out of the Italian war. Her name in full is Marie Therese Louise Oletilde, and she was born on the 2d of March, 1843. She is, therefore, now in her nineteenth year. FATHER O'REILLY, chaplain of the Sixty- ninth regiment, states that at the battle of Bull Ran, while in the act of administering the last consolations of religion to a dying rebel soldier, and while olothed in his official robes, he was fired upon several times by the Secessionist. One bal- let went through his hat, two others struck his coat. Gan., Rickmond: Night has closed upon a hard-fought field. Our forces have won a glorious victory. The enemy was routed, and field preoipitately, abandoning a very large amount of arms, munitions, knapsacks and baggage. The ground was strewn for miles with those killed, and the farm-houses and the grounds around were filled with his wounded. The pursuit was continued along several routes towards Leesburg and Centreville, until darkness covered the fogitives. We have captured several field- batteries and regimental standards, and one United States flag. 'Many prisoners have been takon. Too high praise cannot be bestowed, whether for the skill of the principial officers, or for the gal- lantry of all the troops The battle was mainly fought on our left, several miles from our field works; our force engaging them not exceeding fifteen thousand; that of the enemy estimated st thirty-five thousand.
