THE PULPIT.

Sermon by Rev. Dr. Wilmer--Delivered at the United States Hotel. Atlantic City, on Sunday Morning, Aug. 11. On Sunday morning last, by special request, the Rev. J. P. B. Wilmer, D. D., (rector of St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal Church, Locust street, above Sixteenth,) delivered a sermon, at the United States Hetel, Atlantic City, on these words of Scripture :

"But wisdom is justified of her children." [Matt. xi, 19. The ladies' parlor answered the temporary purpose of a chapel. The attendance was large, and the sermon was regarded by all who heard it as a very happy extempore effort. The purpose of the discourse was to meet briefly the charges made against professing Christians by the unbelieving, and to show that while church members are not in all cases exempt from error, and, in some cases, even gross inconsistency, they nevertheless number among them invariably the best men in all the walks of public or private life. Various arguments, the speaker said, had been used to disprove the elevating power of the Gospel upon those who accept it as the Word of God and their rule of life. Skeptics had scrutinized t e history of the Church from its earliest ages, in order to establish charges against it, and the errors and flaws in the principles and practices of modern religions bodies had been sought out with avidity with the same captious design. Precisely in this spirit the Great Teacher and Exemplar of Christianity had been met and persecuted in the days of his incarnation. Christ had come into the world to preach the Gospel. But his mission was falsified, and his practices maligned. The Jews, in striking accord with the same spirit of calumny now abroad among the despisers of God and of his children, had met the Saviour of men, and his forerunner, with words of censure, to wit: "John came neither eating nor drinking, and they say: He hath a devil; the Son of Man came cating and drinking, and they say: Behold! a man gluttonous, and a wine-bibber, a friend of publirans and sinners." It was in connection with these words that Christ, rolling back the charge of his de-famers, had added the words of the text-But wisdom is justified of her children." Dr. Wilmer said that the true Christian had no disposition to disguise his infirmities. He knew himself to be wholly indebted to Christ for all that he is and has, and he would, therefore, not willingly detract from the work and merits of his Saviour by arrogating any inherent good to himself. Nevertheless, when the Christian witnessed efforts made on the part of ungodly men to bring reproach upon the religion of the true and living God, he had a right to be aroused, and in a proper way to repel and refute the slanders. Of all the arguments in favor of the efficacy of the Christian religion, he held that there were none more powerful than that which we had in the example of Christian men.

succinctly, he remarked, first, that the world expected too much of Christians; for men born with a corrupt nature, their association with it necessarily involved more or less imperfection even in the most exemplary. Then, again, it ought to be borne in mind that the major part of a Christian's virtues were of necessity hid from public view, whilst his faults were always trumpeted forth to the world and magnified. His earnest desires to God, in the secrecy of the closet, to be in the secrecy of the closet, to be more and more conformed to his Maker's image and likeness, were unseen; and the same was true of many of his deeds of charity and love in of many of his deeds of charity and love in his walk through life.

A universal state of purity in the Church was, therefore, not to be expected. Nor would he deny that within the pale of the Church there could be found, in addition to the occasional erring, many flagrant examples of delusion and hypocrisy. The good and the bad were combined everywhere, in the Church as well as elsewhere; just as in the fields the weeds lifted their noxious heads among the cultivated fruits of the earth. But instead of this disproving the truth of revelation, or throwing discredit upon the Gospel, it afforded one of its strongest confirmations. The (Kingdom of Heaven" (the visible Church) one of its strongest comminators.

Its dark passages had been explained; its apparent contradictions reconciled, and its Divine authorship vindicated beyond the possibility of respectable gainsay. All this attested what his text declared, that wisdom is indeed justified of her children. But the argument did not close here. TALK ON CHANGE.

The New Orleans Crescent of the 6th says:

upon the heart was merely to reform the moral character its claims would be unsustained. The religion of Christ went much deeper than this. Unbelieving men might, and often did, lead exemplary moral lives, but it was for the true followers of Jesus alone to crucify the world to himself, and thus, to the public eye, to sacrifice the world that now is to that which is to come. This was actually being done in thousands of instances, wherein men, possessing capacities fitting them for the highest positions, gave themselves up to a life of comparative obscurity, in order, by patient and retired study, to shed new light upon the sacred page by its critical exposition.

Turning to the present status of Christianity, the speaker was glad that its protessors could no longer be called a deiuded people. The wisdom and learning of the world were in in fact decidedly on the side of Christianity. Its dark passages had been explained; its aptitished to the proteon of the sacred page by its critical exposition.

Turning to the present status of Christianity, the speaker was glad that its protessors could not the side of Christianity. Its dark passages had been explained; its aptitished to be invaded? The mixes ob invaded? The mixes of our population makes these to be invaded? The mixes of our population makes these to be invaded? The mixes? Are we to be invaded? The mixes of our population makes these inporters to us, for there is every probability that an invading force would meet with considerable aid carries to us, for there is every probability that an invading force would meet with considerable aid carries to us, for there is every probability that an invading force would meet with considerable aid carries to us, for there is every probability that an invading force would meet with considerable aid carries to us, for there is every probability that an invading force would meet with considerable aid carries to us, for there is every probability that an invading force would meet with considerable aid carries to us, for ther about green enough to lend 01d Abe their strength and muscle to keep it alive. Therefore, I say that, if this point is ever attacked, the invading force will meet with prompt and efficient encouragement from many residents of the frontier, and some of them new holding office under Texas and the Confederate Government.

We are rather nervous just now at the reported departure from New York of Billy Wilson's Zouaves, lest they may come down here. In fact, it is directly asserted that a force from Fort Pickens is inevitably bound to land at Bragos cantiago, for the purpose of carrying out Mr. Lin-followers of Jesus had abandoned the world. Pre eminently had they attested their unselfish love of their Master's cause in their zeal to carry to the benighted of other lands the ternal blessings of the Gospel. In doing this they were oft times required to bury them selves for years from the view of civilization. There was to day scarcely a corner of the earth where these taithful heralds of the Cross had not penetrated. It was to Christianity, There was to day scarcely a corner of the earth where these faithful heraids of the Cross had not penetrated. It was to Christianity, also, that the world was as much indebted for all the benevolent institutions that bless it as it was for the churches with their high walls and spires pointing heavenward, and music rolling upon every gale.

In view of all this, he would ask, was this the people that was to be despised and reviled for their schisms and their worldly-mindedness?

No! Like the inspired Balaam, when asked to pronounce a curse upon the people of God, he would answer this request in terms of blessing:

"How goodly are thy tents, O Jacob, and thy tabernacles, O Israel!" "How shall I curse whom God hath not cursed? or how shall I defy whom the Lord hath not defied?" On the contrary, "Blessed is he that blesseth thee, and cursed is he that curseth thee."

"Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his!"

The testimony of Christians in the hour of death, the speaker also regarded as a potent vindication of the divinity and power of their religion. There, at least, hypocrise was a specific religion. To meet such a force we have about three hun. death, the speaker size regarded as a potent vindication of the divinity and power of their religion. There, at least, hypocrisy was unmasked. And yet, who had ever heard of a single instance in which a Christian, in his dying hour, had regretted his faith in Christ, or wished to expunge from the record of his life one act of piety? No one had ever heard of such a case; no one ever would. The very idea of it was preposterous.—The contrast between the death-bed scenes of believers and nobelievers, drawn by the speaker, was vivid and powerful.

In conclusion, Dr. Wilmer addressed a few kind words of admonition to lukewarm professing the precept and example of pions parents. To the latter, especially, his appeal was earnest and pathetic. To the hardened son, who had been favored with the counsels of the Confestion were the revented and many survey. It is a survey for some a sixty four siege howizer to a four pound brass field piece. GENERAL NEWS.

Dr. Wilmer is a fine-looking man, somewhat on the wintry-side of life's meridian, is evidently a man of culture, and is much beloved by his congregation. His sermon, of which the foregoing is a meagre synopsis, was appreciated by persons of all denominations in attendance, both for the elevating character of its matter and the pleasing manner in which it was delivered.

NOTES ON THE REBELLION.

Late Southern papers contain the following items:

THE AREMST OF HON. T. A. R. NELSON.

The report of the seizure of Mr. Nelson, on a charge of treason to the Confederate traitors is confirmed by Tennessee papers. The Nashville paper states that he has traversed the mountains and valleys of East Tennessee, exhorting the pool ple to loyally to the Union. But the Union and American says that forbearance has eeased to be FEROCIOUS BEAST ABOUT .- Some strange

AT LAST, rumor has stated the truth about HON. HORACE MAYNAED, of Tennessee, has arrived in Washington. He and Hen Thomas A. R. Nelson had arranged to leave Tennessee the day after the election, August 1, and, meeting in Kentucky, come on and take their seats in the Federal Congress. Judge Nelson was in one of the extreme counties of his district, and in attempting to cross Lee county, Virginia, which is b-tween Kentucky and Tennessee. he was seized. Information has been received at Washington that he is in prison at Richmond, upon the charge of treason to the Confederate Government in coming to Washington to take his seat in the Federal Congress

In a Thibotalax Schiffel of Friday has the lois lowing:

"A portion of the Lafourche Dragoons, under the command of its worthy captain, R. G. Darden.

Eq. left our city on last Menday for the Gulf coast. We understand that the captain has received orders to proceed to the above place, and there to cruise around and keep off the Lincoln marauders and hirelings of Abolitiondom who should venture, as they have heretofore done, near Gulf coast, in quest of food as they pretend to say, but who, in reality, have been prowling around with the sole object of robbing the poor inhabitants who live in that vicinity."

The Tensas Gazette of Friday says:

E Tullis, Esq., who last year shipped one of the first bales of cotton, had plaked on his plantation on Tuesday, the 30th of July, over five thousand pounds of clean cotton. In about another week picking throughout the parish will be general. The corn crop is now secured, and very sbundant it is, and the cotton crop, with hardly an exception, gives general satisfaction. We have not heard of a single planter, however, whe will ship his cotton before the entire removal of the blookade.

The St. Mary's Banner of Saturday has the fol-

New Jersey, when these five regiments are now mustered into the national army, will have contributed its quota of twelve fine regiments to the support of the great army of the Union, and of the flag of the country and Constitution.

LENGTH AND DEPTH.—A young man having presented for Dr. E., was anxious te get a word of applause for his labor of love. The grave doctor, however, did not introduce the subject, and his brother was obliged to bait the hook for him "I hope, sir, I did not weary your people by the length of my sermon to day?' "No, sir, not at all; nor by the depth either." The young man was allent.
