Two returns commenced by caping into Kentucky. Two or three companies having gone from Eastern Tonnessee into Kentucky, to assist Lincoln, the neutrality of Kentucky has been violated by these troops, and Gov. Harris should inform Gov. Magoffin of the fact, so that he can either arrest them or have them driven out. We learn this morning that the Eastern Tennessees. seans are going over in hundreds to Kentucky to join the Unionists in that State; this should be looked after and attended to at once."

THE CITY

IMPORTANT ARREST .- We were informed yesterday that a man named Stephen Renau, formerly a citizen of Philadelphia, was arrested on the charge of rendering aid and comfort to the enemy. The circumstances attending his arrest, as we learned them, are as follows: Mr. Renau visited South Carolina immediately before or directly after the fall of Fort Sumpter, and obtained a contract for building bridges on a railroad between Charleston and Columbia, and ordered the iron work to be done at one of the iron foundries in the city of Reading, in this State. After the commencement of hostilities, the proprietors of the foundry in Reading refrained from sending their nouncy in Keading retrained from sending their work Southward, notwithstanding the repeated demands of Mr. Renau for the same; and the latter accordingly visited that city to ascertain the cause of its detention. While in Reading on Monday last, he was overheard by a distinguished resident of Philadelphia to utter strong Succession sentiments, and express the opinion that we would be eventually defeated. He was induced to proceed to this point, and on Monday night was confined in one of our station houses. Yesterday he was searched, when a large amount of gold bullion was found secreted in his money-belt, together with otes. After a partial examination, he was placed in charge of Marshal Millward and removed to parts unknown, although the presumption is that he was sent to Fort Hamilton or to Washington to await the action of the proper authorities.

There are three battalions now at Washington. There are three battalions now at washington, and to complete the brigade as soon is possible, the following regiments have been accepted:

Col. Baxter's Fire Zouaves, Col. Gosline's Zouaves, and Col. Owen's Irish Regiment. Col. Gosline has now four companies full. Col. Kirk, who has four companies, has signified his intention to consolidate them with Col. Gosline's command.

This will give eight companies at ones. Col. Bax. consolidate them with Col. Gosline's command. This will give eight companies at once. Col. Baxter is moving rapidly. Companies are forming at the different engine houses, and already there is great rivalry between the companies as to who shall present a full company. Col. Owen is confident of getting the greater portion of his three months men to go back with him. Col. Baker is displaying great energy, and will have his men uniformed and equipped as rapidly as possible. Such companies as are full, will be sent forward on the companies as are full, will be sent forward on the full of the companies as are full, will be sent forward on the full of the companies as are full, will be sent forward on the full of the control of of the day. Minnesota, formerly of this city, placed in hands of General Fremont, for the use of the Government, forty-six thousand dollars. The loan was entirely spontaneous on Mr. Harrison's part, without suggestion from any one, and reflects great credit upon his patriotism.

"The People's Savings Institution of this city, through Isador Buch, Esq., has also tendered a loan of twelve thousand dollars, which has been accepted. The institution having been overlooked in the recent arrangement with the banks of the city, came forward with the tender, not wishing to be behind in its devotion to the Government. It is gratifying to read these acts of patriotism."
