Another English View. The English journals which take a rational view of the present struggle in this country are "few and far between."

The inquiry may be made—Is not that Government acted by public opinion? The honest reply must be—Scarcely so. The people are democratic; the Government is conservative.

It is a charming historical tradition, a specious political assertion, that there are three estates of the realm in England; that Queen, Lords, and Commons make up this tripartite body.

The British people are not represented in the British Parliament, and therefore Palmerston, Russell, and Co. are able, if they please, to plunge England into a quarrel with the United States, and it must be admitted, the leading English journals are aiding, abetting, and almost advising them to do it.

Not all these journals, it is true, are thus false to their mission. The Standard, Post, and Independent, take a more honest view of this war-question of ours than any other English journal we know.

How will England be affected by this projected war? The Liverpool editor says: "One of our best customers by far will be comparatively disqualified from consuming, and one of the principal sources of our raw materials will be partially cut off."

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE. The Pope and the Emperor. The eminent Roman Catholic divine, Rev. D. W. Cabill, D. D., who is eloquentlyjourning in this country, and whose eloquent letters from here, to the Pope, and to the Emperor, have been widely reprinted by all our country, have recently addressed two epistles to the Pope and the Emperor.

The Emperor Napoleon III. has been widely reprinted by all our country, have recently addressed two epistles to the Pope and the Emperor. The Pope's epistle to the Emperor, and the Emperor's epistle to the Pope, are both of a most interesting and important nature.

Death of Mrs. Prof. Mitchell. The Albany Evening Journal, of the 21st inst., makes the following announcement: "The death of Mrs. Mitchell, who has been widely reprinted by all our country, has recently occurred."

General Grant. At an alternative, Dr. Cabill suggests that the Emperor remove his French detachments; stand aside, and leave Napoleon III. to his own devices.

Financial and Commercial. THE MONEY MARKET. PHILADELPHIA, August 23, 1861. Reading Railroad stock today at 171, the same as yesterday.

Veterinary Surgeons. (For the Press.) Would it not be an advisable and economical plan for our Government to employ a veterinary surgeon and one assistant to every regiment of cavalry?
