SOUTHERN NEWS.

[From the Portland (Me.) Advertiser, August 24.] The Richmond correspondent of the Charleston Courier, of the 15th, has the following paragraph : The filibusteros who filled the world with so much angry declamation a few years ago, are figuring prominently in the Southern armies at the present time. The tall and martial Henningson left to day for the West, to assume the colonelcy of the Third Regiment in Wise's Brigade; Frank Ander-son will he his lieutenant colonel. Colonel Charles Carroll Ilicks is a lieutenant in a company of Colo-nel McLaw's regiment, now at Yorktown. (teneral Bob Wheat greatly distinguished himself as com-mander of a New Orleans artillery corps at Maans-son. Major O'Hara, of Cuban fame, has a commis-sion in the army. Colonel Rudler, I soe, is raising a company for the war in Georgia. An English filibuster, one Major Atkins, a tall. big-whiskered, loose-trowsered, 'haw-haw''s pecimen of a Lon-doner, who was with Garibaldi in Sicily, and who is: 'just over,'' fought gallantly by the side of Courier, of the 15th, has the following paragraph : poses. The vessel cleared at the custom house on the 21st, with a cargo of 96 bbls. and 50 kits of mackerel, 100 boxes of codfish, 200 boxes herring. is "just over," fought gallantly by the side of Wheat, at Manassas.

The Memphis Avalanche says :

"The Memphis Accurate says: "The red men of the forest arc gathering to the standard of the South. Albert Pike, the Indian's friend, acting as commissioner of the Confederato States, is forming alliances with the most noted tribes of the West. Even the wild Cammaches, heretofore untamable, are about to be brought under the protection and influence of the Confede-rate Government, and mustered into the service of rate Government, and mustered into the service of the Confederate States."

A recent letter from Savannah, Georgia, contained the following significant paragraph :

"Our city is mourning. Five hundred and seventeen of our beautiful Oglethorpe troops were killed at the battle of Manassas, all young men, and members of our best families." The Charleston papers advertise shares for sale in the privateer Beauregard. There is an abundance of privateer material yet in the blockaded ports of the South. The New York Herald publishes the following list of vessels now in Charleston harbor : Charleston harbor: The steamships Nashwille, 1.230 tons; the Isa-bel, 1.115 tons, and the Catawba, 407 tons; ships Mackinaw, 1.094 tons, and John Rawenel, 700 tons; bark Etiwan, 325 tons, and brigs Emma Eger, 196 tons, and Louise, 175 tons.

By an advertisement in the Examiner it appears that two hundred white girls are wanted in Richmond to make cartridges.

The two started for the house through the cornfield, and on the way Mrs. Glover succeeded, without being observed, in getting possession of a large corn knife that had been left in the field, and watching the opportunity, took a favorable moment for striking a blow, which she did most effectually, the knife severing the skull and killing the rebel instantly. Mrs. Glover had a small child with her in the gar-den, which she left when starting for the house, in-tending to return for it immediately. Having dis-patched the rebel, she returned to the garden, when she discovered several other rebels in ambush a short distance from her. She took her child, and being yet unperceived by them, sought a place of concealment until they should retire. They soon emerged from their hiding place, and, searching for their companion, they found his lifeless body where he had been stricken down, and bore it off, greatly to the relief of Mrs. Glover. has ordered a new metallic cartridge to be tested as West Point, the advantage of which is, that it ren-ders the repeated swabbing of the gun unnecessary. The case is made of tin, in the shape of a cove, and has two weak points in its circumference. When it is in the cannon, its apex touches the breech-piece, and thus a chamber is formed between the cartridge and thus a chamber is formed between the cartridge and the cannon, said chamber being in the roar of the cartridge. The cartridge is pricked by forcing a sharp instrument down through the vent. When the charge explodes, a portion of the gas escapes through the weak points of the cartridge into the air chamber, and, by its pressure, instantly forces the metal case out of the gun. Brigadier General Porter, Provost Mar-shal, Washington City,

[From the Washington Sunday Morning Chronicle.] Brigadier General Andrew Porter, to whom we are so much indebted for good order and quiet in Washington, is the second son of George B. Porter, Governor of Michigan, (formerly an eminent law-yer of Pennsylvania,) who died in 1834. He was born in Lancaster. Pa., on the 10th day of July, 1819: entered the Military Academy at West Point in 1835; was engaged, in 1837, in Alabama, as a eivil engineer, and afterwards employed in the same capacity in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. In 1843 he was the private scoretary of the then Secretary of War. When the regiment of mounted riftemen was authorized by a special act of Con-gress in 1846, he received from President Polk a commission as first lieutenant; served with this re-giment during the short time it was under General Taylor's command on the Rio Grande, and accom-panied it when ordered to join the army of Gene-ral Scott; participated in the siege and ensture of Vera Cruz; was present and engaged in the battle of Cerro Gordo, on the 15th of May, 1847, on which day he was promoted to a captainey; and was also engaged in all the actions which took place before the city of Mexico, ending in its capture. He was brevetted a major for gallant conduct at the battle of Cerro a May and the State and a lieutement. colonel for meritorfous services at the storming of Chepultepee, September 13, 1847. On the capture of the city, he was appointed provost marshal of the city of Mexico, and held that responsible station until the army left. After the war he marched with his regiment across the continent to Oregon, spent one winter in the Rocky Mountains, in command of "Cantonment Loring," at Fort Hall, and afterwards was in command at Fort Yancouver. He has since, with the excention Mountains, in command of "Cantonmont Loring," at Fort Hall, and afterwards was in command at Fort Vancouver. He has since, with the exception of a year spent on the continent of Europe, served with his regiment in Texas and New Mexico, and was on his way from Fort Craig. N. M., under orders from Lieutenant General Scott, to report at the headquarters of the army, when the present rebellion broke out. On his arrival at New York he found orders to take command of the United States cavalry dopot at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., on the 30th of June. Finding that some months must elapse before he was required to assume active dufy, he immediately offered his services to his mative State, to assist in organizing the troops called out on the requisition of the President to aid the Government. They were promptly accepted by Governor Curtin, and he rendered much valuable aid to the Excentive. Lieutenant Colonel Porter was appointed colonel of the Sixteenth Regiment of United States Infantry, recently called into service, and commanded the first brigade, as acting brigadier general of the division under acting Major General Hunter, in the action at Bull Run, and with the regulars in his brigade covered the retreat of our forces. The President has now commissioned of our fore him as a full brigadier general. Added to a large and varied experience, as well in the administrative branch of the service as in the field, Brigadier General Porter is richly en-dowed with those personal characteristics which eminently qualify him for command. His selec-

With forty-five pounds of powder the gun, at its greatest elevation, twenty-eight degrees, threw a solid shot about four miles and a half, which was the greatest range attained to-day. James' projec-tiles were used, but were hardly such as are best suited for the gun. However, further experiments may be more successful. With a little larger charge of powder, a shell weighing three hundred and forty-one pounds, or a solid shot weighing four hundred and twenty-three pounds, can be easily thrown into the enemy camp or battery at Sewall's Point, and, if the shell should explode in the right place, it would take but one or two of them to utterly detroy their battery. In a little while we shall test Union's range towards that point.-Cor. N.
