THE PRESS.—PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1861.

The following is a list of the officers of the road : John Cornog, president; Hon. A. B. McIlvaino, secretary; John G. Lewis, treasurer; L. H. Eicholtz, inspecting engineer; Oliver W. Barnes, chief engi-neer and contractor, and W. W. Wright, resident engineer. We improved the afternoon, by the kindness of a friend, in riding to the top of the Welsh mountain, and looking down upon the glorious scenery that lay in the valleys boneath us. Here we could dimlay in the values baneath us. Here we could dim-ly discern the spires of Lancaster-twenty miles distant—and Ephrata mountain, fifteen miles be-yond, seemed almost rising at our feet. The Cone-stoga valley and the valley of Mill Creek nested at the feet of the hills; New Holland lay off to the water and the Discourse west, and the Blue mountains, many miles away, were seen trailing their misty outlines against the

It is left for this new enterprise to extend its It is left for this new enterprise to extend its iron arms into this beautiful ralley land, and make of its hundred farms sources of wealth to their pos-sessors, the corporation, and the city. At no dis-tant date, this will probably be done, and it is the intention of the company to continue the East Brandywine to Birdsbore on the Schaylkill. The Downingtown end will doubtless be continued down the valley of the Brandywine to Wilmington, Dela-ware, and thus Western New York and North-western Pennsylvania will be so many hours nearer Baltimore, Washington, and the South. Excellent mill sites, with abundant power, remain upon the Brandywine, and the citizens residing ad-jacent to the road seem to be of uniform courtesy, intelligence and anterprise.

Downingtown, in pur-ticular, is noticeable as combining many elements of an inland leading city, and the great valley, of which it is the leading town, is unsurpassed by any similar agricultural section in the Commonwealth, and pictures of thrift operary and counscharging and pictures of thrift, energy, and comprehension, are seen upon all the hill-sides where the yeomen have made their homes.

SAMUEL EAKON, THE SECESSIONIST. — The Pittsburg Despatch contains the following notice of Samuel Eakon, the traitor arrosted in our city a few days since, which will be read with interet: "Eakon is an old Pittsburger, and very well known by many now residing here. He came here about twenty years ago, from Konsington, Phila-delphia, where he married, and was for a long time in the employ of J. B. McFadden, joweler, on Mar-ket street. and also earried on for himsef in that business, on Union street, in the rear of McFad den's present location. He went to Philadelphia about ten years since, and was employed by Bailey & Kitchen, of that city, in plating Bri-tannia ware. Leaving the employ of this frm, he cogaged in the electrotyping business and jewelry manufacture in the Artisan Buildings, which were burned. After this he went with a company, of which Dr. Wickersham was the presi-dent, to the Crimea, after the war in Russia, for the purposo of raising sunken ships in the harbor of Sebastopol. This speculation failed, and he re-turned with the company. He was then engaged in blasting a tunnel on an Eastern Pennsylvania railroad, a very howy job, which he completed satisfactorily. blasting by electricity—a branch of seienct of which ho possesses more there one det with Sloat's Sewing Machino establishment, his duties being confined to electrotyping fur-ness in Philadelphia, he finally became connected with Sloat's Sewing Machino establishment, his duties being confined to electrotyping bus-ness in Philadelphia, he finally became connected with Sloat's Sewing Machino establishment, his duties being confined to a armory, a portion of the machinery at Harper's Ferry having been removed thither. Eakon went to Richmond, and probably worked there under his old employer. THE NEW IRISH BRIGADE.-The following correspondence, relative to the new Irish brigade in course of formation in New York, explains

itself: PHILADELFHIA, August 24, 1861. Lieutenant Colonel Nugent, Sixty-ninih Regi-ment, N. Y. S. M.—MY DEAR SIR: Will you be good enough to inform me if it be true, as stated in the New York papers of Friday last, that an Irish Brigade is in course of formation in your city, of which the gallant Sixty-ninth is to constitute the basis. With many others of my countrymen who have been connected with military organizations in Philadelphia, I am most anxious to obtain prompt and correct information on the above sub prompt and correct information on the above sub-ject, for, if the facts be as reported, we are de-

The petit jurors, with the exception of these em-RIFLED CANNON AND THE GRIFPIN GUN .-We have frequently alluded to the fact that many of the foundries and machine shors in our city and vicinity have commenced the manufacture of the panelled to try Overman, were discharged from further attendance. QUARTER SESSIONS-Judge Ludlow .- One SUBJECT DESSIONS-WIDE LIGHTOW-UDE assault and battery case needlessly occupied the attention of the court the entire morning, in which George Bergdoll was charged with committing an assault and battery on Wm. Ringefuss with intent to bill munitions of war, and we are pleased to state that a firm at Phoenixville will have three hundred rifled munitions of whit, and its have three hundred ritied a firm at Phoenix ville will have three hundred ritied cannon ready for service within a period of seventy days. The first instalments of five a day of the above number will be delivered in about ten days. Mr. Griffin, for a long period connected with the Phoenix works, is the inventor of the gun new boing made at this establishment. A second our Govern-made at this establishment. Some years ago Mr. G. presented our Govern-men with a gun of his invention, which was tried at Fortress Monroe, and it stood the test of 567 shots, when it burst at the three last test shots, in snots, when it buils at the three hast test shots, in consequence of its being overcharged, having been filled with powder and ball to the very muzzle. It was crident, however, that the gun was very valu-able, and a contract for the above number was re-ceived; and seven hundred men are now employed at the Phenix Works in their manufacture. The metarial is of the avery here employed for Pennsylvania private carcer, history, and general peculiarities of his opponent. Mr. Dougherty's address at Lafayetto Hall, some years ago, and its circulation in England, was hold up as a fit subject for the indignation of the jury, and his numerous other political and forensic efforts characterized as the quintessence of humbaggery and conceit. Numerous other private matters were laid before the wondering jurymon, and exhibited to the crowded court-room, and with a brief re-ference to the evidence, and an earnest appeal to the jury for the acquittal of his client, Mr. Remak took his sent. at the Phœnix Works in their manufacture. The material is of the very best quality of Pennsylvania wrought iron; its toughness and tenacity are such that a shred of it will bear hammering into a com-plete circle, in a cold state, before it will break; all the brittle composition has been removed by the severe fiery ordeal it has been repeatedly subjected to. The proper material being secured, the first process in the formation of the gun is rolling out the iron into strips, seven feet long, three-fourths of an inch thick, and two inches wide, for the bore. These strips are concave on the exter-fourths of an inch thick, and two inches wide, for the bore. These strips are concave on the exter-nal surface, and courtex on the internal side, so that they will fit closely together on an iron cylinder three inches in diameter. The cylinder being placed in the sockets of two large wheels, the strips are placed in position longitudinally with it. This forms the bore of the gun. A fifty feet long piece of flat iron two inches wide, is then drawn out of the furnace, the iron at white heat, and it is coiled around the cylinder in this condition, running obliquely off at the end. This process is repeated till six layers are rolled on, when tho piece resembles in appearance a large roll of oil-piece resembles in appearance a large roll of oil-cloth more than it does a cannon, even in the inci-pient state of the latter. This roll, which is now about twelve inches in diameter, is barrelled up while in the midst of his address Mr. Komak in-terrupted him with some retort, which Judge Lud-low stopped, by saying he had gone far enough, that he (the judge) had been to blame for allowing him to go so far uninterrupted, but the attack on Mr. Dougherty was of such a character as to be en-tirely unworthy of any reply. Mr. Dougherty then thanked his Honor for that evenesing him enjoing mod stated that with the about twelve inches in diameter, is barrelled up with a number of the narrow strips longitudinally till the outer surface hides the coil, reminding one of the accounts we have rend of the first guns made of wooden staves and hooped with iron, and used at Crecy by the English. The wooden guns, we are told, exploded after a few rounds had been fired, and they proved more fatal to the English than to those against whom they were employed. Our barreled gun is next conveyed on a truck to one of the furnaces, and heated to an almost fluid state. A host of workmen then put it between pon-derous cylindrical rollers, where it is manipulated expression of his opinion, and stated that with it he was satisfied, and would address himself entirely to the evidence. On his conclusion the jury were charged, and retired to agree upon a verdict. New York Stock Exchange,---Aug, 29.] derous cylindrical rollers, where it is manipu until all its parts become welded together without the minutest aperture or flaw being discernible; it is then compressed between two rammers to shorten it a little, then a cutting machine is called into re-quisition to mould the breech, and taper off the su-perfluous iron at the muzzle, and not until this

"Secshors" will not admire. The guns are 10 and 12-pounders, and weigh from 800 to 1.000 pounds each. They will carry a coni-cal ball between three and four miles. The twelve rifled cannon ordered by Councils for the protection of this city will be forwarded in a four dore

quisition to mould the breech, and taper off the su-perfluous iron at the muzzle, and not until this fourth operation is employed can we discover any resemblance in the welded mass to a cannon. The gun is then removed to an oven to receive the trunnions, or arms. The trunnions are welded in at a white heat of the metal, this being the last of the fiery ordeal it is subjected to. The piece is next placed on an inclined plane and taken into the boring room, and placed on a lathe. Here a permanent drill of the requisite size is fixed and the gun is made to revolve skeadily until the "bore" is completed, and the piece becomes a hol-low cylinder for the first time. In the same shop, the turning or finishing of the external surface of the weapon is performed. In the boring room we saw a curled shaving produced by the "bit" seven-teen feet long, showing the iron is pure. The last of the processes, and one in which we take much interest, is the rilling, which is performed in a shop specially appropriated for that purpose. A lathe of the same general description as in the last described room, is used; the gun is moved backwards, and in its retrograde movement a highly tempered plane brings out a delicate shaving as easily as if it was a soft substance. This is repeated till the sufficient number of grooves (five) are made. A delicate coat of varnish, to prevent rust, is admi-nistored, and we have a rified egunton completo. Captain Shields Guard, P. V. IIEADQUARTERS SIXTY-NINTH REGT., N. Y. S. M., NEW YORK, August 26, 1861. } CATTAIN HUGH RODGERS: MY DEAR SIR: Yours of the 24th instant has been duly received. In reply, I beg to state that it is the intention of a number of officers of the Six-ty-ninth N. Y. S. M. to raise a regiment to be known as the Sixty-ninth Volunteers, or the Firsi Regiment of the Irish Brigade. This regiment will be commanded by Thomas Francis Meagher, and the Irish Brigade—of which it is to form a part—by General James Shields. General James Shields.

General James Shields. We shall feel happy to receive the co-operation of our military friends in Philadelphia in this un-dertaking, and we trust they will lose no time in embodying themselves as a regiment, as it is not expected that the ranks of our brigade will be long in filling up. However, if the military Irishmen of your city bestir themselves, they may be in time to join us as the Second Regiment of the Irish Bri-gade.

THE INQUEST .- Yesterday morning the corowho was killed on Wednesday orening during a row with a man named Patrick McDonough, in Metcalf street. The following testimony was cli-cited. cited :

Bridget Farley sworn.—I saw McDonough run from his own door and strike or push Loller, who then fell: I don't know whether he struck him with this closed fist or open hand; McDonough was sober at the time; did not see them quarreling at any time previous; McDonough's children were amongst a party that had been teasing Loller, who was in liquor at the time. Sarah Morgan sworn.—Saw Loller chasing some Bittle children; when he fell I picked him up and gave him some water; he never spoke a word after-wards; he had never spoken to McDonough before, to my knowledge; before McDonough struck him Mrs. Quinn hit him on the shoulder with a coul charact shovel.

Sophia Amlung sworn .- Saw McDonough strike Loller with his fist, who fell on the parement. Officer Sigman testified that McDonough gave himself up to the police authorities, saying that he had no intention of killing Loller when he struck

Dr. Updegrove testified that he had made a post-Dr. C paregrove testined that he had made a post-mortem examination of Loller's body. Found the scull fractured in the parietal region. There was a great effusion of blood on the brain, which, of course, caused death. The fracture could hardly have been caused by a blow of the fist. The jury rendered a verdict that James Loller come to his death from a fall caused by a blow from Particle McDoromy.

Patrick McDonough. The prisoner was committed for trial.

FATAL ACCIDENT. - We were yesterday handed a letter received from a sailor on board the United States frigate Congress. This fine ship was commissioned about twenty-six months ago, and commissioned about twenty-six months ago, and contains in the list of sailors a large number sf Phi-ladelphians. It appears, from the letter before us, that a furlough has been denied them and that they have not yeet been discharged. This has created great dissnifsfaction among the men-many of whom are anxious to visit their friends before leaving for amother cruise—and a serious disturbance is anticianother cruise—and a serious disturbance is antici-pated. On Sunday last, while lying off East Boston harbor, an accident occurred which resulted in the death of one of the sailors, and cast a deep gloom over the whole ship's crew. It appears that llenry Sainfeld, while engaged at work, fell from the fore tophast cross-trees to the deck. He broke both of this arms, and a sheath-knift plunged to the hilt into his body, which presented a horrible appear-ance. The unfortunate man was a native of New York 29 years of age, and had numerous friends York. 29 years of age, and had numerous friends in this city. His death was almost instantaneous. This company will be placed under the com-mand of Col. G. P. McClean, whose regiment, so descryedly popular, promises to be "the flower of THIEVES A BOUT.—Shopkeepers and others are warned against two ill-favored young men, who go about under pretence of buying goods to peddle through the country. They have in several in-stances succeeded in abstracting from the counters various small articles. On Wednesday they stole a piece of silk handkorchiefs from a store. The theft was not discovered until they were out of sight. One of these men, or rather boys, is about sixteen or seventeen years of age, stout, thick set, the other two or three years older; both are dressed in dark clothas

THE SCOTT RIFLES, of New York, are now recruiting in our city for one company, to be com-manded by Philadelphia officers. This regiment will be under experienced officers, gentlemen who will be under experienced officers, gentlemen who have already seen service in this country and Eu-rope. Colonel Macdonald having been in the Eng-lish army, and Lieutenant Colonel Honshaw being an officer in the United. States army, where he served with distinction. Immediately on enroll-ment the men will be under pay, and carofully pro-vided for and transported to New York free of ex-pense. R. Charleton Mitchell will take command of the company, and our friend Edward L. Poalk, formerly Lieutenant of Company C. Seott Legion, will go out as First Lieutenant In this organiza-tion superior inducements are offered to the mon, the nay heine larger and the uniforms and arms of the pay being larger and the uniforms and arms of the best quality. Lieutenant Ashburner, also of Philadelphia, in connection with the above-menrainadelptia, in connection with the above-men-tioned gentlemen, is busy recruiting for the same regiment. We are glad to say that they are meet-ing with success. We would also say that the major is a son of Bishop Potter, of Philadelphia.

ARREST OF A FROMINENT POLITICIAN FOR TREASON IN NEW YORK.—MR. Ellis B. Schnabel, a prominent politician, who formerly resided, and is well known, in this city, was committed to Fort Lafayette yesterday morning by the United States Marshal of Connecticut, Mr. David H. Carr. The following particulars of his arrest are taken from the New York papers of last evening: He was taken in Litchfield county, where he was organizing and preaching Secession, peace, and organizing and preaching Secession, peace, and other treasonable dootrines, which the Connecticut other treasonable dootrines, which the Connecticut men do not agree to. The United States Marshai has taken a receipt from Colonel Burke for Mr. Schnabel. Schnabel formerly resided in Philadel-phia, but, when treason became a dangerous trade in the city, he departed for Connecticut, and was announced to speak at the Secession meeting in Bridgeport, which did not take place. Schnabel then went to Litchfield county, where Marshal Carr caught him. caught him.

DOWNINGTOWN GUARDS .-- We are glad to perceive that the young men residing in the towns and villages adjoining our city are becoming thoroughly imbued with the necessity of imme-diately coming forward, and tendering their ser-vices in defence of the Government. Chester county, although peopled principally by Quakers, has done nobly. Within the last two weeks a caraking compare compared by Cantain George Corner. has dome notify. Within the last two weeks a caracty company, commanded by Captain George Corneg, from the vicinity of Downington, has been attached to Colonel Harlan's regiment, and Captain Wm. Potts, assisted by Lieuts. Pollock and G. C. M. Eicholtz, are rapidly enrolling names for a com-pany of infantry.
