LETTER FROM NEW YORK. ARRIVAL OF PRINCE DE JOINVILLE : HE DECLINES DICTION-MYSTERIES AND MISERIES OF METRO POLITAN LIFE. [Correspondence of The Press.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 13, 1861. The advent of Prince de Joinville among us has been attended with none of those scenes of popular excitement and fulsome newspaper adulations which greeted the arrival of "Albert Edward" to our shores. Tempora mutantur, your know, is the law that makes the whole world kin, and even the purple of royalty must bow at its behest. I do not absolutely mean to say that none of us are so poor as to do his Royal Highuess reverence. I simply wish to reiterate, for the hundredth time, that political questions, and that inexhaustible topic, the war, absorb all the surplusage or our public attention. And then, "on the other hand," (to use a phrase and then, "on the other hand," (to use a phrase that a Western orator on a certain occasion employed five times in the course of a three-minutes speech,) De Joinville declined anything that would appear like a public reception. He came to this country, he said, as a private gentleman, to place his son in the naval school, and then make a brief The Prince expressed the warmest sympathy with the effort Government is making to suppress the The question as to the jurisdiction between the The question as to the jurisdiction between the United States marshal and surveyor, is one which, ere it be satisfactorily settled, bids fair to lead to an interminable legal disputation between the two departments. Hasty and bungling legislation is accountable for the whole mischief. Congress, it seems, has passed two acts regulating the seizure of contraband goods, which virtually clash with each other. Except in case of ships, however, no question as to the jurisdiction can arise, and a satis-factory understanding of that point could doubtless be arrived at, without a resort to the dire extremity A man, named Peter Sheridan, came to the De-A man, named Peter Sheridan, came to the De-tective office at three o'clock this afternoon, and stated that while passing the corner of Christy and Rivington streets, on Wednesday evening, he was choked by one man and robbed of a gold watch by an accomplice. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

THE MONEY MARKET. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13, 1861. The decline noted at the Stock Board yesterday was very generally made up by a counter movement to-day, under which Pennsylvania five per cent. stocks advanced to 76—a gain of ½; Pennsylvania Railroad shares to 373—an advance of ½ and Schuylkill Navigation loan 632-a gain of 1. Reading Railroad stock advanced i, selling at 18; at the first board, but sales were made between boards at 18. Ten shares Consolidation Bank stock were sold

City sixes of the old issue sold at 852. The money market is better in some measure. The holders of money show more confidence, and the paper of houses not known to have been heavy sufferers by Southern trade is held in better favor. The worst of the storm is believed to be past, and the large disbursements of the General Government are so evidently starting the wheels of trade again. that the effects of the commercial disturbance arising out of the war are no longer weighing heavily upon the fears of moneyed men. The subscriptions to the national loan go on steadily. At the Mint there were about $50,000 subscribed to-day, and some $150,000 at the office of Jay Cooke & Co.-in all, about $200,000 for the Peterson's Counterfeit Detector for September 14th is issued to-day, with a full list of new counterfeits up to the time of its issue, and the usual valuable information as to the almost countless

Among the causes for a buoyant money market in England, the London Times assigns the amount money now unemployed, the reduction of the bank rate, the good harvest, peace in Europe, "the satisfactory anticipations with regard to Indian finance, and the BENEFITS TO BE CONFERRED ON THAT COUNTRY BY THE EXISTING COTTON CRISIS." There was nothing new in the money market today, and exchange and gold was at the figures of yesterday—6 per cent. premium for the former, and 6 to 6½ for the latter. Usin is becoming scarce in the market, and there is considerable demand for it. But the trouble is, nobody really wants to invest largely in Missouri money, and gold and ex-change are preferred, as good sense would dictate. We are told the banks are playing sharp, and buy-

We are told the banks are playing sharp, and buying up all the treasury notes and exchange, and shoving out their "B. F." in their places, where they can find customers green enough to make the exchange. But if this action was the precursor of specie redemption, it would not be regretted. But to flood the country with discredited stumptail, just before a final smash-up of the banks, is what may be considered their ulterior object, and to guard against that should be the object of the community. Since the specie of the branch banks has been withdrawn, or stolen, tens of thousands fatherless "promise to pay" is floating through the country, and what is going to become of the Secession banting is a matter of serious conjecture. The banks of this city are called parent banks, but how that affectionate cognomen can attach to them, when sffectionate cognomen can attach to them, when they have repudiated their offspring, is worse to calculate than the issue of a suit of bastardy. But probably the whole case will be unravelled after confication day, which, for the good of the country, ought not to be postponed till the day of judg-

There is a good demand for currency by produce dealers, and the supply is very moderate.

At Cincinnati, according to the Gazette, there has been a decided improvement in general confidence, the future appearing in a better light than at any previous time since the commencement of the war; and business men are disposed to put their houses in order in anticipation of a revival of trade. This change of feeling is attributable to the

The feature of the Stock Exchange to-day is the netivity in bonds and the extreme duliness in shares. The bond market was steady and rather better on some descriptions, but the railroad stocks were freely offered at the prices of last evening.

Government stocks are very firm. The coupon Government stocks are very firm. The coupon Sixes of 1881 sold at 90%, the highest price yet touched. The Sixes of 1867 rose to 90, and the Fives of 1874 to 803. Six per cent. Treasury notes are without change.

CITY ITEMS.

OUR MANUFACTURES .- In no department of her industrial interests has Philadelphia asserted her upremacy more triumphantly than in her establishnents for the manufacture of clothing. In this line we have one house which is at this time attracting special attention. We allude to the popular new Oak Hall Clothing Bazaar of Messrs. Wanamaker & Brown, southeast corner of Market and Sixth streets, which is now largely engaged in the manufacture of clothing for the military. The character of their work, and their stock of goods on hand to select from, are not excelled, and their prices are unusually moderate. AN INVALUABLE DISCOVERY.—It is seldom that the world has been more substantially blest by any new discovery than by the introduction of Kerosene Oil for lighting purposes, and the world-renowned lamps for consuming it, which are manufactured and sold by Messrs. Witters & Co., at their Light Emporium, No. 35 North Eighth street, corner of Filbert. These lights are row rapidly taking the place of all other portable lights in use, being undoubtedly superior in efficiency, convenience, and safety, as they are also the most eco-ALWAYS AHEAD.—In one thing at least our city may justly boast its superiority over all rivals, and that is, in the excellence and unrivalled reputation of her confectionery. For this item of greatness we are indebted to the popular house of Messrs, E. G. Whitman & Co., confectioners, Second street, below Chestnut. There s not a new article in this line of traffic that does not enanate from this house, consequently they are always head, both in serving the public with their delicious and wholesome preparations, and of all their rivals in bringirg out novelties. Their stock at this time is particularly empting and varied. COLLARS AND CRAVATS, as well as all other kinds of articles for the neck, and Gents' Furnishing Goods in general, can be bought in better style, in greater variety, and at lower prices, at J. A. Eshleman's, Seventh and Chestnut, than anywhere else in Philadelphia, or out of it. So we believe, and so do others, who ought to

THE ARMY OF THE UNION.—The army of the Union promises to be the best equipped of any body of soldiers in the world. Their uniforms are now made of first class materials, they are cut in an easy and graceful style, and the men present a neat, comfortable, and soldierly appearance. We refer in this connection particularly to the uniforms made at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestunt street, above Sixth. It is generally conceded, by those who are qualified to judge, that the best military clothing in use is that made by this well-known SEEKING "ABRAHAM'S BOSOM."-It is said there are now more sinners seeking "Abraham's bosom" than have been in the anxious seat for some years.
