SEPTEMBER 17, 1861.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1861.

THE CITY. For Additional Local Matter see inside. Anniversary of the Adoption of Federal Constitution.

Grand preparations have been made by the joint scial committee of Councils for an appropriate elebration of to-day—the anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution. The committee cassembled yesterday morning, and fixed on the following programme: The proceedings in the Square are to commence at 12 o'clock. As soon as Councils, the orator, the Mayor, and all those who may be invited, take their places on the stand, the whole meeting will join in singing "My Country, 'tis of Thee." The meeting will then be called to order by Samuel J. Cresswell, one of the committee of arrangements. Mayor Henry will pretide, assisted by thirty-four vice presidents and hirteen secretaries.

Prayer will be offered by the Rev. Mr. Jeffries, B. D. Music by three bands—"Old Hundred."
A series of resolutions, adopted by the committee at their meeting yesterday, will be read by Col. Bradford. After which the Hon. Geo. M. Dallas will deliver his oration. The whole will conclude with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner," by the meeting and the different musical societies.

Several German musical societies have volunteered their services for the occasion, and have heen accepted. Two platforms have been erected in Independence Square—one for the bands and musical societies, and the other for the orator, the Mayor, and others Every person entitled to a seat on the platform will be furnished w. a ticket. Previous to demonstration in the Square there will be a grain turnout of the military, the particulars of which were published in The Press of THE DAY AND ITS MEMORIES. A friend has submitted the original address of the framers of the Constitution to us. A perusal of the address will indicate the character of the day : we have now the honor to submit to the consideration of the United States in Congress assembled that Constitution which has appeared to us the most advisable. The friends of our country have long seen and desired that the power of making war, peace, and treaties, that of levying money and regulating commerce, and the correspondent executions. long seen and desired that the power of making war, peace, and treaties, that of levying money and regulating commerce, and the correspondent executive and judicial authorities, should be fully and effectually vested in the General Government of the Union, but the impropriety of delegating such extensive trust to one body of men is evident. Hence results the necessity of a different organization. It is obviously impracticable in the Federal Government of these States to reserve all the rights of independent sovereignty in each, and yet provide for the interest and safety of all. Individuals entering into society must give up a share of liberty to preserve the rest. The magnitude of the sacrifice must depend as well on situation and circumstance as on the object to be attained. It is, at all times, difficult to draw, with precision, the line between those rights which must be surrendered and those which must be reserved; and, on the present occasion, this difficulty was increased by a difference among the several States as to their situation, extent, habits, and particular interests. In all our deliberations on this subject, we kept steadily in our view that which appears to us the greatest interest of every true American—the consolidation of our Union, in which is involved our prosperity, felicity, safety, perhaps our national existence.

This important consideration seriously and deeply impressed on our minds, led each State in the Convention to be less rigid in points of inferior magnitude than might have been otherwise expected; and thus the Constitution which we now present is the result of a spirit of amity, and of that mutual deference and concession which the peculiarity of our political situation rendered indispensable.

Un Monday last the Federal Convention closed their session by signing the Federal Government. The States, we are told, were unanimous in this business. The address of his Excellency Dr. Franklin to the members of the Convention, previous to this solemn transaction, (a correspondent assures us.) was truly pathetic and extremely sensible. The concurrence of this venerable patriot in this Government, and his strong recommendation of it, cannot fail of recommending it to all his friends in Pennsylvania.

in Pennsylvania.

Yesterday the frame of government was reported by the delegates of Pennsylvania, agreeably to their instructions, to the General Assembly of this State, and read publicly, in the presence of a large crowd of citizens, who stood in the gallery of the Assembly room, and who testified the highest pleasure in seeing that great work at last perfected, which promises, when adopted, to give security, stability, and dignity to the Government of the United States.

The division of the power of the United States into three branches gives the sincerest satisfaction to a great majority of our citizens, who have long suffered many inconveniences from being governed by a single Legislature. All single governments are tyrannies, whether they be lodged in one man, a few men, or a large body of the people.

CELESTIAL PHENOMENA. -On Saturday morn. ing, between one and two o'clock, celestial phenomena of the most beautiful character became visible in the northern and eastern heavens. About half past one o'clock, as nearly as we could stimate, a train of fire appeared in the northeast, and moved rapidly along the eastern horizon. It then suddenly disappeared, as though obscured by an intervening cloud. The entire transit could not have occupied more than forty seconds. The adjacent sky was not illuminated by it, as must have been the case had it been occasioned by a conflagration; although at first we mistook it for such, from its crimson hue. Not being versed in astronomic lore, we cannot, of course, undertake to give a scientific description of the singular visitant, much less hazard a speculation as to its nature, elements orbit, or purpose. We will state, however, that all that portion of it visible above the horizon was in the shape of an arc of a parabola.

Almost simultaneous with its passage occurred a most brilliant auroral display, that would have put to shame all human pyrotechny, lasting from three to five minutes. We do not know that we can properly term it an ourora borealis, as it was different in feature from all the exhibitions of northern lights that we have heretofore seen. It consisted of a halo of whitish light, forming almost a semi-circle. Extending across its disc were two wedge-shaped bars, obscure, gradually sloping down to a point at the horizon, thus forming huge letter V. After a little the sublime spec tacle faded away into the light blue sky, and did not show itself again.

In connection with this subject we have received the subjoined communication from "C. H. T." MR. Editors: At an early hour, yesterday morning, quite a brilliant display of the aurora borealis occurred, and, as I have not seen said occurrence noticed in The Press, I thought a line or two might prove of interest to your readers.

I reside in the most elevated section of West Districtable of that my changes for shower times. I reside in the most elevated section of West Philadelphia, so that my chances for observation were excellent. The light became visible shortly before two o'clock. It lasted from five to eight minutes, and was rather singular in appearance. It shot suddenly up in the heavens in the form of an inverted pyramid. At first, I imagined it to be a fire, and supposed that the sudden up-shooting of light might have been caused by an explosion.

One of the fire companies of this (Twenty-fourth) ward was similarly mistaken, and ran some distance in town, I believe, with its apparatus, although no alarm had been rung. Immediately thereafter, an isosceles triangle also shot upwards, as though from its own apex. I estimated it to be from twelve to fifteen degrees of space. Both of its limbs grew fainter and fainter in their divergence, until they were finally lost in the mazes of the twinkling stars. The scene-was a very beautiful one, and had I been an artist, I could have had no higher aspiration than to have caught its warm and mellow tints, and transferred them to the dumb, susceptible canvas. The fan-like triangle, stretching away into immensity of space a seawed to clean the glazet of the tables.

The fan-like triangle, stretching away into immensity of space, seemed to clasp the gloria of golden clouds so fondly to the deep blue sky on either side. An instant and the scene had vanished; so your correspondent rubbed his eyes to be assured that it was not all a dream, and then went back to had again with a vair regret that the colden could bed again, with a vain regret that the golden spel was broken. C. H. T. We have received the following communication from Lieut. Col. Mahler, from which it will be perceived that the phenomena above alluded to have again been witnessed. CAMP WORTH, Sept. 16, 1861.

MR EDITOR: I would beg leave to inform you that a beautiful meteor was seen by me at the camp near Hestonville, at a quarter past nine o'clock last evening.— The sky was slightly cloudy, when at once a bright light, not very unlike a Roman candle, appeared descending in a direction on the right from the constellation of Ursa Minor, and disconcerned of the assemble descended. disappeared after a second's duration, without any apparent report. ARRIVAL OF ANOTHER PRIZE.-Yesterday morning, the schooner Mary Wood, from the West Indies, and owned in North Carolina, arrived in port in charge of Prize-master Nicholson, and a port in charge of Prize-master Nicholson, and a crew composed principally of members of General Butler's Naval Brigade. She was anchored off the navy yard. Her cargo consists of salt, sugar, and molasses. The prize ran into Hatteras Inlet early on Monday morning, the 9th, when she was seized by a boat's crew from the Pannee. The captain ran into the Inlet in ignorance of the fact that the forts were in the hands of the Government troops.

But while the Yankee journals are glorifying the Yankee general, it is graifying to us to be assured that every effort is making by the Confederate Government to retrieve, as far as possible, the undeniable reverse of Fort Hatteras. Not a soldier, as I have said before, will be withdrawn from the army of the Potomac, in consequence, nor will the forces at Norfolk or Yorktown be weakened for the defence of North Carolina. On the other side of the river, General Wise was strongly posted in the vicinity of the Gauley road. He had occupied Hawk's Nest, which had been abandoned by the enemy after a skirmish of pickets. Above the Kanawha and beyond its forks the enemy had been outflanked by General Chapman, who held his position with two thousand militia. The enemy, under General Cox, was thus surrounded by these three several divisions, and all hopes of retreat out off, the only fear being that Rosecrans might yet make a junction with him, and thus reverse the relative position of the two forces by cutting off Floyd's command.

Both of them are well known to us, and we can place the fullest reliance on their statements. One of them bears despatches from our commissioners in Europe to President Davis. Of their contents, of course, he professes no knowledge. At various points from Quebec to the line of the Southern Confederacy, this gentleman was often searched, but the Lincolnites failed to find the deepatches, which were most artfully concealed—we know where, but think it imprudent to let the secret out. COMPLAINTS AGAINST THE REBEL SECRETARY OF WAR.

A sensation letter appeared in the Richmond Whig of September 2, announced by the editor to be from the pen of a distinguished citizen of the county of Albemarle. It makes a loud and bitter complaint against the President and the Secretary of War on account of the severe privations of the troops in the field, who are represented as almost or war on account of the severe privations of the troops in the field, who are represented as almost in a state of starvation. There can be no doubt whatever that in every division of the army the commissary department is in a wretched condition, and that, too, with an abundance of the necessaries of life readily obtainable by the authorities. How far the President is to blame in the matter is not to far the President is to blame in the matter is not to be determined hastily and without examination. In the mountainous parts of the State the roads have been rendered well nigh impassable by the recent rains, and the difficulties of transportation must be taken into the account in measuring the responsibility. As for the commissariat at Norfolk, at Yorktown, and at Manassas, no such excuse can be assigned, and it is out of the question that the troops at these places should suffer for the want of plentiful wholesame food. Certainly the interests of the Confederate States are too momentous, and the exigency is too solemn, for men to be tous, and the exigency is too solemn, for men to be retained in office who are not fully equal to the labors and responsibilities it places upon them.

firmer in their views, with sales of 1,200 bbls, in lote, at $4.70 for good straight superfine, and $4.87 a5 for Westorn extra, including a small lot of common old stock super at $4 $\forall bbl. The sales to the trade range at from $4.50 to $4.75 for super, $4.75 \u03c45.75 for extra and extra family, and $6\u03c46.50 for fancy brands, according to quality. Rye Flour and Corn Meal are very little inquired for. We quote the former at $2.75, and, Pennwheat net see a $2.81% $\pi$ bbl.

Wheat meets with a good demand, and prime-lots bring rather better prices; sales of $20,000 bushels, are reported at $1.112.14 for Western and Pennsylvania, red in store, $1.10 for damp Southern, $1.152.16.for prime and dry do, affont, and $1.232.1.27 for white, the latter for whice Kontheirs. But is selling in second and dry do, aftoat, and $1.23\tilde{a}1.27 for white, the latter for prime Kentucky. Bye is selling in a small way at 55\tilde{a}56c for new, and 57\tilde{a}60c for old. Corn is coming in more freely, and huyers are holding off for lower prices. Prime Southern yellow sold early in the day at 56c attoat, but this rate was not afterwards obtainable. Dats continue in request, and prime lots rather scarce; 4\tilde{a}5.000 hushels have been disposed of at 27\tilde{a}90c, as in quality, the latter for new Southern. As sile of Pennsylvania was made at the same rate, and 500 hushels, prime old crop at $2c.
