THE UNIVERSALISTS' CONVENTION - THE FIRE 20UAVES-THE SEIZURE OF VESSELS. [Correspondence of The Press.]

New York, Sept. 19, 1861. The Universalists are still in Convention in Dr. Chapin's Church, in this city. The Committee on the State of the Church have made an interesting report on that subject. The report states that the political aspect of the nation has exercised a marked influence upon the denomination, and that the Universalists are convinced that it is their duty to uphold the Government in its struggle with the rebellion. They also state that a new and cheerful growth has taken place in the West during the past year, and that since the last session two remarkable men have departed from their labors, R H Clark, Rochester Drs. Whittemore and Ballou. The Committee on Sabbath-Schools report that, to the best of their in-morning on the Battery preparatory to their removal to Fortress Monroe. About 500 of the men answered to their names, and these divided themselves into two parties-one in favor of going to the fortress, and the other against it. Colonel Loeser addressed the men, telling them that they would have to go or be set down as deserters, and punished as such. The men growled and swore they would not go. So the matter stands at the present

STATE OF AFFAIRS AT NEW ORLEANS-ITS DE-FENCES, &C. [From the New York Evening Post, of last evening.] (From the New York Evening Post, of last evening.)

We have had an hour's conversation with a gentleman of character and intelligence, whose affairs have detained several months in New Orleans, and who left that place one week ago to-day. He describes the business of that city as utterly dead. The most melancholy sight was the levee, soarcely a solitary steamer arriving from or departing up the river. The huge monsters lying at the dock, grouped together, presented a most desolate picture. Of course nothing was doing with the shipping. In the city, literally, everything was stagmant.

The Confederate States has issued five millions.

The Confederate States has issued five millions of provisional notes, from one dollar up, which bear no interest, and are not redeemable in specie, but are receivable for subscriptions to the Con-federate loan, and for all taxes and for State and Government dues. These notes pass current everywhere quite in the Austrian fashion, no one having the courage to refuse them. The following are the prices at retail for certain necessary articles: Butter, sixty cents per pound; ordinary coffee, forty-five cents; potatoes, a penny apiece; boots and shoes, one hundred per cent. dearer than in New York; medicines very dear, and becoming daily more expensive; clothing about fifty per cent more than in New York, large quantities having, till lately, come through Kentucky. On the other hand, sugar, rice, flour, and all vegetables, except potatoes, were cheap and abundant. Beef is dear, for the blockade of the Gulf prevents shipping cattle from Texas, although they are driven overland. and that five thousand regular troops coming down the Mississippi could have taken it. But the capture of the harbors in North Carolina produced a tremendous fright in New Orfeans. The people at once resumed their home drill, and began to erect what fortifica-tions they could. They believe their own turn will come soon. As to the situation, this gentleman will come soon. As to the situation this gentleman declares that the South have not a ghost of a chance except through European interference; interference, not simply recognition—and they admit it, but they still cling to the belief that the blockade will be forcibly raised in November.

The crops throughout the entire South are remarkably fine, with the exception of cotton. That crop will probably be twenty-five per cent. less than last year. A great deal of it was injured by the late heavy rains; some fields, indeed, quite destroyed. While the people maintain their persistence in resisting what they have been taught by their leaders to call "Northern tyranny," they begin evidently to lose heart. The next step will be to lose faith in those at the head of affairs. One decisive victory for the North, and, it is the opinion of many in New Orleans, there will be a general "caving in" of the Confederacy. To come from that city to New York, remarks our informant, is to emerge from darkness into noonformant, is to emerge from darkness into noon-day; it is to be restored once more to the world and its occupations, after a long and melancholy

CITY ITEMS. THE GREAT REQUISITES .- Napoleon and the Duke of Wellington were went to observe that the Com-missariat was the most important department of the army. Proper provision for the soldiers was considered the great pre-requisite of success. Wellington was accustomed to the schools of tight-fitting coats, leather stocks, padded breasts, and impossible pints. What would the "Iron Duke" have said to such elegant, substantial, and easy-fitting uniforms as are made in the present day for the present military generation, at the
