ONE MILLION DOLLARS ADVANCE ON COTTON The mills of this city have a large quantity of cotton on hand, which has advanced in price since it was bought about one million of dollars. That was rought about one million of doltars. Inde-owned by the Amoskeag Company would sell for $480.000 more than it cost; that owned by the Stark Mills $550,000, and that owned by the Man-chester Mills $165,000—sum total, $995,000. It would be a handsome profit enough if they would sell it, but they will not sell a single pound, though the advance of goods does not correspond at all with the advance on cotton. They will keep it, and manufacture it at a loss, compared with the sale of the raw material, for the benefit of the operatives and the people of the city depending upon the running of our mills for a support. Truly, it cannot be said of our Manchester corporations that they thave no souls."—Monchester our processing that they thave no souls."—Monchester Migrar that they "have no souls." - Manchester Mirror. THE AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION .-

We have been requested to publish the following an nouncement emanating from this efficient and popular institution. The friends of the Sunday-School cause will, no doubt, appreciate the important, though deli-cately expressed, suggestion which it involves:

The American Sunday-School Union is pursuing it important work of gathering into Sunday Schools the multitudes of children and youth who are without other and better means of instruction. They rely wholly on the voluntary contributions of those who realize, in some degree, the momentous consequences of neglecting such a work, to aid them at this juncture. The mis sionaries have shown a most self-denying spirit in sub-while their labors are unremitted. To sustain them and furnish needy schools with a small library at the out tart, requires much more than we now receive. To dis

THE LATEST FROM MISSOURI.-There seems to be some uncertainty as to the fate of Lexington, Missouri. Some accounts have the brave Mulligan surren dered, while others throw doubt upon the story of the relief victory. It is rumored that if the traitors are suc cossful in the Southwest, they will next try to make ; dash on some of the Eastern cities. They would like very much to get possession of Philadelphia, with its manufactories of the munitions of war, and with its magnificent Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill and Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, where the manufacturing of first-class military clothing is going forward on an immense scale. The rebels will

SURRENDER OF COLONEL MULLIGAN.-The re-ort of the surrender of Colonel Mulligan has not been ully confirmed, and is generally thought untrue. It is well-known fact, however, and has been fully confirmed, that the finest and cheapest army and navy clothing is manufactured at the great Military Ciothing Emporium of Granville Stokes, 609 Chestnut street.

Those of our volunteers who have procured their uniorms at this establishment have never had cause to emplain, as the best material and workmen are secured in the manufacture of military garments at this estab place, and those who wish to effect a great saving should they gave utterance to the above they stated what was false. They meant to state, no doubt, that last year at this time they had two hundred and four-een more subscribers then on their books than they have now, which is no doubt the case, for many of these institutions are now on their last legs for want of support. You might as well try to get a cough out of a dead horse as to get any information out of these institutions now-a-days.—New York

At the close of the essay the chairman announced that it understood in the outset that what he had to say about essays and their authors on these occasions, although it might seem somewhat severe, was not always meant so, evidently intending thereby charitably to save his vic-

The brother, Mr. Ward was sorry to say, was greatly mistaken in what he had said about Rhode Island.

He, the speaker, happened to know something about that little State; he had lived in it, he presumed, several years before his cloquent brother the essayist, was born, and he begged to say that according to his experience Rhode Island had but very little religion to boast of. He had himself seen seventy men playing eards in that State under an oak tree, and drinking gin and white, on Sunday. Roger Williams might have been a very liberal man, but he did not think he had been much of a religious one. And even in the matter of liberality, he thought Massachu-
