IMPORTANT CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN CUBAN OFFICIALS. We have received files of the Cuban papers t the fifth of October. The Cuban press appears highly inflamed by the pretended proclamation of the Captain General, some time ago published in the Charleston Mercury, and the subsequent strictures made by too credulous journalists upon the subject of a mock official document which, as now appears, had no existence. The Havana Gaceta reduces the Mercury's mare's nest to the following proportions:

"On the 22d of August the Governor of Matanzas wrote to the Captain-General, submitting a zas wrote to the Captain-General, submitting a communication from the consul of the United States, asking the latter that he would either compel the sloop Noank, coming from Charleston unpel the sloop Noank, coming from Charleston under the Confederate flag, to recognize his authority, or clear from the port of Matanzas forthwith. * * or clear from the port of Matanzas forthwith. * *
"The Captain-General replied in a long explanatory letter that the sloop having sailed from Charleston, a port in one of the seceded States, it was clear that it could not come under the flag of the Union, or cleared by the Federal authorities, since at that port they have no existence; that the flag of the Southern Confederacy, though not recognized, has still been tolerated by the Spanish Covernment, a tolerance based upon the belligerent conditions of the North and South, which is a vital consequence of the neutral position of Spain, which, consequence of the neutral position of Spain, which, in fine conciliates our political relations with the Washington Government, as well as those commercial ones which we have not renounced and mercial once which we have not remounced and ought not to renounce. To grant the request of the consul would be equivalent to the exclusion from our ports of Southern ships which did not sail under their enemy's flag. The Federal Government can prevent the exit of Southern ships by means of a blockade, but that fact does not sive it a right to shot our (the Cuban) norts. give it a right to shut our (the Cuban) ports. It is very natural that the Noank should not recognize the authority of a Federal consul, since it is not cleared by officials drawing authority from Washington, and does not sail under the Federal flag. In such a case, the Noank could not be expected to submit to consular authority; nor could that submission be of any value, since the consular himself would be compelled to meet the following alternative: He would either have to clear the ressel under the Southern flag, or deny any clear-ance to it at all. The first case is not supposable, and the second would amount to his capturing the sloop as a prize, inside a Spanish port, and by the help of the Spanish authorities.
"Wherefore," decided the Governor General,
"the sloop Noank must be cleared with the same flag under which she entered, as would be the case if she came from a nation having no consular relations with us, and the request of the consul in the form forwarded to us, cannot be granted."

In order that this decision of the captain general might be made applicable to every like case subsequently occurring, he incorporated it into a circular, which he forwarded, without the slightest pomp of a "proclamation," of the several Cuban ports. clamation," to the officers in charge A Rebel Stampede.

The retreat from London is described as exceedingly ludicrous. A force of sixty cavalry went down from Garrard's camp and made a furi down from Garrard's camp and made a turious at-tack on their outposts. The whole command at-once stampeded, and thus, contrary to the usual Confederate scale for estimating the valor and ca-pacity of their braves, sixty Kentuckians put to hight seventeen hundred rebel infantry and four hundred cavalry, which is ascertained to have been the force Zollicoffer then had at London! Shall we hear any more of panics at Bull Run and dread of Black Horse Cavalry after that? LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. THE MONEY MARKET. PHILADELPHIA, October 10, 1861.

The new city loan improved at the Stock Board to day, selling at 91, and Pennsylvania Railroad share gained 14. The immense business thrown upon or trunk line to the West by the war, and the difficulties of ral effect upon the market price of the stock and securi Pennsylvania fives were firm at 76%

Little is doing in bank shares, and for passenger railway securities the market is very dull. Rending Railroad shares sold at the first board freely, at 18%, but closed weaker. Schuyikill Navigation, preferred, sold at 12. Catawisse In the money market we note a more active deman for money growing out of the resumption of business in many branches, but the supply of capital continues still in excess of the demand, and for first-class paper the rates are unchanged. In New York we are told that the activity of speculation in the Stock Exchange affords lenders an improved opportunity to use their balances,

THE ELECTION IN THE CAMPS.—The result of he soldiers* vote in the camps of the Pennsylvania regiments has not been fully received. Enough is known, however, to make it certain that every soldier from the old Keystone has declared in unequivocal terms that Rockhill & Wilson, of the Brown Stone Clothing Hall, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, are ntitled to the distinction of getting up the most elegant, erviceable, and becoming unitorms that have been furnished to the defenders of the Union from this or any other State.

FALL CLOTHING.—Granville Stokes, the fashioner and clothier, has laid in an extensive and superior stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, at his mammoth establishment, 609 Chestnut street, which he now offers for sale at prices lower than at any other at this fashionable emporium is warranted in fit, wear, and manufacture. Great attention is paid to the making of army and navy uniforms, of which a superior lot are always kept on hand.
