FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. THE MONEY MARKET. PHILADELPHIA, October 16, 1861.

A general improvement was noted again at the Stock Board to-day. Reading Railroad shares rose from 17% to 18 5-16; Long Island Railroad to 10; Camden and Amboy Railroad to 113%. City sixes (new) sold at 92, and the old issue at 83%. In the money market there is no alteration to report. Messrs. Drexel & Co., bankers, No. 34 South Third Street, have all denominations of the notes for the new National Loan for sale, at par and accrued interest, for which city bank notes, certified checks, or coin will be received. The New York Evening Post, of to-day, 3893: "After the pause of yesterday afternoon, there is renewed excitement on the Stock Exchange, and sales are making fo-day at higher prices than had previously been attained. The animation in the railroad shares meets with no check, but, on the contrary, seems to have received a new impetus from the reaction of yesterday. The Government list is less active, and the extreme advance is not maintained on the fives of 1874 and the sixes of 1881.

CITY ITEMS.

Interesting Anniversary Services. The anniversary meeting of the Missionary Society of Emmanuel (Episcopal) Church, Mariborough street, above Girard avenue, was held in that edifice last ovening. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. G. Maxwell, rector of the church, assisted by Revs. Dr. May and Mr. Parvin. The opening devotional exercises concluded, Mr. Maxwell, in a few introductory remarks, said that this meeting had been held, in a measure, contrary to his judgment, from the fact that, instead of being in a condition to sympathize with others, they were at this time proper objects of sympathy themselves; adding, however, that such disheartening surroundings might, by the blessing of God, render their efforts all the more Auspicious. He concluded by introducing the Rev. Dr. May, of the Episcopal Seminary at Alexandria, which institution, by the way, has lately been transferred to Dr. May, we may also state, is prominently spoken of n connection with the Assistant Bishopric of this diocesc, made vacant by the death of Rishop Bowman He commenced his speech by saying that the object of the meeting was to preserve the Association and its in terest in the cause of religion from the extinction with which it was threatened. He held that a desire to see the Gospel propagated was inseparable from the heart of every true Christian. Where the Spirit really existed in he heart, it must and would utter itself. A good illustration of this we had in the case of the man in the Scriptures, who, on being healed by the Savour, went out and spread the news abroad, notwithstanding the Maser's caution for him to say nothing about it. He wished to say a few words upon one or two points; First-the duty of not "despising the day of small things." The value of Christian efforts depended not apon the amount done, but the spirit which prompted it -the actuating motives, which he clinched by an allusion to the " widow's mite." Another point was, that the object of this association was and ought not to be set aside by existing outward circumstances. Another thought was, that the propagation of the Gospel, at the ontset, was always attended with trials and difficulties, and early Christians. To expect, therefore, to carry or the work of missions without encountering privations,

This was exemplified in the experience of the apostles suffering, hardships, and even death, was a mistake. yet if the right faith was exercised in the matter, all these would be borne with hopeful resignation. From the Secretary's report, which was next read, the fact appeared that the collections of the association for the past year were $201.50, and the appropriations The next speaker was the Rev. Mr. Parvin. He thought that going, helping, and praying, embraced the sum and substance of the missionary work. Christ's own great example ought to be the missionary's pattern. As He went about doing good continually, so his followers had each a commission from the great Head of the Church to go forth, laying helping hands upon men who are sinking beneath the waves of sin, and praying fo This church is well attended, has an excellent choir. and is one of the most beautiful edifices in the city. A FIRST-CLASS RESTAURANT .- The widelyextended limits of our city-the outer portions of which are largely composed of comfortable dwellings, tenanted by gentlemen of business -- has made dining down town, with many, a necessity. We will now let our readers into the secret for those, at least, who are not already in it) of turning this necessity into a luxury. Upon home experience, then, we advise all who can apprediate a splendidly-prepared, savory meal to patronise Mr. J. W. Price, the polite and efficient proprietor of the Restaurant, southwest corner of Fourth and Chestnut streets. There is not a delicacy of the season that he is not among the first to serve to his patrons, and there is an inviting air about his establishment that makes all who call on him once wish to do so often. His chicken alads, oysters, game, and meats of every kind, cannot be surpassed.

A WAR EAGLE .- In the Eighth Wisconsin Regiment, which has just gone to Missouri, there is a fine company, called the Chippewa Eagles, which carries as its standard a live American eagle, perched on the top of a pole. It is quite tame. The standard-bearer of he regiment is a man six feet six and a half inches in neight, and is clothed in a military suit from the Palatial Clothing Store of Granville Stokes, 609 Chestnut street, The superior army and navy uniforms manufactured at this establishment are sold at cheaper rates than by any other establishment in the city.

THE NATIONAL LOAN.—The subscribers to the new fifty-million loan are now obtaining their hundred dellars are embellished with a life-like portrain of General Scott in full uniform. The Hero of Lundy's Lane and Mexico looks every inch a soldier in the garments which, it is said, he obtained (for the purpose of having his portrait taken) at the Brown Stone Clo-thing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth.
