T M HAFLEIGH,

Will have his SECOND OPENING of

THE NUTTING SEASON.—The nutting season tasy be said to have just commenced. More than a month since, it is true, walnuts were being largely gathered in the rural sections, but they had not then athained their full maturity, and were mostly procured by housekeepers for pickling. The walnut, from time immemorial, has been deld in the highest estimation. It was called by the Romans Jovis glans; (the acorn or mast of Jovo), and hence the name Juglans, or walnut tree.

In all sections of the State, but particularly in the vicinity of Philadelphia and Allegheny country, the yield of Chestnuts, this fall, promises to be immense. Large quantities are now being gathered, and either put up for home consumption, or shipped abroad. In the interior, they are retailed at six cents per quart. The retail trade of this city is mostly monopolized by natives of sumy Italy, whose business penchant seems to confine itself to rossted chestnuts, plaster casts, and hand-organs. The chestnut of this country is smaller and sweeter than that of Spain, and comes most extensively into vogue along with the festivities of Hallow Eve.

Yeanuts may be said to be in season "all the year round." They have hitherto been raised in large quantities in North Carolina, and one or two other Southern States. Notwithstanding the closing of their ports, Philadelphia is still supplied with the article, and prices have to the supplied with the article, and prices have THE NUTTING SEASON.—The nutting season Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 503 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth. The garmer turned out at the Military Clothing branch of this far famed establishment are unexceptionable in respect to States. Notwithstanding the closing of their ports, Phi-Idelphia is still supplied with the article, and prices have not materially advanced. This is owing to the fact that peanuts are also largely grown and exported from South America. In the summer season, when places of amuse-ment are closed, their consumption dwindles away into distentifications, but around the income with its analysis. asignificance, but gradually increases with the approaca f cold weather. Shellbarks and hickory-nuts have now attained their full growth, and annoying obduracy of shell, and are gradually coming into market. CURIOUS ACCIDENT .- Yesterday morning, GURIOUS ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning, about one o'clock, an accident of an unusual nature occurred at the Battimore railroad depot, at the foot of Washington street. It appears that a number of cars had been left standing on the track, below Swanson street, when two of them, from some cause as yet unexplained, got started, and ran down the grade into the enclosure, and then into the depot. A number of men were at work there, and hearing the holse of the cars, supposed that a train was coming in, and hastened to open the large doors. Before they could do so, however, one of them was caught by the first car, and was pushed by it a long distance, breaking his leg, crushing his skull, and injuring him so severely that he died in a few minutes. His name was Andrew Gibbons, aged fortynine years, and resided in Carpenter street, near Second, He leaves a wife and six children. The Uoroner's inquest was adjourned till Tuesday evening, at eight o'clock, at the Cooper-slop, in order to discover by what means the cars were put in motion. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. THE MONEY MARKET. PHILADELPHIA, October 26, 1861. Pennsylvania fives closed to-day at 76%, a slight improvement. Philadelphia city loans were weaker, as might have been expected, from the action of Councils, providing for the new loan necessary under the extra ordinary expenditures of the times. The loans of the Dew issues sold at 91 ½, and the old issues at 83.

Reading Railroad shares fluctuated between 17½ and 13%, closing at 17 %. Schuylkill Navigation shares and bans were heavy, as were also the stock of the Beaver leadow and Minehill Railroad Companies, and the lehigh Navigation securities. Passenger railway shares are neglected. Bank stocks will not be much dealt in mtil after the November election for Directors.
