TRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA. SCT.
THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

citizens assembled to bid him adieu. At a quarter fore five o'clock, the time be for thetrain to leave, Gen. McClellan arrived, under escort of Captain Barker's cavalry squadren. The new General in-Chief was accompanied by the following members of his staff: of his staff:
Brigadier General Marcy, Inspector General.
Erigadier Coneral Stoneman, Uniof of Cavalry.
Brigadier General Barry, Chief of Artillery.
Brigadier General Van Vliet, Chief of Quarteraster's Department. Brigadicr General Seth Williams, Adjutant Ge-Lieutenant Colonel Colburn, Assistant Adjutant Lientenant Colonel Hudson, Assistant Inspector ieutenant Colonel Sweitzer, Assistant Inspector Captain Louis Philippe De Orleans, Count De Captain Louis Philippe De Orieans, Count Be Paris.

Captain Robert De Orleans, Duc do Chartres.

The General and his staff all appeared with black rubber havelocks over their caps, and long black rubber coats, hiding their uniforms entirely. This dress was worn to resist the pelting storm. As they entered the depot, their appearance in the dim light reminded one of the stories of the black knights of old. The only thing that broke the silence that prevailed was the clank of the warriors' hidden swords, and the rattle of their spurs.

Gen. McClellan, at the head of his staff, proceeded to an inner room, occupied by Gen. Scott, and removing his hat from his head, bowed before the veteran chief whom he had just succeeded.

General Scott, sitting, from inability to rise, extended his hand to his successor, and they talked for some minutes with hands clasped. In this position Gen. Scott, drawing McClellan nearer to him, said:

"General, do not allow yourself to be embarressed by men who do not comprehend this great question. Carry out your own ideas, act upon your own judgment, and you will conquer, and the Government will be vindicated. God bless you." The young chieftain's only roply was:
"I thank you, General, and will not forget your counsel. May you be restored to health and live to see your prophecy fulfilled. God be with you. Farewell." Shaking hands again, General McClellan con-Shaking hands again. Coneral McClellan conducted General Scott to the car, where they parted without a word being exchanged, General McClellan bowing gracefully and General Scott returning it. The members of General McClellan's staff then shook hands with General Scott. Gen. McClellan and staff retired, and, in the midst of a drenching rain, mounted their horses and returned to exercise.

The train left the depot at precisely five o'cleck. General Scott was accompanied by his own staff, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Treasury, Major General Butler, Adjutant General Thomas, General Van Vliet, and others. Letter from Camp Crossman.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Nov. 4, 1861. EDITOR OF PRESS: This camp is two and a half miles from the town, and two miles from the Warm Springs, a beautiful summer resort. It was established especially for recruiting General James' Brigade. About 2,000 soldiers are now here, and Golonel Carter's regiment, now rendezvoused at Warren, Pn., numbering about 800, will be marched here in a few days. By Saturday night of this week it will contain 3,000 soldiers. It is favorably located on high and dry ground, well watered and drained, has a clean and comfortable appearance, and is surrounded by a rich and beautiful country. The entrance to each street has been decorated by arches covered with evergreens from the forest, which give it a picturesque look, attractive to the eye of a stranger. This has been the work of the soldiers when off duty. I spent two days in camp, and never saw happier men.

I have made the acquaintance of General James, and am highly pleased with him, both as a gentleman and officer. He is of commanding size and appearance, and has the language, manners, and bearing of a gentleman. I learn that he is a man of military education, and has hed traple very experience us no officer. has had twelve years' experience as an officer. He is evidently prudent and discreet, but unyielding and inflexible in his purposes. Officers and men look up to him with the utmost respect and confidence. He has employed a "drill master," and the officers undergo the routine of drill every day.

The first regiment of the brigade has been fully organized, and its officers commissioned. Col. William G. Murray commands it, and also commands the camp in the absence of General James. He is always on the ground, pleasant in his manner, but courage and firmness beam from his eye, and is evi-denced by the manner in which his commands are beyed. I predict for him a brilliant future, Thomas C. McDowell, one of the editors of the Patriot and Union, is lieutenant colonel, and looks every inch a soldier. er Barrett, son of the Hon. G. R. Barrett. is major of the regiment. He is the youngest of the officers in years, but makes a fine appearance in cfficers in years, but makes a fine appearance in uniform, and is active, industrious, and untiring in his devotion to the interests of the whole brigade. The other regiments are not yet fully organized, but some of the officers are here. Col. Lewis, Col. Johnston, and Major Johnston, of your city, belong to them, and are officers of high rank and undoubted ability. When they are regularly organized, which will be during the present week, I will give you a description of them.

I have been especially struck with the good order, decorum, and universal sobriety of the camp. Gen. James has informed me that his highest ambition is to give to the country a brigade of good and well disciplined men and officers. He bids fair to succeed. to succeed.

Col. Birney Going to Kentucky.

A letter from the camp of Col. Birney's Regiment (the Twenty-third Pennsylvania), dated November 2d, received in this city, says: wember 2d, received in this city, says:

"Col. Birney has been selected for one of the Kentucky Brigades. It is not generally known that Col. Birney was born in Huntsville, Ala.; that his family is an old Kentucky one, his mother being a daughter of Gov. McDowell, the first Governor of Kentucky. The Colonel is first cousin of Humphrey Marthall, now in Secessiondom, and a cousin of Gen. Irvin McDowell. The Colonel was reared in Kentucky, near Danville. His selection has been made to please Kentuckians.

"All the field steff and line officers, have sent." has been made to please Kentuckians.

"All the field, staff, and line officers, have sent to Gen. Cameron a petition, asking to be sent to Kentucky with Col. Birney. The regiment was mustered yesterday for payment, and turned out fourteen hundred and eighty men. Lieuts. Rees and Bailey have been sent to Philadelphia to select one hundred more men for the flying artillery. lect one hundred more men for the flying artillery.

The Spirit of Kentucky. A few days ago we published the call of a recruiting officer in New Jersey during the Revolutionary struggle, filled with characteristic martial eloquence, and appealing to every consideration of love of country. Below we to revolution, and their determination not to be dragged into the surging sea of Secession.

But, with utter disrogard for the known sentiment of the State, the vandals of the South, bent on destruction, are upon us like the locusts of Egypt, devouring and devastating, murdering and pillaging. They come with fire and sword. As a dictator; their leader thrusts himself upon us, and around him come armed thousands to securge a free peeple of a great State into measures of revolution and bloodshed that they have ever repudiated. Kentucky, through her people's representatives, has refused to embrace, and hurls back the bloody principles taught by the invader and is it to be principles taught by the invader, and is it to be said in summing up the history of these great States, that Kentucky, proud, brave, mighty Kentucky, had not the unflinching courage to drive back invasion, and that her people qualied when danger stood at their door? No! Rather let Time record that our glorious Commonwealth, like a warrior, sprang firmly in the field, and with Titan arm and manly strength, gave blow for blow, both thick and fast, till every invading foot had fled her I want men of courage to join me in this undertaking. Tis for the young and vigorous to fight the battles of their country, and announce to coming generations that the attempted conquest of Kentucky was met by her sons as it should have been—with steel to steel. with steel to steel.

Men joining my company will receive pay from the time they are mustered in. Good horses, blankets, uniforms, and arms will be provided, together with everything necessary for camp life. My men shall all be made comfortable at once. The country says come—your State says come—humanity and civilization say come and strike for all that man holds dear.

Winfield Scott. [For The Press.]

The cry broke shricking thro' the startled land, To arms! Treason doth seize the Capitol!
To arms! to arms! ere Washington shall fall! The nation answer'd with its heart and hand, And swift and strong poured on each yeoman band. With sword and musket, bayonet and ball; They heard the Hero-Chieftain's magic call, And saw the flashing of his battle-brand, And knew the quick fire of his eagle eye,

And his tall form—itself with glories grand— Would lead them on to certain victory, And onward rushed, and bore the Flag he waved At Lundy's Lane, and vowed with him to die, Or conquer—so the Capitol was saved. ay he stands at Autumn's golden close, With Time's strong, iron grasp upon his frame; His brows thick laurel'd, and his eye a-flame

With local fire, that purer, loftier glows Amid Life's chill, and frost, and Arctic snows; Te-day receives a Nation's high acclaim, And bleesing on the Chief whose proudest aim Hath been to shield his Country from her foes. Columbia! grant the rest he asks to-day! The boon his lips, unwilling, have expressed, Whose threescore years in arms for thee outweigh Thy claims, and bid him seek that peace and rest, Where his true heart for thee and thine shall pray, Till death enfold him calmly to thy breast. NAVAL MATTERS.—The eight sloops-of-war and the twenty-three gunboats ordered by the Navy Department about four months ago are nearly all finished. Four of the sloops have been launched, and two more will be ready for launching in about two weeks. Of the twenty-three gunboats, only six remain to be launched, and they will probably be afloat in the course of next week. The Government continues to purchase vessels, to be turned into gunboats or to be used as store and supply ships. The number already purchased cannot be less than one hundred and forty. These vessels are generally altered at private ship yards. White there is an additional increase being made to our navy, the British Government have also under construction at the present time fifty-four vessels-of-war. Their armament will be in the aggregate 1,254 guns.

Yesterday morning the gunboat Seamen was placed on the dry-dock at Simpson & Neill's yard, for the purpose of being coppered. A large force of workmen were engaged, and the beat was again in the water in the afternoon. A vest amount of work is at present done at this flourishing yard. Another gunboat will be placed ternoon. A vest amount of work is at present done at this flourishing yard. Another gunboat will be placed on the dock to-day.

Yesterday afternoon the United States steamer Hatteras sailed from the navy yard. She was to have left on Saturday last, but was detained by the storm. She is bound for the Gulf of Mexico.

There is at present great activity at our yard, and all work is being as rapidly pushed forward as the limited space will allow. Orders have already been received at the yard for the construction of another sloop, and it is thought that a second will also be built in Philadelphia. The force of men employed at the yard reaches 2,500. From appearances an additional force will have to be engaged. The court of inquiry to investigate the charges against Captain Scott, of the Kegstone State, will convene at Washington to-day, and not at our navy yard. A number of witnesses connected with the yard have been summoned to that city. RECRUITING.—Colonel Richter Jones has now about three hundred men in camp at Roxborough.

This regiment has been a considerable time in formation, and if it is not complete by the 10th of November the Governor will take measures to have it combined with other regiments. Colonel Jones and his officers have devoted their whole time, and spent considerable money towards the formation of this regiment.

Captain Sadler is very busily engaged in raising a regiment of heavy artillery, just called for by the Government. The regiment is designed for Fortress Monroe, and will be very useful when in service.

Colonel R. B. Price's regiment is encamped on Darby road. A largo number of men are still wanting to complete the organization.

Colonel Ruh's cavalry, encamped on Second-street road, above Nicctown lane, is nearly full, and will be the first of the regiments now forming to start for the seat of Waft.

Colonel Gregory's regiment, at Camp Chase, is progressing finely, although not complete. They will be about the second regiment to leave.

A number of regiments, from this city, now at the seat of war, are still obtaining recruits, in order to increase their numbers and fill all vacancies. Recruiting for the regular army and marine service is also going on, but, on e whole, the work progresses very slowly

ESCAPE OF AN INCENDIARY.—HE IS RE-

ESCAPE OF AN INCENDIARY.—HE IS RECAPTURED.—George W. Race, one of the most desperate outlaws of this city, has just been sentenced to the Eastern Penitentiary for the term of nine years and six months. Race has spent about half his life in prison. He was one of the three-months volunteers from this city, having joined the Scott Legion. It is somewhat singular that, as a soldier, he was always orderly, obedient, and prompt in the discharge of duties. When the Legion returned, Race, instead of coming to this city, remained in Frauklin country, where he joined a gang of desperate characters, all of whom, like himself, had served in the ranks.

For some time past the people of that county have been kept in a state of centinual apprehension from their depredations. Quite a number of warehouses had recently been set on fire, and burglaries and larcenies were of frequent occurrence. Most of these outrawes having been traced to Race, he was at length arrested in Chambersburg, tried, and convicted, both of arson and larceny. A few days since he made a desperate effort to escape from the jail at Greencastle. Having lured the turnkey into his cell upon some specious pretext, he slipped out, and turned the tables upon that anniable gentleman, locking him in. Then, with the key of the cell in his pocket, he made his escape, barring the outer gate. A daughter of the jailor gave the alarm, and the fugitive was overtaken, but refused to give himself up until he had been shot in the elbow by the jailor's son. He will no doubt be well provided for in future.

CALL FOR A MEETING IN BEHALF OF THE IN-

consideration of love of country. Below we give the call of a recruiting officer in Kentucky, attached to the regiment of the Hon. James S. Jackson, a Union Representative in the Congress of the United States. It is instinct with the true fire of the flint, and shows that if Kentucky has traitors born upon her soil she also has true and loyal patriots to defend her from their attacks:

Young Men of Kentucky. To Arms!—One hundred young men wanted to fill a company of cavalry, to serve in a regiment commanded by Col. James S. Jackson, and attached to the column of General Sherman. The time for men to come to their country's call has now arrived. Kentucky, through her Legislature, has again problaimed her loyalty to the Government framed by our fathers. Three times have the people, by overwhelming majorities, announced to the world their opposition to revolution, and their determination not to be dragged into the surging sea of Secession.

But, the tutter disregard for the kennym santi-

It is said that a prominent railroad corporation, of this city, contemplate erecting a vast machine shop in West Philadelphia, for the repairs of its engines. Its present facilities, in this respect, are far too Rmited, as the transcription.
