Letter from Col. Murphy's Regiment.

NEAR SENECA, Md., October 29, 1861. DEAR BROTHER : I did not receive or read with interest yours of the -- of -- ; but I am waiting for it. I have seen a great deal since my last, in which I spoke of heavy firing at 11 o'clock, Monday morning. You have since heard what it was in the papers. Well, that night we marched from our camp at Darnestown, passed through Poolesville at eleven o'clock. (cight miles.) and there we met the wounded and crippled soldiers of the Fifteenth Massachusetts, and saw the house in which General Baker lay dead. Our blood was up, and on double-quick we pushed forward six miles, down to Conrad's Ferry, from whence we crossed to an island half way between the two shores. But orders came for us to land and push on to Edwards' Ferry, six miles more. At this time it was raining very hard, and the roads were in awful condition However, we managed after some trouble to reach said place. Our troops were going over in scows, and we lay there on the edge of the river waiting our turn. Ah ! my boy, there was excitement. Teams were ranged along the roads ; mossengers dashed up and down. Zouaves in groups were looking earnestly across the river, where our troops were drawn up in line of battle. At last orders came to us. They were issued an account of our gray uniform, which is rather Secesh, and ordered us not to cross, but go further down the Potomac, and detach our companies as pickets at the various fords. And here we are, with a battery, and sixteen cavalry as messengers, &c. But now. (for what I do not know.) our division has recrossed, and are coming down the river near our position. Well, we'll wait and see. While we lay at the ferry I saw a Secesh lieutenant, who hailed originally from Utica, New York. He didn't seem to look very chivalrons, for he had an awful red nose, which seemed to say, "my hoss loves whisky." And, I forgot to say that along the whole route to the Potomac, we met squade of soldiers, who had been in Monday's fight, and who were in many cases bootless, and without coat, gun, &c. Some were without clothing of any kind, with blankets around them, and walking through the mud in bare feet. They had swum the river, pursued by rebel balls. Do you call that fun, my boy? I don't, for it is all onesided. Mother's letter will tell you about some of the wounded men. Our blue clothing will be here to-day, the order having been issued for delivery in Washington. Our wagons have been gone for them since yesterday. Then, my boy. if our division crosses again, they cannot order us back. "Dont give up the ship," by thunder, if they whip us fifty times. If I should happen to be "wiped out" it is all right, only dont forget sometimes to think of your little brother. I have no fear of death, for it must come; it is only a question of time. So, then, I say again, FIGHT, let the issue be victory or defeat. If we wait until spring they will be harder to whip, or else there will be a compromise. With what result ? Their recognition, and mayhap (God forbid) the American flag disgraced. They have trampled our emblem in the dust, and we MUST wipe out that galling disgrace. Well, good day, my boy; my time is nearly up, DRIED MEATS,-Mr. C. H. Mattson, dealer n fine groceries, Arch and Tenth streets, has now in store a superior lot of dried beef, beef tongues of the largest size, and the best quality of hams. All the best Hiram Parker, Pottsville articles in the grocery line can always here be had.

AN ELEGANT LINE OF NEW ARTICLES FOR THE NECK has just been brought out by Mr. J. A. Eshleaan, Seventh and Chestnut streets, for fall and winter. All gentlemen of taste should call on Eshleman and make the acquaintance of his very elegant and unique stock of articles for their exclusive wear.

GENERAL SCOTT IN NEW YORK .--- General cott, the hero of Lundy's Lane and Mexico, and sterling patriot of the War of 1861, has gone to New York to make it a permanent residence. The old warrior has been heard to say that, although Gotham suits him very well as a place of residence, he always twens lovingly to Philadelphia whenever he desires to procure either a civilian suit or a military uniform. The only wear for him is that which comes from the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 803 and 805 Chestnut street, above Sixth. This firm has won for itself as high a reputation for military clothing since the breaking out of the war as it before enjoyed for civilian suits. THE NAVAL EXPEDITION. - Everybody is speculating about the naval expedition, its destination and the probability of its reaching there in consentence of the storm. So far, speculation has failed to reach any certain fact about the destination, and the only thing known with certainty is, that the best, cheapest, and most superior fall and winter garments in the city are to be found at the fashionable mammoth clothing establishment of Grauville Stokes, 609 Chestnut. Mr. Stokes has now on hand some of the finest and most durable material in the market, which he can turn into clothing a the shortest notice. An extensive stock of ready-mad military and civic garments also constantly on hand.
