A bill from the same chamber, in regard to the extension of the Water Works, was agreed to. Adjourned.

SELECT BRANCH. SELECT BRANCH,
Theo. Caylor, president, in the chair.
Petitions, c.c., to the following officet were read by the metretary: For the removal of the passenger railroad track in North Broad street; for changing the location of the city burial ground; for the introduction by Councils in the Water Department of an invention called the "waste water supply." Referred to committees.
Mr. Crylen announced that the Committee for the Relief of Volunteers' Families had expended, during the past week, S15.328.53; total thus for S.12.007.0. There relief of Volunteers' Families hd expended, during the past week, $15,828.58; total time for $243,010.70. There remains unexpended about $89,000.

Mr. Benton, from the Committee on City Property reported a bill making certain changes in the location of the different municipal offices. The bill provides that the Quarter Sessions be removed to the room now held by the sheriff, and the sheriff to the late office of the Recorder of Peeds; that the District Court room be enlarged by taking in the present Quarter Sessions room. An appropriation of $1.200 is asked for the consummate the appropriation of $1,200 is asked for to cons An amendment by Mr. McInters to postpone was not greed to, and the bill passed.

The same committee made a report relative to the dec The same committee made a report relative to the deer in Logan Square. The deer in this square originally numbered but eight. They have now increased to therty-five—thirteen bucks, two stags, and sixteen does. The report recommends that three made and female deer be retained, the rest sold at sum not less than fifteer dollars nor head. onals per head.

The question involved a discussion upon zoology. Mr ox made a speech, in which he took the ground that i he deer were worth anything at all, as illustrations of atural bistory, they should be distributed among often natural history, they should be distributed among other solution.

MI. Neal thought ditto, and believed that, upon children, the exhibition of tame squirrels and deer produced a highly humanitarian effect.

This brought out Mr. Benton, who differed from the former view. The civ deers are expensive playthings. They cost $600 a year, and even the little squirrels cost like same rigure. They are a great source of trouble. On one occasion the city was muleted in $1,200, to remunerate a venerable spinster for injuries received in the square from an attack by one of the bucks.

The Chain suggested that if the squares were too small—Mr. Benton had so said—the deer could be placed in Fainment Park; which was met by Mr. Benton with the argument that the deer would swim the river with the orgament that the deer would swim the river and leap the fence.

The matter then was postponed.

An ordinance appropriating $250 for repairing damage caused by rain to the avenues of Fairmount Park was passed finally.

The following report was read: The Committee on Defence and Protection of the City submit the annexed statement of the present condition of the Home Guard organization, together with a statement of the expenditures made under the provisions of the ordinance making an appropriation for the defence and protection of the city:

The present force of the Home Guard comprises nearly of the city:

The present force of the Home Guard comprises nearly 4,000 men, who are constantly drilling in their respecsoldiers. In some cases whole companies of the Home tive armories. From this organization a large number of the men which the city of Philadelphia has furnished the National Government have been sent, and when transferred to the field are valuable as skilled and disciplined Guard have been mustered this service, where constantly of the others have been meterially lessened from the same cause. At the time of the last report the city wis in possession of 5000 stand of arms, loaned by the War Department to the Home Guard organization. The necessities of the Government obliged a recall of these arms, which have been returned. This compelled the purchase of guns for the various companies, who are struction, with the hecessary gun carriages, exissions, harness, &c.

The arms purchased have been distributed to the different infantry companies, and the batteries have been placed in charge of the artillery companies attached to the force. Under legal provisions the committee will apply for a return of the duties on the Enfeld and Prussian musicots, which will amount to about $0,000.

The arms and ammunition purchased, and in the hands of the city, are thus:

2,100 Maynard primer muskets, 2,006 Prussian muskets, 1,000 Enfeld rifles, 2 batteries of Parrott cannon, 2 steel filled cannon, presented to the city by Mr. McHenry; 2 nary howitzers, from Capt. Dahlgton; 440 sabres, 250 sergeants swords, 50 drums; with the necessary infantry equipments and ammunition for the use of the force. necessary infantry equipments and ammunition for the use of the force.

The manner of working the batteries to produce the per amount of efficiency at as small a cost as possible, has claimed the attention of the committee. After consultation with experienced officers in this branch of the service, they have recommended that the batteries be drilled with hired horses, and in rotation by the respective artillery companies. This is the most committed way in which the desired result can be accomplished. The proposed expenditure will not exceed, for the first year, $3,300, and for each succeeding year $2,500.

The bills for the amounts disbursed in garrisoning Forts Mittlin and Delaware have been properly made out, and a demand for their payment will be made to the General Government.

An accurate recomneissance is being made by the City Surveyor, in connection with an experienced military engineer, of the approaches to Philadelphia, and, when finished, the result of their labors will be submitted to Councils.

The committee have expended out of the appropriation

Councils.

The committee have expended out of the appropriation 2125,427, a detailed statement of which is annexed.

The committee, in conclusion, tender their thanks to the donors of the gifts of cannon to the city. The prorecommending the appointment of an officer entitled a superintendent of military stores, who shall take care of the property.

A metion to recommit was argued at great length, and lost, when the bill was laid over.

A report of the committee upon the subject of cruelty to mules and horses was presented by its chairman, Mr. Neal. The petitions for action by Councils were signed by 214 men and 250 women. The document is a distressingly painful affair, detailing the cruelties inflicted upon mules and horses by inhuman drivers upon the railroads in Dock, Second, Willow, and Broad streets. It concludes with an ordinance, providing that animals shall be struck with nothing else than a lash, and that then blood shall not be drawn. The penalty is five dollars for each offence.

After the report and ordinance were read, Mr. Guyler, president, gave his opinion as a lawyer, that the ordinance would do no good whatever. It was simply a benevolent absurdity, the Legislature having already given the subject ample attention. Mr. Guyler carnestly sympathized with the object of the bill, and only regretted the impossibility of carrying its provisions into effect.

Mr. Doccherty moved to postpone the ordinance insteinted. Not agreed to.

The control of the controllers of the provided for out of the loan already made for the provided for out of the loan already made for the purpose. Agreed to.

An ordinance appropriating $973 to the controllers of schools, for repairs, was adopted.

On motion, it was agreed that on Thursday next the chambers meet to elect three directors to the Pennsylvania Railtead.

The bill appropriating $24,000 from the income of certain trusts to the Guardians of the Poor, to pay for wood to pour vidows, was concurred in.

Interesting Private Letter.

The following private letter, from an officer in the fleet to a gentleman in this city, will be read with interest:

U. S. STEAMER BIENVILLE,
PORT ROYAL HARDOR, off Fort Walker.
November 9, 1861.

We took this fort, mounting twenty-one guns, after a four hours' fight. It was nobly done. The Wabash, which led, was carried along the shore by the soundings as close as possible. The soundings were given regularly, as upon an ordinary occasion; signals were made continually without a single mistake, while the raiz of fire from this ship (the Wabash) fell upon the fort with all the cold precision of target practice.

During the action I looked carefully at the fort with a powerful spy-glass. Shell fell in it, not twenty-eight in a minute, but as fast as a horse's feet beat the ground in a gallop. The resistance was heroic; but what could flesh and blood do against such a fire? I watched two men particuwas heroic; but what could flesh and blood do against such a fire? I watched two men particularly, in red shirts: I saw them seated at the muzzle of a gun, apparently waiting exhausted for more summunition. They were so still that I doubted whether they were men. This terrible fire fell around them I saw them move, and I knew they were men. They loaded the gun; a shell burst near them, and they disappeared; doubtless blown into atoms.

Gentlemen in attending the ladies to this splendid store are also sure to find a display interesting to themselves in the way of clegant Hats and Caps for Fall and Winter, and the choicest assortment of Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods.

SILVER FLINT BUCKWHEAT.—This excellent brand of Buckwheat is being preferred by all who shell burst near them, and they disappeared; doubtless blown into atoms.

The Wahash was a destroying angel—hugging the shore; calling the soundings with cold indifference; slowing the engine, so as only to give steerage way; signalling to the vessels their various evolutions; and at the same time raining shells, as with target practice, too fast to count.

Commodore Dupont had kindly made me his aid. I stood by him, and I did little things which I suppose grained me gradit. So when a heat was sent on pose gained me credit. So when a boat was sent on shore to ask whether they had surrendered, I was sent. I carried the stars and stripes I found the ramparts utterly desolate, and I planted the American flag upon those ramparts with my own hands—first to take possession, in the majesty of the United States, of the rebel soil of South Carolina.

The Confederate forces were in an utter panic;

THE BLOCKADE.—The tone of both France d me credit. So when a boat was sent on United States, of the rebel soil of South Carolina.

The Confederate forces were in an utter panic; they deserted everything. Arms, tents, personal property were abandoned, as by men intent only upon safety and spurred by overwhelming fear. I was for an hour with only a boat's crew in the camp. I found a sword, mounted in solid silver, hilt and scabbard, which proved to be a blade with two golden lines of Arabic writing, doubtless a Damascus blade and an heir-loom.

a new soldier's scarf, still in its box of pasteboard. This I beg you to accept. In Fort Beauregard I found another scarf; this is for ——. It is a trophy, and, as such, worth as much as yours, though it is neither so large nor so naw. I found tranks enough to furnish a shop, most of them twenty-five dollar trunks, locked; and I collected them for the wounded or the prisoners of whom I took only five wounded or the prisoners, of whom I took only five —all the rest had gone. I captured a negro, but having given him permission to deck himself in now clothes, I lost him. He staid too long for me to theneral Sherman said that he had no idea of theneral Sherman said that he had no idea of such magnificent fighting, for the guns were eleven, ten, nine, and eight inch guns, not horse artillery. The Wabash was awfully sublime in her destroying energy, and yet most coldly precise and magnificantly. cently fearless.

The panies.

The panie was wild, abject terror on the part of the "Southrons." Not a soldier had been landed, because it had not been possible for them to get on shore, except at the batteries, and, of course, not until the batteries were taken. Yet men strewed the road for miles with muskets, blankets, and knapsacks. One company, of about sixty horsemen, abandoned their horses and fled for life, horsemen, abandoned their horses and fled for life, while no one pursued. So say the contrabands. I do not think the importance of our acquisition can be exaggerated. The channel is fair for any wind with southing in it, the only dangerous ones. It admits the largest class of vessels; it is easily defended; it is in the heart of South Carolina; it is twenty miles from Savannah and thirty from Charleston; it has room for the navies of the world; it is a Fortress Monroe in South Carolina.

Negroes are pouring in; they believe their condition is to be bettered. The white men have all field. Vessels go up to Beaufort to-day.

This will be carried by Capt. Steedman, of the Bienrille, who followed the Websch into the thickest fight, and behaved very gallantly.

Bienville, who followed the Walash into the thickest fight, and behaved very gallantly.
Beaufort has been taken by the ganboats, the town having been ahandoned by the whites. The negroes were pillaging the town. They said the whites were shooting them right and left, in order to drive them back into the interior. A boat which came off to the Seneca said one man, giving his news shat six of the negroes. name, shot six of the negroes. Captain John Rodgers was the officer who first raised the Stars and Stripes over the rebel forts, and no doubt he is the author of the above letter.-

AT A MEETING OF THE PHILA-DELPHIA BAR, held at the Law Library, Nov. 14th, 1861, THOS. DUNLAP, Est., was called to the Chair, and Mr. McCall. appointed Secretary. The following resolutions, presented by Mr. Whit-man and seconded by Ludae. Street, when the The following resolutions, presented by Mr. Whitman and seconded by Judge Stroud, were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we have heard with great sorrow the death of our associate, WILLIAM SMITH, Esq., one of the oldest and most respected members of the Bar of Philadelphia. Philadelphia.

Resolved, That his strict integrity, the extent and variety of his learning, and his highly honorable course of conduct in his intercourse with the bench, the bar, and the community in general, during a practice of more than fifty years, have endeared his memory to the profession, and have furnished them with a model highly worthy of simitation.

Resolved, That, as a token of respect for his memory and sorrow for his death, we will wear crape for thirty days.

heart, and genial disposition which characterized the deceased.

The following gentlemen were appointed the committee under the fourth resolution: Wm. E. Whitman, H. J. Williams, H. Binney, Jr., Saml. H. Perkins, and Thos. A. Budd, Esqs.

Judge Stroud afterwards called the attention of the meeting to the decease of the Hon. JOHN WURTS.

formerly a highly-respected member of this bar, and offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Perkins, and adopted by the meeting:

The members of the bar having heard of the decease, on the 23d of April last, at the city of Rome, of the Hon. JOHN WURTS.—

Resolved. That, although he has been long separated Hon. JOHN WUETS—
Resolved, That, although he has been long separated from actual fellowship with them, they cherish his memory us a learned jurist, a sugacious and upright statesman, and in every walk of life a high-minded and exemplary man.
On motion of Horace Binney, Jr., the proceedings of this meeting were ordered to be published.

EF Everybody should get and read it.

1t DEFENCE OF ARMAGEDDON, by DR. F. E. PITTS, Nashville, Tennessee,—This is the most remarkable human production that has ever been offered to the American people. The style is chaste and truly cloquent. Theologians, Givilians, and Statesmen pronounce its arguments demonstrative.

The subject treated of is most inspiring: "The United States in Prophery."

The theory of Dr. Pitts is: That the United States is forttold in the Holy Scriptures, and that the battle of Armageddon is to be fought in the Valley of the Mississippi.

Armageddon is to be fought in the Valley of the Misissippi.

The United States in Prophecy be demonstrates by two arguments; the 1st chronological; the 2d geographical. The Chronological argument is founded on the 1290 symbolic days, and the three and a hast times embraced in the predictions of Daniel, chapter xii. That "the time of the end," an age of great intellectual energy and adventure, was the age in which a great nationality would arise, and that the United States arose at the end of the 1290 symbolic days. The burning of the Temple being the starting point, the 1290 days run out at a quarter to three o'clock on the 4th of July, 1776, at which hour, according to the best sources of information, the Declaration of Independence was read from the steps of the old State House, on Chestnut street, in the city of Philadelphia. Philadelphia.

Another length of these times is 1335 days, and will cad in 1678. These two lengths begin and close other time of the end, and answer to the rise of the American Republic, and its expansion into the Milleunium. This argument is purely mathematical, and, we believe, unargument is purely mathematical, and, we believe, unsnawerable.

SECOND ARGUMENT—Geognaphical. That the people were to inhabit a land "lying between the Eastern and great Western seasy" that this "land had always been waste;" that the waste be located in "thirteen distinct States;" that the people should "build and dwell safely in unwalted villages and cities, having neither gates nor bars," "a land of broadfrivers and streams;" a republic where the people "should appoint to themselves one head, and their rulers and governors" should be from "amongst themselves," and that our great country, answering the predictions so precisely of the nationality that was to come, is the nation born in a day—born on the 4th of July, 1776.

The second part of the work relates to the world's last conflict between civil and religious liberty on the one hand, and political and ecclesiastical despotism on the other.

hand, and political and ecclesiastical despotism on the other.

The voice of the prophetic Scriptures frequently and fully anisothice the warfare of the world.

Preparations for ages have anticipated the struggle, while the clangor of its trumpets is almost heard, marshalling its millions to the charge. It is true as destiny, and the gathering storm is rising. In the volume of inspiration it is called "the Battle of Gog," "the Battle of Armsgeddom."

The Visited States will be inveded by monorable, that The United States will be invaded by monarchy; that Russia will be the leading Power; that England and all the autocracy of the world will be allied with Russia except France. As she was with us in the beginning, so she will be with us in the end; that the battle-field will be the Valley of the Mississippi; that our glorious Confederacy will never dissolve. No storm-cloud in the North, or volcanic eruption in the South, will ever divide our great country. And when the dreadful carnage is over, and victory shall parch upon America's banner, confederated republics, under the council of the United States, will spring up in the former habitations of despotism, and our glorious Republic, like an elder brother, will kindly instruct them in the principles of popular freedom. Thus, when the thrones of earth shall be destroyed, there shall be but one religion—the religion of Jesus—and but one form of government, and that republican. Then the cloudless splendors of a new heaven shall beam upon a new earth, Messiah reign, and earth keep jubilee a thousand years. In the language of the National Intelligence, the "theme is startling and subline." This book should be in the hands of every American citizen. trmageddon."
The United States will be invaded by monarchy; that book should be in the hands of every American citizen.
