THE NORMAL SCHOOL IN COURT.--THE NORMAL SCHOOL IN COURT.— Mrs. Josephice Johnson, a teacher in the Girls' High and Normal School, brought suit against the city yesterday to recover the balance of her salary, some $200. Some time ago, when the Board of Control changed the character of the Normal School, a factious opposition in Councils refused to sanction the change. The new teachers consequently were unable to obtain their money, and have since been annually compelled, at expense and loss of time to themselves, to sue the city for the amount.
The City Controller in countersigning the warrants for the present year, paid seven of the teachers in full, and as the amount was not sufficient to pay all according to the scale adopted by the School Board, he deducted about $200 from each of the remaining three teachers.
The court refused to charge that Councils alone had power to fix the salaries, and a verdict for plaintif was rendered for $261.33. The case will be taken to the Suprene Court. A PORTABLE PALACE FOR SOUTH AMERICA.—Mesers. Spalding & Rogers, the well-known itinerant showmen, of New York, have contracted in this city for the iron work of a portable equestrian palace, with which they will shortly start on a tour for South America and the West Indies. Although this am-South America and the West Indies. Although this amphibestre is to comprise for ty private boxes, a spacious parquet, and capacious gallery, with luxurious chairs and sofast lineughout, complete gas fixtures, requisite offices, refectories, and withdrawing rooms, and everything in a style of elaboration to correspond with a building of such pretensions, they hope, by means of the corps of artisans they take with them, to creet this novel structure in three days after arrival at each place of destination. Lauder's March. What some men deem impossible others pro-ceed to execute. General Hunter said it was im-possible for Fremont to carry his army from Tipton to Springfield, but Fremont nevertheless did go from Tipton to Springfield. Our Congressmen about Washington said it was impossible for the army of the Potomac to move, on account of the mud; but General Lender took two columns of two thousand men each thirty-two miles, and one column forty-three miles, in twenty eight hours. He surprised and cut off a camp of the enemy, capturing many of their officers, and possessing himself of its subsistence. The march of General Lander is one of the most noteworthy. The usual march of an army is about eventeen miles a day, but in forced marches the distance is commonly doubled, or is made to reach under favorable circumstances thirty miles a day. Napoleon, during his campaign in Italy, made Napoleon, during his campaign in Italy, made several extraordinary movements, and there are instances on record in which sixty-two miles have been accomplished in twenty-six hours. Lander's forty-three miles in twenty-eight hours is, therefore, among the best. His roads, as we know, lay among the mountainous districts of Western Virginia, were probably heaped with mud or snow, and the season was inclement. The country will regret that so brave and active an officer as General Lander is obliged to resign his present command on account of ill health.—N. Y. Evening Post. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. THE MONEY MARKET. PHILADELPHIA, February 17, 1862. The good news from General Grant to day had as exbliarating an effect at the Stock Board as in other quarters, and a gain of from three-quarters to one per cent was realized upon City sixes, Pennsylvania Railroad shares, and several other securities. The money market is without change. For first rate paper, the demand is increased and the rates low, but there is little disposition to invest in any notes not signed by well-known and approved names. OFFICIAL BANK STATEMENT. Out of the one hundred and twelve banks in Illinois, which may be said to have been in "full blast," if we look at their blasting influence, only eighteen have survived the storms of the last eighteen months.
