Secretary Stanton's Speech at the Railroad ltpetre, arms, an Convention.

The following paragraph was as heretofore stated, added to the official report of the first day's pro-ceedings of the late railroad convention: "Secretary STANTON paid a high compliment to the young and gallant friend at his side, Major General MCCLELLAN, in whom he had the utmost confidence, and the result of whose military schemes, gigantic and well matured, were now exhibited t a rejoicing country." The officers of the convention, having been applied to in various quarters to say whether this language was used by Secretary STANTON, feel bound to state that such was not the case, and these words, above quoted, were added after the report had been furnished to the agent of the Associated Press. This is signed by ERASTUS CORN-ING, president, and THOS. KEMBER, Jr., secretary. As the article in question occasions much comment, especially among those unacquainted with the few and plain facts in the case, the agent of the Associated Press repeats a former assortion, that the paragraph was by himself added to the efficial notice of the proceedings. It was based upon a statement, from recollection, of what was said on that occasion, without pretending to verbal accuracy; and, further, that the information was not offered, but furnished on application. It now appears from the only authentic denial obtainablenamely, of the president and one of the secretaries-that the impression made on the mind of the informant was erroneous.

THE WAR IN TENNESSEE.

REPORTED EVACUATION OF NASHVILLE.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 23 .- General Buell left here several days ago, and proceeded in the direction of Nashville. His staff leave here to morrow morning for the place of his destination.

It is reported that many of the negroes taken some time since from the Green river country of Kentucky by the rebels to aid in fortifying Nashville, took advantage of the panic oreated there by the taking of Fort Henry and Fort Donelson, and ire making their way back to their old homes. They say it was too late to fortify Nashville.

It is understood that the rebels proposed destroy-ing the bridges on the road near Nashville, on their retreat thitherward, but the citizens along the road remonstrated and prevented it.

Rumors, which cannot be traced to any reliable source, have prevailed all day of the evacuation of Nashville by the rebels.

From Fortress Monroe and Norfolk. FORTRESS MONROE, Feb. 21.-Notwithstanding the admissions of the Southern papers that the steamer Merrimac is a failure, the latest information received is that some two hundred men are at work on her, and that considerable quantities of shot and shell are going aboard. The intention o running the blockade has not been given up, and i was thought that she might make her appearance here within a week. Every preparation has been made, and standing orders have been given for her

Fire was at once opened from the battery, the gun bosts answering. The shells from the fort were thrown with both accuracy and effect. A vessel bearing a commodore's flag was struck several times, and finally towed away by one of her com-rades, while that returning from Pulaski put back; so that the blockade of the river was established. The engagement lasted about an hour. None of the enemy's shots took effect; the regult being thus doubly and eminently satisfactory. INSTITUTION OF A PASTOR,-Last evening a large congregation assembled at the Clinton-street Presbyterian Church to witness the institution of the Rev. Daniel Marsh as the rector of that church. The exercises commenced with the singing of an anthem, Mr. Charles Hornman presiding at the organ. It is sufficient ber is eminently pictorial. to say that, under his masterly touch, all the melody of which that instrument is capable was fully rendered. The Rev. Mr. Jenkins made a very fervent prayer, in which allusion was made to the solemuity of the exer-cises about to be performed. The blessings of God were becought in behalf of the minister elect, that he might be qualified for the werk, and receive an inspiration from on high in the discharge of his ministerial functions. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Adams. He announced his text from the 7th chapter of St. John and the 17th verse, "If any man do his will, he shall know of the dectrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myssif." The sermon was a faitful axposi-ion of the delight entatied by doing God's will and obey-ing his law. The different phases pertaining to will verse examined and lucidly explained. Knowledge was neces-sary to spiritual yitality, but, the speaker thought, secrowd of Astronomical facetiæ, probably by John McClenan, filling a whole page. CITY ITEMS. SAUNDERS' CADETS.-Major General Patterson was pleased to assign to the well-drilled Company of Saunders' Cadots, of Saunders' Institute, of West Phila-delphia, a place about one square removal from the head of the extended column, which paraded on Saturday. The uniform of this Company, (a gray cloth, of the same color and quality as that worn by the Cadets of West Point, with white gaiters,) is very tasteful and becoming. The flag, presented to the Company a year since, by William J. Borstmann, Esq., is remarkably elegant. But the soliiorly bearing of the Cadets, their grace and manliness, were their chief attractions. Drilled, as they are every day, in the presence of spectators, we were not surprised to hear, as we did hear, competent judges say their movements were unsurpassed by any in that long line of well-disciplined companies. It is frequently remarked that these Cadets never appear to better advantage than at church on the Sabbath, which they attend as a company, with a degree of order and decorum which would do credit to theo-logical students. The editor of The Press, on a recent visit to Saunders' Institute, felt it his duty to say that, although he had known much of the seminary for seviral years, in consequence of his son's connection with it, jet he was surprised to see to how great a degree of perfection the general training and the military drilling had been carried, and that he observed with pleasure that the moral and social excellencies of the Institute were manifestly of a corresponding character. Saunders' Cadets may rest assured that they will, by such manly deportment and such devotion to their duty, secure the regards of the entire community. We are gratified that our authorilies took so much pains to honor them on an occasion that will never be forgotten by Phila-

Theatres, however, flourish most in irrithought, and will please serious readers. table and exciting times. With the flush of great victories upon us, or even great defeats, we seek feverish amusements. The cities become foci for restless and adventurous people, accustomed to the hilarities of field and camp, and averse to ordinary social and domestic enjoyments. These go to the theatre by instinct, and enjoy the performance the more if it be fiery, passionate, and irrogular, like themselves.

The "White Terror " is the name of what is said to be a very feverish composition from the columns of a New York weekly paper. The strength of such dramas lies in the situations and incidents. They do not attempt vivid portraitures, and, in general, are not intricately constructed. But, as they please the masses in story-form, there is no reason why they should not do likewise as dramas. Their sentiments are always sounding, and their issues acceptable. In fact, they subserve no unholy purposes, and are legitimate enough for the loose taste of the times. " The White Terror ' (vgh !) is thought to be a remarkable exemplification of imperilled heroism "on the rampage." It will be produced at the Walnut-street Theatre to-night, under the superndence of Robert Jones. The hero of the

The "great combination," by which we understand the "Comedy of Errors" and the comedy of the "Serious Family," will be re-enacted, after a lapse of years, at the Arch-street Theatre to night. These pieces were played upwards of two hundred nights under an old regime, and it is presumed that they will be moderately successful at the present time. The two Dromios are played by John and Frank Drew, who used to be undistinguishable in the same parts. Mrs. John Gilbert is now a member of the stock company. She is not equal to Miss Wells, whom she replaced. Mr. Gottschalk's reception in this country has been of a most fervid character, and almost worthy of the pianist's genius. The New York critics are lauding him daily by the column, and if he is but half equal to their dascriptions we shall have, on his entry to Phila-delphia; to-night, the greatest musical treat that we have known for years. The Herald's critic, Mr. Ryan, says that "every one is struck by the wonderful improvement that hard study and prac tice have made in his execution. Poetry and sentiment he never lacked. He has attained a marvellous power in giving expression to the creations of a fancy cultivated to a point of which there have been few examples in his profession." The concentration of musical talent on the occusion of his reappearance here has been seldom paralleled in this city. All the artists of the New York Academy of Music will support Mr. Gottschalk=Miss Hinkley, Brignoli, Mancusi, and Susini. Mr. Carl Wolfsohn, the talented pianist, will also assist. Max Maretzek will have musical direction of the concerts.
