WEDNESDAY, MARCH 12, 1862.

THE LATEST WAR NEWS.

General Curtis' official report of the battle at Pea Ridge, Arkansas, has confirmed our anticipations of the severity of the contest, and the gallantry of our troops...

The Monitor.

The opportune arrival of the Monitor in Hampton Roads is one of the most fortunate and gratifying incidents of the war. We have already published a full account of her success in driving back the iron-clad monitor Merrimack...

From Gen Burnside's Expedition.

Again on board the Casco, March 4, 1862. At anchor on the placid waters of Croatan Sound, with Resolute Island to the westward, the mainland of the United States to the eastward...

From Gen Burnside's Expedition.

At a special despatch from Washington states that the Navy Department is exceedingly active today in providing against all contingencies at Fortress Monroe...
