The total number of mmbers of the Cheaspoake bay. The total number of mmbers of the church within the bounds of the Conference, reported last session, was 63.710.

Previous to the commencement of the proceedings, a large flag, with the motto "God and our Country" inscribed upon it, was thrown to the browze, amidst lusty cheers from the bystanders. An address was delivered from the stops of the clurch by the Rev Mr. McGaskey, and the "Star-Spangled Banner" sung by the bro.hren, assisted by rome ladies at the Merchante Hotel, next to which the church is situated.

The Conference was opened at 9% o'clock, by the Rev. Bishop Morris, by reading a portion of the Holy Scriptures, and by singing the hymn commencing "How beauteous are their feet, Who stand on Zion's hill."

After which, the Rev. Bishop made an eloquent prayer, implering that the Divine guida, co night be granted to the Conference during its session, as well as to the armies and legislators of our country, and praying that the time may soon come when order and peace shall prevail throughout the land.

The roll of members was called by the secretary of the Country side. B. H. Berting, who was elected to throughout the land.
The roll of members was called by the secretary of the former session, Kev. B. H. Pattison, who was elected to that office for the present session. The Revs. G. W. Lybrand, A. M. Wiggins, and S. L. Gracy, were appointed assistants. The Conference is to meet at 3% o'clock each morning, and adjourn at 12 M.

The rules for the government of the last session were called for and read. They were adopted for the government of the present session. The usual standing committees were ordered to be appointed by the Chair, except the Committee on Statistics, which was appointed on nomination of the P. E. of each district, and consists of the Revs. T B. Miller, R. C. Carson, O. Walters, T. Montegomery, W. Warner, and C. F. Shopherd.

The Board of Stewards was appointed, and consists of Revs. J. B. McCullough. Wm. Cooper, C. Karsner, C. Hill, W. E. England, and J. A. Massey. These act in conjunction with a similar number of laymen, in the distribution of the funds raised for the worn-out preachers, widows, &c. The laymen are W. Rhodels, T. T. Tasker, B. Haywood, Joseph Parrish, M. D., William Cannon.

The time for the moneys collected for this purpose to be called for, was fixed at to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock.

The names of those who are superannuated in the ministry were called, and the following continued in that position: Bevs. George Barton, Jos. H. Wythes, D. Lambdin, Bevs. George Barton, Jos. H. Wythes, D. Lambdin, H. Sunton, E. T. Cooper.

At this point the Rev. W. Bishop arose, and moved that the President Eiders be requested, in representing the ministers of their respective districts, to state the position of such minister in reference to his loyalty to the Government. He stated that there were some upon this floor who were doubted, and more than doubted in this particular. He wanted the matter carefully insuring after. quired after.

Bishop elequently urged his motion. He thought these were times when every man and every Christian minister should be willing to show his hand and let the whole world know where they stuad. He paid a beautiful tribute to the Union, the Conturry, and the Government. The loyalty of a Methodist minister should be like Chesar's wife, above suspicion. He did not vote for Mr. Lincoln. He would here confess his sin, he voted for John C. Breckiuridge, not knowing that he was voting for a traitor who was contemplating to lay an was voting for a trailor who was contemplating to lay an earthquake at the heart of this great nation — He prayed God that his life might be spared to repent of his sin and do better in the future.

Loyal men now are the light of the world, a city set upon a hill, and their path groweth brighter and brighter upon a hill, and their path groweth brighter and brighter unto the perfect day.

Our armies are marching southward, and soon our finion will be restored in ell its glory and perpetuity. While thousands are suffering for their country, shail we be atraid to suffer! We need not be afraid. Lot us have the test proposed by this or some similar resolution. The motion was opposed by the secretary, who urged that the whole matter be referred to a committee, and when they reported, each brother will have a chance to show his haird of Falso his voice.

Rev. Dr. Hedgeon opposed the whole matter as a political movement. He was opposed to the appointment of a committee on the state of the country, as we were not here to transact such business or attend to such questions.

ns. Rev. James Neill thought that if we should ever become fathers, our children would be ashaused of us if wo refused to act now in favor of the country, decidedly and boldly, in this hour of our cou try's peril. He hoped the committee would be appointed.

Rev. Mr. Bishop was willing to withdraw his motion in view of a motion offered by Mr. Neill that a committee five be appointed on the state of the country.

Rev. Dr. Quigley was opposed to any action.

During the delivery of this speech intense excitement prevailed in the large audionce.

Rev. P. Coombe supposed that if we were disposed to dodge this question we could not, but he was not disposed to dodge this question we could not, but he constanted that the proper course would be for resolutions to be presented now, and let them either be agreed upon or referred to a committee.

The motion to appoint a committee was carried.
The superannated list was resumed, and the following were continued in that relation: W. Juinn, J. Turner, J. Hubbard, C. Shock, E. Reed, I. T. Cooper, R. E. Kemp, J. H. McFarland, and T. S. Childs.

Rev. C. J. Cocuch, at his own request, was placed upon the effective list, he being able to perform full pastoral work.

The Bishop suggested that at each Conference, for the past three years, he had administered the holy sacrament, and held a Christian experience meeting immediately after. It was ordered that this service be performed on Friday morning, at ten o'clock, to be followed by the relation of experience until the hour of adjournment.

Rev. J. A. Massey offered a motion that a prayer meeting be held each morning, at eight o'clock, which was carried. carried.

against pickpockers, who are always in the habit of frequenting such places for plunder. Last year seven of the ministers had their pockets picked of large sums of money. A word to the wise is sufficient. THE EXPRESS BUSINESS.—No business has ress companies. They have kept pace with the spirit of Their success has been owing almost entirely to the great conduction of affairs by their originators and managers. And so popular have they become that the name of one of the principal agencies, the Adams' Express Company, of the principal agencies, the Adams' Express Company, has become a "household word" in every family.

Twenty years ago, a conductor on an Eastern railroad, having become known to the business community as a man of integrity, found himself entrusted by private hende, first with parcels for delivery, then with commissions for the purchase of goods, at the principal towns and cities on the route of the railroad with which he was connected, and finally with money pacaages from bankers and others, who had hitherto been obliged to undergo the fatigues of travel, which they found could be relieved through the means of his agency. This opened to his mind a new field of labor, which he at once set about to calivate and improve. He resigned his position as conductor, and started an expressage, the results of which have proven of such incalculable benefit to the public.

One of the most successful of these agencies is that memed in bonor of the origin-tor alluded to, viz: the Harnden Express Company, which in connection with the Howard & Co.'s Express, has become a valuable acquisition to Philadelphia under the able management of MOUNT.—This structure will be completed in a short' time, the machinery having already been placed in the building.

The work was commenced on the north or upper-river side, by constructing a coffer dam. Great pains were risken to make this firm and reliable, against any possible rise in the river. This work was frequently neverly tested by fresh ts. Inside, the coffer-dam was excavated to a proper depth, a bed of broken stone was propared, upon which twelve-inch white pine logs were laid; sheet pling was then driven around this platform, the interstices between the logs were filled with broken stene, and cement-grout was run in, thus binding the whole mass together. This was then covered with three-inch pine plank, and upon this foundation the front wall, head arches, and gates were erected. The gates and fumes are of castion, faced with brass, and are raised with simple screws. They open an area of water-way of sixty-five feet for each wheel. The front wall was carried up to its full height, the gates put in place, and the fume carried a sufficient distance into the caulankment to scource perfect safety against the pressure of water in the dam, before any work was done upon its south or lower side. work was done upon its out to lower side.

An idea can be had of the great care required in prosecuting the entire work when it is known that the dambacks up about seven miles, and its destruction would not only be disastrous to the valuable property along the river below it, but the entire city would be deprived of its water supply, except that part susplied by the Dolaware Works. While the north front was in course of construction, the Schuylkill Navigation Company endeavored to stop the works, claiming to have certain construction, the Schuyikili Navigation Company endeavored to stop the works, claiming to have certain rights to the structure of the dam, and that the navigation of the river would be endangered by the work. An injunction was procured, restraining the city from prosecuting the work in any chief way oxcept as it was then being done, and according to the plans exhibited to the court by this department.

A coffer dam was next constructed on the south or lower side of the dam. This was found a matter of difficulty on account of the great depth required for wheel pits, and the trouble in procuring a good connection with the dam, which was found to be composed principally of for se stone. After excavating into freedam as far assatoty would allow, and piling, a large quantity of water still leaked into the coffer dam when the tide was up. The south side of the dam had been excavated to a depth of fourteen feet below mean high tide, when a deep stratum of river mud was reached, into which three hundred and fifty piles were driven, passing through the mud, and a stratum of from three to five feet grave: Upon the head of the pic stvelve-inch timbers were laid, and around the exposed sides of the platform a double row of jcinted sheet piling was driven. This platform, one hundred and thirteen feet by twenty-three feet, was then covered with planking, upon which the foundations for the machiner; and wheels are placed. The wheels are placed near the south front of the wheel-house. near the south front of the wheel-house.

The usefulness of this new improvement will at once be manifest when it is put in working order. One object to be attained is to utilize the surplus power of the water which flows over the Fairmount dam. It has long heen centemplated to increase the power of the Fairmannt Works to something near the mean capacity of the teliup kill river. After numerous suggestions and plans, it was at length determined to erect the new millinuse in its present shape.

COLORED EMIGRATION.—The emigration of the colored population has recently received considerable attention, and numerous families have, within a few weeks past, left this soil fer other climes. The Pennsylvania Colonization Society have not to is year been very successful. Their less thipment was in October of 1861, at which time forty-two emigrants were sent from the port of New York to Liberia. The next vessel for this settlement will sail from Baltimore on or about the first of May. At present there is but little doing, although evidences are had daily of the increased interest of the public in this cause. The sew ho have emigrated have been instructed in sgriculture and art, and at the rooms of the Colonization Society we were shown some specimens of their labor, consisting of fancy cotton cloth, which is dyed and woven from material raised on the settlement. We were also shown some coffice which was equal, if not superior, to the threat life Janeiro.

President Benson, in his Inaugural Address, made at Bonrovia last January, declares the existence in the interior of Liberia, of a vast region of millious of acres ef land, as fertile and as desirable and as itable for the habitation of our race as any other on earth—a country of COLORED EMIGRATION.—The emigratation of our race as any other on earth-a country of tation of our race as any other on earth—a contarty of unsurpassed natural resources, of would, remaining you undeveloped; inhabited to a great extent by a same what intelligent, industrious native population, ready to receive, and actually soliciting the introduction and inculcation of civilization, and, to an extent, Christianity cation of civilization, and, to an extent, Christianity among them.

By a letter received at the Pennsylvania Colonization Society, from Mr Gerard Balaton, consulve agent at London, we learn that the English Covernment had given instructions for their mailstoamers to step at Monrovia, the capital of Liberia, for the purpose of affording an opportunity to the people of that country to display their goods at the world's fair, which takes place in May. The inhabitants took advantage of the opportunity thus presented, and numerous collections are now already in London to be exhibited at the fair. This is the first thipment of articles that has been received from any distant cetuatry.

Collection of Mud in the Schuylkill dam, from Columbia bridge down, it is calculated, reach from twenty-five to thirty thousand cubic yards per year. The last report of the late Chief Engineer of the Water Department alludes to the fact that the deposits near the Skaters' Club House are caused by a retrograde motion of the water, resulting on account of the house projecting into the river. The accumulations at this point extend along the south of the Park to the steamboat wharf at Fairmount, where the water has become so shallow that the mud is disturbed every time the hoats approach or leave the wharf. This mud, thus sgitated, passes immediately into the force-bay, and is, in part, pumped into the reservoirs. The removal of the house, and of the earth thrown in at this place, would allow the current to flow along the south front of the Fark and carry away the present accumulated mud, and restore the river nearly to its original condition. Either this must be done or the river must be filled in to a considerable distance from the present shore like, otherwise the stagnant condition of the water and want of depth will lead to purrefaction. The water from this point is in part mixed with that supplied to the reservoir, and materially affects the sailubrity of the city supply.

The surveys of the river have shown that the débris which is brought down by freshets and deposits in the dam is rapidly filling it up. La a few years there will be an extensive foundation of solid land near the western bank of the river, commencing below the Girard. ween the bank of the river have shown that the Girard ween bridge, and extending south below the Twenty-fourthward works, filling up nearly one-half the river. A similar deposit is forming above the bridge, also near the western side. During the summer mouths there is a marked difference in character between the water flowing over this mud and that in the channel of the river.

THE TAX RATE FOR 1862.—It is probable that the Committee on Finance of City Councils will report, at their meeting this afternoon relative to the tax rates for 1862. The committee, we understand, have agreed to recommend $2 10 on the $100, an increase of the nearly over the tax of last year. COUNTERFEIT NOTES IN CIRCULATION. The issuing of small notes by the banks of this and other cities has given counterfeiters a larger field for carrying on their operations. Each day there seems to be a new addition to the floating stock of acoundrelism, and the public cannot be two cautious in receiving bank notes. The cunning rogues who manage to alude the vigilance of The cunning rogues who manage to alone the vigilance of detectives are slways careful to a dicipate the publication of Peterson, and to put into circulation a fresh batch simultaneously with the issue of the Detectors. Hence, these are no guide still after the public have realized the infliction of a new swindle. The honest portion of the community usually suffer most from this evil, since there is one class, but slightly removed from the counterfolter in guilt, to whom it matters but little whether the notes they receive are good or bad. They make is a point to lose nothing by them, and if a bad bill is returned to them they pass it to some one else, repeating the act until the business can no longer be traced to them. They thus become partners in the guilt—willing to wrong others because they have been victimized, as if this would justify that.

LIQUOR WITHOUT LICENSE.—Yesterday, in the Court of Quarter Sessions, a woman named Srees was put on trial, charged with selling linnor with-Second street. The main witness was Mr. Altemus, the constable of the Sixteenth ward, who testified that Mrs. 8 kept a lager-beer saloon, &c.; that she was a sickly woman. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty.

Mr. Mann suggesued to the judge that mercy should be given in this case. The woman appears to be very sick. The judge told her she might go home, as he would suspend judgment for the present.

Dennis Riley was charged with selling liquor without a license, at a house near Frankford road and Alien street. The constable stated if at he had seen liquor, half a tumbleful, sold there for three cents, and a man drink it. The defence set up a wholesale-liquor license, taken out in last October. A DESIRABLE CHANGE.—The hotel on Chestnut street, above Sixth, occupied as a Concert Saloon, will, in a few days, be redeemed and devoted to its former legitimate uses, under the management of Jeremish McKibbin, Est., the late proprietor of the Merchants' Hotel. The former place, at one time well known as Jones Hotel, has been occupied at two different periods by negro minstrels and "pretty waiter girls." At the time of the breaking out of the rebellion it was occupied as a recruiting rencezvous. The change from a "Concert Saloon" to a hotel will be a decided improvement in the neighborhood. Similar improvements might be made not far from the office of The Press, which would prove quite beneficial to our citizens at large.

MAIL BOBBERY.—A few nights since, a daring mail robbery was perpetrated at the York station-house, on the Northern Central Bailroad, by the abstraction of the mail matter from a pouch containing the letters, &c, for Harrisburg and the interior of Pennsylvania. The pouch was sent to the station-house about 9 o'clock that evening, and was awaiting the arrival of the midnight train when the robbery was committed. The fact was only discovered when two boys found the pouch, minus the contents, with a slit cut in it, under the platform of the station-house.

A Would-be Detective in Troume.—
Yesterday afternoon Charles Scherer was arraigned before Alder man Beitler, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretences, having passed himself off as a detective officer. It appears that on Friday last William Walker and James Told started for the Reading Railroad depot, and on their way thitter stopped at a hotel and had some refreshments, for which they paid a dollar. A few minutes after leaving the hotel they were accosted by a boy, who had been sent in pursuit of them, and who told them they had given a counterfeit note at the bar. They accordingly changed the notefor another, and proceeded to the depot. They were met by Scherer, who informed them that he was a detective officer, and placed them under arrest for passing a bogus note. He took the two gentlemen around a number of streets, and finally proposed to compromise the matter for the sum of $2, which was done. Mr. Walker subsequently became satisfied that the note was a good one, and that he had been swindled. He accordingly had Scherer arrested, and committed to answer the charge at court. Scherer was formerly connected with the New York police. A WOULD-BE DETECTIVE IN TROUBLE .-

THE TURF,-We understand that a THE TURF,—We understand that a meeting will soon be held in this city of the leading patrons of the turf, for the purpose of taking the necessary steps to establish a racing campaign in the North, during the summer and fall. The decline of the turf in this State, for the last few years, has been a subject of regret to all lovers of racing, and to those who take an interest in the improvement of the bread of horses in this country. The deterioration of our breed of horses for cavalry purpose and the saddle has lately become evident in the North, and it is acknowledged that the decline of the sports of the turf among us has been the principal caus of this state of things. With the view of remedying the evil, it has been resolved that a determined effort should be made to retrieve the declining fortunes of the turf, and to establish a racing campaign through the North, comprising summer and fall meetings in this city. New York, and Boston.
