A retiring of Cornelins Smith asking compensation for Mr. Quinn moved a reconsideration of the bill. Agreed to.

The report of the Committee on Legislation was read. It contained a resolution that the House bill for reducing the expense of collecting unpaid taxes in Philadelphia would be beneficial to our citizons, and saking the Legislature to pass it. The resolution was agreed to. The report also states that the bill for the better protection of ges consumers, and the passage of the supplement of the North Philadelphia Plank-road Company, were entirely unnecessary, and requesting the Legislature not to pass them. The bill in relation to gas consumers provides for the organization of two new offices. Agreed to A potition of Cornelius Smith asking compensation for damages sustained by the opening of a street, was read and referred. A communication was received from the Mayor, stating that he had signed "an ordinance to extend the hospi-talities of the city to Col. Corcoran," which he did, after much heditation, owing to its indefinite meaning, but upon the assumption that the hospitalities of the city will be extended, in this instance, in strict conformity with the requirements of the law.

This communication caused a general smile among all the members, especially the Continental-dinner com-mittee. The Committee on Water reported a resolution to lay water-pipe in Clerk street, First ward. Also, a resolu-tion to lay water-pipe in Fifteenth street, and other ittee on Girard Estates reported back the The Committee on Girard Estates reported back the plan for widening Delaware avenue from Spruce to South sireet, which was adopted by the Chambet.

The special committee, to make arrangements for the celebration of the 22d, made a report of what had been done by them on that day—that a "dinner" had been served upat the Continental at a cost of $1,060.50 to the city. The total amount is $1,999. On motion, the committee were discharged.

Mr. Fox offered the following: An ordinance relative to the range of the care for the Mir. Fox offered the following: An ordinance relative to the payment of taxes for the year 1862
Whereas, in and by an act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, passed the 17th day of April, 1861, entitled "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the City of Philadelphia, it is enacted in these words, viz:
"That there shall be an allowance to all payers of taxes, who shall ray the same in the year for which they are assessed, as follows: Five per cent., if paid on or before the first day of April, four per cent., if paid on or before the first day of Juny; two per cent., if paid on or before the first day of July. If paid after the first day of July, and on or before the first day of September, no deduction shall be made; if paid after the first day of September, and on or before the first day of October, an addition of two per cent. shall be acted to, and payable Total.....$2 00
The third section, making the usual allowance for rural property, was then passed.
The fourth section, providing for the time of payment of the taxes and prescribing the penalty for delinquent payments, was also passed.
The whole ordinance was passed in ally.

And it is thus also therein further enacted, And the Councils of Philanelphia shall have the power to allow any other percentage for the payment of taxes, or add any other penalty for their non-payment during the current year. The bill enutien, a further supplement to an ordinance entitled an ordinance organizing the department for supplying the city with water, passed October 3, 1851, was taken up and concurred in.

An ordinance appropriating $1,200 to provide for the better drainage and vertilation of the buildings in Independence Statem and concurred in any other penalty for their non-payment during the current year.

And whereas the scale of allowance on early payments, and penalties for non-payment, therein designated, will not result in good to the city, inasmuch as, whilst said act coarges a penalty of two per cent. If the taxes he paid after the first day of Septembor, and on or before the first day of October, there is no penalty whatever if paid between the first day of October and the dest day of December—thus presenting inducements to taxpayers, after the first day of July, to abstain from payment until the months of October and November, and affording no stimulus for payment in the month of December, after the same has been reached, and will, besides, operate with peculiar harshness and rigor upon our citizene, at least during the present year.

Because of the fact that our national necessities demand the assessment of a heavy United States 19x in addition to those of our own State and city, and it, therefore, behooves the city, in view of the increased burden, to be as lenient with regard to the tax-payer as the most favorable circumstances of the case will possibly afford.

III. Because of the present extensive rebellion business is paralyzed, thousands out of work, families suffering, occasioned partly by a dearth of amployment and partly by the absence of thirty-four thousand of our fellow-citizens, many of whom are heads of tamilies and tax-payers, fighting in defence of the Constitution and Union; and thus large numbers are without the knowledge of the requisitions of said tax bill, exposed to its penalties; and even if the same be known, unable to avail themselves of its allawances, thus working a manifestinguistic to many of those who bear the burden of the city Government: therefore, the Select and Common Councils of the city of Philadelphia do ordain:

SECTION 1. That an allowance be made to all payers of taxes at the rate as heret-fore, of twelve per centum per annum on all city taxes assessed for the year 1962, paid by them prior to the first day of January next, and that the pennities of two per sche ache and five per centum services of the city, anthorized by said act of assembly to be added in case of non-payment as specified, be, and the same are hereby, remitted.

Judges Sharswood and Hare, the argument on the bill in equity filed by George F. Lewis and George Smith, citigess and tax payers, praying for A special and perpetual injunction to restrain the City of Philadelphia from paying the cost of the late dinner by Councils to the Legislature, at the Continental Hotel, was commenced and

The main point of the complaint is, that the appropriation for the dinner is in violation of the 24th section of the act of May 13th, 1858, which provides that "it shall not be lawful for any department or committee of said city, or the officers thereof, or for the prison inspectors, to draw any moneys out of the City Treasury, or to use any savings, or the proceeds of the sales of any work or materials for or in suy office, department, or prison, or any revenues whatsoever thereof, for any members or officers of said city corporation, departments, or officers thereof, or of said prison.

In answer to this, it is contended that, since the year 1701, it has been the custom of the city to extend a dinner to the Governors and Legislature of the Commonwealth, and instances were cited of dinners having been given by the city to Governor Penn, Governor Mifflin, and of the Cenischt persons.

That an act of the Legislature, passed some years since, expressly legalized this custom, and that act was continued by the Consolidation act. That the section of the Consolidation act which it is claimed has been violated was passed with a view to prevent the heads of departments, such as a rison inspectors and others, from ed and referred.

The water should be maintained automatically at the required level by a float connected with a valve in the supply-pipe of the ram. From the stand-pips the water should flow through special mains, (one in every third or fourth street would be sufficient,) connected with each other every eight or ten squares, to give a supply of waing these mains, have fire-pluge, with several very large hose carriages would be driven by horses to the nearost

The debate was continued for some time, and was as uninteresting as it was useless. The resolution was finally, amended that a record of the treets creaned, number of men and horses employed, and the expenses incurred, be kept; also, that the disposition of the dirt and the price realized be reported.

MIT. WETHERILL mayed further to amend, that complaints for the non-conformance of the resolution be reported to the Committee on Highways, whose duty it shall then be to impeacn the Chief Commissioner of Highways for neglect of duty.

The offence was committed about four years ago, when the offender was arrested and taken before United States Commissioner Heazlett, who investigated the charge, under direction of District Attorney Vandyke. The accused was discharged on the ground that as the offence did not come within the act of Congress, he could not be tried in the United States Court. He was afterwards arrested by the State authorities and held to answer the charge of larceny, and gave ball for his appearance at court. Upon his liberation he retired to a farm in Montgomery country, where he remained until within a few days past, when he was arrested on a bench warrant and held to answer as stated.

Mr. Fox said that the main feature of deficiency spoken of by Mr. Wetherill, being $550,000, was an item of interest which had seen carried for several years, and, in view of the present distressed condition of the times and country, he would carry that item still further, until peace and prospective returns, whom we could byter fasten PRIMARY SCHOOLS.—That there are more primary schools, and better accommodations need-ed, in certain sections of the city, is evident to every ed, in certain sections of the city, is evident to every one. Some of these schools are so crowded that pupils are required to wait for several months before they can be admitted, and when admitted are huddled together in small unventilated rooms, which proves destructive to their health and learning. In nearly every school section there are numerous large and suitable buildings, which could be obtained for this putpose at a rousangule cost, but for some reason or other this matter has been entirely neglected by the proper authorities. The young beginner should not be compelled to wait for months, when the time arrives for him to enter school. A sufficient sum of money is spent each year for educational

Mr. Mrcarr hoped that Councils would see the necessity of making the rate fully equal to the municipal expenditures. The practice of making it too low, and then sking out the dedictencies at the end of the year by loans, was suicided to the credit of the city, and should be abandoned at once. The custom was inaugurated by political rascals for party purposes, and in the hope that the people could be disuded into the belief that they would not have to pay the deficiences thus created at last. The people will not tamely submit to any such imposition. Hereafter the course of Councils will be closely scrutinized, and any attempt at the old political game of paying taxes by creating perannial loans, will receive the condemnation of the people. "Pay as you go" is the golden rule, both if corporations and of merchants.

The further consideration of the bill was then postponed until the next meeting, when it will be the special order of the day.

C. Heiskell, Eeg., was appointed a lay member.

The Dishop called up the mames of those who are eligible to deters orders.

After full and authoritative representation, the following were elected to that office: J. E. Kessler and W. W. Redman.

Upon the name of Rev. A. T. Scott being called, Ruy. J. A. Massey interposed some objection to him, upon the ground that Mr. Scott is the nuther of a publication in which the views of Mr. Wesley are differed from, in some non-essential points. Mr. Massey had not conversed with Mr. Scott.

The course of arresting a man upon a complaint thus summarily brought was objected to by several members. members.

A motion was made that his character pass.

Rev. T. B Miller objected to its passage, because he differed from Methodist coctrine, and he wanted the matter met fairly and squarely.

Rev. W. Barnes and Rev. W. Cooper said much in favor of Mr. Scott, and declared that he was one of the best men in the country, and prayed that we had five innored such men; which was heartly responded to all over the Conference.

Rev. J. A. Massey opposed the motion, though aspressing great love for Mr. Scott.

Rev. A. Atwood wanted a committee to ascertain whether the teaching of Mr. Scott is sound or not sound upon his coctrinal agreements with the standards,

The character of Mr. Scott passed by nearly a unanimous vote.

OPINIONS DELIVERED.—Yesterday, in the Supreme Court, Chief Justice Lowrie and Justices Thompson, Strong, and Read, the case of Fallon vs. Fallon was decided, and the decree of the Common Pleas was affirmed, thus deciding that the writing in dispute was not an assignment for the benefit of creditors, as that would, the court said, be an act of injustice to the creditors themselves. The paper is interpreted to be a sale to the Duke of Rianzaes, through the interpreted to be a sale to the Duke of Rianzaes, through the interpreted for the test, and the price to be paid by him is the amount of the debts, and for the payment of this he has pledged the property sold and his own, other preperty also, by placing it in the hands of the defendants as trustees. The transaction is, therefore, a sale with a security, analogous to a mortgage for the purchase momery, rather than an assignment for the benefit of creditors.

Duncan vs. Reed. Judgment reversed, and judgment that the plaintiff recover of the garnishee, Charles M. Reed, the sum of $10,952 99 and all costs, and that on the payment thereof by him he be discharged from so much of the debt due by him to the defendants on the original judgment, on account of their deposit of money in his bands; and the record is remitted.

Zellner's Appeal. Decree affirmed at the costs of the appellant.

EXCITEMENT AT A GRAVEYARD.—It was rumored about Wednesday afternoon that the corpse of a woman, which was said to have petrified, was at the Francisville burist ground, at the corner of wyine and Perkineme street, in the Fifteenth ward. The rumor was pretty well circulated in that vicinity, and in a short time some three hundred persons assembled about the graveyard. Some of the poople became quite indignant at the refusal of the sexton, and for a few minutes quite a serious disturbases was threatened. All requests for supplies made to local societies or individuals should be referred to the Associate Secretary of the Commission nearest the point of demand, who will be able to misst them more promptly, and at less expense, than they can be met from other sources.

The Rhode Island left with provisions and supplies on the 5th of Fobruary, for the vessels composing the blockading fleet, and she went as far as the Rio Grande, at which place she left the United States aloop Portsmouth, having in charge a large number of vesse's which had been prevented from outering the Rio Grande, they having contraband goods on board. The Rhode Island left the Rio Grande on the 1st of March, and stopped at Key West on her way home, but she brings no late news. During her absence she has supplied over one hundred United States vessels, and received fr m the various places at which she touched a large mail. As the ship needs but few repairs, her stay in port will be brief.

The priconers were transferred, yesterday afternoon, to Moyamenshing Prison, where they will remain till an opportunity occurs to remove them to Fort Warren, in Boston harbor.

These nem are mostly fishermen and pilots, intimately acquainted with the intricate navigation of the Gulf, and have been seized by the rebel Government and compelled to navigate its vessels, or have done so of their own free will, most probably the latter.

The Rhode Island was lying at the lower wharf, yesterday, discharging her carge of goods, captured from the rebel ship Magnolia and others in the gulf stream, consisting of cotton, rifles, coffee, &c. She will remain here some ten days taking in supplies for the blockading squadres, after which she will again proceed southward. Some of the prisoners were choice, etc. They looked somewhat depressed in spirits, but said nothing. Indiana Branch of Sanitary Commission, Indianapolis, Indiana.
