ACELDAMA.

[For The Press.]

The genius of our Empire looked, one noon, Where, fushed with subset, sparkled peak and sea, River, and plain, and forest, all atune-Throbbing and thrilling in each artery-Gaunt cataracts, impatient to be free, Great lakes, like oceans, that lay prone and seething,

And wildernesses. Where the storms were breathing And cliffs, whose arms reach where the heavens be "This power and populousness," murmured she, "Must be historic, and the new baptism Of war descend upon it; foud and schism Shall override these valleys, down these hills Blood dig new channels for its smoking rills. And the blue sky grow bazy, where the slain Die, cursing in the bitterness of pain. These rivers, that go sluggish to the main, Bearing upon their bosoms kine and grain, Shall float leviathans, whose frowning ports Will speak in thunder to a hundred forts, And hurrying from their sleepy tillages, The veomanry shall rally in these villages. And hear a music that they never knew-The shrilly fife that throbbed at Agincourt And thrilled the thousands on the field of Tours, The deathless drum that beat at Waterloo !

My empire shall not be a tame array Of paltry towns and peaceful downs and moors, Where, through the loitering summer, clowns and Go slow a-field to sickle in the hay-A valorous race, whose fame will reach away, To shame of older clans and climes the glory, Shall make a grand and monumental story, To be remembered till the world grows gray ! Pilgrims shall hither through the ages stray, To mark the sites where hardes fell rash and fated.

No land is great till red and consecrated !"

Forthwith she strewed her dragon teeth adown The Carolinian meadows. In a trice Armed men sprang up amid the corn and rice, And seized on fortress, arsenal, and town; She scattered them, where vigorous and brown, The Texan marked his spotted cattle graze, And by the light of villages ablaze, Mustered a thousand bayonets and sabres : And where the negro in the cotton-groves Sat down at eve to eat his yellow loaves, The Alabamian roused his sons and neighbors; The Georgian hills were black. Oh ! fate, not rea-

8011-Louisiana faltered in obedience ; And wavering for a moment in allegiance. The old Duminion rushed into the treason.

An awful pause ! Half terror, half in wonder, The moon glared blue; the very ocean lay Dumb and in dread ; the grave-clothes stirred their clay;

Then broke from Charleston bay the first deep peal of thunder !

Oh ! Massachusetts, hallowed be for aye, Thy sturdy heart that never throbbed in vain! And be the forests and the streams of Maine Blessed for ever ! terrible and gaunt The Mountaineers of Hampshire and Vermont Poured from their eyries, half way in the sky, Down where Long Island Sound lifts up its calm blue eve.

The empires York and Penn were all aflame; There was no hamlet where the drum beat not, No fireside, but desperate and hot, Some son or father felt the glow of shame, And buckled on his sword and breathed his mother's name.

The prairies rang-Ohio raised her hand With Illinois, to wipe away the guilt; The sword should drip in carnage to the hilt, And every roof-thatch be a beacon brand. At each Iowa hearth stood starn a mailed man-Young Kansas knelt in wrath, and swore with Michigan ! A wall of fiame blazed up the border-line; A thousand camp fires lit the midnight sky : The white tents glistened in the trampled rye; An armed man replaced each ash and pine; The trooper rode where erst had grazed his kine; The harley-blades grew up to bayonets : A navy tore the frightened fisher's nets; A crusade swarmed across each mount and moor,

Dr. Goddard, after an eloqueti introduction, referred to the fact that this was a double anniversary, first of the bartle of Lexington, and second of the creation of the farst Reserves. He dremed the second occasion worthy of the first, and that it should be marked with a golden mark in the history of Philsdelphia. The crator then went isto a sketch of the avenue which immediately preceded the breaking out of the Rebellion. He then de-ercibed in thrilling terms the first blow struck at the flag at Fort sumptor; the call of the President for troops; the great uprising of the logal people of the North, and the progress of the war. The speaked, while demounding the schore in the Rebellion, declared that there were still many true and logal men and women in the South who would glady welcome back the old flag whose disgrace they had belied with sorrow. An alusion to Parson Brownlow and his family was londly applandad. The reversend orator then gave a history of the organi-zation of the warbeing shed in Beltimore on the day the trigade was organized. He then elaborated the index that the freet myrising of the pouple is a

City Judge McClum this morning quashed the indict-ment which charges Jance B. Taylor with an attempt to bribe Alderman Dayton in the Fort Ganswoort matter. Judge McClum diedles that the indictment is bad in sub-stance, because it is drawn under the second branch of the fifty-second section of city laws of 1837, wiffch pro-vides tor attempts to bribo an alderman, in reference to any matter which "imay by hwe be brought before him in his official capacity." ane to rescue by Poten The first great hearts beat out at Baltimore

Oh ! zeal too rash, oh ! treason too profound ; Oh : feetle king, oh : keen and subtle Warwick; Oh! quiet plains that blood has made historic : Oh ! simple hearts that valor has renowned ; Oh ! carnivals where vulture gorged with hound ; Oh ! martyrdoms where yet the relics bleach ; Oh! agonics that words can never meach; Oh ! heroisms that must ever thrill corne ; The Leesburg bluffs are ghostly in the dun, A thousand spectres stalk by Arlington ; The fires are lurid on the haunted hill, Where Lyon's lordly name brings tears and terrors still.

How sank the right! how treason flushed and vaunted !

We had no country and the slave no hope ! Where slept the sword that in the erst could cope With grander tyrannies, whose banners flaunted Over the Empires where its Chieftains led? A deep reply came up from Hilton Head . From stormy Hatteras the answer broke, And echoed down the strand of Rosnoke, And broke in thunder on the Cumberland And vengeance trembled on the lips of law, Where Tennessee raised her ungyved hand, And Sigel broke the chains of Arkansaw !

We have made history ! ourselves have done it. And begged no help from Emperors and Peers; Thrown our own gauntlet down, crossed swords and won it, Called from our own sweet vales these volunteers, And fed them with our golden sheaves and ears. The rills obscure, that sang the livelong year, So lonesomely that none were known to hear; The mill roads, where the weeds choked up the tracks, And stopped the ox-cart; and the patch of pines, Where never within memory rang the axe, But ever through the seasons brays and whines The gust, that stirs the reed tops in the fens; The hidden cottages in shady glons; The sleepy cross-road, where the sign-post gleams, And boors beside the well-trough rein their teams; The village, only known in county maps, Where never a murder happened through the ages, And twice a week the mails come down in stages, And life was a succession of short naps : These have been made world-famons ! Shall visit them for aye, as storied places; The Czar shall mention them upon his throne, And seamen, that keep watches of cold nights, Couple them with long marches and great fights; The antiquary treasure bits of bone Picked up, at ploughing, by some grinning clown, Who quoth : "How great a graveyard to so small a town !"

Hereafter come romances, for our thomes Are prouder than the Trojans or the Gauls. We have our Davids, Jonschans, and Sauls, Whose deeds will cover folios and reams. Where every dusty rail car screams and steams, Look out on battle-plains and monuments, And any surplus shillings, dimes, and pence, Keep for the urchin's hat you stumble over-His grandsire fought at Pittsburg and at Dover !

Not yet, my heart ! the thousands still contending Forbid the hope that half the world confesses; The eagle strains and gnaws his yielding jessies : A moment more-he shall be heavenward wonding, And all our stars in the same azure blending. Break, then, these sabres, strike the iron mail From every hull, and let these bristling marts Be gentle havens for the gentler arts, Where commerce sleeps beneath each whitening sail, And labor walks with love in every vale. Where gleam these tents, let patients herds go lowing, And nod on every slope their golden fleece ; Subdue the storms so long and ruthly blowing, And usher in the day of perfect peace !

ments, and that soldiers who are recovering, who have good appetites and are able to eat, are kept on short com-mons, although the Government generously allows the sick soldier forty cents a day as a hospital ration which is sick soldier forty cents a day as a hospital ration which is ten conts more than then the common ration by privates in active service. It is also said by some of the soldiers that they never get any of the delicacies which be serv-lent people have sent to the hospital in profu-ion for their use. A hady informed us a few days since that she lift a few delicacies at one of these hospitals, which sue afterwards accretationed were easen by the nurses. The same person static that she had been in the habit for a number of weeks of sending solid solid who was and can prove they never reach those for whom they are in-fended. These wrongs have not yet come to the know-ledge of the proper authorities or redress would, with-out doubt, be had. The matter should be thoroughly in-vestigated and the guilty parties ex posed.

A CALL for male volunteer nurses to serve for a short time on board a floating hospital comes to us from the Central Office of the United States Sani-tary Commission. to its from the Central Unice of the United States Saui-tary Commission. In response to it, the Philadelphia associates earnestly invite to it the Attention of intelligent, heatiby young men, especially recent graduates of medical colleges and students of medicine. None are more competent to dis-charge the duties which must devolve on nurses under such circumstances than these who are aiming at or des-tined to higher positions in future service. To such, an opportunity is here offered for personal umprovement, while the responsibility of the treatment will rest wholly on the official surgeons under whose direction only they will act, and to whom they will be required to render im-plicit abediance.

oli the omciai surgeons under wnose direction only they will act, sud to whom they will be required to render im-plicit ebedience. Students of theology would also find this a good oppor-tunity for the ministration of the comforts of the Gos-pel of our Lord Jesus Christ, while, in imitation of his example, they were ministring to the relief of the fear-ful suffering of the wounded. Any young man who is who to easily, by turning the woary, supporting the faint, giving drink to the thirsty, wiping the brow of the dying, cleauring the foul and festering sore, giving tood and cordials to those unable to help themselves, or cheer-ing the disconsolate by a look of symmathy, may find, new, the opportunity to discharge the duiles we all owe to our suffering fellow men in the hour of emergency. The occasion is no common one. The demsad is vrgent; every one should weigh well the question of duity. Like the man in the sparable of our Lord, not stravgers, but our brothers and sons, cry for gome one to administer the wine to those who are periahing, and to bind up the wounds of those who are maimed in the defonce of our own hearths and homes. THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COM-PANY TO PAY SCHOOL TEACHEBS' WARBANTS. --The teachers of public schools who have received no -The teachers of public schools who have received no pay direct from the City treasury for nearly a year, have been obliged to soil their warrants at a great sarrifee, and much suffering has been the result. There was a prospect that the quarter now due would share the fate of the preceding terms, and that the cry of "no money" would meet the teachers when they presented their war-rants. Dr. McOllintock, the City Treasurer, a few days since entered into correspondence with the officers of the Pen sylvanis Bailread Company upon the subject, and the latter have gallantly determined to alvance S100,000 of the amount due the city for dividends, on the fiteenth of the coming month. The cash is to be handed over to. day, and only warrants in first hands are to be cashed, according to the terms of the arrangement. This cuts ording to the terms of the arrangement. This cuts out speculators and middlemen.

CULTIVATION OF TOBACCO.-We are DULITIVATION OF TOBACCO.—We are informed that numerous parties, residing in adjacent counties, will soon engage in the cultivation of tobacco. In one care the seed was sown two or three weeks ago. The raising of tobacco is attended with considerable labor, but when the yield is good, it is said to pay better than any other crop that can be raised. If it pays well, we have no doubt that raising tobacco will soon become quite a business. Hundreds of pounds of tobacco are now raised in Lancaster county.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE WOUNDED. ARBANGEMENTS FOR THE WOUNDED. —It is expected that a large number of Pennsylvania troops will participate in the coming battle at Yorktown, Va. and extensive arrangements are being made by the State authorities for the accommodation of the wounded. Imprediately upon the notification of a battle, Surgeon General Smith, with his corps of extra surgeons and medical stores, will proceed to Fortness Monroe, ready to render nid and assistance, and remore the wounded to vessels, by which they will be conveyed to Baltimore and thence by rail to Philadelphia and other points in the in-terior of the State. terior of the State.

THE NINETEENTH OF APRIL.-The THE ININELEENTH OF APPRIL.——Ine anniversary of the battle of Lexington and of the now historic Baltimore massacre was celebrated on Saturday last by a great display of bunting from the innumerable fag-staffs of our city. In one year Baltimore has gone a long distance towards becoming the commercial me-tropolis of the Southern Confederacy—the Insans idea which actuated those who instigated the attack on the Massachusetts Sixth as a beginning of the programme.
