Is running like rabbits

Use their legs with amazing agility ;

The chivalric squires

Now stricken with terror and wonder:

Among their queer habits

When roused by the sound of the thunder.

See the slaves of King Cotton

All their boasting forgotten,

Through bushes and briers

Make their way with uncommon facility

Now scudding o'er grass and o'er gravel :

Are surpassed by their swiftness of travel.

Dr. SCHIENOK only professes to cure three diseases—Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—and only has three medicines—SCHENGK'S PULLIONIC SYRUP, SCHENGK'S SEA WEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS.

At the same time that he only professes to cure SYRUP, SCHENUK'S SEA WEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS.

At the same time that he only professes to cure "three" diseases, it must be understoot that they, before arriving at the maturity of disease, invariably go through incipient stages, of themselves, while characterized by the hame of disease, are easily citrable—not necessarily fatal; but liable rapidly to merge into one or other of these three fatal and mature diseases

Thus, while Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are relatively dependent each on the other for existence, they have both, more or less frequently, arisen from missma in unhealthy regions; from indolence, with sedentary habits and insufficient exercise; from derangement of the digestive organs; nuwhole-ome food, or irregular habits of eating; producing impurity of the blood, and indicated by the numerous amptoms of stomach disease ending in Dyspepsia—for all which, from the incipient stage of mere symptoms of ciscamfort, to the mature stages of well defined Dyspepsia and Liver Compaint, certain cures can be found in SCHENCK'S MANDRAE E PILLS and SEA WEED TONIC.

So in consumption. Long before this most fatal disease has taken a firm hold upon the lungs, even firm enough to lead to a suspicion of its existence some cold, producing an occasional cough some sore throat, hoavesness, night sweats, dryness of the skin, or chill, will mark the lurking danger.

Or there may be a hereditary scrofulous faint in the blood, the reinvigoration of the tone of the system, and the healing of local irritations have been the speciality of Dr Schenck. And relatively, in connection with consumption, his cures remedy through the purification of the blood; the reinvigoration of the tone of the spsiem, and the bealing of local irritations have been the speciality of Dr Schenck. And relatively, in connection with consumption, his cures of scrofula have been more numerous and permanent than those of any other practitioner.

Another very dangrous symptom attendant on consumption or lung disease is hemorrhage or bleeding. To stop which by astringents is always dangerous, and often fatal, especially where the liver has long been toppid. Dr. Schenck, with the same judgment and astuteness which marks his entire practice, taking the ground that the true remedy for hemorrhage is in changing the character and regulating the circulation of the blood, has succeeded, by his medicines, in effecting frequent ourous when other medical skill has hopelessly failed. For arriving at the exact condition of a patient suffering from or threatened with consumption, he has invented a peculiar instrument, so perfect in its conception and construction, that through its use becan discover not only avery feature of disease and the lower the excluder as supposed of the slight, but even the excluder as purposed of the propertion of the presence of the slight, but even the excluder as purposed of the slight, but even the excluder as purposed of the slight, but even the excluder as purposed of the slight, but even the excluder as purposed of the propertion; due to the desease and line symptoms of irritation, easily cured in their inception but if neglected, rapidly progressing to disease and lin symptoms of irritation. easily cured in their inception; but it neglected, rapidly progressing to disease and lingering death.

Such examinations he is ready and willing at all times to make, and whom desired, will frankly state the exact condition of a patient's lungs, and, if disease exist, whether or not the case is curable; and such opinion as be will then give may be relied on.

But the number of recorded certificates of cures effected by the medicines and treatment of Dr. Schenck and the more immense number of patients who throng his rooms in the different cities, are his best testiminals. He makes no charge for advice, or examining the lungs in the ordinary way, or as physicians generally de; but for a thorough examination with the respiranter he charges three deliars, and wishes everyone, rich or poor, who has a cough, pain in the side or shoulder blade, troubled with contiveness or diarrhoes, sallow complexion, loss of appetite, low spirits, restlessness at nights, or any other diseases leading to consumption, to call on him as above and get his advice.

Dr. Schenck's nedicines are for sale, wholesale and retail, at his principal office, 39 North SINTH street, Philedelphia, and by druggists and dealers everywhere. Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaward Tonic, each $1, per bottle, or $5 per half dozen; Mandrake Pills 50 cents per lox.

Letters for advice should slways be directed to 39 North SINTH Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
