The Cincinnati Gazette says the money market remains inactive to far as regards discounts, with an ever supply of capital, and a tree demana for paper at 10 per cent. forgood names. As here-to-fore noticed, money is obtained to some extent, on select securities, at 6 to 8 per cent. The nominal figure, however, is 10 per cent, and this is generally contended for. The abundance of and this is generally contended for. The stundance ocapital and its cheapness, so far, has not promoted speen lation in this market to any great extent. There has been more desire to invest in first-cla-3 stocks and bonds, which have advanced largely in price; but these are new difficult to buy, holders preferring not to sell. The lower difficult to buy, holders preferring not to sell. The lower grades, or non-dividend paying stocks are not inquired for. In produce the course has also been a conservative one, and very little of a purely speculative oneractor bas been done. It is plain, however, that importing morthants are contemplating a largely increased business, and are making preparations accordingly. The fall imports, it is believed, will increase from thirty-three to fifty per cent. as compared with last year point, it is believed, win increase from thirty-three to fifty per cent., as compared with last year.

The Chicago Tribune of Thursday says:

The large shipments of produce for the past few days are sensity affecting the exchange ms ket. It is plantly working easier, though as yet the lates are unchanged. The larger banks are selling to their neigobors much more freely at \(\frac{1}{2} \), and pay only par even to bestoustomers. The kuying range is par to \(\frac{1}{2} \), the regular current solling price, as usual, is \(\frac{1}{2} \) premium. If prices will warrant shipments, it cannot be maintained, even at present rates, many weeks. At the rate who at has "tumbled" folday, shippers will exercely be disposed to forward large emounts, if, in their opinion, there is a prospect for botter rates. Their action may have some effect upon the exchange market, but there will doubtest be activity enough, at least, to keep down prices to present figures.

The lunying range to-day for gold was 1\(\frac{1}{2} \) and \(\frac{1}{2} \) solling 222\(\frac{1}{2} \). Very little changed ham son any terms.

The general money market of two c by is abundantly supplied. First class paper is placed outside the banks by some of the street bankers at legal rates, viz.: 10 page cent. The banks take all the busine s paper that is made, and would be glad to take as much more if they could get it. The demand for money is, however, sensibly increasing, and holders look more cheercul.

A GREAT LABOR-SAVING INVENTION .- We have already directed attention to Haley, Morse. & Boyden's "Clothes-wringer," as one of the genuine improvenents of the age, and have described its peculiarities, and the advantages it possesses over all other inventions of its class. Since then, however, we have heard so many encomiums upon its merits, corroborating what we have purselves experimentally learned to be true, that a re-As to what it accomplishes, we may say, in brief, that it wrings clothes dryer, and in about one-tenth the time, than can possibly be done by hand, and that with so little labor that a child of ten years can work the instrument with ease. The wear and tear of clothes is also entirely avoided by using the "Wringer" as man be inferred from the fact that saturated fragments of newspaper may be passed through it without the slightest mutilation. Its construction, moreover, is so simple, and yet substantial, that for it to get out of repair is almost impossible. Upon the whole, we have never seen anything pretending to be " a labor-saving machine," that more thoroughly vindicated its claims in this respect. It would be a philanthropic work to furnish females who are obliged to earn a livelihood by washing, with these instruments. They are ompact, scarcely larger than a man's hat, and very nucderate in cost. The "Wringer" may be seen a Joy, Coe, & Co.'s, northeast corner of Fifth and Chestnut streets, where it is for sale by Mr. L. E. Snow who is also prepared promptly to attend to orders from the country. PURE OLIVE OILS .- We invite attention to the fine Salad Oils of Mr. C. H. Mattson, Dealer in Fine Groceries, corner of Arch and Tenth streets. They are the pure Olive article, and hence superior to those

THE CULINARY ART is exemplified in the highest style at the popular restaurant of Mr. J. W. Price, the celebrated caterer, on the southwest co Chestnut and Fourth streets. Gentlemen who "dine down town " are appreciating this fact more than ever since the splendid improvement recently made by Mr. Price in his saloon. His new dining room is daily thronged for Several hours with gentlemen of taste and refinement who know how to appreciate the "Lamb and Salad." and all the other delicious dishes of the season, which Price always serves up in advance of all rivals, and in

THE LAUNCH OF THE IRON-CLAD. - The launch of Toung Ironsides, on Saturday, attracted warms of people to Kensington. The iron monster glided gracefully into the water, and the first of the Phi-ladelphia iron-clads first woold the waters of the Delaware amid the cheers of the assembled woollen-clads. The latter, by the way, were in all kinds of costume, from the "looped and windowed" rig of enthusiastic Young America to the full dress of the tasteful gentle man. The last described class were generally arrayed in elegant and comfortable suits procured at the Brown-Stone Clothing Hall of Borkhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth.

CALIFORNIA GOLD .- The total product of gold in California in 1861 was sixty millions of dollars; eins fourteen millions less than in the previous year In 1853, the total product was one hundred millions; but In 1995, the total product was one numered minous; out, it has been gradually declining since that date. It is not impossible that after a lapse of time, California may become exhausted of the resplendent metal. It is a well-ascertained fact, that countries which in ancient times inded in the precious metals are now entirely destiinte of them. This is not the case, however, with the Mammoth Clothing Temple of Granville Stokes, No. 609 Chestnut street, as here the whole world can be supplied, at all times, with first-class garments at unprecedented low prices.

NAMES OF THE MONTHS .- January, so called by the Romans, from Janus, one of their deities. February receives its name from Februlia, a feas held by the Romars in this month. April is so called from Aperio, "to open," in allusio o the opening of the buds of trees and flowers. May is so called from Maia, the mother of Mercury.
