The Great Fire in Troy, New York-Additional Particulars. From the Troy papers of Monday we clip the following additional particulars of the destructive fire which prevailed in that city on Saturday last: The fire which occurred in Troy, on Saturday, appeared to have started in the roof of the railroad bridge which crosses the Hudson river from West to East Troy, and originated from a spark of a locomotive that crossed the bridge about noon. The fire caught about the middle of the bridge. There was a high wind blowing from the northwest early in the morning, and, as the day advanced, the wind increased in strength, until, at noon, when it might fairly be termed a gale. In a few minutes the enfairly be termed a gale. In a few minutes the entire eastern portion of the bridge was on fire, and the fames were being driven along by the wind with fearful rapidity, and directly towards the heart of the city with fearful rapidity, and directly towards the heart of the city.

Among the first buildings to take fire was the Sixth-street Presbyterian Church, the Troy Orphan Asylum and the Troy City Bank. Extraordinary exertions were made to save these structures, but without avail. About 6 P. M. it seemed to have spent its strength and found its limit, as if exhausted by its own violence rather than subdued by human means, and there lay the finest portion of Troy, a heap of ruins—nothing left save the many tottering walls. Commencing at the long bridge, it pursued a southeasterly direction, sweaping away block after block—first stores, then dwellings and public buildings, until it reached the old Tibbett's Mansion on Congress street, near Eighth. The number of houses destroyed cannot be less than 500, and it is roughly estimated that the loss is between two and three millions of dollars, about one-third of which, it is thought, is covered by insurance. The severity of this blow to Troy cannot be estimated. Aside from the immediate loss in a dollar-and-cent view, is not be estimated. Aside from the manufate loss in a dollar-and-cent view, is the equally important, and perhaps more important, loss of business to hundreds of her citizons, and of employment to thousands of mechanics, and sewing girls, and others. Many worth ten, twenty sewing girls, and others. Many worth ten, twenty, or thirty thousand dollars in the morning, found themselves penniless before nightfall, and hundreds of the former classes have lost home, furniture, and indeed everything save what was on their backs; all gone, their employers ruined, and their workshops destroyed. The sufferings of this class, for a long while to come, must be most severe. The city will hardly recover from the blow in twenty years, while many of her citizens can never hope to regain what was lost to them on the afternoon of to regain what was lost to them on the afternoon of Saturday. Hundreds of the poor that were ren-dered houseless are sufferers now for the neces-saries of life. It is estimated that not less than one thousand families were rendered houseless by this calamity. The burnt district embraces six streets running east and west, and seven, at some points eight, streets running north and south. Some fifty blocks are destroyed. Nearly all of those were closely built upon, and many of them were densely populated.

Eight persons are known to have been burned to death. Probably not less than fifty casualties occurred from burns, and fractured limbs, many of curred from burns, and fractured limbs, many of which must prove fatal. This is the second great fire that has taken place in Troy. In June, 1862, one-fourth of the city was laid in ashes, and the loss appears to have been no less disastrous than on the present occasion. The district is not quite so extended as was that burned by the great fire of '48, in this city, but more valuable property has been destroyed, and in this case the total loss is greatly swelled by the destruction of many very valuable public buildings, including the Union railroad depot, which was constructed at heavy expense, and was one of the largest and finest in the pense, and was one of the largest and finest in the A HIGHLY IMPORTANT BILL, For the Collection of Direct Taxes in Insur-rectionary Districts of the United States, and for other purposes, passed by the U.S. Senate. on the aiternoon of May 12, 1862. and for other purposes, passed by the U. THE RECENT COAL-OIL EXPLOSION AT CHRISTIAN-STREET WHARF-FURTHER PARTICULARS.—The explosion of coal oil, which occurred on Monday avoning on board the schooler F. W. Prati, Captain J. R. Nickerson, of Barnstable, Massachusetts, lying at Christian-street wharf, as reported, proved quite destructive. The vessel was of 218 tons burden, and was owned in Boston. She was valued at burden, and was award in Baston. She was valued at $8,500, and was insured only for a small amount.

The wharf where the accident occurred is occupied by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and since Saturday leat the vessel has been taking in a carge of coal oit, shipped by Leech & Co., for Boston. The hold had aiready been filled, and contained about eleven hundred barrels of oil in a crude state. About fifty barrels were upon deck and between two and three hundred upon the wharf, to comple's the deck load. There were also upon deck fifty boxts, each containing two large lin caus filled with refined coal oil. The loading would have been finished yesterday morning, and the schooner dispatched.

The crew of the Pratt consisted of Captain Nickerson.

finished yesterday morning, and the schooner dispatched.

The crew of the Pratt consisted of Captain Nickorson. Washington E. Robins, a son-in-law of the captain, mate, Freeman T Robbins, stoward, and four sailors. At the time of the explosion, the captain and two sailors were ashore. The steward had gone to bed The mate was stitting in the cation, and the gas from the oil, which filled the apartment, catused him to become drowsy, and he fell salecp. He was suddenly startled by the explosion, and was thrown violently across the room. He rushed upon deck, jumped into the boat at the stern, and cut it loose. His face was badly out and his right hand was burned almost to a crisp. While he was in the boat, he saw Freeman T. Robbins, the stoward, struggling in the water, but before he could render any assistance, the unfortunate man, who was lame, and unable to swim, disappeared. A small boat put off from a canal boat, and rescued Washington Robios, who was taken to the hospital. His inquiries, though painful and shocking, are not considered dangerous. Two of the sailors were on board the schooner. Their names are Benjamin P. Pease and Tristram R. Holley The former was asleep in the forecastie, and the latter was reading. Holley suddenly saw the wassel light up. He aroused Pease and the two rushed upon deck. A piece of chain which was lying near the windlass was blown against Holley, striking him upon the arm, causing him a severe injury. The two men stumbled upon the deck and fell, but recogering themselves in a moment, rushed through the fire and got upon the jib-boom. From which they umped into the river and swam to the wharf. Both were considerably burned about the arms and hands.

Both were considerably burned about the arms and hands.

In a few seconds after the explosion, the schooner was enveloped in flames from stem to stem, the fiery clonent leaping to the top of the masts. The burning oil emitted a dense black snoke, while the fire illuminated the entire neighborhood. The spectacle was magnificent, and attracted immense crowds of neeple to the wharf. The large open space between the new grain elevator and Christian street, and from Swanson street to the river, was covered with men, women, and children, who stood for hours gazing upon the brilliant scnee. The sidewalk along Christian street, for squares, was also lined.

The schooner is a total loss. The coal oil on board was all destroyed, and a large quantity of that upon the wharf shared the same fate. About one half of the barrels were rolled away. The oil was valued at $5,000. The steam-engines drew their water from the river, and immense volumes were thrown into the ill-fated schooner, but with little effect. Several times the firemen had evidently got the best of the conflagration, but the flames suddenly burst out again very flercely. About midnight the fire was got under, and the firemen retired. Chief Engineer Lyle, however, kept several steamers in service until almost half past three o'clock, when they were all dismissed but one. ut a quarter before 4 o'clock vesterday morning the fire broke out again, and in an instant the ruins were in a blaze. The Fire Department were again summoned, ard some twonty steamers were put into service. Lying in the dock near the Pratt was the clipper ship ray Eagle, famous for her fast sailing qualities, and one the pioneer vessels in the California trade. It was im-ossible to move her till the tide ross, and she took fire wice and was seriously depeaded. At one time the whole twice and was seriously demaged. At one time the whole of her bow and forward rigging were in a blazé, ésüséd by the large quantity of burning oil running out of the stern of the Pratt, and floating upon the water under the Gray Eagle. The latter vessel is valued at $20,000, and is injured to the extent of about one-fourth of that amount. She belongs to Rutter, Newhall, & Co., and is insured for $15,000 in the Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania. State of Pennsylvania.

The wharf at Christian street, belonging to the city, ship yard was injured to the extent of $1,500. A lot of valuable timber, worth $500, which was upon the pier, was destroyed. The flames also enveloped the large crane at the foot of the pier, which was considered one of the finest in the country, and cost $3,000. The floating sectional dry dock was in imminent peril for some time, one section having taken fire. The fremen, however, succeeded in speedily extinguishing the flames, and the sections were towed up to Queen-street wharf.

Chief Engineer Lyte and his assistant were upon the ground all juight, and a large police force was also present, while the hart or police, with their hoats, rendered valuable assistance in saving portions of the endangered property.

The body of the steward, Freeman T. Bobins, who was drawned Monday avaning, was recovered yeaterday morning about eleven o'clock. It was found in the dock, just astern of the schooner. The deceased was about 25 years of age, and belonged to Barnstable, Massachusetts. He leaves a wife. His remains will be taken home for lutaumant. interment.

At noon yesterday the fire on board the Pratt again broke out, and another alarm was sounded. A number of steamers were got upon the ground, and continued to throw water upon the schoener for upwards of an hour. The ship Gray Engle Again took fire, in consequence of some of the floating oil getting under her bow, but the flames were extinguished before any additional damage had been done. CHARGED WITH KEEPING A GAM-BLING HOUSE .- Martin Cabill was charged in the BLING HOUSE.—Martin Califf was charged in the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterlay with keeping a gambling house in 'Ranstead place, running north from Fourth street, above Chestnut.

Margaret Reating testified that she lived at service in the house of Mr. Califf, and that he owes her forty dollars for services rendered as a domestic. Parties were in the habit of gambling in a room on the second story; they played with eards, and money was on the table.

Crosservamined.—I lived there a year and a half; if story; they played with carels, and money was on the table.

Cross-examined.—I lived there a year and a half; if he had paid he my wages I would not have sued him: I went to Alderman Moore's to sue him for my wages, but the constable would not serve the summons.

Mr. G. C. Collins, counsel for defence, contended that, though gambling may have been done in the house, from the fact that the rooms were rented by other parties, who did the gambling, he trusted that the jury would render a verified of not guilty, and not let us get entirely too heavenly before we leave the earth.

Mr. Mann, in summing up, said that the Scriptures say, "Agree with thine adversary quickly, lest he hard thee over to the Judge." I had Mr. Cabill paid the prosecutrix the amount of wages due her it is more than likely we would never have heard of this gambling hoise. After a few more rountries, and a rejoinder by Mr. Collins, the hill was submitted to the jury. A verdict of guilty was rendered, with a recommendation of lemiency of the court.

Policy Cases.—Yesterday, in the Court of Quarter Sessions, District Attorney Mann addressed the court on the subject of lottery policy cases, of which he held a number of bills. He said that at every term of the court there are more or less of these cases, and it seems almost impossible to bring the parties to trial. The witnesses, as a general thing, are either beinght off or worlt appear, and thus the accused violators of the law go free. He had exhausted his ingenuity to bring this class of offenders to justice.

Judge Thompson said there is a failure of justice in these cases, but it is no failt of the court or of the district attorney, and that the countiting magistrates were entirely too loose in taking bail, and it is with them that the fault lies. Until they are more strict in regard to the kind of bail, it will be impossible for the district attorney to prosecute and the court to inflict the psnulty for such violations of the law.

The district attorney said that in some of the cases the magistrates had returned competent ball, and those would be sued out at once. In these cases the winesses were present, but the trial could not proceed because of the laws of the absence of the accused. would be sued out at ouce. In these cases the witnesses were present, but the trial could not proceed because of the absence of the accured.

The judge briefly said that the whole business is a source of great annoyance to the court as well as the district attorney. The bills were now handed to the clerk of the court, who maid the proper entry preparatory to the sueing out of the recognizances.

ARRIVAL OF WOUNDED SOLDIERS .-Early perterday morning about 450 wounded soldiers, from the battle of Williamsburg and Yorktown, arrived at the foot of Washington street, in charge of Surgeon C. W. Stearns, of the Third New York Regiment. The wounded men beloned to the various regiments under the immediate command of Gen. McClellan, and all bore testimony of having seen active service by bullet wounds in some part of the body. In some part of the body.

The men were all taken into the Refreshment Saloons, where everything to conduce to their confort was bestowed. Many were unable to feed themselves, some culd not move from their chairs, others sank down on the pile of knapsucks to ease their wounds.

After every one was provided with a meal, mattreases were provided for the lame to rest themselves upon. D. E. Ward, of the Union, was in attendance rendering aid. Mr. Fort, of the Cooper Shop, had every comfort provided for the wounded men. provided for the wounde! men.

About five o'clock they were taken to the wharf, and steamous and conveyer to banden. Described in the Seloons, they cheeved lustily for the Indies of Philadel-phia. The Refreshment Committees took charge of those left behind. Of the above number, some belonged to the New Jersey, New York, and New England regiments,

For some time past, his family have been unable to get any answers to their frequentle ters to him, or to learn of his whereabouts; and our readers may indee of the horror of his arxious wife at learning, through the newspapers, the terrible result of her husband's ilmess, stated in the paragraph above alunded to. Yesterday, a woman accosted two little boys in Franklin Square; and asked them to take charge of a child she was carrying while she went to a neighboring store to purchase something for it. The boys took charge of the baby for two hours and then deposited it at the Sixth-district station house, from whence it was not to the Almahouse. AN OLD OFFENDER CAUGHT AT LAST.

—Some time since information was lodged at the office of the detective police of the doings of an accomplished swindler, who succeeded in getting a large sum of money from the principal of a hoarding school in this city. The detectives took the matter in hand, and traced the scamp to several other cities where he had practised the same game. The last heard of him was at Bordentown, after game. The last heard of him was at Bordentown, after which he was lost sight of. Yesterday we learned from one of the detective officers that he had been arrested at last, and lodged in the Wes'chester (New York) jail, where he awaits his trial on two or three indictments found against him.

His plan of operation was to call at a respectable bearding school and represent that he had a ward, or nephew, or some other friend, whom he wished to place in such a school, and having arranged preliminaries, he would pay in advance the tuition bill, offering a draft for a cansiderably targe amount, making it necessary for a difference to be returned to him in money—ray twonty-five, fifty, or one hundred d-llare, as the case might be. A week or two since, he returned to try his game a second time in the same place, after the lapse of two years, and after he had learned that the school had changed hands. But it happened that an assistant teacher, who had long been in the school, recognized, the voice of the present bearded military colone hading from Columbur, Ohio, as quite identical with a certain lawyer from Washington, who had made a memorable call there about two years before. Accordingly, when he presented his "d-raft" it was arranged during the delay of "making change" that an officer was brought, who took him into custody. It happened that two or three "victims" of his imposture, in the same county, came forward, identified him, and made affidavit against him. It is said that the prisoner followed this profession about *wenty-live years, being at the present time about 45 years of age. He always gav AN OLD OFFENDER CAUGHT AT LAST.

MEDICINAL. TARRANT'S

EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT. This valuable and popular Medicine has universally re ived the most favorable recommendations of th MEDICAL PROFESSION and the Public as the most EFFIGIENT AND AGREEABLE

SALINE APERIENT. It may be used with the best effect in Bilieus and Febrile Diseases, Costiveness, Sick
Headache, Nausea, Loss of Appetite, Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Torpidity of the Liver, Gout, Rhoumatic
Affections, Gravel, Piles, AND ALL COMPLAINTS WHERE GENTLE AND COOLING APERIENT OR PUR-GATIVE IS REQUIRED.

It is particularly adapted to the wants of Travellers by Sea and Land, Residents in Hot Climates, Persons of Sedentary Habits, Invalids, and Convalescents; Captains of Vessels and Picinters will find it a valuable addition to their Medicine Cheets.

their Medicine Cheets.

It is in the form of a Powder, carefully put up in bottles to keep in any climate, and merely requires water poured upon it to produce a delightful effervescing beverage.

Numerous testimonials, from profussional and other gentlemen of the highest standing throughout the country, and its steadily increasing popularity for a series of years, strongly guaranty its efficacy and valuable character, and commend it to the favorable notice of an intelligent public.

VONDERFUL SCIENTIFIC DISVOUCHY OF PROF. G. H. BOLLES, 1220
WALNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

BEAD THE FOLLOWING CAREFULLY.

The difference between fact and faction, of permanently curing the sick and suffering of their diseases, or advertising to cure and showing but little or no evidence of cures, can be well appreciated by the anglein significant of the results, by attentively reading the following synopsis of certificates from the most reliable gentlemen in Philadelphia, who were permanently cured by Prof. BOLLES, 1220 WALNUT street, and after they had been given up as incurable by the most eminent medical men dvan up as incurable by the most eminent medical men Judah Levy, Bronchial Consumption, 814 South Front street.

Rev. J. Mallory, Aphonia, Philadelphia.
M. M. Lanning, Nervous Prostration, Cadbury Avenue.

N. B.—In addition to the above cases cured, Prof. C. H. BOLLES has cured two thousand Chronic and Acute cases within less than three years in Philadelphia, all of which cases had resisted the treatment of the most eminent neighblind hats. Prof. B. has established himself for life in this city, tee that he claims nothing but scientific facts in his discovery in the use of Electricity as a reliable therapoutle agent.

N. B.—It will be well for the diseased to recollect that Prof. B. has given a word of caution in his pamphlet to guard them against trusting their health in the hands of those in this city claiming to treat diseases according to his discovery. This caution may seem severe on those using Electricity at hazard, but it is the severity of truth and designed for the good of humanity.

GLUTEN CAPSULES PURE COD-LIVER OIL. The renumance of most patients to QOD-LIVER OIL.

The renumance of most patients to QOD-LIVER OIL, and the inability of many to take it set all, has induced various forms lof disguise for its administration that are familiar to the Medical Profession. Some of them answer in special cases, but more eftou the vehicle nantralizes the usual effect of the Oil, propring quite as unpalatable and of less therapeutic value. The repugnance, nauses, &c., to invalids, induced by diagnat of the Oil, is entirely obviated by the use of our OAPSULES. OOD-LIVER OIL CAPSULES have been much used lately in Europe, the experience there of the good results from their use in both hospital sau private pracedoc, eside from the naturally suggested advantages, are unficient to warrant our claiming the virtues we do for them, feeling assured their use will result in benefit and deserved favor.
