They were arrested on James iver, within General McClellan's lines, and are supposed o be spies. They behaved in such an outrageous man notwithstanding the presence of the usual guard at it was found necessary to place them in double irons raibis, however, while on the way up the Chesa ake hav, one of the traitors seized a musket from the side of the latter, inflicting a wound which will proba bly result in his death. TERRIFIC BOILER EXPLOSION-NAR-ROW ESCAPES.—Yesterday morning, about half past six o'clock, a terrific boiler explosion took place at No. 428 Callowhill street, and although no serious accident occurred, yet the consequences might have been very disastrons, happening, as it did, in a thickly-settled portion of the city. It was the most singular explosion we have ever heard of, and if it had occurred later in the day, when people were largely on the streets, the amount of damage cone, would, in all probability, have been wery great. The boiler was located in the cellar of a three-story brick building, occupied by A. Otto, many facturer of surgical instruments, and other fine work of light character. The boiler was an upright one, abou 12 feet in length, and 4 feet in diameter, and weighed about 3,000 pounds.

There were ten persons employed in the establishment and the engine was about six horse power. The build ing is icoated on the south side of Unitowhill street, almost directly opposite the Melodeon. The explosion too directly opposite the Melodeon. The explosion took place hen, fortunately, there was not a soul in the building. The boiler took a direct course upward through three stories of the house and then out at the roof. Turning north it crossed Uallowhill-street market and fell on the roof of the dwelling in which Mr. Otto resides. It struck the comb of the roof, and then slid down and fell off on to a skylight belonging to the Melodeon. Of course, the skylight offered no obstacle to its passege, and it passed directly through into the cellar of the Melodeon, bringing with it a mass of broken glass, bits of wood, dirt, ac.

The engineer employed in the establishment could not be found atter the explosion, and, ther fore, the precise cause of the disaster could not be ascertained. The name of the engineer is Charles Keberion. He went to the shop about four o'clock yesterday morning, and commenced building his fire about hair peat four. About six o'clock he went to his breakfast, and while absent the acoident occurred. Upon returning to the building, he saw the results of the explosion. He again went home, appeared very much worried, told his wife what had happeared you ton his hat and coat and left. He has not been heard of since.

W. and son, secompanied by several young ladies who were employed in the place, were on their way to work, and had just reached Fifth street when the explosion coonred. Had the accident happened a few minutes later the whole perty would undoubtedly have been killed.

Matable adjoining was occupied by Ticken & Williams, sugar refiners, who had four horses there. Hause Hamilton, Jr., the ostler, was in the stable at the time, and was within a few feet of the boiler. The concussion caused by the explosion prostrated fir. Hamilton to the ground, but he was not injured. The partition wall was considerably cracked. Considerably oracked.

Robert Bainey, the driver of a farmiture car, had left his wegon at the corner of Fifth street, and was passing down Callowhill street; as he got opposite the door of Mr. Ott's place the explosion occurred. A piece of the wood work of the window struck Mr. Rainey, and knocked him down. He was severely stunned, and one of his legs was cut by the giass from the window.

William H. Kearney, a mutt. n butcher in the market, was cut in the face by some of the broken glass.

At the hotel of Francis Douguerry, adjoining on the west, the decembers and glasses were knocket off the bar, and the furniture in the house was a well-asked by the property of the bar. A lady was also slightly injured.

James Smith keeps a hotel at No. 422 Callowhill street James Smith keeps a hotel at No. 422 Gallowhill street. He was standing at the door at the time of the accident. He observed steam issuing through the door of the boiler room. The steam increased, and, in a few seconds, here was a tremendous crash, and Mr. Smith saw the boiler flying through the air a ross Callowhill street. Brick, pieces of timber, &c., were also scattered in all directions. Although some of the rubbish fell into Mr. Smith's doorway, he escaped any injury.

A large iron "hanger," which was in the hoop-skirt factory, was hulled through the air at a fearful rate, and paised through the eighth-story wine ow of the Northern Liberties augar house, at Crown and Willow, streets. Fortunately, there was no person working in this room at the time. A piece of shafting went through a one-story shed attached to the refinery, and fell within a few feet of some twenty workmen. The latter all escaped.

propriety of allowing to each person who may enlist in this city a certain bounty.

Mr. Cuyler, President, in the chair.

After the caling of the roll Mr. Davis, from the Com-mittee on Defence and Protection, reported the fol-lowing ordinance to make an appropriation to aid the lowing ordinance to make an appropriation to and the enlistment of volunteers:

Skotion I. The Select and Common Council of the city of Philadelphia do ordain that the sum of $750,000 be, and the same is hereby, appropriated to encourage the enlistment of volunteers.

SEC. II. That every volunteer who shall present to the Mayor of Philadelphia the proper certificate, showing that he has been regularly enrolled and mustered into the service of the United States, and shall have passed inspection according to the rules and regulations of the spection according to the rules and regulations of the service, shall be entitled to the bounty of seventy-five dollars.

SEC. III. That warrants for the said appropriations shall be drawn by the Mayor in conformity with existing ordinances.

Mr. Davis said that since the committee had met and agreed to report this ordinance, be understood the Legislature was about to convene to take this subject of giving a bounty to volunteers into consideration. He did not know whether it would be policy for Councils to pass an ordinance of this kind until they knew the action of the Legislature.

Legislature.

Mr. Wetherill arose to explain why he had moved a reference of the ordinance making an appropriation of $25,000, offered at the last meeting for this purpose. Be thought the amount was too small for the number of troops that Philadelphia would be expected to furnish. He, therefore, moved the reference in order that an ordinance appropriating a sufficient sum might be reported ported
Mr. McIntyre arose to explain certain defects which he thought existed in the ordinance. He did not think that the one-year men should receive as much as the three-year volunteers. He was in favor of $75 to each Mr. Davis wished that some one would amend by in mr. A preamble and resolution were then offered by Mr.

this matter into consideration, Therefore, Resolved,

Mr. Catherwood was opposed to a postponement.
He wished the question acted on at once and he would move to amend-by making the sum $100,000.
A long and laughable debate here ensued relative to the Home Guard and to giving a bounty to colored recruits recruits

All. Wetherill was opposed to postponing the bill. He thought we should amend the ordinance to suit, and pass it at once. He was in favor of making the amount $25 to each recruit. This, added to what the Legislature would vote, would make a sufficient sum—larger than any other city in the Union.

Mr. Megary was in favor of the passage of a bill of this kind. He thought we should do all that lay in our power to crush this rebellion. He thought it would be economy for us now to spend militons of dollars in a cause like this. De thought a bill might be matured here to-night. He did not like these postponements and delays.

After some further debate, Mr. McMakin offered a presemble and resolutions to postpone, and refer to a joint special committee, which was voted down.

The smendment, as offered by Mr. Armstrong, was then agreed to.

Mr. McIntyre then moved that the ordinance be recommitted to a special committee of five, which was also agreed to. Messrs. Ingham, Megary, Armstrone, Mc-Intyre, and Wetherill were appointed by the chair.

The Chamber new proceeded to a consideration of the municipal code, which had been the order of the meeting.

The ordinance to license and regulate pawnbrokers was taken up, but, without taking any final action, the Chamber adjourned. THE SHERIFF CONTESTED-ELECTION

Harriet Hinkle was the first witness. She was called to prove that Elisha Hinkle was noncompos mentis, but, not appearing to comprehend the nature of the proceedings, was withdrawn.

C. O. Endolph testified to knowing Hinkle for ten or twelve years, and considered him rational enough to know what he was about when he voted; Hinkle had attended to business during the last thirty years; about twenty years ago, he fell from a house.

On cross-examination, the witness admitted that he prove that Elisha Hinkle was non con twenty years ago, he fell from a house.

On cross-examination, the witness admitted that he could not testify to Hinklo being fitted for every busine s; he had never heard any of jection to his vote.

After some unimportant testimony, Peter Hess was sworn and testified as follows: I was return inspector for the Fourth division of the Twelfth ward on the day of the last election; after the poils closed, there was found to be a discrepancy in the tally-lists of the clerks: I remember being at John Dunlap's on the morning after the election.

The object of the question was to show that the witness had stated, on the morning after the election, that there had been a mistake in the count, by which three votes cast for Mr. Ewing had not be en counted for him. This is to refresh the witness' memory, so as to pave the way for the admission of the ballot-box.

The question was admitted.

The third attempt on the rebel capital will probably be the final and successful one. She has been visited by a large number of persons.

Before these changes were made they could not be shipped for a less period than three years. These changes will lead to increased applications to enter the navy at the Philadelphia shipping office. There was an increased demand for eliver, to day, mostly from other cities. The supply was stimulated very happily, by the reports that as soon as postage stamps are thooughly in use, there will be no need for silver. Parties were anxious to get rid of it at high rates, and there was ot much difficulty in supplying the demand. The open ing rate was 12 per cont, but it soon advanced to 14, and continued firm. GENERAL CAMERON IN RUSSIA .- General Cameron, the minister plenipotentiary to Russia, has arrived at St. Petereburgh, and had an interview with the Czar Alexander. The Emperor assured the minister of his kindly feelings towards the United States, inquired as to the progress of the war, and took a special interest in the court suit worn by the ex-Secretary of War. In reply to a query touching it, Mr. Cameron replied that it was procured at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rock Wilson, Nos 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth. EXTRAORDINARY BOUNTIES TO THE VOLUN-TEERS -- No country in the world gives such pay to its rmy as the United States. Connecticut gives as following $2 at the time of enlistment: $6 per month to the wife: $2 per month to each child under $14; $50 a year from the State; $50 in advance by the State to those who enlist before the 20th of August; $25 by the United States in advance at the time of entering the service. and $75 by the United States when honorably discharged.
All this, besides the regular pay of $13 per month for privates, with rations, clothing, and arms. We would suggest to Governor Curtin, that, to the $75 the Governent pays when discharged, the State add one complete suit of citizen's dress from Charles Stokes' "one-price,"
