MONDAY, AUGUST 11, 1862.

TH WAR. General Pope and staff, so we learn by telegraph, have established their headquarters at Culpsper Court House, on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad. On the 6th inst. a reconnoissance was made to Madison Court House, a village about ten miles southwest of that point, by our cavalry, who reported all quiet. No traces of the irrepressible "Stonewall" were visible; but it was stated, by his admirers, that he had gone to Lib rty Mills, where a force of 3.000 rebels had collected to swell his ranks. On Friday last our pickets, having been advanced beyond Madison, came in collision with a body of rebel cavalry, about eight miles south of that place, at the village of Wolftain, on the Stannardsville road. As a necessary consequence of this skirmish the enemy was driven across the Rapidan with loss. For this dittle victory we are indebted to Col. Price, whose regiment was recruited in Philadelphia. By yesterday's telegraphic advices from Washington, we have the intelligence that a battle has since taken place, as we were led to anticipate from the report that Jackson had crossed the Rapidan. No particulars of the contest have reached us yet. We await them with considerable anxiety, but have no apprehensions that aught but success has crowned

A Ir is estimated that the arm will be increased to at least one million of men, fully armed and equipped, and read for a fall campaign, by m ans of a draft. In a ver I of the States tha me sur, will rot have o be r sorted to, and, for the credit of our people, we rejoic to record the f.ot. The m re ennoure ment of the necessity of drafting has opened the eyes of the nation to the mag itude of the struggle, and carried a conviction to every honest mind that the time has come to put forth every energy, if we would retrieve the past and save the U ion. Ma y who believed that the r bellion w s in its d cline have learned, from this new appeal to their patriotism, that is was, is reali y, gath ring strong h from the passiveness of the North. Now that the Government appreciates the danger, and tacitly admits its imminence, they will come forward and help avert it without waitir proper are aroused, we have no sluggard patriots, and few who are willing to acknowledge cowardice. What strengthens the popular determination to avoid as far as possible the disgrace of a draft, is the universal hope and conviction that another call for troops will be unnecessary. With a million of effective men, in the field, a prolongation of the war by the rebels would be a physical and arithmetical impossibility. One million of men on palized people. An exchange says :

"To understand the immensity of such a force, it would be necessary to see them drawn up in array. A line marching in single file, allowing two feet for each soldier, would stretch nearly three hundred and eighty miles, and marching at the rate of thirty miles per day, would occupy nearly two weeks in passing a given point; marching in sections of four, with the necessary room for baggage trains and cavalry, at the rate of thirty miles WHEN Mr. WENDELL PHILLIPS admitted his devotion to the Union some months ago, many rejoiced that such a splendid intellect had been added to the list of our national defenders. He had been a representative man. He belonged to a class which, though small, was active, persis out, gif di, and entitled to respect. His followers were wedded to an idea. It was impracticable, ephemeral, and possessed neither substance nor power, but it had been a source of irritation and agitation. When the war burst upon us in uncontrollable fury, we had but one anxiety, and that was the union of every sect, opinion, or prejudice in defence of the Union. The question was not what men had believed or with whom had they acted, but how did they believe and act in the present crisis? Every man-the Abilitionist, the Republican, the Con-ervative, the Douglas Democrat, the Breckinridge Democrat-was welcome to the Union cause. We asked no question but the question of loyalty, and accepted no test but the test of allegiance. We had hoped that Mr. PHILLIPS, with his rate powers as_an orator, and his influence with the eccentric class that believed in him, would have been useful to the country. In this hope we have been sadly disappointed. WENLELL PHILLIPS is a traitor in his soul.

He differs from JEFFERSON DAVIS in this only, that Davis has drawn the sword, while Phili-LIPS is effective without it. We can conceive of no doctrines more horribly dangerous than those contained in his recent speeches. There is a fury and a recklessness in his invectives which almost amounts to a mania. He denounces everybody, and believes in no one. Mr. Lincoln is "a turtle," "a first-rate second-rate man." General McClellan is incompetent, and takes an hour to decide a question and say no. "Let this Union be dissolved, in God's name," he says in a burst of raving rhetoric, "and the corner-stone of a new one be laid, on which shall be engraven forever, Equality in a political sense for every man who is born in the world.' Cease believing in the Cabinet. There is nothing there for you. Pray God to awaken your President to a sense of his position and the interests at stake." "President Lincoln, through coward fear of the Border States, keeps McClellan in the position he holds. But the day will come—and it is that that hurts us al .- when Lincoln will confess he never believed in McClellan." "I do not say that McClellan is a traitor; but I do say, that so far he could not have done more to help traitors than he has done." Language like this can fied no parallel in the columns of the Richmond Enquirer. It serves every purpose that the most malignant enemy of the Republic could desire. It serves to destroy public confidence, to weaken our faith in our constituted authorities, to despair, and become sick, weary, and disheartened.

We have no objection to these wild and extreme denunciations in times of peace. They become subjects of jesting and merriment, and have no other purpose than to create a smile of pity or a sneer of contempt. But now, when hear's are lacerated by daily bulletins from bloody fields of battle, and the public mind is sensitive on the utterance of every public man, and extremely sensitive in relation to our generals and statesmen, are these flerce falsehoods to be permitted? There is not a traitor in the land who will not exult | as soon as they have sufficiently recovered to be fit over these declarations. In Richmond, they for active duty. will be read with joy; in unfriendly London, The Recent Order to Prevent the Evasion they will be greeted with exultation and mockery. "What strength, what dignity has this Republic of America, which can permit traitors in Boston to assail it from the forum; while traitors in Richmond assail it from the battle-field? It sends men to Fort Warren for attacking the Government and disowning the oath of allegiance, and yet it permits men in Boston-men of smooth speech and choice words and elequent phrases—to glory in the have been prepared, and will be issued on Monday fact that they disdained to owe allegiance to the to military commandants, marshals, and police country of their birth, and at the same time officers, respecting the mode of executing the sought to divide and destroy it." These are orders, so as to interfere as little as possible with the words which these speeches of WENDELL individual pursuits and business, and limit the ope-Phillips will excite, and we are very much afraid they will be truly spoken.

That man is a traitor who refuses to sustain the Government; to defend it against its enemies: to respect its constituted authorities; to submit to its laws; to give allegiance to its Constitution. That man is a traitor who, in times of danger, permits any sentiment or prejudice to weaken his love for the Union, or give comfort and consolation to the enemy. field, and it is but just that he should be thus re-That man is a traitor who finds cause for exultation in our national discomfiture or misfortune. Mr. PHILLIPS has done these things and more. "Davis is perfectly satisfied with his successes. They are greater than he anticipated-far greater; and, if he can possibly float upon them and a few more, England will, as she ought to, recognize the Southern Confederacy?' Can anything be more treasona- end of the country to the other, all saying "go," ble than this? We have yet to see the utterance of any traitor, Secessionist or Breckinridge Democrat, as full of malignity; and there is no reason in the world why he should not meet with the treatment which loval men everywhere bestow upon the traitor, the Secessionist, or the Breckinridge Democrat. No eloquence—no number of personal gifts no sincerity or honesty of purpose can permit the unrebuked ulterance of such sentiments as "He may be honest, but who cares whether he is honest or not? What has his honesty to do with the matter?" He is an enemy-a political nuisance—a traitor, and a pernicious man. He should be abated. If it can bedone by at y social or political influence, we shall be satisfied; but if not, there is a short and easy road from his home near Boston to a casemate in Fort Warren.

THE COURSE of this journal during the last five years has been denounced with consistent bi terness by the newspapers and politicians that sustained the treachery of the last Administration, and now oppose the Adminis trat on of President Lincoln. Such a fact is more suggestive than a volume of argument. It vindicates our own position, while it establishes the incurable disloyalty of our assailants. The same papers and politicians that attacked THE PRESS for its opposition to the Lecompton Constitution and the English bill. for its exposure of the corruptions of FLOYD, TOUCEY, and COBB, and for its staunch support of the straight Douglas Electoral Ticket, are | Dastardly Attack on a Railroad Train. even more violent at this hour in their assaults upon THE PRESS for its views on the war. Comment is unnecessary.

LETTER FROM "OCCASIONAL." WASHINGTON, August 10, 1862. The despoilers of Liberty and the savages of slavery are infuriated at the orders of Gen. Pope, and announce their determination to retaliate by the imprisonment of all the officers of his division who may fall into their hands. Of course, this means their summary and merciless execution. Davis proclaims this purpose in a letter of characteristic falsehood and hypecrisy. His appeal to the "voice of a common humanity" and to "the recognized rules of war," is like the appeal of Satan to the revolting hosts against the authority of God Almighty. Never, in any age, has a reckless rebellion against a good Government been so marked by crime and blood. Not to speak of the periury and repudiation which disgraced its commencement, the progress of the rebellion has been characterized by atrocities such as should awaken the horror of all the races of men. The missacre of Ellsworth was succeeded by the canonization of his assassin; and a few days after Davis wrote his threatening message, a distinguished Union General, debilitated by disease ver brunes of the traitors in Alabama. The horrid brutalities of the Secession murderers after the battle of Manassas, and the equally monstrous preparations after the evacuation of Yorktown, by which unsuspecting men were to be hurled into eternity by concealed mines and bombs, have never been surpassed by the excesses of the heathens and savages of the wilderness, Every kind of cruelty, save cannibalism, has been resorted to by the officers and per is easily expressed: to arm, equip, and feed privates of the rebel army. Our wounded such a host has never yet been essayed by a civi- have been hacked and butchered by their surgeons-our dead mutilated and insulted-our prisoners starved, and sometimes killed by the sentinels—our females, while attending upon their husbands in the neisome jails of Richmond, made objects of ribality and scorn-and our loyal friends in the South confined and frequently executed without a hearing. To this inconceivable record, the Federal Government has responded by conducting the war with humanity and dignity; by protecting the property of the traitors, by per day, they would extend one hundred and fifty paying for what our troops have used, and by extending to rebel prisoners the most generous treatment. At last, and only when it became necessary to save our soldiers from suffering, and to checkmate the intrigues of the very people that have been protected by their arms, that Government has resolved to adopt another policy, and one not only justified by the urgent necessity of the case, but by the rules of war among civilized nations. The answer is the proclamation of retaliation by Jefferson Davis. Fortunately, there is scarcely any crime in the calendar that has not already been resorted to by the rebels. They cannot surpass their early and recent capacity. They may indeed execute our officers, but this will only add new zeal and fire to our > self and his associates. Regarding this pronunciamiento of Davis in the light of his treatment of the Southern people, alike those who follow and those who oppose his example, it assumes an aspect of peculiar turpitude. He has plundered and impoverished them with indiscriminate despotism. He has confiscated and sequestered millions of property. His hordes have been subsisted upon the plantations of the Union leaders who pine in prisons, or fly for their lives to the free States. It did not need his Congress to pass laws to empower him in this hellish work. He made the laws for himself, and enforced them. It was not necessary to give him the authority to despoil the farms of Andrew Johnson-to use and exhaust the means of Justice Catron—to make W. H. Polk a beggar-to outlaw and outrage W. G. Brownlow-to throw John M. Botts and thousands like him into pestiferous dungeons. He decreed that these things should be, and they were. And when the Federal Government refuses any longer to project its own foes, and to help and harbor the basest spies—when it directs that there shall be no more toleration of men who would take our soldiers' money and their lives at the same time-we hear from Davis a howl that is only an echo of that which arose from the infernal regions when the fallen angels fell from their high estate and were lost forever.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 .- The following despatch

A battle was fought yesterday between General Banks and Stonewall Jackson. General Bayard, of General McDowell's corps with his cavalry brigade, had been engaged before in the extreme advance, near the Rapidan river, in skirmishing and manouvring, taking some prisoners, and ending with a slight loss, baffling the efforts of a large force to surround and cut him off. Yesterday morning he was engaged for some hours before Gen. Banks came up, and with four regiments of cavalry, the 1st Pennsylvania, 1st Maine, and 1st Rhode Island, delayed and em barrassed the enemy's advance. The rebels, under Jackson and Ewell, had protect the Rapidan in force, and their advance guard, 15,000 strong, was attacked by Gen. Ranks peper Court House.

The fight was almost wholly with artillery first, but the infantry became engaged about sx o'clock, and a determined and bloody contest fd-General Banks' right wing, under General Wil-iams, suffered severely. The rebel position was in the woods, while the roops which attacked them were obliged to coss an open ground. It was not till about 6 o'clock that it became svi-dent that the rebels were attacking us in force. Previous to that there had been rather desulpry cannonading. The whole rebel force suddenly attacked us in overwhelming numbers at all points. Nearly all their regiments had full ranks. At 72 o'clock Gen. Pope arrived on the field from Culpeper, accompanied by Gen. McDowell. with a part of McDowell's corps.

The battle was then substantially over, General Barks holding the ground that he had occupied at the beginning. After the arrival of General Pope there was an artillery contest, continuing at intervals till nearly 12 o'clock. The night was unusually clear and the moon full. The rebels planted a battery against McDowell's centre, where Generals Pope and Banks were, bringing both of them under fire. The Generals and their staff were so near the rebel lines, being actually in front of their own lines, that a sudden charge of the rebel cavalry was made from the woods, a quarter o a mile off, apparently with a view to capture them.

The attempt was repelled by a vigorous fire from McDowell's troops, and the generals and their staffs left the field under a cross fire from the rebels and their own troops. The fire of the rebel batteries was afterwards

Our troops were under arms and in position all night. Gen. Banks was on the field throughout the action and constantly under fire. His handling of his troops and personal gallantry is highly praised by his officers. The bravery and good conduct of the troops were conspicuous during a large part of the fight. When overpowered by numbers, some of the regiments retreated in disorder. Colonel Knight, of the 46th Pennsylvania, is dan-

Col. Donnelly of the 28th New York was fatally wounded; Lieut. Col. Brown had his arm amputated. Major Cook was killed-both are of the 28th New York.

Colonel Chapman, of the 5th Connecticut, was wounded and taken prisoner. Lieut. Col. Stone, of the same regiment, was killed.

General Geary was wounded, and has had an arm amputated. General Augur is severely wounded.

Major Pelouze. General Banks' adjutant, took command of a hesitating regiment, and gallantly led it through a galling fire. He received two shots, and is severely but not dangerously wounded in the side.

Captain Williams is missing. Captain Goodwin s also missing. Captain Quincy was taken prisoner. Surgeon Leland was wounded. Lieut. Oakey was wounded seriously. Lieut. Austin and Lieut. Buckman, of the 1st New Jersey cavalry, were wounded. No other officers in that regiment were burt.

Lieutenant Hopkins, of the 7th Ohio, was wounded. Colonel Ruggles, chief of staff to General Pope, had his horse shot under him. Two of Gen; Pope's body-guards were killed.

Colonel Morgan, of General Pope's staff, and Major Perkins, of General Banks' staff, both received bullets through their hats. The 2d Massachusetts Regiment was in the hardest of the fight, and suffered severely. The 5th Connecticut, 27th Indiana, and 46th Pennsylvania Regiments, are badly out up. Lieutenant Ramsey, of General Banks' staff, had his horse shot under him.

Gen. Wilder, of the rebel forces, was wounded The losses are very heavy on both sides, and it is supposed that not less than two thousand or three thousand were killed and wounded, or are missing, on each side. Some prisoners were taken by both sides.

Jackson and Ewell were both present in the Reinforcements to the amount of 18,000 men reached the rebels last night at about the same time that onry arrived Skirmishing in front is going on this morning, but the troops on both sides are so much exhausted by fatigue and the intense heat, that no serious encounter is expected to take place to day. ST Louis. August 10 .- Mejor McConnell, of the Provost Marshal General's Department, left yesterday to establish a provost marshalable at various points in Illinois and Iowa under a recent order from Washing on. The police of this city has been organized into mili tary companies

Two of Price's recruiting officers were arrested here esterday. Some three hundred recruits had been ajeed in this city, mo t of whom will be arrested. General behofield has issued an order for the suscension of business throughout the city, after four o'clock, n order to organize military companies, and to afford citizens an opportunity to perfect themselves in the drill.

Amos Green, sprominent lawyer of Par.s, Il in 15, was Briested at Terie Haute, b, order of the U.S. Marsh d. It is reported that the charge against him was purcussing arms and ampunition with which to resist the Gavarment draft. The editor of the Democratic Sandard oul lished at Paris. Hippois, has also been arrested for asonable practices. It is reported that an armed or ganization exists in Indiana and Southern Illinois t sist the draft.

LATER FROM NEW ORLEANS.

NEW YORK, August 10 .- The steamer Connect cm New Urleans on the 31st, Mobile bar on the Is Peneacola on the 8d, and Port Royal on the 5th, arrived t this port to-day, with a large mail from the South. Among her passengers are Hon. Reverdy Johnson and Col. Unthbert. The health of the people of Persacola was good.

It was rumored that the yellow fever prevailed at Ker General Hunter and Com. Dupont were making prerations to receive the ram from Savannah. The flag-ship Hartford, with Com. Farragut, togethe with the frigates Richmond and Brooklyn, and the gunboats Oneida and Ircquois, and the rest of the fleet, arrived at New Orleans on the 29th, auchoring off th

The steamship Philadelphia had arrived at New Orleans from Philadelphia. A reconnoussance by two gunboats to Manchac and Covington found everything as Colonel Kumbell had left it. No bridges had been rebuilt, or were there other indications of the enemy. The steamboat Ceres, after landing some three hun died negroes, who had been employed near Vickeburg at some distance below, was fired into by the rebels from the shore eight shots striking her. Captain Brooks, of the 7th Vermont Regiment, was killed by a shot which went through the cabin. The vessel arrived at New Orleans on the 29th.

The Draft in New York. ALBANY, Aug. 10 .- The Governor is understood to b in receipt of important despatches from the War Du partment in relation to the draft; but he does not deem it proper to make them public in advance of their pronulgation by the Government.

Interesting from Harrisburg HARRISBURG, Aug 10 -On the 7th of July last a call as made on the State for twenty one regiments of volun teers. I learn that a communication was received yes terday from the War Department, containing a requisition for militis for the full quots of the State under the two recent calls, each for 300,000 men. The full quota of this State under these calls will be 92,841 men, less the the call of the 7th of July above mentioned. Pennsylvania is edgal to the emergency, and will, no dount promptly furnish her quots, though it take every third able bodied citizen in the State. The rules and regulations to govern the draft will pro bably be made public in a few days.

Troops continued to pour in till a late hour on Satur day night, when over 16,000 men had arrived. 2,000 men are in camp at Harrisburg, and 1,000 a Lancaster, making a total, exclusive of the six or eigh thousand three-year men forming in Philadelphia, o , nearly 20,000 men practically raised within one week. Governor Curtin will arrive here to-morrow morning from Bedford, when the work of organizing will com mence, and the regiments be sent off as rapidly as transportation can be furnished by the railroads. Strong efforts are being made by the Governor to in duce the President and decretary of the Treasury to appoint the national tax collectors from among the men who have served the country in a military campany. township in the State, who have lost their health or have been wounded in pattle, but are perfectly competen to perform the duties. This is a move in the right direction, and it is sincerely to be hoped that it will prove successful. It is due to the men, and would relieve the collection of the tax of much that is desagreeable. It could also prevent the places from falling into the routine of political favorites. The Bucktail Brigade is progressing finely. Sixty companies and platoons are being organized under officers of the highest character and influence. The Assassination of Gen. McCook.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., August 9. To L. Thomas, Adjutant General: Robert McCock died at 12 o'clock noon on the 6th o August, from a gun wound or wounds inflicted by guerillas on the previous day, near New Market, slabama. He was indisposed, and was riding in an ambulance, som distance ahead of the brigade, with a number of his staff and a small eccort. He had stopped to see about a camn irg-ground for his command, when the party was attacked by a band of guerillas, one of whom rode up to the ambulance and shot him in the side.

D. C. BUELL. Major General Commanding CATAWISSA, Aug. 7, 1862 .- A full company leaves here to-morrow for Harrisburg, Capt. M. M. Brobs commanding. They have been recruited within a week This town of 600 inhabitants has already sent over 100 men to the three years service, making more than 209 men in all, and if called upon can furnish 100 more. The War Excitement in Pennsylvania. RECRUITING IN NORTHAMPTON COUNTY - CORRE-Easton, August 9.—Recruiting here is progress ing rapidly. Four full companies, and parts of two others, have gone on, and other companies are

To his Excellency Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States: Of the United States:
Our county has raised its quota of the call for volunteers. We have a surplus on hand, and men still coming in. We want very much to fill our quota of the draft with volunteers, and thus avoid he draft, and furnish better men. Can we do it?

Please answer. All our arrangements for recruiting and bounties wait on the answer, and the exitement to enlist is so high that it is unwise t check it. Do answer to day. A. H. REEDER. Washington, Aug. 8. To Hon. A. H. Reeder: Your despatch to the President has been referred to this Department.

The General Government apportions the quota of military force among the States, but has no regard to county or district. Whatever volunteer force shove its ratable proportion shall be offered by a State, any time before a draft is actually made, would be accepted by the Department and credited upon the draft as a proportionable reduc-tion. It would be right for the State to make a proper allowance to any county that exceeds its proportion; but it must be left to the Executive of the State to make such arrangements. By order of the Secretary of War.

Brig. General and A. A. G.

EASTON, August 9.—The following correspondence has taken place between the State authorities and Ex-Governor Reeder relative to enlistments:

To Governor Curtin, Harrisourg: Easton, August 9. The War Department informs me that if this county sends a surplus of volunteers it shall be credited to the State quota of the draft. If that is done, will you credit it to the county quota? Please answer immediately. The condition of things here is such that we must know. A. H. REEDER. HARRISBURG, Aug. 9.—To A. H. REEDER:— There are practical difficulties which reader it un-certain whether the Governor can allow the credit your people desire. You cannot, therefore, rely upon its being done, however much the Governor may desire it. ELI SLIFER. Secretary of State.

LEHIGH DOING WELL. ALLENTOWN, Aug. 9.—The last company of Le-high county's nine months' quota left for Harris-burg to day. Another company is almost full, and if not accepted for nine months, will volunteer for during the war.

The Times' city article draws attention to the fact that within a short period United States fives have fal en from 80 to 67 and 65, being the lowest have fall on from 30 to 67 and 65, being the lowest point ever touched.

The Times, editorially, continues to point out the Federal prospects as more gloomy; but the Daily News combats such views, and speaks of the Northern policy with continued confidence.

Most of the London journals allude to the finanoial orisis in America, and reiterate their strictures upon the false financial policy of the Government. Even the Star charges the Washington Cabinet with the most deplorable ignorance of true economy.

The Times argues that if their positions had been reversed the Americans would never have recognized the blockade as England has done, but would have broken it under a plea of self-preser-

OPENING OF THE SCHUYLKILL.

Great Success of the Experiment. When a country has reached a condition as critical as is the present status of our own land, it has a right to tax every reserrce of its citizens, and to expect not only a generous material support—secured, if need be, by self-denial or even suffering-but a prompt effering o every intellectual preduct that seems likely to sdyauce the general west; and he is recreant to every imput e of manbood and of patriotism who fails to find sufficient emolument for such labor in the labor itself; it is enough to throw all that we have and are at the feet of the country and cry, " Take it and use it; take us and use us; all that we have we give; we are happy in the giving." But ample though this be to satisfy every loyal mibition, it is no little additional encouragement to be able to recognize some actual service rendered by our mite of contribution. If the country deign to use us, well; but if from such use a real advantage accrue, our pleasure is beightened by the consciousness not only o having served, but of having served well. In reference to these points, no reader of the Press will deny that its course has been consistent from the start. It has never indulged in Suppart flings at commanding efficers. in tirades against their operations, o n supercilions criticisms of their plans; while in respect to the political—inseparable from the military—factor of this war, it has contented itself with an unswerving support of the Administration and of all the officers who bare and carry forward its purposes. This path. marked out in the beginning, has been adhered to throughout; the only latitude we have granted ourselves being a significant representation of growing political ideas, or a suggestion in the improvement of some military detail that might fairly come before the judgment of civilians. Such a suggestion we made a week since, and now record with pride its adoption, and its successful adoption, by the Government. It is nothing as a personal matter; it is of no con-equence from what source it emanated; we are proud only of baving been of geruice use in saving much suffering to those brave lefer ders of our flag who have sacrificed their health to the boly cause. It will be remembered that the boats laden with sick and wounded soldiers have been in the habit of discharging at Vine-street wharf their freight of suffering humanity, to be taken thence to the various hosp tals by ompibus and ambulance. It was suggested in these columns that every purpose, seeking the relief of these men, could be better served by making a landing some where on the Schuylkill, on the other side of Gray's Ferry Bridge, if the draw could be passed; but on this side, if the draw should prove to be a barrier to further ingress We had satisfied ourselves by minute inquiry that the public did not give fair credit to the navigability of our little Schuylkill; that even heavy ves # is could make a landing on its banks, comparatively quite near the great West Philadelphia hospital, and we proposed the attempt though wiseacres shook their heads in soorn at the bar des. Yesterday the frial came. Four of the largest steamboats in the Government service arrived at Vine-stree wharf, expecting to nake there their usual unloading But scarcely were their lines fast, when orders came to drop again down the river and proceed up the sonuylkill. Great was the consternation of the officers, the men, and the crowd assembled. The captains looked doubtful; the pilots looked decidedly certain—but of the unbappy luck awaiting their reats; the police men looked fatter than e er, as they puffed themselves out with prophecies of failure; the expectant friends looked blue, and the attendant women-God bless their self-sacrificing hearts!—looked as if it were an inscruta ble Providence that prempted the motical Departmen: to spatch such charitable opportunities out of their loving grasps. But the words were peremptory—a man in a blue blouse brought them—and slowly the mighty boats swung out into the stream.

No civilians admitted, of course. The blue blouse was on board in virtue of its complexion, but a Market street sack must not thrust its brown plebian fale into such company. A wild appeal to the blouse; a response, kindly but doubtful; a corsultation of magnates; a plet of a court one French licutement in penalf of the sack; jesticulations, signals, half heard words, a hurried oars-man, a lost hat—and we were aboard. It was a goodly company that sat down to dinner on the Louisiana. There was the keen-eyed, gray haired Yankee director br. McGuer, with no unnecessary flourish, self-possessed, a slight shade of command re isving the affahiliry and b derneath. There was Dr. J. H. Case, the first assistant, prompt in every exigency, in or out of the line of his duties, with a cheerful word mixed with every dose for the sufferers, but a rapid reprimand for the semblance of an order neglected. There was Robert B. Corson, the indefatigable military agent for several States, picking out the men lucky enough to fall within his care, and performing those thousand little offices of alieviation and kindness which the ordinary medical routine cannot, of course, in the throng of its larger obligations, see to. He may be responsible to Governors for reports, etc., but the multitudinous gratuitous charities which this unassuming but tireless worker bestows upon his charges are reported to his own heart alone. There was-But the Schuy kill! The many doubts as we rounded into its narrow, fortuous channel! "There was not water enough," from the pilot. "Yes, there was,' from the news-reporter, whose best hopes were staked on the success of the experiment. "We could never get round those sharp bends," from the doctor. "Yes, we could," from the same importunate scion of public curiosity. "The draw was impassable," spake the assistant. "Not a bit of it," replied the obstinate venturer. And so we grainally sailed, flinging away our misgivings as one by one the dubious places were passed. The banks began to be lined by gaping crowds. Little boats scudded away from the novel spectacle. The stream narrowed, Still the grand procession moved on-four of the most magnificent boats of the world majertically steaming, in line, up the crocked little river heretofole given over to coal-barges and wood-shops! 'he draw is passed; the bends rounded; the shallows crossed; the wharf reached; and the Schuylkill Discovered! Will it be believed! the same angels of mercy who hadsat so long and patiently on Vine-street wharf, in the hope of mitigating some poor creature's pain, were now ported by the same sweet, womanly impulse! The advantages gained by this change of landing are briefly, a saving of three miles of rattle over stones, in the case of the West Philadelphia hospital, whither all these patients were taken; a greater nearness to all our bospitals, except three; roads instead of streets; the opening of the Schuylkill to a nobler navigation, and above all, the doing away with the demoralizing effect of such long, sad processions through public thoroughfares.
