THE WAR. RELEASED from thraidom at Harrison's Landing. the Army of the Potomac has quietly crossed the Chickshominy, and has arrived safely at Williamsburg, on its way, no doubt, to the banks of the York.river-perhaps Cumberland-perhaps Yorktown-if the former, an intended advance upon Richmond direct will be evident; if the latter, it will be plain that the General in-Chief has designed the Army of the Potomac to reinferce the Army of Virginia directly by way of Fredericksburg. Although thoroughly weeded of sick and worthless men, and for its strength more than ever effective, it is nevertheless, at present, powerless to strike the foe in his strength, except in conjunction with the Army of Virginia, after that army shall have crossed the Rapidan. But there is evidence now that the old regiments of our army will be promptly reinforced from two sources—convalescent members and new recruits. If this be done, then the Army of the Potomac will be able to do more than twice its number of men in new regiments. The old regiments have the vast advantages of organization, drill, and experience in battle. We incline to the opinion that the Army of the Potomac is destined for a new and separate campaign, in which it will be virtually aiding the Army of Virginia, protecting Fredericksburg and Washington, seizing an important relired, and threatening Richmond from the northesst, and at the same time rendering Jackson's return to Richmond full of risks and uncertainty. We shall see. THE NEWS. THE Chicago Board of Trade, at a recent meeting, unanimously passed a s ries of resolutions expressing their thanks to Gen. battle at Baton Rouge, in the State of Louisiana, in which the rebel General John C. Breckinridge and his ragged rebel army were so ignominiously worsted. Our news from the Southwest this morning is full of interest. Mutters in that region are becoming more and more complicated every day. But vigorous measures are on foot to crush out the guerillas, and the great new army of Western troops will soon be murching forward to assist their veteran brethren in the field at present. FROM San Francisco we have an account of the rising and escape of nearly 200 convicts from the State penitentiary. The prisoners took the Lieutenant Governor, Chellis, and, making a shield of him, marched past a cannon which had been

He attempted to take Baton Rouge, failed, and it is said lost an arm. He may not have lost his arm, but certainly he has lost his heart. About this demonstration of the brigadier there has been a great deal of mystery. We have had numerous stories from the Secession sheets, and reprinted by us, from Government sources, to the effect that BRECKIN-RIDGE had cartured Baton Rouge, and was advancing on New Orleans. Those who had admired the Senator's political principles began to applaud his military talents, and among all these men there was general and secret joy. Now, we grieve to say, the story is altered. BRECKINRIDGE has been beaten badly, and is probably afflicted with a severe wound. It is the inexorable custom of DAVIS turn-of the enthusiastic welcome given to never to pardon a military mistake, and we him by the soldiers and citizens of this may expect to see Breckingings going the city-and of the magnificent compliment way of Wiss and Flord and Pillow. Atlantic Monthly for September. From T. B. Peterson & Brothers, 306 Chestnut street, and also from T. B. Pugh, corner of Chestnut and Sixth, we have the new number of the Atlantic Monthly. It opens with the first part of but one enemy, and that is the rebel-"David Gaunt," a tale by the author of "Life in the Iron Mills." It has a continuation of two other stories, "Life in the Open Air," by the late Theodore Winthrop, and "Mr. Axtell," by an anonymous writer. There is a further portion of Agessiz' wonderfully clear and full "Methods of Study in Natural History," and a highly-interesting paper on Cerebral Dynamics, by Dr. Isaac Ray, of Providence. There are several poems, the best, by far, being "Bethel," by A. J. H. Duganne. "Gabriel's Defeat," by T. W. Higginson, has the sole morit of being brief; it is only worth attention as showing how, sixty years ago, a black man named Gabriel anticipated John Brown in making an onslaught in Virginia, to free his race, and was hanged for the same. "The Horrors of St. Domingo," by John Weiss, are fearfully and tediously spun out, and, at their slow rate of progress, seem interminable. Next, as a compensation, is a charming essay called "A Complaint of Friends," from the pen which. n few months since, gave the readers of the Magagine an unusually rich treat under the title of " My Garden." There is a second article here, on "The Life of Birds," by Mr. Higginson, which will delight those who love the country and have any predilection for the study of Natural History. We notice, with satisfaction, that the circulation of the Atlantic Monthly has increased 10,000 copies since a devotion and bravery that surpass praise. The the commencement of the year.

The arrival of General Corcoran at this one is more competent to speak of the condition of affairs in the South and the relation of the South to the rebellion. He comes back demanding instant and exter-into one great army, and hurling it upon the South. He has no scruples about slavery.

I take the evidence of Colonel Corcoran, and commit the issue to the country. The sympathizers with Secession, and the Northern apologists for Southern treason, will find in his words a fitting rebuke to their infamous proceedings. General Corcoran sees a greater enemy to this nation than the Abolitionists of Reported Death of Gen. Lovell.

New York, August 18 -The s'eamers North Star and canoke have arrived from New Orleans, with dates to the 10th instant. They bring the particulars of the defeat of the rebels at Baton Bouganand the destruction of the ram Arkapsas. A letter from Baton Rouge says, that Nims' Battery thrice repulsed the foe, and did them great damage. Breckinridge lost his right arm by a cannon ball. The fight took place on the edge of the town, General Williams being unwilling to expose the helpless women and children. We captured a large number of prisoners, including Captain Biunt, General Brecklaridge's aid. General Williams, who was killed, behaved like a hero. hims men are entitled to imperishable glory. The less of the enemy must have been severe. as our mea charged and recharged upon them. We have taken three gans. Another account says: The rebel troops were vari-ouely estimated at from 6,000 to 15,000 men, under Gene-als Lovell and Breckinriuge. The combat was obstinate. Our loss is 250 killed, including a large proportion of officers. The rebel loss, according to the prisoners' account. vas immense. Among the killed was Gen. Lovell. The fam Arkaneas was just above Baton Rouge, but lared not take part in the combat. Later accounts say bat the Arkansas was aground above Baton Rouge, when the Essex and other gunbouts went to her and set her on fire, when she blow up. The transport steamer Lewis Whiteman ran into the inboat Oneida, 50 miles above New Orleans, on the night of the 6th, and the transport was sunk. It had the body of Gen. Williams on board, with an escort consisting of six of his body guard, also 42 of ours and 3 rebel wounded. The body of Gen. Williams was recovered; and 38 wounded soldiers and 3 of the body guard post after the death of General Williams, states that the rebel force was about ten regiments. After a fight of four hours of great severity the enemy ere repuised. General Williams was killed by a rifle ball through the chest. During the battle our forces were obliged to retire bout a quarter of a mile from their original position, and the enemy were able temporarily to occupy the camps of

They were, however, driven out; but our numbers being much lessened by sickness and the men on the field being much exhausted by fatigue and heat, it was not deemed expedient to pursuo them. The enemy has retired several miles and are still retiring. It is ressible that they may receive reinforce ments, and I am disposing of my troops in the strongest positions. Our force engaged numbered less than 2,500 : the enemy had at least 5,000, twelve or fifteen field pieces, and some cavairy.

The 1sm Arkansas approached with the intention of ngaging our gunboats, but she grounded when at a distsuce of six miles, and to-day (6th) was engaged by the Essex and destroyed. Brigadier General Clark and Lieut. Zorger delivered themselves to us as prisoners of war. I have also 70 wounded prisoners and about 30 others captured. Bretkinridge, on the 6th, asked permission in writing o bury his dead, and Col. Cabill replied, " Our men are ngaged in the work, which will soon be accomplished Passengers from Baton Rouge state that our loss was 70 killed and 215 wounded. Gen. The wounded are divided among the regiments about 21st Indiana, 81; 24th Maine, 70; 4th Wisconsin, 10; 6th Michigan, 25; 7th Vermont, 15; 30th Massachusetts, 12 : 9th Connecticut, 2. General Butier has issued a general order announcing, loquent language, the death of Gen. Williams. He is issued a congratulatory order to the troops on their successful engagement with the enemy, in which he "The enemy lost three brigadiers killed, wounded and prisoners, and many colonels and field officers. He has more than a thousand killed and wounded. We have captured three pieces of artillery, six calssons, two stands of colors, and a large number of prisoners." A letter from Baton Rouge states that the fight between ent Essex and the ram Arkansss was a fair taxee; pouring a soliu-p.Parter lay at 300 yards' distill a breach was made, when an inconing the Arkansas ploded in the breach, setting her on ure. The funcal of General Williams took place at New Orleans, in the 8th, and was very impressive. The body was brought North in the North Star. The North Star passed the Ocean Queen and St. Mary's, bourd up the Mississippi. It is most likely that the General Lovell reported ed is Colonel Lovell, and not Major General Mansfield Lovell, who is understood to be at Bichmond. The report that Dreckinridge has lost an arm is doubtless incorrect, ashe in his despatch, recontly published, says already in the field. There are about 1 800 three-year, men now on the camp ground, in addition to over 4,600 e-months men, and also to the ten regiment; that have been forwarded to the seat of war. Thus it will be seen that Pennsylvania has, since the call for 600 000 men, done more than any other State. There is one thing, however, which should be remedied as soon a pessible, and that is, to provide comfortable transports. tion for the troops. At present, only two regiments are allowed to leave daily, and they are compelled to ride it freight cars, with portions of the sides broken off, ex posed to the night air and chilling dews. Pennsylva. rians deserve better treatment, and it is to be hoped the Government will look into this matter, and thereby save unnecessary delay by sickness, which must follow as a natural sonst quence from such exposure. Preparations for Drafting in New Jersey. Preparations for Drafting in New Jersey.

Transton, august 18.—Governer Olden has issued a proclamation appointing a commissioner and surges for each county, to superinteed the deafung. To facilitate the raising the quots of this State, he has established five places of rendezvous: at Nowark, Flemington, Trenion, Beverly, and Freehold. Any county of this State that shall, on or before the let of September next, appear to the county commissioners, by the carrificate of the rendezvous, to have turnished at the rendezvous its quots for the asid call in volunteers, will be exemptirom the said draft; and if the number of such volunteers shall fell short of the quots, the county will have credit for the number so turnished in making the draft for such county.

New Regiments. HARRISBURG, August 18 .- Grout dissatisfaction is an presect here at the manner in which our troops are being transported from this point to the seat of war. With the thermometer ranging from 100 to 120 in the sun, they are placed in open trucks, without the slightest protection from the excessive heat. The United states officers having this matter in charge should remedy the evil by requiring the railroad companies to furnish covered cars at least. The following additional regiments, now forming in Philadelphia, have been accepted by the Governor, and are entitled to all the bounties now being paid to other
