FROM BATON ROUGE.

A Rebel Account of the Battle-A Victory Claimed for their Land Forces.

CAMP ON COMITE RIVER, August 7, 1862.

On Saturday, July 26, we received marching orders, and on Sunday the trains left for Jackson. It was now announced that a descent upon Baton Bonge, and the possession of the Mississippi river, was coatemplated. The plan was a very feasible one, notwithstanding our limited land force. Gen. Brechinrings was to attack the enemy in the rear of the town, and destroy or capture his troops, while the ram Arkansas would engage the gunboats, and prevent their rendering any assistance to their comrades on shore. The Arkansas had been repaired, her crew renewed, and she was again ready for action. We waited at Tangipahoa several days, to ascertain definitely that she was propared. In the mean-time the quartermasters were busy hiring teams and engaging transportation. But, with all their endeavors, their success was in no way commensurate with the wants of the army.

On Sunday, the 3d inst., Gen. Breckinridge advised Gen. Van Dorn that he would be prepared to attack Baton Bouge at daylight the following morning. Gen. Van Dorn replied that the Arkansas would not reach a position where she could participate in the fight until Tuesday morning. It was then definitely determined that the attack should be made at daylight on the morning of the 5th, the ram Arkansas, of whose steady and uninterrupted progress down the river we had been constantly advised, co-operating with the troops. At ten o'clock Menday night, August 4, the troops. About 2,400 in all, advanced from their camp on Comite river. men were in the finest spirits and confident of accom-plishin; their purpose before breakfast time. The march of ten miles, over a smooth, sandy road, between well-sultivated plantations, was conducted with quiet and AN UNFORTUNATE MISTARE.

But about dawn there occurred one of those terrible missadventures that are frequently the harbingers of gloom and disaster. While the column was advancing, at out three miles from the city, the road skirted on one side by a dense piece of woodland, and on the other by a field of sugar case, there came a terrible voiley of musketry from the woods, where a body of partissn rangers had been posted. It was evident at once that there was a mistake, but the confusion incident upon the alarm could not be obviated, and several casualties occurred. Drigadier General Helmn's horse fell into a dutch and disabled that gallant young officer, his leg being badly mashed. The troops were thus deprived of his valuable scrytoes in the field, and he was compelled to remain restive away from the scene of action, while his bold-hors were winning fresh laurels. Capt. Alexander H. Todd (a brother of Airs. Lincoln), of General Helmn's stoff, was instantly killed, and Oapt. Willis S. Roberts, commanding the Fourth Kentucky, dangerously wounded. Cobb s Kentucky battery was also rendered hors decombat, the gua-carriages and caissons being broken and the pieces rendered unmanageable. AN UNFORTUNATE MISTAKE.

Order being restored, the column advanced, and soon the line of battle was formed. General Clark's division occupied the right and that of General Ruggles the left. The advance was made in four lines, that of the left over a very rough country, across ditches, through sugar-cane, over fences—a very fatiguing and exhausting march. It was ten minutes to five o'clock when we first brushed the enemy. They were in good position, under cover, and covered out upon our advance with considerable precision and effect. It was, however, but the work of a moment to dislodge them. Like so many coveys of partridges, they started up and flew rapidly before our advancing columns, the boys giving vent to exulting cheers, as, with fixed bayonets, they followed the retreating Yankoes. The morning was quite foggy, and a heavy mist hung over the entire landscape, rendering it difficult to plant our batteries so as not to operate either upon one to plant our batteries so as not to operate either upon one or the other of our wings. Our own lines were then converging towards a common centre, the enemy fleshing towards his camps. But it was not without loss that we wards his camps. But it was not without loss that we thus drove them in. They sought every possible covert place, and rallylug, gave a peppery salute to our men. Their batteries were also admirably handled, and belched forth devastating columns of canister, grape, schrapnel, shell, and solid shot. One by one, however, they were forced to give back. Limber up and to the rear march, was the constant order, and had it not been obeyed, all their guns would have fallen in our possession. As it was, the Fourth Louisiana charged a battery twice, each time at considerable loss, and were finally forced to lose their trophy, their commander, Colonel Allen, falling, shot through both legs. This somewhat demoralized the regiment, which had almander, Colonel Allen, falling, shot through both legs. This somewhat demoralized the regiment, which had already been distinguished for its good conduct. Captain Hughes, commanding the 22d Mississippi, fell dead while leading a charge; Colonel Sam Boyd, of the Louisians hattalion, was severely wounded in the arm; the gallant 21st Mississippi, while sharging ahead, lost its colors, but the battle flag was immediately grasped by a lieutenant, who, bearing it aloft was shot down, and a third man seizing it received a death wound. But onward went the left. General Ruggles was conspicuous for daring, and his aid, Colonel Charles Jones, of Louislans, while delivering an order, was struck down by a shell and seriously wounded. Our troops were now in the camps, and ously wounded. Our troops were now in the camps, and though tempting enough none stopped to pillage. The 3d, 6th, and 7th Kentucky regiments were going ahead like a burricane. Nothing could stop their fearful and OPERATIONS ON THE RIGHT.

While the left was thus forcing the enemy into town, the right wing, under General Charles Clark, did not lag behind. General Breckinridge was himself with this division, and his presence had a magical effect upon the men. His tall form seemed ubiquitous—here, there, everywhere where there was peril, where there was an enemy to drive or a position to gain. Of the gallantry and noble bearing of his young son Cabell I should not speak, were it not that he is as modest as he is meritorious—a worthy scion of a noble stock. General Breckrious—a worthy scion of a noble stock. General Brecking led personally several charges, and toward the close of the action, coming up to the Fourth and Fifth Kentucky, who had fallen back utterly exhausted; he drew his sword, and with one appealing look, said, in his clear, murical tones. "My men, charge!" This charge is co-cibed to us by an officer who participated, as one of the most stepal and effective acts of the battle. The men rushed for made in a particular order, firing at and pursuing the enemy with determination that could not be thwarted, driving them in theat they had yet been driven. But, during the whole engagement, the Fourth and Fifth Kentucky displayed the utmost galicatry, worthy of the laurels they had won at Shiloh. Better men never followed a flag or faced an enemy than these two regiments. Colume Thomas H. Hunt, of the Fifth, was in command of the brigade and received a serious shot in the left hip while actively engaged on the field.

THE LAST CHARGE—THE DAY WON. THE LAST CHARGE THE DAY WON. During the frequent pauses of the fight, when the roll f musketry and the sharp crack of artillery was hushed, all, ears were strained to catch some note of intelligence from the ram Arkausas. Long since she should have been engagirg the enemy's gunboats, which had already goured a dreadful rain of shot and shell into our midst. poured a dreadful rain of shot and shell into our midst. But there was no welcome sound from the guns of our little vessel. Upon all tongues were the queries: "Where can the Atkansas be?" "Why is she not here?" and there came the unwilling thought, has she failed us, and can all this deadly, terrible struggle have been for nought? We had already driven the enemy one and a ha fmiles from the position where he was first encountered. We had seized all his camps, and forced him through the suburbs of the town. Then came the last charge, and right nobly did our exhausted soldiers discharge their duty. Wayworn, covered with dust, and consumed by the heat of battle, the gellant boys plunged headlong into the fight, and before them fled the Yankees. In vain did they bring up their reserves. We drave them all into the fight, and before them fied the Yankees. In vain did they bring up their reserves. We drave them all quite to the river, completely under the protection of their gunboats, many of them taking to the water. It was then that General Breckinridge ordered a recall. He had received a message that it would be impossible for the Arkansas to participate then in the engagement, but that by two o'clock she could take her part. Slowly and with reluctance our troops fell back, although exposed to the heavy firing of the gunboats. About one mile and a half from town they were halted, and the poor, wearied, jaded fellows threw themselves upon the ground to rest.

FRANKFORT, August 18.—This morning at 11 o'clock Hon. James F. Robinson was inaugurated Governor of Kentucky in the hell of the House of Representatives, the Senate and its officers being present. Mr Robinson made the best speech for the occasion I ever heard. He possesses the entire confidence of the Union party of Kentucky, and he will prove himself equal to the emergency. D. C. Wickliffe, of the Lexington Observer and Reporter, is to be Secretary of State, and James W. Tate is to be Assistant Secretary. These are most admirable appointments, and will meet the approval of all Union men. The Senate, by unanimous vote, re-elected Hon. John F. Fisk Speaker of that body.

WHY BANKS WAS NOT REINFORGED.—The Washington Star has the following: "Up to half past five P. M., for one hour and a half after the commencement of the engagement, General Banks did not dream that he was contending, with an enemy in force equal to his own. At half past five, he despatched the commanding general to the effect that he was driving the enemy before him. At six P. M., when his troops essayed their terrific charge upon the rebei batteries, their infantry response from the cover of woods and thick underbrush first revealed their overwhelming strength to General Banks, who then despatched a messenger to the rear to notify General Pope of the fact. Then it was that Ricketts was ordered to push forward with all possible rapidity to his assistance. We saw Ricketts advance, enter the field on the double quick, reaching it in the shortest possible time after information of the real strength of the enemy had been received from General Banks. The fruth is General McDowell's corps was in the best possible position to serve any emergency, and would have been in the fight beyond peradventure had the enemy not contrived to conceal from General Banks and his whole corps d'armée his real strength until an hour too late to peamit Ricketts to be ordered up in time to arrive on the field before nightfall put an end to the engagement for the time had the pair of the time that the pair of the time had the pair of the time had the engagement for the time had the engagement for the time had the engagement for days since, Deputy United States Marshal Pierce and Deputy Sheriff Olmstead learned from several citizens of West Webster that a family living in that town would bear watching, and they suspected that they were deal-ing in spurious coin. The officers went to work, and, in a short time, obtained sufficient evidence to satisfy them that the persons referred to were making counterfeit coin at their residence. Last night, about twelve o'clock, Pierce and Oinstead went to the house in Webster, in company with Constable Gidlings, of that town, and several citizens, surrounded it, and, at the proper time, hand, in the door, and there found Lucine Fryer, alias Parkhuist, Eslly Abn Torry, Naman Torry, axis uso. AN ORDER OF JEFF DAVIS STILL IN FORCE.—It is rather fr markable, even in this anomalous age, that all printed copies of orders from the War Department issued by Jefferson Davis, when Scoretary, should not have been sought out and effectually supersoded, yes, annihilated, wherever found, so soon as he became identified with rebellion. But a gentleman recently from West. Point informs the Newark Advertiser that the present regulations governing the intercourse of the West. Although the orders derived their validity from the collicer and not the man, yet it is repugnant to every loyal man's feelings to see the name which has be-ceme associated with so much that is infamous, brought ceme as ociated with so much that is infamous, brought hefore him in such a connection as seemingly confers upon its possessor power and authority still. boy-about sevin years of age, died of hydrophobia on Eriday night, in Louisville, having been bitten by a ra-biddog six weeks before the fatal attack. The difficulty in proguring gold, and silver sufficient for the payment, we believe, has caused the delay.

THE WAR EXCITEMENT—RECRUITING FOR THE NAVY.—The rumor of a draft for the navy s certainly not based upon any apparent depreciation of enlistments for that branch of the service, so far as our own city is concerned. The present registry of acces sions to the navy, for the port of Philadelphia, will compare favorably with that of any seaport city in the pare favorably with that of any seaport city in the Union.

All circumstances considered, keeping in view the comparative advantages, pecuniary and otherwise, to be derived from enlising in the army, the list of applicants for admission into the naval arm of the service compares favorably with the former. No doubt, the apprehension of a draft may have a somewhat culivening effect upon the perceptive faculties of our would-be sailors; but be this as it may, the rush for the "shipping office" is almost unprecedented. Candidates for naval honors are of all sizes, ages, and occupations, from the lad of 14, fresh from school, to the toil-bronzed mechanic of 50, all causily desirous of sharing in the anticipated recreation of a three-years cruise on the briny deep. Anxious parents, with still more anxious-looking striplings, daily crowd the office of the shipping agency, and calmly await that process known to the law, which ends in the disenthralmentle of the prospective Juck Tar from maternal control, and gives him over to the tender merter of Uncle Samuel. There is a species of romance about the life of a sailor, when viewed theoretically, which has always an attractive charm for the youthful mind, and cases are of every day occurrence in which a young man of sixteen suddenly leaves home and immediately turns up in the shipping office, where in answer to the stereotyped interrogatory "What's your age?" boldly answers "twenty-one," and not having the fear of the law before him confirms his assertion with the usual oath. When customers of this string give rise to suspicion, ther names, but the more cute Young America occasionally manages to sail through with his false colors, and the consequence is a great deal of trouble to all parties concerned, not the least feature of which is the employment of counsel to secure the freedom of the lad in question. Were the bounties now offered to recruits for the army held out as an inducement to enlist in the sea service, there would soon be an overplus of accassions to our gall menting navy, it is most desirable mat the sumulus now given to shipments should continue.

The only shipping office for sailors, landsmen, &c., in this city, is located at No. 322 South Front steet. Mr. John C. Bighter, an experienced and well-trained seaman, is shipping master, which position he has held for the last forty-five years. Mr. C. J. Cunningham holds the office of assistant. During the past four weeks, the average rate of enlistments has amounted to 150/per week, (during the present week about 25 per day,) mostly andemen; the general proportion of seamen being about wenty-five per cent. In accordance with the orders of twenty-nee per cent. In accordance with the orders of the Navy Department, five boys are taken for every one hundred men; every minor must have attained his fif-teenth year, and produce an affidavit, signed by an alderman, setting forth the consent of his parents to his enlistment, his competency to enlist, and his intention of serving out the term for which he may be sworn. The terms of service are one, two, and three years, at the option of the party making application. If shipped for three years and kept for a longer period, the person so detained shall receive one-fourth more than his regular Large drafts will necessarily be made from those on board in order to fill up the complements of the vessels nearly ready for sea. The new Ironsides, Powhater, and Jamestown will be among the first to draw upon this force. The former of these will require, including officers, sailors, landsmen, etc., a force of 580 men, some proportion of which must be made up from the recently shipped seamen on board the receiving ship. The Powhatan requires 350 men, and is expected to leave during the present week. Of this number there will be 120 seamen, the balance being composed of ordinary seamen, landsmen, firemen, boys, etc.

Immediately upon the qualification and admission of a recruit aboard ship, he is duly drilled in the performance of duties required of him, so that when transferred to the vessel to which he may be assigned he is ready to undertake the labors of his situation immediately.

RECRUITING YESTERDAY-LOCAL MI-LITARY.—The work of recruiting was very satisfactory cents now in the field was rather small. The great neessity of filling up the regiments now in active service is apparent to all, but recruits seem to forget that by enolling themselves in these organizations they enjoy many advantages not to be had in the new bodies now in proceas of formation. The main objection to the old regiments was that the officers were compelled to send the Harrisburg to be mustered in. The proper an very serious objection, long overlooked, is now removed A large building located in Swanson street, above Washngton avenue, is now being fitted up as a place of rendezvous for all recruits enlisted in this city for the old re-giments. Lieuts O. B. Griffith, of the 82d, and John S. Biehl, of 26th regiment, have veen placed in charge of the barracks. Yesterday from fifty to one hundred men were quartered there. As fast as the men are uniformed they will be sent off to the different regiments in the field.

While at the rendez ous, the recruits will be provided with good rations by Mr. W. H. Dennis, who has long been attached to one of the refreshment saloons. The building is admirably adapted for the purpose designed. It is well situated for ventilation. The building is one hundred and forty-seven feet long and thirty-seven feet wide. In the second story a large table has been put up that the soldiers may take their meals in a comfortable manner. The officers' quarters for the transaction of business are also on the same floor. The third story has been fitted up with double bunks, of good dimensions, sufficient in number to lodge two hundred and fifty men. Bathing tubs are also placed in a shed in the yard a joining, for the convenience of the recruits. Any young men who wish to join the old regiments can spily at the new station in Swanson street, and all information will be furnished by Lieutenants Griffith and Riehl.

This building is well adapted for the purposes intended, and it is now to be hoped that the old regiments will speedily be placed on an equal footing, in regard to numbers, with the new ones. That recruits have not been obtained faster is for the reason stated. Rocruiting for the old regiments in the other States seems to progress rapidly. Daily large squads of men pass through the city on their way to the seat of war. About seven hundred men, destined for old regiments, arrived yesterday morning, at two o'clock, from New York, and were hardsomely entertained by the Refreshment Com nittees. This makes about one thousand four hundred men who bave gone through up to the present time to be attached to old regiments. o old regiments.

The different military encampuents in the outskirts of the city are beginning to assume a warlike appearance. They are visited daily by hundreds of people. "Oamp Halleck," located on the North Pennsylvania Bailroad, near Fisher's lane, was visited by Colonel N. B. Kweass and the committee having charge of the funds subscribed for Colonel Ellmaker's regiment, who paid to each man the extra bounty of $10, and also presented each with a gum blanket. The committee will visit the camp again to morrow and pay the extra bounty to those entitled.

The gallant Bucktail Regiment, commanded by Colonel L. Wister, is meeting with great success. The "bucktails" are all the go, and are ne rare sight, as they may L. Wister, is meeting with great success. The "bucktails" are all the go, and are ne rare sight, as they may be seen in the hats of the many members of the regiment who walk the streets and feel proud of the emblem adopted by the organization. The old "Bucktail beys" won for the three of the battle-field an enviable reputation, and we already have heard it from good authority that they were the dread of the rebels. One company, F, of this regiment, was raised almost exclusively in Germantown, and on Tueedsy 75 men were mustered in. But a few more men are needed, who will be had in a day or so. The balance of the men enlisted in the Anderson Cavalry will leave the city for "Camp Alabama," at Carlisle, this morning, at fifteen minutes past seven. The men are obliged to be at the depot, Eleventh and Market streets, at 6.45 A. M., and report their names, so that transportation can be furnished them. It is absolutely necessary that every man so far accepted should be at Camp Alabama to-morrow morning About two hundred men have already left this city for the rendezvous. The general order of the War Department, giving power to the United States marshal and certain other officials to averse officiars and reivers who may be found.

The general order of the War Department, giving power to the United States marshal and certain other officials to arrest officers and privates who may be found absent from their commands, has had a very salutary effect. The order reads as follows:

"The United States marshals in the respective/districts, the Mayor, and chief of police, of any town or city, the sheriff of the respective counties in each State, all postmasters and justices of the peace, are authorized to act as special provost marshals to arrest any officer or, private soldier, fit for duty, who may be found absent from his command without just cause, and convey him to the nearest military post or depot. The transportation, reasonable expenses of this duty, and five dollars, will be paid for each officer or privates of arrested and delivered." Our principal streets and thoroughfares are filled with f. w military officers or privates direct from the seat of war. Those who are here are on recruiting service or other efficial business. The chief of police, with his force, is constantly on the lookout for stragglers.

AFRAID OF BEING DRAFTED -The rush to the British Consul's office for papers of protection has greatly subsided. The number of applicants yesterrush to the British Consul's omce for papers of protection has greatly subsided. The number of applicants yesterday, slibough large, was by no means as great as a week or two since. Owing to the vigilance of the authorities it is almost a matter of impossibility for parties to leave the city with the intention of escaping the draft, without being spyrehended. At prosent, certain members of our Cits Councils are in New York, on business connected with the regulation of the police. Beforeleaving the city each member procured a certificate from Mayor Henry, testifying that their visit was upon official business, and not to avoid the draft about to be made. The following is the form of the certificate:

[City geal.] Princade The Mayor of the City of Priladelphia, is chairman of the Police Committee of the Councils of said city, and that in company with said committee and its officers, he is officially visiting the city of New York and the city of Boston, to examine their station houses, &c., and that bis temporary absence is without intent to evade any draft. In witness whereof, &c.

Numerous other certificates have been furnished to private parties. This is, however, unnecessary, as those whose intentions are honerable can easily manage to pass from one State to another without being molested. HOME.—The Western Provident Society and Children's Home was formed in this city with the intention of rescuing little children from the demoralizing influence of intemperance and poverty, and give them a decent education, a knowledge of household affairs, and a moral and religious training. Besides the children entirely under the control of the institution, those of parents living at service have a shelter here for a small sum.

The home already contains several soldiers' children, and thus the heart of the particle is made fearless by the and thus the heart of the patriot is made fear knowledge that if he perishes in the fore front of the bat-tle his little ones will be cared for.
The institution is to give employment and food to de-serving females in winter, and as the war will make many ridows, the community should see that funds be not acking for this purpose There is no sectarian teaching there; the children attend several churches in rotation. They are placed in families at a suitable age. The number at present in the building is forty. There are ample accommodations for nore, but the treasury is empty. This a very deserving A NCTICEABLE FEATURE.—Among the many great features of the different ward meetings held in the city on Tuesday evening, to form National Union Associations, we noticed that the gatherings were the largest of the kind ever held in our city, and among whom were a number of loyal Democrats, and in one of the wards a Democrat presided. Never before did such has mony of feeling prevail at such meetings. Democrats and Republicans seemed to have forgotten party, and united together in a common band to overthrow this infamous rebellion which is now desolating our country, and which has had its origin in a political faction who, like the old serpent, would rather reign in hell than serve in heaven. We look upon this commingling of party men as an earnest of the bright future that swaits us, when this American Union, free from war's alarms, shall sgain be crowned with peace and plenty, and command the respect of the whole earth. mand the respect of the whole earth.

A PROOF GUN.—It will be seen by an dvertisement that means are still wanting to produce the is not very large, and surely it can soon be made up if people are in earnest to secure the advantages of such a change in our military capacity as an eight-mile range of cannon shot would mate.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—About eleven o'clock yesterday morning, a boy, named William Cline, aged eight years, was run over and had his leg broken by a car of the Green and Coates streets passenger railway at Landing avenue and Ceates streets. He was conveyed to his residence in the Twenty-fourth ward.

RECEPTION OF BRIGADIER GENERAL CORCORAN.—The preparations for a proper reception of this distingui hed champion of our liberties, who has suffered great privation and been immured since the faval day of the battle of Bell Run in vile and losthsome priday of the battle of Bull Run in vile and loathsome prisons in the domain of Secessia, have been completed and are on quite an extensive scale. The name of this gallant Irish American chieftain will be a rallying cry on future battle fields, for in every skirmish or battle, no matter how small the number of mon engaged, we find the sons of the Green Isle well represented.

The Irish redients in our city, to whom the name of Corcoran is rendered doubly dear by the fearless spirit which he manifested in refusing to parade his regiment on the occasion of the reception of the Prince of Wales in New York, by his unflinching bravery at the battle of Bull Bun, and his daring zeal in behalf of the Union when surrounded by traitors on rebel soil, are determined Bull Bur, and his daring zeal in behalf of the Union when surrounded by traitors on rebel soil, are detormined to manifest their sense of gratitude by turning out to do him honor. A meeting of the Feoisn Brotherhood, of which General Corcoran was formerly president, will be held this morning, at 10 o'clock, in Sansom-street Hall; when the final arrangements will be made as to the part they shall take in the procession.

The following programme has been agreed upon: The military eccort, under the direction of Col. Heenan, of the 116th Pennsylvania Regiment. will form on Washington street, the left resting on Broad street, and the right extending eastward. The various civic societies who intend participating in the demonstration will form on Broad street and other streets adjacent thereto, and will fall in the line of the procession after the military. Upon the arrival of the train at the depot, at Broad and Prime streets, General Corcoran will be received with an appropriate military salute, and will then be escorted to the Cooper-Shop Volunteer Refreshment. Saloon, in Otsego street, an invitation having been extended to and to the Cooper-Shop Volunteer Refreshment Saloon, in Otsego street, an invitation having been extended to and accepted by him from that organization, the procession meantime halting at Front street.

After leaving the Saloon the procession will again move forward, passing up Front to Ohristian, up Christian to Third, up Third to Vine, up Vine to Twelfth, down Twelfth to Arch, down Arch to Fourth, down Fourth to Ohestaut, and up Chestaut to the Hall of Independence, where General Corcoran will be formally received and welcomed to the city by Mayor Henry. The military will then march to Market street, where mally received and welcomed to the city by Mayor Henry. The military will then march to Market street, where they will be dismissed. 'After the reception in the Hall of Independence, General Corcoran and his suite will be escorted by the committee to the Continental Hotel, where apartments have been provided for them, and where he will probably address the people. The General will ride in an open barouche, that all may have an opportunity of seeing him.

Colonels Collis, Heenan, and Biddle have accepted the invitation of the committee to participate in the recent invitation of the committee to participate in the recep-tion. The music will be under the charge of A. Birgfield, and it is the intention to have three full bands in the line. The Pike and Hurling Company will parade in their new uniform, and will doubtless make a fine appearance.

Numerous other civic societies have signified their intention of participating in the procession, and, judging from the preparations, General Corcoran, who has so bravely represented Irish valor in the present contest between loyalty, and trosson, in the American Union, will meet with a reception worthy of our Commonwealth— worthy of our Irish citizens, and worthy of the man VOLUNTEER BOUNTY FUND. -The subscriptions yesterday to the Citizens' Bounty Fund fer Volunteers were as follows : Bich'd Middleton & Co. $25 Elias D. THE ADVANTAGES OF JOINING OLD THE ADVANTAGES OF JOINING ULD REGIMENTS.—Yesterday, at the recruiting office of Captain Jathe, of the 27th Regiment, at 520 Callowhill street, some men were taken to the mustering officer and immediately received $85, the State and city bounty.
When a recruit joins a new regiment or company, he must first wait till his company is filled, when he receives about one-half the bounty, and until the regiment is complete he cannot receive the other half, while, as above, as soon as the recruit is mustered into the old regiments, he receives the whole sum right down. Co. F of this regiment, under Captain Spering, is also recruiting in this city, and, like the rest, pay the bounty as soon as the volunteer is mustered in. as the volunteer is mustered in.

A NEW ROUTE TO NEW YORK.—Yesterday morning marked a new era in the history of rail-reads in the United States and New Jorsey. The first train over the Baritan and Delaware Bay Bailroad ar-rived in Camden, and in a few days a new ronto will be opened to Long Branch and New York. It is believed opened to Long Branch and New York. It is believed that there being but few stopping places on the route, the journey can be made in less time than by the Camden and Amboy or Trenton lines. The first engine to Comden was the F. B. Chetwood, and the first one of the Camden and Atlantic Bailroad from Camden to Port Monmouth was the Atsion, which left at three o'clock with a train of freight cars.

DISCOURAGING ENLISTMENTS.—John Kugler and a Mr. Wright were taken into enstedy in this city on Tuesday, by the United States Marshal and a constable of Trenten. They belonged in Frenchtown, N. J., and are charged with expressing Secosh entiments and discouraging enlistments. We have no doubt that the laws of Jersey are as severe for this base crime as for any other illegal act.

A SURGEON APPOINTED.—Dr Joseph Gibbons, of Lancaster, lete assistant weigher in the Custom House, having passed a satisfactory examination before the late Medical Board, has received a commission as assistant surgeon; and will leave shortly for the army. BEAD THE FOLLOWING CAREFULLY.

The difference between fact and fiction, of permanently curing the sick and suffering of their diseases, or advertising to cure, and showing but little or no evidence of cures, can be well appreciated by the anxious inquirers after health, upon attentively reading the following synopsis of certificates from some of the most reliable gentlemen in Philadelphia, who were permanently cured by Prof. BOLLES, 1220 WALNUT street, and after they had been given up as incurable by the most eminent medical men of this city: COVERY OF PROF. C. H. BOLLES. 1220 Or, to jyl4 dical men of this city:

The following is a statement of facts in reference to my condition and astoniehing cure of Epilepsy:

For five years previous to my knowledge of Prof. C. H. Bolles' discovery of the therapeutic administration of Galvanism, Magnetism, and other modifications of Electricity for the cure of all acute and chronic diseases, I had been severely affliced with Epilep'ic Fits; of the most obstinate character, and had abandoned all hopes of ever being cured, as I had for years tried the treatment and received the counsel of the most eminent Medical Men of the State, with a view of obtaining relief if any ceuld be found among the Old Schools; but all my efforts were unavailing, and, therefore, all hopes were abandoned, as I then knew of no greater skill for the cure of obstinate cases than it the Old Schools. About six months ago my mind was turned to investigate the new of obstinate cases than in the Old Schools. About six months ago my mind was turned to investigate the new discovery of Prof. C. H. Bolles, 1220 Walnut street, and, after noticing several certificates of cures which were published, and some from persons with whom I was acquainted and knew them to be reliable men, I was induced to call on the Professor and obtain his opinion of my case. After he had examined me about ten minutes, he frankly informed me that he could cure me, and offered to give me a written warrantee of a complete cure, and, in case of a failure, to charge me nothing. This at first seemed an impossibility; but the frankness and earnestness of the Professor convinced me of his scientific accuracy in the diagnosis of my case. He disclosed all my sufferings and symploms for five years past scientific accuracy in the diagnosis of my case. He dis-closed all my sufferings and symptoms for five years past as well as I knew them myseif. I will here state, for the good of humanity, and especially those suffering as I was, that I am perfectly cured. I further would state that mere than four months have elapsed since my cure, and I have had no symptoms, and, therefore, feel confident that I sm cured. I shall take pleasured in being referred of at any time by any one affering as I was, and any inot at any time by any one suffering as I was, and any in-formation of my condition previous to my cure will be-freely given to any one at 1542 North Thirteenth street, Philadelphia.
