CITY ITEMS.

The rout of the rebels in Western Maryland, and heir prospective arnihilation between the pursuing legions of McClollan and the confronting column, which is sertain to intercept their retreat to Bichmond, has removed the incubus which, for some days past, had weighed heavily upon the channels of trade, especially in the jobbing (epartment. Many country merchants have been debarred from coming to Philadelphia to make their fall purchaser, by the unsettled and threatening state of affairs, who will now, under the sunshine of victory, and the prospect of conquering and honorable peace, resume their accustomed routine of business. Third street is already driving an active trade. The d house of Bush & Kurtz, (formerly Bunn, Balguel, & Co., and more recently T. W. Baker & Co.,) of No. 137 north Third street, who, by the way, adverise their splendid fall stock of goods in another column of our paper this morning, have for some weeks past reending a large share of business, and in a visit to heir warerooms on Saturday, we found the same indicatiens of mercantile life and enterprise that characterized his bouse in happier and more peaceful times. The splenid manner, too, in which their several departments of men's wear, dress goods, silks, shawls, white goods, hosisty, notions, et cefera are stocked, shows that the new firm sa entered upon the fall campaign with confidence, and we think that their present activity may be taken as an index of what the fall trade will be in this city under the impiritg influence of VICTORY!

EXRE & LANDELL'S FALL STOCK .- There te few mercapille establishments in which the ladies of or city and the community in general feel a more practical erest than in the old and respectable house of Messrs. Byre & Landell, corner Fourth and Arch sts One of the collarities of this firm is, that while it devotes its pressof years to the promotion of genuine mercantile diguir, it does not fail to "Keep up with the times," in catering to the wants of the trade that is evoked from season to taton. In their mammoth stock of Fancy and Staple ly goods-embracing everything from a spool of oction to the most queenty brocade—the gay young lady, and the tasteful matron, the plain Friend, and the fashions. ble belle, the old lady who has too far passed the meridian of life to see the necessity for "hoops," and the merician of life to see the necessity for "noops," and the miss in her teens, all can be suited to a nicety, and at Drices which sometimes puzzle their competitors in the trade, being not unfrequently lower than the ordinary B Irish, Indians B F Worth, Indians twholesale rates. In all kinds of Men's and Boys' wear their stock is also very complete, and the same may be said of their White Goods, Linens, Domestic, and House-

JETS TO PROVIDE THE THE HARRISON, I make the consumption of the consumption same degree as that which marks the fluctuations in the more indispensable staples. These must be had by everybody, and the price of them accordingly becomes a matter of vital interest to the masses. Of course, houses here that had the means and sagacity to lay in a heavy took before the rise have great advantages in a juncture fike the present. Among the retail houses in this condition to-day, we may mention that of Mr. Granville B. Haines, No. 1013 Market street, whose advertisements of "Flannels," and "Muslins" of every description, apbear in our Retail Dry Goods column this morning. Mr. Haines was fortunate in securing a capital stock of goods, mainly at prices when they ruled lower than at present, and for extent and variety there are few stocks as good to select from, especially as he is selling on the principle that a nimble sixpence is better than a slow shilling, at rates perceptibly below the usual prices charged for the THE BEST QUALITY NEW FLOUR, -Mr. C. M. Matteon, dealer in fine family groceries, Arch and Nenth streets, has now in store a supply of new Flour, of the finest brands, made from new wheat, to which we

THE ARMY OF PHILADELPHIANS.—The grand trmy of Philadelphians, that has recently hurried to the elence of the State, is worthy of the city that sent forth her best citizens to stand up is her behalf whenever the country demands their services. While the material of this army is of the most splendid character, its equipments are equally superior. Every man was well armed, and nearly every one wore an elegant and comfortable form, procured at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Bookhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestant street,

A SPLENDID STOCK OF GENTS', FURNISHING Goods -In another part of our newspaper to day will be found the advertisement of Mr. George Grant, large applectmen importer, and dealer in Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods of every description, in the large new store, No. 610 Chestnut street. In examining his new Fall Imperiations, a few days ago, we observed a variety of novelties that are sure to become popular, among which his elegant new French and English Scarfs are specially worthy of notice. In Shirts, Drawers, Gloves, Hesiery, and, in short, everything belonging to this denaviment of trade. Mr. Grant's stock is unsurpassed, We may mention, in this connection, the fact that Mr. John F.
