 NW. | N, by E. NE. A TALK WITH A REBEL.-While strolling around the Union Refreshment Salson, a fewevenings since, we unexpectedly heard a shout from the anrrounding throng, " Here come the rebel prisoners Here they come!" Finding it much easier to be borne along with the crowd than to stem a current so irresistible as hundreds of excited people, down we went to the cars, with their rebellious burdens, towards the wharf; for this time impelled by a sympathetic curiosity, quite for this time impelled by a sympathetic curiosity, quite as strong as the most excited and enthusiastic speciators. Proceeding over blocks, huge pebbles, errainer boulders, railway tracks, formidable arrays of crincline, we halted at the car next the engine. The cars having stopped, the swaying multitude paused, the rebels thrust their heads from the windows, and, practically, save the wagging of a few loquacious pea nut and lemonade women, there was a complete "rest," a la militaire.

More conspicuous than his fellow prisoners, was a young man with a finely obiselled face, searching, intelligent black eyes, and evenly developed forehead, leaning carelessly out of the car window, taking a view of the illuminated Yolunteer Befreehment Balcon. Around him and his comrades were the people. Each looked at the other, prisoner and spectators, speechlessly, until the "Southron" asked—

"Nonthron" asked—
"What place is that, sir, lighted up?"
"That," replied a citizen, "is the Yolunteer Refreshment Saloon, where the Union soldiers are fed on their way to and from the war."
Rebel. It is a very comfortable looking establishment, Citizen. Yes, it is. Wouldn't you like to be a Union soldier?

Rebel. I would have no objection for about a helf hour. Citizen Do you belong to a fighting regiment?

Rebel. I belong, sir, to a South Carolina regiment.

At this point the pressing, pushing and crowding became so vicient, from the anxiety of the people to catch every syllable uttered by the intelligent young rebet, that, fortunately, we were very snugly pushed against the car, directly under the rebel, so that we lost not a word After a slight pause, another citizen asked the rebel— Where are you from? Rebel I am a native of South Carolina, sir, but I en-listed from Macon, Georgia, where I was employed as a clerk.

The name of South Carolina startled an enthusiastic Emeralder from his repose, who said: "That's the State we are going te sink."

Rebel. That may be, sir, but there is not a South Carolinian living who will not gladly sink with her.

To which a sharp but vulgar little boy replied: "Now you are only blowing." To which a sharp but vulgar little boy replied: "Now you are only blowing."

Rebel, Gentlemen, I am a prisoner by the mischances of war, for it is one of the misfortunes of war to become a prisoner, and I hope you will not insult me. We are entirely at your meroy, and ask only that you treat us like men. We have been treated well by your soldlers, and though we don't expect citizens to act like soldiers do towards each other, yet we do hope that you will not unprovekedly insult us Uitizen. You shouldn't mind that remark; it was only made by a boy.

Oitizen, Not in Richmond!

Rebel. In Richmond the citizens may have treated the Federal prisoners badly, but I am sure the soldiers could not do it, for, as far as my observation extends—and it has been large—the soldiers on beth sides uniformly treat their prisoners kindly.

Olizen. What division of the rebel army were you in?

Rebel. I was in Gen. A. P. Hill's division, sir, and General Jackson's corps of the Confederate army.

Citizen. Then you were in the fight with Pope?

Bebel. Yes, sir, for nineteen days, we were either following the Federal army or they were following us, so that there was always fighting from the rear alternately.

Oitizen Then you have seen some service? Oitizen Then you have seen some service?

Bebel. I have, sir, since the assault of Fort Sumpter.

After the evacuation of Fort Moultrie, I was there and assisted to make it stronger than it ever was. I have been constantly on the field since, and including the last battle of Manassas, where I was taken prisoner by the 107th made by a boy.

Rebel. Our soldiers always treat your prisoners well, unsylvania Regiment, I have been in fourteen engage Citizen. I should think you were pretty tired of war? Rebel. Well, sir, I left a comfortable home and entered the Confederate service from sincerity of conviction. I have put up with privations to which I have never been accustomed, but I don't complain, sir.

Citizen. What are you fighting for, anyhow?

Rebel. I believe, sir, that I have been fighting for the maintenance of a great principle. I may be wrong, sir, but that conviction has austained me for fourteen months before your batteries. We believe that we are right, and that we will be eventually successful I can't experience. before your batteries. We believe that we are right, and that we will be eventually successful. I can't exactly define the nature of the principle for which we are contending. The statemen of both sections of our country have not been able to come to a satisfactory conclusion about it. If they had, we should not have been at war. Citizen. What it you are not successful?

Bebel. Then I don't care what becomes of me; but I don't want then ever to see South Carolina again. I am sorry that we Americans are fighting against each other. I wouldn't care the least, if our enemies were English. Citizen. Why, one half of your soldiers, at least, have con't know any who have gene otherwiss. There is one of our men in the car with me, who told at Harrisburg, that he was forced into the Confecerate service; and I say to you, in his hearing, that he lies. I have heard your men say the same, when they were taken prisoners, but I believed it to be all stuff. Any soldier, who would say such a thing on either side, is unworthy to bear a mushel in any cause; he is a liar and a coward.

Citizen. We hear that your army have soarcely anything to eat, and have no shoes. Citizen. We hear that your army have scarcely anything to eat, and have no shoes.

Rebel. So far as my observation goes, that is not true.

When we have been on long, quick marches, for which some of our generals are famous, we may have suffered some, being far away from our supplies, but that such was the regular condition of the Confederate armies, I believe to be false Delieve to be false

The citizen who had been interrogating the rebel prisoner here retired, and his place, and somebody else's place were filled with a "stalwart boy" from Erin, who, lonbtiess, felt it aduty to carry on the conversation with the prisoner. He began with "Say, I say, did yees see the Saxti-nointh, sir, in your trave s?" Bebel "The what, sir?" Erin. "The Saxty-nointh—did yees niver hear of the

Bys?''
Rebel. I don't know what you mean—I am not accusnointh.

Rebel I never heard of them, but if it will afford you any gratification, I can tell you that I heard there were a good many Irish in the Federal forces, but they never gave us a chance to see their faces.

Erin. You mane that while they were marching along, not eispectin' an enemy, you poored into their rare from yer masked batteries.

Rebel. Februs want to take to you sir. In my country, a dog like you, if he had the courage at all to bark, would soon get his ears cropped.

Olitzen. What do you do with the Irish who are in your armise? Citizen. What do you do with the Irish who are in your armies?

Rebel. We have no faith in either Irish or Dutch, and therefore never put them in the field. They are used for garrison duty, where there is little probability of attack.

The conversation between the parties was here broken by the guards, preparing to conduct the prisoners to the hoat for Fort Delaware. We noted them as we best could as they walked along, and were struck with the great variety of attire of soldiers of the same regiment. There was a remarkable identity, however, in their unclean appearance. Not knowing to the contrary, a stranger might have supposed that they had been on a campaign to the great African Desert, where water, from its scarcity, is the traveller's most precious boon.

RETURNING FROM THE SEAT OF WAR. Not a few families will be rejoiced to learn the recent orders of the Governor, in regard to the return of the different militia regiments to this city. Nota few hearts will be gladdened, and not a few eyes will shed that of joy, at the greatings of those who, but recently, departed to defend the firesides which they loved. Wives, sixters, and mothers; fathers, husbands, and brothers; lovers and awaethearts. all will exchange slud greetings, and and are the risk and brothers; lovers and such are ethers; all will exchange glad greetings, and turn from and retrospect to joyous anticlastion. Too much credit cannot be given to those who have gone forth, at the risk of exposure and bloodshed, to protect the homes where they were born and cherished. Ve are sure that all will rejoice together that bloodshed has been spared, and the havor of battle syeried. Bal-lot-box stuffers, who hoped to win the election by fraud, will doubtless be absorbed in contemplation of the Go-vernor's orders, and to those interested it will be a wel-cume piece of news that the voting population will not be esterially diminished. The few scions of "Old Seco among us will probably mourn that our gallant new troops were not demolished by "Stonewall," and regret that there are still less sympathizers with them in Harrisburg than in Maryland. Meanwhile, as hands are clasped in meeting, brave and loving hearts will bless each other THE CORN EXCHANGE REGIMENT, COLOPEL PREVOST.—The family of Octonel Prevost, residing in this city, received a despatch on Sunday, stating that the Octonel would be home in a day or so, having received a severe, but not a daugerous, wound in the battle near Sharpsburg. FIRE. On the Gray's Ferry road, a short distance below the United States arsenal, the burn-ing of a part of a row of three-story dwelling-houses was ing of a part of a row of three-story dwelling-houses was the occasion, yesterday morning, of an alarm of fire. Peter Watson occupied the premises—manufacturer of coarse linen bagging, known as "burlapa." The fire is believed to have been accidental, having originated in the hackling department. The large building in the rear was saved, though the engine room and the finishing-room were not. Fifteen bundred dollars is the estimate of Mr. Watson's loss in stock, machinery, &c.; insured in the Royal, of Liverpool, and Lamar, of New York, companies. CONSUMPTION and the surprise for the second second Have you a Cough? Have you Sore Throat? Have you any of the premonitory symptoms of that most fatal lisease, Consumption ? Those who should be warned by these symptoms gene rally think lightly of them until it is too late. From this fact, perhaps more than any other, arises the sad prevalence and fatality of a disease which sweeps to the grave at least one-sixth of Death's victims.

DR. WISHART'S PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL. FATURE'S GREAT REMEDY FOR ALL DISEASES OF

What are its symptoms?

It usually begins with a short, dry cough, which soon secomes habitual, but for some time nothing is raised except a frothy mucus. The breathing is somewhat difficult, and upon slight exercise much hurried. A sense afflicted with loss of appetite, great languor, indolence and dejection of spirits; and may continue in this state for a considerable length of time, but is very readily affected by slight exposure or fatigue. If these occur, the cough becomes more troublesome, and is attended with spectoration, which is most copious and free very early in the morning. It is sometimes streaked with blocd. At this stage night-sweats usually set in, and in some ases a profuse bleeding of the lungs may also occur. Pain in some part of the chest is felt, and often a diffionly of lying upon one or the other side, without severe fits of coughing or a sense of fullness or suffication, is experienced. The pulse becomes full, hard, and frequent.

fast hastening to its close. Consumption has been and can be cured by the use o my Tar Cordial, even in apparently hopeless cases. This omplete evidence of its truth. Space will not admit of nonials to its value, which I have been and am receiving from men and women of unquestionable worth and reputation. I have had a number of these certificates printed in circular form, which I will send you free on applica tion. Whether you now determine to try the medicine of not, send for the circular. After years of study and experiment, I offer this medicine, believing it to be the best remedy for all relimonary and bronchial diseases. If the hectic flush tinges the cheeks, and the dire malady is on cannot be benefited by the use of the Tar Cordial, I believe you are beyond all earthly aid. Yet if there are better curative agents, I carnestly advise their use. The est remedies, the best care, are needed by those afflicted with this disease. Because I believe this to be the best, I ask you to try it. Many, not only of the people, but physicians of every chool and practice, are daily asking me, "What is the principle or cause of your great success in the treatment of Pulmonary Consumption ?" My answer is this:

The invigoration of the digestive organs—the strengthening of the debilitated system—the purification and ennt of the blood, must expel from the system the corruption which scrofuls breeds. While this is effected by the powerful alterative (changing from disease to health) properties of the Tar Cordial, its healing and reand restoring a healthful tendency. Let this two-fold power, the healing and the strengthening, continue to act in conjunction with Nature's constant recuperative tendency, and the patient is saved, if he has not too long de-laved a resort to the means of cure. The Pine Tree Tar Cordial will cure Coughs, Sore Throat and Breast, Bronchitis, Asthma, Cropp, Hooping Cough, Diptheria, and is also an excellent remedy fo disesses of the kidneys, and female complaints. A POSITIVE CURE FOR

Sold by Druggists and Storekeepers generally.

DYSPEPSIA. THE GREAT AMERICAN

DYSPEPSIA PILL. A Cure warranted for $1, or the money re-

WHAT IS DYSPERSIA? Dyspepsia has the following symptoms: 1st. A constant pain or uneasiness at the pit of the stomack, which is caused by a permanent contraction of the stomach upon undigested food. It generally begins immediately, or a short time after eating; is often very severe and obstinate. 2d. Flatulence and Acidity.—These symptoms arise from the indigestion of food, which ferments instead of digesting.

8d. Costiveness and Loss of Appetite. These symp. toms are the effects of the unnatural condition of food in the stomach, and the want of pure bile and gastrio juice. The stomach is often painfully distended by wind; the appetite is sometimes voracious. 4th. Gloom and Depression of Spirits.—This state unfits many for the enjoyment of life, and is caused by the impure blood furnished by imperfect digestion. In this stage of the disease many persons commit suicide. There is a constant foreboding of evil, and an indifference and positive inability to perform the offices of life. 5th. Diarrhæa.—After being at first costive, the sufferer is afflicted with diarrhosa, which is owing to a diseased condition of the bowels, produced by the undigested food, which is evacuated in the same condition as when eaten, and, of course, gives no strength to the 6th. Pains in all parts of the system arise from the action of impure blood upon the nerves. They are felt hiefly in the head, sides, and breast, and in the exfremities. In many cases there is an uneasiness in the throat, with a sense of choking or suffocation. The mouth is often clammy, with a bad taste and furred

7th. Consumptive Symptoms and Palpitation of the Heart.-Many persons pronounced as having these diseases have, in fact, nothing but Dyspepsia, the lung and heart disease being only symptoms. 8th. Cough.—This is a very frequent symptom of Dyspepsis, and leads very often into confirmed consumpthe west and the relative to the person in the

9th. Want of Sleep .- A very distressing symptom, resulting often in mental derangement. tient is affected painfully by cold and heat, which is owing to unnatural dryness of skin, and the skin is often affected by eruptions and tetters. The gloomy dyspeptic avoids society as much as possible. 11th. Vomiting.—A frequent and distressing symptom. It relieves the pain, but emaclates and wears out the astient.

12th. Disziness, dimness of vision, headache, and staggering in walking.—These are very alarming symptoms, which are speedily removed by our medicine, but if neglected, are quickly followed by numbness and gudden death. 18th. It is impossible for us to give all the symptoms of Dyspepsia in so small a space, but the above are considered sufficient—if we add that the patient loses his memory and attention to surrounding objects, and frequently becomes morose and sour in disposition. We should say, however, that pains in the joints and stiffness of the limbs, which go by the name of rheumatism and neuralgia, are very often produced by Dyspepsia. Also, a hardness of the muscles of the abdomen, which become contracted and hard; and in some cases the belly sinks, instead of being gently prominent. In cases of general debility, use WISHART'S

BEMARKABLE CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16, 1862.

I cheerfully make the following statement of facts concerning my own astonishing cure, which was to me as life from the dead:

About eighteen months ago I took a severe cold, which seemed to locate on my chest and lungs, and since that time I have been afflicted with consumptive tendencies, and most of the time my condition has been truly alarming. Especially for one year, my physicians mostly and seemed to locate on-my chest and lungs, and since that time I have been afflicted with consumptive teadencies, and most of the time my condition has been truly alarming. Especially for one year, my physicians, myself and friends, had abandoned all hope of my recovery. No laaguage can describe my sufferings, which annoyed me both day and night. No effort on my part for acure has been omitted, for I employed, from the commencement of my sickness, the most eminent medical men of the State, and took their remedies faithfully, ustil they frankly toll me that I had consumption, and could not be cured. Previous to this announcement by my physicians. I had fraquently seen Professor Bolles' card in The Press, and a short time previous to my applying to him I chanced to observe several certificates, and some which excited my mind to call on him for advice, about ten days ago. I told the Professor that I had no money to throw away, and did not wish to be treated uniess he could cure me; and the frankly told me that he did not wish to treat me unless he could cure me, and said he would decide that fact in twenty minutes; and proceeded to examine, and in less than fifteen minutes he said he could cure me, and offered to warrant a perfect cure, and charge me nothing if he failed. Now, I am willing to say, for the benefit of others suffering from the same difficulties; that I have only received seven applications of electricity, and am a well man. Thad anticipated that I should be shocked with electricity, but, on the contrarry, he gave me no shocks. The whole treatment, from the beginning, was very pleasant and agreeable. I have heard many epeak of the treatment, who have been cured. All, of one accord, seem pleased with the agreeable sensation. There seems no confusion or gaess work about his treatment or disgnosts of disease. He proceeds upon fixed principles, and according to laws well understood by himself, and there is good evidence of their infallibility, from the fact that he is generally successful, and can, with per by Professor B.'s system, to cure nearly all cases which they abandon as incurable. I have watched the success of Professor B.'s treatment carefully, and I have come to the conclusion that the one half of his wonderful success has not been told, although thousands speak in nearly the language that I do. PURE COD-LIVER OIL. The repugnance of most patients to COD-LIVER OIL, and the inability of many to take it at all, has induced various forms of disguise for its administration that are familiar to the Medical Profession. Some of them answer in special cases, but more often the vehicle neutralizes the usual effect of the Oil, proving quite as unpalatable and of less therapeutic value. The repugnance, nauses, &c., to invalids, induced by disgust of the Oil, is entirely obviated by the use of our CAPSULES. COD-LIVER OIL CAPSULES have been much used lately in Europe, the experience there of the good relately in Europe, the experience there of the good re-sults from their use in both hospital and private practice, saide from the naturally suggested advantages, are suf-ficient to warrant our claiming the virtues we do for nem, feeling assured their use will result in benefit and eserved favor.
