WIND. SSW. | N by E. N by E. N by E. RETROSPECTIVE. - Alone in our sanctum, with an hour or two of leisure at our disposal, our thoughts naturally revert to the one great subject of ab sorbing interest, the existing war. From speculating upon its origin and probable duration we turn to its checkered and varied character, and to the many scenes and incidents it has engendered in this city. Among these, the occurrences of the past few weeks pass rapidly in view before us, and we have determined to notice the briefly, and, at the same time, perform our humble share as a journalist in making up a record of the times. Amid the profound calm and quietness that at present pervades every part of our city, it is hard to realize the scenes of excitement and bustle witnessed in our midst but little more than a fortnight ago. At that time, events of the greest and most momentous character were in progress. involving in their issue our material interests and pros-pority, and the lives and well being of thousands of our neighbors, friends, and brothers. The campaign in Mayland had commenced. Bloody and desperate bat-tles were to be fought with a numerous and well disrecent victories and successes
Upon its result depended not only the safety of Washington and Baltimore but the invasion of the free States, defeated, no matter what the sacrifice or cost. The Go iplined foe, led by experienced generals, animated by a condish spirit of malignity and revenge, and flushed with and, is '1t' too much to say, most probably our very ex"istènce as a nation ? for bobind all of these had the termination been unfortunate to our arms, lurked the ghost of foreign intervention, at once the bugbear of the timid and credulous, and the subject of deep solicitude to these of cooler blood and steadier nerve. The question of the defence of the southern border of our State also occupied the attention of our propile. The fast that an invasion defence of the southern corder of our State also occupied the attention of our people. The fast that an invasion into our limits had been projected was well known and was most probably about to be attempted. The crisis admitted of no delay. The inviciability of our soil it was determined must be maintained at all hazards, and the efforts of those who sought to render the fair fields of our Commonwealth a wilderness and a waste must be defeated, no matter what the secrification cost. The Gadetested, no matter what the sacrines or cost. The Government called for troops. How that call was responded to here among us is a matter of but yesterday, and is fresh in the recollection of all. Squads, companies, and regiments sprung into existence as if by magic, and in a few hours were on the way to the scene of threatened danger. The patriotism of our people really seemed to have no Large manufactories were closed at great pecuniary loss to the preprietors, to allow their employees to enter the ranks. Judges, lawyers, Congressmen, and miniters, laid aside the dignities of their positions without hesitation for the same purpose; purse-strings were un-locsed, and whole companies armed and equipped at pri-vate expense, and the city that has already furnished forty thousand men for the grand army of the Union, soon had twenty thousand (20,000) more on the march to repel invasion, with a reserve of double that number ready to go should any emergency require their services.

History, with her long record of illustrious events, and heroic, and self sacrificing exertions, has surely none more allustrious, more heroic, are none-mill specificing than more illustrious, more heroic, or more self-sacrificing than this. The spirit of the fathers has descended to the children, and the heritage incites them to the same noble and imperialisable deeds. In view of all these circum stances, it was but natural that great animation and excitement should be visible on every side that our city should assume the appearance of a vast camp—our streets resund with the music of the fife and drum, and the heavy tread of armed men—that the vicinity of the newspaper offices should be bronged by crowds eager to glean the latest items of in telligence from the scene of strife, or that the various de-pots of trains for the interior of the State, should con-stantly be filled by the wives, sisters, and other relatives and friends of those who thus heatily responded to the call to arms, waiting to wish them good bye, and a God speed upon their journey. It was but the popular expression of loysly to the Government, and affection for the brave men who were willing to risk their lives in its defence, and as such is worthy of all honor and respect. Nor'is it a matter of worder that all this should suldenly have changed to a feeling of prids and exultation when the news of the great victory, won by the indomitable bravery of our army, under McClellan, near Mcddelown, was first proclaimed, for the stake was large and the chances desperate, in view of the fact that the enemy had the choice of position, and that our troops were, to a large extent, raw and undisciplined levies, many of them from this locality. Then succeeded an intense longing for further news of the same character, as the belief was general that more desperate and severe battles were yet to be fought before the object of the campaign could be This desire happily was soon gratified, for in quick succession followed the victories of Pharpsburg and Antietam, ending with the grand flusic of the inglorious tietam, ending with the grand finale of the inglorious scamper of Jeff's rag-tag and bobtail chivalry (Haaven save the mank!) at double-quick across the Potomac. Then it was that the popular joy became intensified. Salutes were fired, flags thrown to the breeze, congratulations exchanged, with any amount of cheering and shouting, and every other manifestation of popular enthusiasm and salisfaction. But all this is passed and gone forever, for the cause has ceased to exist. Our gallant army is resting and recaperating on the north bank of the Potomac, after their brilliant but arduous achievements. The State troops have mostly returned to their homes; business is again briskly resumed, and were it not for the drum and fife at the recruiting stations, and occasional arrivals of the gallant fellows wounded in the recept battles, we would have little to remind us of the war that is still raging so flercely and remind us of the war that is still raging so flercely and destructively. Of course, there are those among us who mourn the loss of a sou, brother, or some other near and dear one, and who will not so readily forget this eventful period, but the active sympathies of kind triends are period, but the active sympathus of sind tritids are everywhere enlisted in their behalf, and we hope they may be seen enabled to view with calmness and resignation the great calamity that has evertaken them.

The excitement upon the fall of Fort Sumpter was succeeded by that attendant upon the battle of Bull Bun, and this in turn by the capture of Fort Donelson, and the battles before Richmond, and various others. Each of these forms an epoch in the history of our city, that the future historian will take pleasure in dwelling upon and describing. God grant that the next may result from the overthrow of the armies of the Confede racy, and the ending, forever, of this wicked and infa-mous rebellion!

OLD HOMESTEAD TONIO. They act with the power of a medicine, and are taken by old or young with the pleasure of a beverage. The sale of these bitters was at first confined to our extreme Southern cities, but they are now becoming well known throughout the world, and are recommended with the most unbounded confidence, for all complaints originating from a disorganized or diseased stomach-such as Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Nervous Affections, Loss of Appetite, Intermittent Fevers, Diarrhoa Sour Stomach, Headache, Fever and Ague, Weakness, de. As a morning Appetizer, and after dinner tonic, they are held in high estimation, and should be found upon the sideboard of every family. They are also much relied upon in the Tropics for

Scrofula, Bheumatism, and dropsy. IMPORTANT CERTIFICATE. " ROCHESTER, December 28th, 1861. " Mesers. P. H. DRAKE & Co.—GENTLEMEN: I have been a great spiferer from Dyspepsia for three or four years. I have tried many, if not all, the remedies recommended for its cure. Instead of relief, I became worse, had to abandon my profession, and suffered greatly from everything I ate. My mind was much affected. depressed and gloomy. About three months ago I tried the Plantation Bitters. They almost immedistely benefited me. I continued their use, and to my great joy, I am nearly a well man. I have recommended them in several cases, and as far as I know, always with signal benefit. I am, very respectfully yours. " Bev. J. S. CATHORN."

S - T - 1860 - X. That you may be your own judge of the efficacy of these celebrated Bitters, we submit a partial formula of the articles of which they are composed. ST. CROIX RUM. The tonic properties of pure St. Croix Rum are well nd it has long been recomme cians. It is manufactured from the Sugar Cane Plant, and that we use is selected with great care from the estates of a few planters in the interior of that island. CALISAYA, OR KING'S BARK, was unknown to civilization until the middle of the seventeenth century. The natives of Peru are generally supposed to have been long previously acquainted with its most wonderful medicinal qualities. Humboldt makes favorable mention of the febrifuge qualities of this article as an antidoce to Fever and Agus, Intermittent and Malarious Fevers, in his extensive South American The Countess, wife of the Viceroy of Peru, having in her own person experienced the beneficial effects of the bark, is said, on her return to Spain, in the year 1640, to have first introduced this remedy into Europe. After its introduction it was distributed and sold by the Josuits, who are said to have obtained for it the enormous sum of its weight in silver. From this circumstance it was called JESUIT'S POWDER, a title which it retained for many years. In 1658, we are told that an Englishman by the name of Sir John Talbot employed it with great success in France, in the treatment of Fever and Ague, Dyspesia, Nervous Affections, 11088 of Appetite, Weakness and Debility, Palpitation of the Heart, Diarrhosa, &c., &c., under the name of English Powders; at length, in the pear 1679, he sold the secret of its origin and preparation to Louis XIV., by whom it was divulged. It is now a standard remedy, and is employed in the preparation of the Plantation Bitters.

TWO MORE OBSTINATE CASES CURED.

Philadelitha, Sept 23, 1961.

About five years age, my general health began to fall, although at first I did not feel much alarmed, but my sufferings at times were severe. I gradually became emaciated, and at it nes nearly lost my appoints, and what I ale produced great distress, and the physicians who treated me did not seem to understand my disease from pathological symptoms. At times, I had great difficulty of bree hing; some palpitation of the heart; often great trembling of the limbs; great aversion to business and to company. At times, very gloomy; great inability to collect my thoughts vigorewals on any subject; loss of memory at times; suffered much from lumbago, swimming of the head; suffered much from apnelionalca of insanity, as my physicians told me that I had symptoms of fits. However, after trying the old-school remedies for many years, and being informed that I could not be cured, I was induced, by reading several certificates in The Press and other papers, to converse with the persons cured, and after I had received good evidence from investigations of this kind, I immediately applied to Professor Bolles, 1220 Walnut street Professor B. located my disease in the pelvic visers in thicty minutes after I entered his office. He frankly informed me that he could cure me of all my difficulties in ten days, and he could oure me of all my difficulties in ten days, and I am willing to acknowledge that I was perfectly cared in seven treatments of about ten minutes each; and to me this is most astonishing, for I had abandoned nearly all hopes of ever being any better. In answor to my convictions of duty to suffering humanity, I have made the above statement of facts in relation to my own wonderful cure, and I believe it permanent, for sufficient time has evapsed for a return; therefore, I feel certain I shall take pleasure in being referred to by any person or persons who may be application as I was

WILLIAM MORGAN, No. 401 Spruce street. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18, 1863. T have been reverely afflicted with dyspipela and disease of my throat and lungs for more than three years, and at times was unable to attend to business. During the whole time, I have suffered from obstants constigation, and my afforts with medical agents produced no change. I have not reglected to employ the bestynedi-cal skill in this city, and have attended to their pre-scriptions faithfully for the past three years, and they had all failed to do me any permanent good. At a tima-when I had nearly abandoned all hopes of being cured, I was induced to call on Professor Bolles, at 1220 Walnut street, and place invest modes have the statement of the contract. street, and place myrelf under his treatment, and in a short time I was perfectly cured. I have seen others who have been cured of most obstinate disease. From what I personally know of Professor B.'s discovery in applying Magnetism, and other modifications of Elec-ricity. I can cheerfully recommend his mode of treatment to all invalids. I have sent some persons there who have been cured, and, therefore, I speak from a knowledge of the treatment. OHARLESH. GRIGG,

He has established himself for life in this city, and his success in treating the sick is a sufficient guaranty very in the use of Electricity as a reliable therapeutic agent.

N. B.—It will be well for the diseased to recollect that

Prof. B. has given a word of caution in his pamphlet, to guard them against trusting their health in the bands of guart mean against trasting their health in the bands of those in this city claiming to treat diseases according to his discovery. This caution may seem severe on those using Electricity at hazard, but it is the severity of truth, and designed for the good of humanity. See ad-vertisement in shother column.
