The doctrical sermon, prepared by Dr. Winter, was The doctrinal sermon, prepared by Dr. Winter, was delivered by that gentleman at the time appointed—eleven o'clock—after the usual services of singing and prayer. The text was from the 5th verse of the 19th chapter of the Bevelations: "Hallelujah! for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth." The presoner remarked that the field before us assumes the sublime fundamental truth that there is a God, worthy of all honor, adoration, and confidence. The Bible opens with no (sciaration, no proof that God exists—that is assumed as evident and undeniable. Those minds of the past which labored to demonstrate His existence were, doubtless, mighty ones, but can scarcely be e were, doubtless, mighty ones, but can scarcely be said to have added greatly to man's knowledge in this respect. The ignorant Greenlander, from the very sight of his boat, and from a knowledge of the manner in which it answered his purpose, argued a Oreator, and an intelligent one God's attributes are inscribed on all intelligent one God's attributes are insorted on all physical nature from the system of suns to the most that clings to the crumbling ruin, but most of all upon man, the greatest, the best of His works. The preacher's subject, however, was the government of God. He is, but does He govern? The fatalist ascribes the motions of the wind to the influence of inevitable destiny, and meets the faith of the believer with subtle metaphysical jargon. The athlest most blindly denies of the existence of Creator and Governor, and the delst buings forth a gracely more accentable tenet. But the the existence of Creator and Governor, and the delat brings forth a rearcely more acceptable tenet. But the hearts of all men are in God's hands, and the can turn them as he wills. Growth, revolution, decay, extinction—there mutations, which the philosophy of the world ascribes to the blind operations of chance, are but actions of those laws of God which rule the universe. The intervention of the Almighty, either in overturning or upbuilding, is evident throughout all history. Upon individual minds and hearts His influence is felt, in restraining them from evil, impelling them to good. God made man to be ruled by law—net the law of animal life, growth, decay, instinct, and reason alone, but ual life, growth, decay, instinct, and reason alone, but he law of His own will, addressed to his moral nature. The subject presented is no barren speculation, for reason and conscience are both appealed to, and finally the power which thus addresses them is given into the hands of our divine Mediator, the God-man, Jesus both in the pulpit. Dr. Dickinson offered a fervent closing prayec.

We yesterday gave a very brief sketch of the history of the Lower Dublin Baptist Church, from which the Philadolphia Baptist As cotation sprang We are enabled, through the kindness of Horatio Gates Jones, of Roxborough, clerk of the association, to give a few more details, which may not prove uninteresting to some of our readers. The minutes of this asseciation, from 1707 to 1807, being the first hundred years of its existence, uninteresting as such tatis ics may appear to the superficial interesting as such tatts its may appear to the superficial observer, de contain much that is not carelessly to be passed over. The century sermon, delivered at the opening of the association in Philadelphia, October 6th, 1807, by Samuel Jones, D. D., Pastor of the Baptist Church in Lower Dublin, rehearses events very graphically. All the mettings seem to have been kept up with fervor, and one, on October 25th, 1784, is dottoeable as having been held at survise. The "Ocutury Minutes" gives 1687 as the year of the organization of the church, but the church records state most positively that the date is January, 1688. The exact situation, it will be observed, was about eleven miles northwest from the State House, and the name was at first Pemmepska, Pennepsk, or Pennypack, so called from a small neighbring stream. In 1794 the name of Lower Dublin was adopted The first germ of the organization may be referred to the arrival of a few persons out of Radnorthre, Wales, from the Parlsber of Llanddowi and Santmei. As early as 1684, Rev. Thos. Dungan, from Rhode Island, had indeed gathered a small Baptist church at Coldstream, Bucks county, but this becoming extinct in 1702, four years after the death of the pastor, was merged into the Pen nepeck. The latter was instituted through the instrumentality of Rev. Elias Keach, who had been baptized by Dungan. Subsequently, as the church content and the latest and the semination of the content o the meetings seem to have been kept up with fervor, and Dungan. Subsequently, as the church increased in numbungan. Subsequency, as the curron increases in unabers and in influence, general meetings were appointed twice a year, in May and in October. On December 16th, 1698, in Philadelphia, the famous John Holme, who had been baptized in Great Britain, met with eight or nine others, in a house in Barbadoes Lot, northwest corner of Second and Chestnut streets, and coalesed into a church. With more or less success the various organizations have continued, but the Lower Dublin is now the only one of the original bodies connected with the Philadelphia Bap-AFTERNOON SESSION.

The house was better filled than in the morning, and the time occupied by the reading of letters until four o'clock. We have given above a list of those read o'clock. We have given above a list of those read throughout the day.

Bev. Mr. J. B. Simmons then occupied the attention of the congregation with some remarks in regard to foreign missions. He referred to the state of things at home and abroad, and adverted to the effect of the present difficulties upon public charities. The speaker said we had not honored God. as we should, but given the praise rather to man, and now God was angry with the nation, and determined to receive the glore, which was his due. to man, and now dood was angry which was his due.

Bev. J. H. Castle, in continuance of these remarks, and the complaints of many, that the progress had been slow of our work at home. In navy yards, in fortresses, and foundries hands are said not to have worked as busily as might have been; but the nation found when the time for action came that the army was up to the mark. So it is with our foreign missions. Slow up to the mark. So it is with our loveign missions. Slow preparation is necessary to quiet progress. and the day will come when prophecy will be fulfilled in its very widest interpretation. Modern missions are necessarily slow in the work of development; but with the educa-tion of the minds and hearts of each new generation new and more important missionary results must ensue.
On application by Dr. Kennard, the First Baptist Church, Wilmington, and the Mineraville church were admitted into the Association. The report of the committee of the St. Clair and Tamaqua churches said that these were extinct, and by the action of the Society they was convenity to longer connected therewith. are consequently no longer connected therewith.

In view of the wonderful fulfilment of prophecy, a the conversion of the heathen in the connection with the use of means and efforts, and in answer to prayer; and in view of repeated resolutions that all the m of all our churches be recommended to manifest their resolutions, we lament over the remiseness of others, who "say and do not," and pray God to spare his unfruitful trees, and cause his present digging about their roots to make them more fruitful. 2. In view of the fact that the Missionary Union has only its agents in America, we urge upon the pastors of our churches to do the necessary agency work; and if the attention of brethren is diverted from the work by the existing rebellion, we recommend to them to call to their aid the noble women who have labored so faithfully auccessfully the present year, and to seek out others pray for and love missions in churches which have delinquent, and request them to collect for this The report of the Committee on the State of the Country next engaged the earnest attention of the audience, and being carried and adopted, we present them as they stand. This committee was composed of J. Wheaton Smith, D. D., chairman, Rev. J. H. Castle, and S. W. C. ozer, Esq.

Resolved, That as members of this association, we red, That in the trials through which we are pissing as a nation, we recognize the guidance of the Almighty, and see not dimly the purpose of his love to purify the fourtains of our national life, and develop in righteousness the elements of our national prosperity.

Resolved, That, as Christian citizens of this Republic, it is our houndary duty to account the contract of the resolved. t is our bounden duty to renounce all sympathy wit in, to rebuke all complicity with evil, and cherish a imple, cheerful confidence in Him whose omnipotence flowed through a stripling's arm and sank into the fore-head of the Philistine.

Resolved, That in pursuance of this spirit, we hall declaring freedom on the first day of January next to the Resolved. That in the name of liberty, which we love: in the name of peace, which we would make enduring in the name of humanity and of religion, whose kindred hopes are blended, we protest against any compromise lion; and for the maintenance of the war on with rebellion; and for the maintenance of the war on such a basis, whether for a longer or a shorter period, we pledge, in addition to our prayers, our "lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the President and his advisers, with assurances of the honor in which, as Christians, we hold them, and with our solemn entreaty that no one of them will, in the discharge of duties however faithful for his country, neglect the interests of his own personal salvation. EVENING SESSION. The meeting opened at 7% o'clock with prayer by the Rev Mr. Hyde, of New Jersey, after which a short and comprehensive address by J. P. Crozer, Esq. The Rev. R. J. Wilson then commenced by remarking that Lerd Bacon once said that knowledge is power, and so it is. Steam and the telegraph, through their influence, have connected States and countries. Knowledge also exerts an intellectual influence over the nations. Behold this land in its inflancy, and the vast change observable in it at present, and the immonse moral influence now wielded by America over the world. Not because she is a free nation only, but because the coange observable in it at present, and the immones moral influence now wielded by America over the world. Not because she is a free nation only, but because the masses are civilized, and knowledge is allowed to scatter its benefits all around. This it is which causes the American fiag to be respected throughout the world. Compared with Divine wisdom, however, the human comprehension must sink into insignificance. To some extent we are moulded by our readings; thus tastes are cultivated, thus habits are formed. What is the mission of the Church? Is it not to save and bless mankind? Is it not our desire, in times of trouble like the present, to guide a right the youthful mind? Among the issues of this Society, the most important in the speaker's opinion were its biographical works. These books should be strewn broadcast over the land. We need in our churches and congregations an ictenser humanity. The minister or any Christian who turns away from the bleeding or crippled form turns away from the Master. We should manifest His spirit in going about doing good, in the camp, in the hospital, on the battle-field, in the stricken ihome, and to deserted and despaining relatives. And there are many who will not come to us, so that we must go to them.

The speaker then adverted to our present troubles, and The speaker then adverted to our present troubles, and evidenced the result of the non-education of the South in augmentic them, and of the efficacy of the wide distribution through it of religious and educational books in preserving the Union when rebellion is once fairly crushed. As sure as the sun sinks in darkness to rise in light, so surely will rebellion and anarchy disappear, and peace shed around renewed rays of glory.

Rev. J. M. Cooper, of the Berean Church, West Phitadelphia, referred in his opening remarks to the iron-clad ship, the New Ironsides, and drew an apt comparison between her, with her ingenious contrivances for saving seamen who might be swept overboard, John A. and the Educational and Publication Societies, with their meens of offering rescue to the thousands who need it. We speak of the omnipotence of the press, and who indeed can limit its power? It is magical and who indeed can limit its power? It is maricalchallenging not by its external aspect, its grand proportions, but by that wondrous power by which it binds and unites the nations of the globs. This power of the press moulds the affections of the soul, and touches the heart, the intellect, and the will. A [power which comes to the sinner, and turns the scale of decisien; a power which comes to the suffering child of God, which enters into the lonety log-house and the meunitain home; a power which is universal and universally effective. Such is the power of the press, and such is the power which appeals most fervently to American Baptists for support.
This denomination loves civil liberty. Since the Bevolution, American Baptists have increased from sixty or seventy thousand to a million, and those of the North Intion, American Baptists have increased from sixty or seventy thousand to a million, and those of the North are bearing a most peculiar part in the ultimate success of those institutions which are now standing their severest trials. The speaker believed that we should issue successfully from the the present contest. The Baptists number to day one-fourth of the men and wemen of these Northern States. They should demand a literature that shall be free, full of spiritual life, and which will reach alike to the slaveholder and the slave. Rev. Mr. Cooper was reculiarly interesting, and no hasty sketch can do justice to his poetry of thaught, beauty of wording, and eloquence of action and delivers. Bev. Mr. Henson, with a modest preface which his after discourse showed was altogether uncalled for, said that he did not deem it necessary to insult either the intelligence or liberality of his audience to press upon them the importance of the work which lay before them. The time has been when, if any one rose to plead the cause of ministerial agency, as the speaker did to-night, he would be requested to sit down.

one rose to plead the cause of ministerial agency, as the speaker did to-night, he would be requested to sit down. It is true that, other things being equal, he will be most successful in the Master's cause whose intellectual qualifications are the highest. Several historical alusions were adduced in evidence of this. Some seem to think profound learning and profound piety are incompatible, but history proves the reverse. Not ignorant enthusiasics, but those whose minds have been educated and disciplined have been the great lights of the most of the property of the speakers. Argunta funisterial educated and disciplined have been the great lights of the world. There has been a prejudice against ministerial education, because those thus educated have not always reached the point which was expected of them. It must bernembered, however, that education cannot furnish brains. The allusion to the ludicrous manner in which some fidgeling parsons display their learning was wittly given, and produced very audible smiles. The speaker closed with an estress appeal for help for those in need of these educational advantages, and Rev. Mr. Dyerfollowed with a similar utgent but short exhortation followed with a similar urgent but short exhortation. The eloquence of the Baptist pulpit has not often been better represented than on last evening, and the rapt at tention of the large audience was the best evidence of it and it was pleasing to observe a preponderance of the fair sex-present.

U. S. GENERAL HOSPITAL, WEST O. S. GENERAL HOSPITAL, WEST PHILADELPHIA—FLAG RAISING YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.—One of the largest and best institutions of its kind, in this city, is that known as the "U.S. General Hospital," situated near Forty-fifth and Pine streets, West Philadelphia, in charge of Surgeon I I. Hayes, the well-known Artic explorer, and distinguished physician. Yesterday afternoon a large concourse of ladies and gentlemen assembled to witness most inteladies and gentlemen assembled to witness most interesting ceremonies in raising a beautiful American garrison flag presented to the hospital by the merchants of Philadelphia. Although the heat of the afternoon was most oppressive and unseasonable, the best of spirits prevailed among the assemblage, and the whole affair passed off satisfactorily to every one present. The ladies and gentlemen began to assemble at an early hour in the afternoon, and continued to arrive, on foot and in every description of vehicles, until about four o'clock, and it was pleasing to observe a preponderance of the fair sex-present.

About three c'clock, the guard, composed of convalescents comprising soldiers from many different States, in new uniforms, were mustered by Lieutenant Greth, and took a position forming three sides of a hollow square in frent of the neat and tasty stand, and sround the large flag-staff, the band employed for the occasion taking a position immediately in front of the guard. As Dr. Hayes and his personal staff mounted the stage the band struck up "Hail to the Chief;" after which, the "first committee" were conducted to fithe stand, and in the absence of Mayor Henry, Mr. Brown, chairman, made the presentation speech in a brief and pleasant manner. Dr. Hayes accepted the first for the hospital, which was presented to the color guard, who in turn conveyed it to the staff and heisted it, when Dr. Hayes accompanied by Drs. Billings, Perry, Dixon, and Keffer, proceeded to the base of the staff, and the first-mentioned gentlemen jerked the fly halyard, breaking and unfolding the colors to the breeze, showering upon the assembly beneath hundreds of small American flags, roseties, etc., much to the surprise and delight of every one present; the band played the "Star-Spangled Banner," and the guard gave three hearty cheers for the "stars and stripes."

After a short, characteristic, amusing, and appropriate After a short, characteristic, amusing, and appropriate speech by the Bev. Dr. West, chaplain of the hospital, Hon. William D. Kelley was introduced, and, as the orator of the day, gave the audience a thrilling, patriotic, and beautiful apostrophe to the banner then deating above them, mingling words which described its glorious history, tull of joy and sorrow in the past, with that so full of hope for the future. He said that the day would soon come when that banner would float over the whole thirty-four States in the Union, now as ever, even in those Southern States in rebellion, but not until, by power, we had subdued the belligerents, and brought them again to reason. Judge Kelley paid an eloquent tribute to Gen. McClellan, in alluding to his recent general order, No. 163, to the Army of the Potomac. "In saying that the civil power was to make laws, and it was cheered during the course of his remarks, which wer saying that the civil power was to make laws, and it was the duty of the army and its leaders to execute them," the orator thought that "Gen. McClellan had spread a fresh halo of glory around his name." This expression was warmly applauded. Judge Kelley was frequently eminently patriotic and well-chosen.

At the conclusion of Judge Kelley's address the band played "Wathington's Grand March," and continued to entertain visitors until near dusk, when the people dispersed to their more quiet homes.

From interesting notes furnished to the press for publication, by Bev. Nathaniel West, D. D., Chaplain of the Horpital, we select the following items:

The United States Army General Hospital at West The United States Army General Hospital at West Philadelphia is in all respects the most complete and extensive in the Union. A COMPLIMENT TO PHILADELPHIA HOSPITALS AND PHILADELPHIA LADIES .- A member of the 1st Virginia Regiment, now wounded and under the c re of the United States General Hospital, Chestnut street, writes an interesting letter to the National Intelligencer at Washington. The following extract shows the appreciation in which a Philadelphia hospital is held by one who has been so fortunate as to have been sent here:

Allow me to ask a little space in your columns, to tell you sentthing about the observations of one Wastern Allow me to ask a little space in your columns, to tell you something about the observations of one Western Virginis boy in a Philadelphia hospital. Along with a great many sick and wounded I was brought to this hosp tal three weeks ago. I expected no such good treatment and good times as we have. The soldlers, as a general thing, dread the hospitals; but here it is different. Our trip here was very pleasant, indeed. While passing through Baltimore, a great many Union ladies and gentlemen came out to see us and to wave their hankerchiefs to us. They seemed filled with good feeling for us. This is what I did not expect in Baltimore. At Wilmingt in the ladies come crowding into the cars with all sorts of nice delicacies for the sick and wounded, and they stopped to express sympathy with every soldier, accordingly as he was much sick or much but. They were very kind; and we shall never forget every soldier, accordingly as he was much sick or much hurt. They were very kind; and we shall never forget the dear ladies of Wilmington, in the little State of Delaware. If people only knew how much good such demonstrations do the heart of the soldier, they would be more layish of them. They make him feel like a new being, and no odds how much he suffers, it makes him proud to suffer.

At Philadelphia, we were received as we were in Wilmington. Nothing can exceed the kindness of the people who frequent the hospitals. They are here all hours in the day, old and young, and the most beautiful ladies of the city, too. I have felt, as I have received attentions frem some of these sweet, fair creatures, as if I could rise up from my bed of sickness and gladly die for the slorious Union. They bring in fruits of all kinds. Dear editors, it makes me feel as if I could let my last drop of blood flow for my country's cause. Thank God for the blood flow for my country's cause. Thank God for the kindness of the noble Philadelphians! I never shall torget them. They are fathers, and mothers, and sisters, to the sick and wounded soldier.

I hope you will excuse these lines. I am no great writer. I have been lying here, thinking that I ought to write you something, by way of expressing my gratitude for the kind treatmen! I have received. I want our people of Western Virginia to feel that they owe a debt of od flow for my country's cause. Thank God for the gratitude to these people here, who are never weary of waiting upon the sick and wounded soldiers, from all the States, whom chance has thrown upon their mercy.

SOLDIERS' READING ROOM — There are at present some six thousand wounded soldiers in our city, of which number two thousand, at least, are in a cor valescent condition. In order to accommodate these soldiers, who are generally good scholars, and secure the establishment of a rendezvous, at which they will be enabled to pass the time pleasantly, it is proposed to open a Soldiers' Reading Room. For this purpose, a suitable building in Twentieth street, below Market, formerly the Brickmakers' church, has been generously loaned by Mr. William E. Tenbrook. It is expected that the reading room will be in order in the course of a week. Donations in books, money, chairs or tables, will be most thankfully received at the reading room, or by any of the managers or visitors:

BURGLARY AND ROBBERY .- In the Quarter Sessions, yesterday, Jeremiah Henry, Joseph henry, George Humas, and Elias Robinson, were charged with burglary at the store and dwelling-bouse of Thomas Rosch, No. 643 South street, and stealing therefrom a number of coats, pants, Jackets. silk dresses, &c. Some of the accused had visited the store on several occasions, under the pretext of wishing to purchase some things. The store was entered in the night time a short time since. The lock had been removed from the cellar door, and thus an entrance was effected.

The store was pretty well stripped of goods. The parties were arrested the next day; some in the act of pawning dresses; others were captured with some of the stolen coats upon their backs or carrying them in their arms. MEDICINAL. [Extract from a letter on the Battle field.]

This battle (Antietam) has been the most sanguinary of the war, and the only one fought with design and upon military principles. The arrangement of our corps -the overlooking position of the Commanding General -the sending into action the right and the left-the closing up of the centre and final success-excites bewildering admiration, and carries the mind to the great fields of Austerlitz and Wagram, fought by Napoleon Of all this have I spoken. The heart-history of such a conflict, purchased by the life and blood of twenty thousand men, must be found in the hospitals. War has its glories-but it has its ten thousand demons in these buman tortures, that make the eyeballs ache—the heart bleed—the lips palsy—and the brain reel. The sight is at first positively unendurable. The life-blood of some is still trickling away in silent calmness, while the disse vered limbs and manisc brain of others give rise to sounds God grant I may not again witness. But ye mothers who now seek a son-or wife a hus band-or sister a brother-or sons a father-know and be consoled that even here the hand of mercy is watchful, and better care is bestowed upon your loved one than might at first seem possible. It was in the hespital where rested the gallant Booker that I learned the his tory of those mythical words so often seen and so little understood. "S. T .- 1860-X." Anything alleviating the sufferings and saving the lives of our seldiers is a national blessing. I witnessed some astonishing results from this article. It is well known the effect of burnt gunpowder and excitement is thirst, which, added to the loss of blood in the eunded, creates the necessity of a reviving stimulant. In this particular hospital, the physicians were allowing their patients to drink Plantation Bitters, otherwise called S. T.—1860—X, and although the wounded are most numerous here—this division having opened thfight at 5 in the morning—the men were mostly composed, and there was but very little fainting. The article acts upon the stomach and nerves in a most incomprehensible manner, superior to brandy, and without subsequent stupefying reaction. It originated in the West Indies, containing calisaye bark, winter green, lavender, snise, clove buds, orange, snake root, &c., preserved in St. Croix Rum—the S. T.—1860—X being a secret ingredient, not yet revealed to the public. It is principally recommended for want of appetite, disordered liver, intermittent fevers, stomachic difficulties, &c. I understand it was somewhat known in the Southern States previous to the war, and it appears an agent of Jefferson Davis recently applied to the proprietors for the

NEW YORK, Jan. 16th, 1862. Mr.——Agent of, etc.:

DEAR SIR: In reply to yeur communication, offering us "Fifty thousand dollars for the recipe and right to make the Plantation Bitters for hospital purposes during the war," we beg to say your price is a liberal one, considering it would cost us nothing to comply, and that otherwise we can derive no revenue from the Southern States; but, sir, our duties to our Government and our ideas of consistency, would not allow us to entertain it, sithough it might please us to assuage the sufferings of your misguided followers.

We remain,

to which they made the following reply:

Very respectfully yours, P. H. DBAKE & CO. These gentlemen give the history of certain ingredients of their article for over two hundred years—showing that through all changes of the medical profession and its practitioners, strength, composure, and cheerfulness have been derived from these sources. Dr. Woods, in the Washington Hospitals, informed me that he had been unable to produce an hour's sleep in one patient for nearly two weeks, and he was fast sinking and crazy, until he Plantation Bitters came to his knowledge, when one day's trial gave him a night's rest, and he was now fast recovering. I am surprised our Government has not equalled Jefferson Davis in energy, and adopted this invaluable article in all our hospitals. As a lay member, I can bear witness it is "good to take," and affords more energy and life than anything I ever tried. Success to the Plantation Bitters!

But I have digressed. In my next I shall speak of gathering in the wounded, burying the dead, &c. B. se25-thstu15t TEALING POWERS OF ELEC-TRIOITY DEMONSTRATED, at 1220 WAL-NUT St., Philadelphia, where Prof. BOLLES has been lo-cated nearly three years, testing his new discovery in the application of Galyanism, Magnetism, and Electricity, as a spin carriers agent, on over four thousand invalids, most of whom had been pronounced incurable by the most eminent medical men in this and other cities, but afterwards were cured with a few applications of Electricity by Professor BOLLES.

TWO MORE OBSTINATE CASES CURED. About five years ago, my general heaith began to fail, although at first I did not feel much alarmed, but my sufferings at times were severe. I gradually became emaciated, and at times nearly lost my appetite, and what I ate produced great distress, and the physicians who treated me did not seem to understand my disease from pathological symptoms. At times, I had great difficulty of brea hing; some palpitation of the heart; often great trembling of the limbs; great aversion to business and to company. At times, very gloomy; great inability to collect my thoughts vigoreusly on any subject; loss of memory at times; suffered much from lumbago, swimming of the head; suffered much from apprehensions of insanity, as my physicians told me that I had symptoms of fits. However, after trying the old-school remedies for many years, and being informed that I could not be for many years, and being informed that I could not be cured, I was induced, by reading several certificates in The Press and other papers, to converse with the persons cured, and after I had received good evidence from investigations of this kind, I immediately applied to Professor Bolles, 1220 Walnut street Professor Bolles, 1220 Walnut str Professor Bolles, 1220 Walnut street Professor B. located my disease in the pelvic visera in thirty minutes after I entered his office. He frankly informed me that he could cure me of all my difficulties in ten-days, and I am willing to acknowledge that I was perfectly cured in seven treatments of about ten minutes each; and to me this is most astonishing, for I had abandoned nearly all hopes of ever being any better. In answer to my convictions of duty to suffering humanity, I have made the above statement of facts in relation to my own wonderful cure, and I believe it permanent, for sufficient time has elapsed for a return; therefore, I feel certain time has elapsed for a return; therefore, I feel certain I shall take pleasure in being referred to by any person or persons who may be suffering as I was.

PRICADELPHIA, Sept. 18, 1862. I have been reverely afflicted with dyspepsia and disease of my throat and lungs for more than three years, and at times was unable to attend to business. During the whole time, I have suffered from obstinate constipation, and my efforts with medical agents produced no pation, and my efforts with medical agents produced no change. I have not neglected to employ the best medical skill in this city, and have attended to their prescriptions fathfully for the past three years, and they had all failed to do me any permanent good. At a time when I had nearly abandoned all hopes of being cured, I was induced to call on Professor Bolles, at 1220 Walnut street, and place myself under his treatment, and in a short time I was perfectly cured. I have seen others who have been cured of most obstinate diseases. From what I personally know of Professor B.'s discovery in applying Magnetism, and other modifications of Elecapplying Magnetism, and other modifications of Elec-tricity. I can cheerfully recommend his mode of treatment to all invalids. I have sent some persons there who have been cured, and, therefore, I speak from a knowledge of the treatment. OHABLES H. GRIGG.

He has established himself for life in this city, and his success in treating the sick is a sufficient guaranty that he claims nothing but scientific facts in his discevery in the use of Electricity as a reliable therapeut very in the use of mechanisms as a remain agent.

N.B.—It will be well for the diseased to recollect that Prof. B. has given a word of caution in his pamphlet, to guard them against trusting their health in the hands of those in this city claiming to treat diseases according to his discovery. This caution may seem severe on those using Electricity at hazard, but it is the severity of truth, and designed for the good of humanity. See advertisement in another column.
