The Thermometer. SPEECH OF HON. HENRY D. MOORE. _By some unaccountable mistake the speech of Hon.

Henry D. Moore, at the great meeting at National Halt on Wednesday evening, was omitted. We now have the pleasure of laying it before our readers : pleasure of laying it before our readers:

FRILOW-OTIZENS: I must confess that I never attempted to address a public meeting under such feelings of sadness and depression as at this time, and that feeling of sadness is occasioned by the reflection that our connitry is endangered by one of the most iniquitous and traitorous rebellions ever known to history. I cannot but feel that we have indeed fallen upon dark and gloomy times in the history of our nation; that the strength and durability of our institutions are being tested as never before were the institutions of any other nation. And, my fellow citizens, this trial to our country is the more terrible and severe because it came upon us so suddenly and unexpectedly, and when we were but poorly prepared for it; and what added to the severity of that blow was the source from whence it came. It came from no foreign for it; and what added to the severity of that blow was the source from whence it came. It came from no foreign foe, from no straiger's hand, but from base ingrates and traitors in our midst; traitors who had feasted and fattened at our own tables; traitors who had received the fostering care and protection through all the storms of life of the mest beneficent Government that ever blessed mankind. It was from such hands that we received the blow which was aimed at the life of the Bepublic; but, thank God, they have struck no vital part yet, for the nation lives, and lives, I hope and trust, to punish these traitors, to assert its strength, and to vindicate the indestructibility of the institutions of this great Republic of America.

of America.

And. Mr. Chairman, when we look back over the history of the last eighteen months, who is there among us that does not feel proud that he is a citizen of Pennsylvania? And have we not reeson to feel this pride? Who does not remember that when the telegraphic wires brought us the news that Sumpter had been fired upon, that the flag of our country had been trailed in the dust, and the President's proclamation came to us, calling upon the true and loyal men of the land to stand by him in upholding the Government, the Constitution, and the laws, who does not remember, I say, that from every hill top and mountain, and every valley in the State, there came the thousands and tens of thousands of our brave and hardy reomanry, fully resolved, if necessary, to give their life-blood in defence of their country and the glory of her name? And how nobly they have car-nied out that resolution let every battle field which has been crimsoned with the blood of Pennsylvania's sons snawer for them.

And now, fellow citizens, while those brave hearts and strong arms are delending our country upon the battle field, we are called upon to defend that country from enemies here in our own midst, around our own homes. Do you ask me where that enemy is? I trom enemies here in our own midst, around our own homes. Do you ask me where that enemy is? I answer, wherever you find a man who by thought, word, for deed, seeks to excuse or palitate the treason which has crimscoed our land with the life-blood of our citizens. Wherever you find a man who thinks more of his party than he does of his country. Wherever you find a man who, under any contingency of circumstances, would seek to cast the lot of our noble old State with a traitorous Southern Confederacy. Wherever you find a man who, instead of boldly and manfully denouncing treason, talks and praises about the constitutional rights of traitors. Why, fellow-citizens, traitors have no constitutional rights except that of being tried and hung for their treason! Constitutional rights of the North when Edmund Buffin, of Virginia, asked of Beauregard "the pleasure of firing the first gun" at the flag of our country, which was then waving over Sumpter? Was this a constitutional pleasure which this Virginia traitor was enjoying? Was it a constitutional pasteme which these traitors were indulging when they stole the arms, the ammunition, the forts, the arsensle, and the mints of the country, and, hauling down the American flag, ran up a miserable Secession rag in its stead? Where were the constitutional rights of the North, I say, while they were doing these forts, the areansis, and the mints of the country, and, hauling down the American flag, ran up a miserable Socasion rag in its atead? Where were the constitutional rights of the North, I say, while they were doing these things? Oh! but I think I hear some of these traitor excusers and sympathizers exclaiming, how were the consitutional rights of the Bouth to be defended against the "Abolitionists" of the North? Why, I answer, by eighteen millions of freemen at the North, who would just as willingly have given their life-blood in defence of those rights, had a Wendell Phillips or a Lloyd Garrison fired upon our flag, and raised the bloody hand of treason against our country. What, is this all the excuse they have for their treason—the rights of the South in danger from the Abolitionists of the North? Why, my fellow-citizens, there were not as many Abolitionists in the whole United States as there were traitors in the single State of South Carolina; and when I hear a man attempting to excuse or pallitate their treason by talking of Abolitionists, and Abolitionism, I cannot but feel that the true place for that man is down among the rebels, in the Southern Confederacy. My fellow-citizens, on Tuerday next we have a great duty to perform. The question we have to decide is not one of more than the sugartion of Government or no Govern perform. The question we have to decide is not one o party, but it is a question of Government or no Govern ment. There are two parties, or ttokets, before us for our support—one representing a mere political party, and the other representing the Government; the one endea-voring to cripple and embarrass the Government by abuse and defamation, and the other proclaims its firm devotion to it, and its determination to stand by it in all s efforts to suppress and crush out this unboly rebellion.

It appears to me that our duty is plain, very pisin, to danger; and it is in danger, my fellow-citizens; the bloody strife which is going on all around us speaks to us in trumpet tones of the danger of our country!. We have the terrible evidences of it here in our midst—at our own homes! Go to the hundreds of hospitals all around you, and witness the hundreds and thousands of mangled and bleeding forms lying there, and let those bleeding wounds speak to you in mute. but eloquent lauguage of the danger of your country! Go to the hundreds of desolate homes here in your midst, and sak the widow and the fatherless what has become of their loved ones? Go to the hattle-fields of Manages of Relike 1925 of Go to the battle-fields of Manassas, of Ball's Blaff, of Dranesville, of Shiloh, of Bichmond, where that glorious band of martyrs, the Penusylvania Reserves, erected of their deed bodies a monument to constitutional liberty and freedom; go to Seuth Mountain, to Antistam, and to Sharpsburg, where that notic, brave, and patriotic young regiment, your own Corn Exchange. gave out their fresh young life-blood upon the altar of your country; go, I say, to these places, and witness these scenes of blood, and death, and carnage, and ask yourselves what does all this mean, if it does not mean that your country is in danger. Go, then, my follow-citizens, to the polls on Tuesday next, and by your votes for the Union ticket, which represents our Government, help to sustain the Government in its hour of trial, and ebuke the foul spirit of party which has dared to rais its head in this dark hour of our country's danger. GRATIFYING LETTER FROM GOVERNOR CURTIN .- Mr. C. J. Hoffman, president of the Corn

Exchange Association, has received the following complimentary letter from his Excellency the Governor: PENNSYLVANIA EXECUTIVE CHAMBER. HARRISBURG, Pa., October 6, 1862. To the President and the Members of the Corn Ex-change, Philadelphia:
GENTLEMEN: I have been so constantly occupied that GENTLEMEN: I have been so constantly occupied that I have been unable sooner to express to you, and through you to the regiment of volunteer militia, called into service for the defence of the Common wealth, with which your association is identified, my deep sympathy and painful regret at the occurrence of the terrible disaster which befel the regiment on the Omberland Valley Bailroad, returning, as they were, in high spirits from the performance of manly and patriotic duty.

It is painful, indeed, that the brave men who were willing to risk life in the field in defence of the honor of our State and the safety of our people, when threatened by a numerous army of the enemies of the country, should meet a fate se melancholy, and which has cast a gloom over our community at a time when they would have been hopeful and exultant.

Please express my sympathy to the injured and conhopeful and exuitant.

Please express my sympathy to the injured and condence with the families and friends of the deal.

I avail myself of this opportunity to express to you my I avail myself of this opportunity to express to you my acknowledgements for your patriotic liberality in assisting to place in the field the 118th Pennsylvania Volunteers, and of offering you my congratulations on the courage and gallantry of the officers and men as illustrated in recent battles. Indeed, gentlemen, while our hearts are saddened by the thought that so many, of the brave and patriotic who left our State in the volunteer survice, in defence of the holy cause of constitutional liberty, are numbered with the mighty hosts of the slain—

· A monument that needs no scroll," we cannot fail to find consolation in the fact, that so many gallant achievements have been performed by our officers and men, that the people of Pennsylvania have never faltered in their constancy loyalty, and courage; and that in all the great army of freemen called from their howes to sustain our wise and beneficent Government, the troops from Pennsylvania stand second to none. one. With the carnest hope, gentlemen, that you may con tinue to work with the same diligence in the future, and contribute from your means with the same liberality that you have in the past, until this unnatural and incane rebellion is suppressed, and the supremacy of law

The alderman held both Shields and Hamilton in the aum of $1,000 each to answer at court. Edwin Irwin sworn -I am one of the assessors of the aum of $1,000 each to answer at court.

It stems that the name of Shields also appears upon the assessors' list of the eighth precinct of the Fourth ward, and it was evidently intended that he should vote twice. Similar frauds will no doubt be attempted in other parts of the city, and the authorities should keep a sharp look out for those who are trying to defeat the will of the people by fraudulent means. District Attorney Mann stated at the hearing yesterday that the parties charged with this act should have every opportunity to prove that in proceed as a intended to be intended to the content of th

THE POLICE FORCE-ITS PRESENT NUMBER AND EFFICIENCY.—On Thursday, Sept. 25, a resolution was introduced into Common Council as 2b, a resolution was introduced into Common Council as follows, and then adopted:

Resolved, That the Committee on Police be instructed to inquire into, and report on Thursday next, the number of men employed on the police, whether regularly appointed or acting an substitutes, and whether the number so employed exceeds the limit fixed by ordinance.

The Police Committee, fieding that their report would be rather favorable to the Mayor, neglected to report upon the subject. Yesterday afternoon, however, the minority members, through Mr. Stirr, of the Police Committee of the Police Committe mitter, offered a report, which was ruled out of order by the chair, but permitted a statement to be made, which, on motion, was ordered to be read, showing that the pre-sent force consists of 1 chief of police, 1 chief of detec-tives, 3 high constables, 7 detectives, 16 lieutenants, 31 legraph operators, 17 turnkeys, and 598 patrolmen, of whom 17 were on the sick list and 21 substitutes. THE BEREAN BAPTIST CHURCH.—The vitality of the Bap'ist churches in Philadelphia has been singularly manifested by the reports submitted to the singularly manifested by the reports submitted to the Baptist Association, new holding its sessions in this city. We inadvertently omitted, in our report yesferday, the statistics of the Berean Baptist Oburch, a young and stoutishing congregation of West Philadelphia. The our ner stone was laid about four years ago, yet it has had a varied and interesting history. The first pastor, Bev. Mr. Spaking, has taken up his residence with his friends in the South, and after a vacancy of many months the pulpit is now ably filled by Rev. James Cooper, of Melrose, Mass. The present number of the congregation is 131; same time last year 128. There are 326 pupils in the Sunday school; 804 volumes in the library. Among Many of the congregation are in the service of the construction of the members of the Sabbath school died on Sunday last, from the effects of wounds received in the battle of Antietam. The Sunday school is in a prosperous condition, and the affairs of the church are quite flourishing Capt. John P. Levy and other well-known residents of West Philadelphia are members of the Berean.

PATRIOTIC CHILDREN -The children connected with the Bible Christian Sunday school, North Third street, above Girard avenue, desirous of serving their country, and of miligating, to some extent, the great suffering which our patrictic soldiers have been called upon to endure, put their savings together, made collections, and held a fair, last week, which realized about $250. Of this they appropriated $150 to the 'Ulaton' and the ''Cooper shop' Volunteer Refreshment Salcons, and the balance in small sums to other hospitals. ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-FIFTH MEETING OF THE PHILADELPHIA BAPTIST ASSOCIATION—THIRD DAY.—A prayer meeting was held from 8% to 9% o'clock yesterday marning, led by Brothers J. O. Hyde, of New Jersey, W. M. Watkinson, W. M. Scott, T. B. Atkinson, and Charles Kinsley. The minutes were then read and adopted, after some slight The Committee on Corresponding Bodies reported—amended by Dr. Malcolm.

The Committee on Digest of Letters reported that they had performed their duties, and recommended that the report be published with the minutes. Adopted.

Dr. Malcolm offered the foliowing, relative to the American Baptist Historical Society:

Resolved, That, in our opinion, a Baptist Historical Society, managed with vigor, is an independent part of our ecclesiastical organization, and should receive general attention. For want of it, a deplorable amount of important and deeply interesting matter is now irrecoverably lost. We hope that brethren, throughout the United States, in whose hands are scattered fragments of our deminational literature, will secure them for posterity, by placing them in the keeping of the Society. We approve of the purpose of the Society to procure a charter, and to erect for itself, in this city, a fire-proof edifice. Seconded by H. G. Jones, and adopted.

Dr. Jeffery presented the following, relative to the death of Franklin Lee, Eq.:

Whereas, The Great Head of the Church has removed to a better world our beloved brether Franklin Lee, this Association deems it proper to make the following minute respecting him:

He was born in New Jersay, in the year 1787; for The Committee on Corresponding Bodies reported - respecting him:

He was born in New Jersey, in the year 1787; for more than fifty years he was a member of the Second Church of this city, and during many years our honored deacon. He was also for many years treasurer of this Association. Clear in his views of Gospel truth, staunch in maintaining the decisions. in maintaining the doctrine and church order which he loved; deeply devotional in his religious exercises, the generous and untiring friend of the poor, liberal in sustaining every benevolent and missionary enterprise, intimately conversant with God's word, and eminently consistent in his religious course, he lived and died in the peaceful assurance of a blessed immortality, through his COYMARL Regions. He dead December 19th ovenant-keeping Redeemer. He died December 13th Brother Malachi Taylor, Corresponding Secretary of the State Convention, offered the following:

Resolved, That we regard the evangelization of Penn-

Resolved, That we regard the evangelization of Pennsylvania as a work of unsurpassed importance; that the vast destitution which prevails within the borders of the State gives peculiar force to the claims of the Pennsylvania Baptist Convention, and, as pastors and members of the churches, we hereby pledge ourselves anew to labor, give, and pray for this object.

The circular letter, extremely wall written, and of unurual length, was read by its author, Rev. George W. Anderson. Ro action was taken upon it at the time, and the preaching of the sermon, by J. Wheston Smith, D. D., which was postponed for fifteen minutes, next occupied the attention of the meeting, after singing, and prayers by Rev. H. B. Simmons and Rev. P. S. Henson.

The text was chosen from 2d Book of Kings, 5th chapter, 15th verse, "Behold now I know that there is no God in all the earth but in Israel"

The present is not so much an age of scepticism as an God in all the earth but in Israel."

The present is not so much an age of scepticism as an age of weak belief. Men do not need so much to be instructed in new truth as to be impressed more deeply with the worth of old truth. Many men hold their beliefs morely because their fathers and mothers believed them; they have no intellectual grasp upon it. There are many who have an Intimate knowledge of the truth with no deeper conviction than that of the brain. There is also a belief of the heart, with which the head has too little to do. There is a belief which grasps both the intellect and the heart. We believe pastors and congregations to do. There is a belief which grasps both the intellect and the heart. We believe pastors and congregations must believe that in our own homes there are interests more momentous than the stirring ovents of the day. The fact is, we do not have a vitalized creed. How shall we gain a good, strong, tenacions hold upon the truth? We can only know that much of Ohrist's atonement which we have fett. We only know what we feel. There is only one way by which the precepts of God can become vital—to try and practise them, and so attain to strong and unwavering faith. A truth confirmed, and a truth unconfirmed, are two different matters. A warn and earnest intellect is less seldom at fault than men suppose. Mental convictions of the best support are the most reliable. We never tested truth by experience without loving as well as believing it. As ministers of the Gospel we most appreciate the truth, the doctrines of religion just in proportion as we experience them. There are mer, who, without being orators at all, can yet move the we most appreciate the truth, the doctrines of religion just in proportion as we experience them. There are mer, who, without being orators at all, can yet move the hearts of all by mere speech. A most beautiful and affecting instance of this was here mentioned by the preacher. What we all want is personal experience; it is this which can do, and does do, more than aught else. The preacher was listened to with very great siteotion, and was more than usually effective, which is saying a great deal.

125 33 AFTERNOON SESSION.

The meeting was as large as that of Wednesday, though the interest was not quite as great. Dr. Jeffery proposed the following, which was acted upon:

Resolved. That the committee in charge of the History ved. That the committee in charge of the Histo Resource, that the commutee in charge of the Historical Eketches, from the churches, be requested to notify the churches which have not sent up their sketches to do so at the next anniversary, with a view of preparing a history out of the sketches that shall then be in their hands.
The Circular letter by the Rev. G. W. Anderson was stand by our Government in this its hour of peril and danger; and it is in danger, my fellow-citizens; the accepted during the morning, subse and will be printed in the minutes. It was of unusual length, but none the less interesting on that account. It recommended the brethren, among other remarks, not to sink the Ohristian in the political party, to take the law of Ohrist as the guide to conduct in the political arena, since only God can guide in safety. Strength is in his arm, and he is strong to save.

The amended report of Committee on Boxborough Query: "What constitutes a Baptist Ecclesiastical Council proper?" drawn up by Rev. J. A. McKean, was full and satisfactory.

The committee to conduct the election for trustees of Association report that Rev. J. H Kennard and H. G. Jones, Esq., are elected for six years, Rev. George Kempton, for the unexpired term of Rev. B. F. Young, and Wm. Bucknell, Esq., for the unexpired term of F. SAMUEL A. CROZEB, WILLIAM SMITH.

The Bev. P. S. Henson presented the following:

We hope it will not be thought out of place here for us to state that a very palatable banquet was provided at meal hours, but upon the sole oscasion when we descended to partake, we discovered that the gentlement with their invariable politeness, had yielded precedence to the ladies, and that these fair ones, acting as "tasters" to the Association at large, completely surrounded the board.

A few words here, in regrad to the "American Baptist Publication Society," may not be deemed improper as being connected with the Association, and as having been an object of interest in its debates. The thirty eighth annual report embraces the Business Department, with a list of books published during the year; the Benevolent Department, in which the economy of colportage, and the influence of various Associations of Baptists at home and abroad are coasidered; the Society's missionary work, with its results for the last ten years; the minth annual report of the Historical Society, and valous statistical tablez, showing the receipts into the treasury during the past year, the members, and honorary managers for life, the officers and managers of the Society, and the Officers and Members of the Historical Society, together with the Constitution and By-laws.

EVENING SESSION.

The meeting last night, at 7½ o'clock, the evening of EVENING SESSION.

The meeting last night, at 7% o'clock, the evening of the third and last day of the 155th meeting of the Association, was more than usually crowded, and a spirit of earnestness and prayer prevailed the assembly. Chairs and benches were brought into requisition to accommodate the throng, and young and old, men, women, and children filled up the exceedingly attentive congregation children filled up the exceedingly attentive congregation Rev. B. J. L. Wilson, of Spring Garden, late of Beau-fort, S. O., made the opening prayer, full of the fervency of supplication. The Bov. Miller Jones then made a hort address, and Mr. Charles Keen followed him with Prayer.

Rev Mr. Warwick than began his address. It is necessary to remark that the meeting of last night was a conference meeting, and any of the brethren were invited to speak upon any subject interesting to the meeting and to the Association, for five or seven minutes. Mr. War-wick commenced with some touching incidents which had occurred in his personal experience. He believed that as truly as God recognized the fall of the sparrow to the ground, so truly will be overlock the eternal destiny of as truly as too recognized the land of the sparrow to the ground, so fruly will be overlock the eternal destiny of bis children.

Channing N. Ellis, a soldier, stated, if any man have not the spirit of Christ he is none of His. He had seen, in the last year, many companions fall on the field. Some died in Christ, and these, with their last breath, sighed out, "Lord, receive my spirit." The sin and infiguity in the army was, it could not be denied, great. Would to God that the mother, brother, father, eister of every soldier would raise their voices to night in behalf of those brave men. The speaker believed that when men went forth to battle trusting in God, enough care would most surely be taken of the wives and little ones at home. He had been staying at the hospital at Sixteenth and Filbert, and had received much kind attention and visits while there. In conclusion, the speaker exhorted his hearers to seek God while He might be found, and to call upon God while He is near. He might be found, and to call upon God while He is near.

Rev. J. E. Cheshire, chaplain of the 2d New York Volunteers, remarked that he followed a soldier, wounded in a late battle, and, as he lay upon the stretcher, pressed his hand and asked him of his last requests. "Pray for me," was the reply, and the spirit fled. General McClellan came in, and asked, "Is he dead?" He was dead; the spirit was manumitted with a prayer for his loved one on his lips; out of the reach of the remarks both of the General and Chaplain. Another incident was a soldier carrying his wounded brother on his back. He carried him two miles, and adminis ered sweet words of Gospel comfort to the dving. The explosion at Savage's Station interrupted further observation, but beyond a doubt the soul of that poor, wounded soldier is with God.

Not a few of our soldiers are also roldiers of the Cross—followers of the Lord. One, a lovely youth, only longed in his dying hours to see his mother; to sit beside her once more. It was music to tak to that youth. The memories of Sabhath-schools and home instruction, of pious men and plous women, shed consolation over the dying hours of many and many a mangled body and wounded spirit.

oying hours of many and many a mangled body and wounded spirit.

"No heart can think, no tongue explain, What bilas it is with Christ to reign."
Brother J. P. Grozer then led in prayer.
Chaplain 2d New York Volunteers referred to some recenes in the hospitals after the fight on the Peninsula. In one of the wards of the hospitals at Portsmouth there were four beds, one only of which was occupied. The sufferer—suffering from the fearful battle of Gaines' Mill—who had been recruited at Rochester, New York, proved to be a lover and professor of religion, and, abandoning his collegiate course, enlisted. This soldier had read the Gospel, and it had got right hold of his heart, and the conversation was joyful in the extreme. In other wards lay other young men all anxious, all willing to hear the truth, and thankful to enxious, all willing to hear the truth, and thankful to those who told it. One, not a professor, said that he could never, never forget those men who had rescued and borne him along when wounded and disabled, and, when the speaker reminded the sick man how long he had neglected Christ, tears filled his eyes and penitence Rev. James Peters, pastor of Third Baptist Church, made a very touching and eloquent reference to the circumstances under which a stanza of the beautiful circumstances under which a stanzs of the beautiful hymn,

"Jesur, lover of my soul,"
was sung by one who thought himself drowning, and who, at the moment when destruction seemed nigh, received an answer to his prayer, in the shape of rescue and safety.

Bev. J. B. Simmons, Fifth Baptist, had been led to inquire whether God leved us any less to-day than in the days of our prosperity, and was impelled to answer that now, as in times of old, He would certainly bring good out of the present seeming evil.

Bev. Beuben Jeffery, offered up a prayer, comprehensive and fervent, which embraced the country and the Rev. Reuben Jeffery offered up a prayer, comprehensive and fervent, which embraced the country and the family, the young, the old, the bond and the free.

Dr. Kennard said he had come to this conference meeting wishing to bathe his sont in a sea of peace and love. Thirty years ago he had brought a letter from a church he was member of, recommending such a meeting; for, in this heart draws nearer to heart, and soul to soul. He would fain gather up the fragments of the feast of the last two days and a half. The symnon, the leiters, the discourse upon the "Government of God," the debates, the sermon by J. Wheaton Smith, D. D., at once so expansive, and of such simplicity. The speaker advises the young men to go to Bunyan's school, and Andrew Fuller's, school, whatever others they went to. Here we are to night, at the close of the meeting, but O, let not any rest in the teast they have shed on this occasion, or the emotions they have felt, but, rather go home for self examination and prayer. The speaker left his thirty ninth meeting with the Association to night, as he never did before, with deeper, much deeper emotion.

Dr. Reuben Jefferey received. emotion.
Dr. Reuben Jefferey presented the following, which

CONSUMPTIONI

Dr. Wishart's Pine TREE TAR CORDIAL. MATURE'S GREAT REMEDY FOR ALL DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND BUNGS

Have you a Cough? Have you Sere Throat? Have you any of the premonitory symptoms of that most fatal disease. Consumption?

Those who should be warned by these symptoms gone rally think lightly of them until it is too late. From vais fact, perhaps more than any other, arises the sad provalence and fatality of a disease which sweeps to the grave at least one-sixth of Death's victims. What are its symptoms?

It usually begins with a short, dry cough, which soon ecomes habitual, but for some time nothing is raised except a frothy mucus. The breathing is somewhat difficult, and upon slight exercise much hurried. A sense and dejection of spirits; and may continue in this state for a considerable length of time, but is very readily affected by slight exposure or fatigue. If these occur, the cough becomes more troublesome, and is attended with expectoration, which is most copious and free very early in the morning. It is sometimes streaked with blood. At this stage night-sweats usually set in, and in some cases a profuse bleeding of the lungs may also occur. Pain in some part of the chest is felt, and often a difficulty of lying upon one or the other side, without severe fits of coughing or a sense of fullness or suffocation, is experienced. The pulse becomes full, hard, and frequent. the hectic flush tinges the cheeks, and the dire malady is fast hastening to its close.

You now ask, "Is there a cure?" Consumption has been and can be cured by the use of my Tar Cordial, even in apparently hopeless cases. This complete evidence of its truth. Space will not admit of my giving the contents of the many thousands of testimenials to its value, which I have been and am receiving from men and women of unquestionable worth and reputation. I have had a number of these certificates printed in circular form, which I will send you free on application. Whether you now determine to try the medicine or. not, send for the circular. After years of study and experiment, I offer this medicine, believing it to be the best remedy for all pulmonary and bronchial diseases. If you cannot be benefited by the use of the Tar Cordial, I believe you are beyond all earthly aid. Yet if there are better curative agents, I carnestly advise their use. The best remedies, the best care, are needed by those afflicted with this disease. Because I believe this to be the best, I ask you to try it. Many, not only of the people, but physicians of every school and practice, are daily asking me, "What is the principle or cause of your great success in the treatment of Pulmonary Consumption ?" My answer is this: The invigoration of the digestive organs—the strengthening of the debilitated system—the purification and ennt of the blood, must expel from the system th novating principle is also acting upon the irritated surfaces of the lungs and throat, penetrating to each diseased part, relieving the pain, subduing inflammation, in conjunction with Nature's constant recuperative tendency, and the patient is saved, if he has not too long de-

DYSPEPSIA.

A Cure warranted for $1, or the money refunded. WHAT IS DYSPEPSIA?

Dyspepsia has the following symptoms: 1st. A constant pain or uneasiness at the pit of the stomach, which is caused by a permanent contraction of the stomach upon undigested food. It generally begins immediately, or a short time after eating; is often very severe and obstinate. 2d. Flatulence and Acidity.—These symptoms arise from the indigestion of food, which ferments instead of digesting. Bd. Costiveness and Loss of Appetite. These symptoms are the effects of the unnatural condition of food in the stomach, and the want of pure bile and gastric juice. The stomach is often painfully distended by wind

4th. Gloom and Depression of Spirits.-This state unfits many for the enjoyment of life, and is caused by the impure blood furnished by imperfect digestion. In this stage of the disease many persons commit suicide. There is a constant foreboding of evil, and an indifference and positive inability to perform the offices of life. 5th. Diarrhea. After being at first costive, the sufferer is afflicted with diarrhoa, which is owing to a diseased condition of the bowels, produced by the undigested food, which is evacuated in the same condition as system. 6th. Pains in all parts of the system arise from the action of impure blood upon the nerves. They are felt hiefly in the head, sides, and breast, and in the extremities. In many cases there is an uneasiness in the throat, with a sense of choking or suffocation. The mouth is often clammy, with a bad taste and furred tongue.

7th. Consumptive Symptoms and Palpitation of the Heart.-Many persons pronounced as having these diseases have, in fact, nothing but Dyspensia, the lung and heart disease being only symptoms. 8th. Cough.—This is a very frequent symptom of Dys pepsia, and leads very often into confirmed consump-resulting often in mental derangement. tient is affected painfully by cold and heat, which is owing to unnatural dryness of skin, and the skin is often affected by eruptions and tetters. The gloomy dyspeptic avoids society as much as possible. 11th. Vomiting.—A frequent and distressing symptom It relieves the pain, but emaciates and wears out the patient. 12th. Dizziness, dimness of vision, headache, and staggering in walking.—These are very alarming symptoms, which are speedily removed by our medicine, but if neglected, are quickly followed by numbness and sudden death. 13th. It is impossible for us to give all the symptoms of Dyspepsia in so small a space, but the above are considered sufficient-if we add that the patient loses his memory and attention to surrounding objects, and frequently becomes morose and sour in disposition. We should say, however, that pains in the joints and stiffness of the limbs, which go by the name of rheumatism and neuralgia, are very often produced by Dyspepsia. Also, a hardness of the muscles of the abdomen, which become contracted and hard; and in some cases the belly sinks, instead of being gently prominent. In cases of general debility, use WISHAST'S PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL with the PILL. N. B.—All orders promptly attended to on receipt of the money. Price One Dollar per Box.
