Upon some high and grand intent,

O'er the Potomac came:

On Chambersburg they laid their claws. But were too nervous long to pause, To carry on the game. Much like a flock of frightened crows, Up from their plunder they arose, And dared not spoil our farms; But o'er the river back did fly, Choesing the speed of legs to try, Bather than force of arms. True, they have stolen some good shoes, And o'er this feat the rebel muse

Quite jubilant may be; Such necessaries they can't buy, But trust to stealing to supply Their sad necessity. THE PENNSYLVANIA MILITARY AOADELY AND ITS PRINCIPAL. WEST CHESTER, October 14, 1862. TO THE LOYAL PUBLIC. Colonel Hyatt, President of the Pennsylvania Military Academy, directs me to aubmit for your inspection the following testimonials, as his loyalty has been called in question.

JAMES H. RICE, Adjutant P. M. A.

WILMINGTON, October 10, 1862. Col. Theo. Huatt: MY DEAR FRIEND: I have just heard that a newspaper in year vicinity has thrown out imputations against your loyalty. To those of us who have known you long and well—who have conversed with you so often on the exciting topics of the day, and found you sympathizing with us to the full in everything that related to our Government and this wicked rebellion—who have heard yeur voice in the drill-room in the early days of the war, and when we knew that each hour given to the volunteers was an hour of sacrifice of health, then too much impaired for the discharge of your duties in your school-room—who knew of your desire to go personally into the field—who have talked with you but a few days since, and found you abreast with the foremest supporters of the Government, the charge is simply absurd. MY DEAR FRIEND: I have just heard that a newspaper the Government, the charge is simply abound.

No one here would have ventured or even thought of making it; but if this note from your late paster will be of any service to you in West Chester, where you have had no opportunity to make yourself known, you are large than malagement of Yours, most truly,

DOVER, Oct. 10, 1862. Col. Theodore Hyatt: MY DEAR SIR: I have been astounded at hearing that Mr DEAR SIR: I have been astounded at hearing that your loyalty has been called in question by some of the residents of West Obester. I had supposed you had suffered persecution sufficient during the past year at the hands of the Secession symps-hizers in this dtate, to have placed you far above the reach of suspicion of belonging to that hateful band of bad men. I never had the honor of your acquaintance till those persecutions brought us together. I cannot imagine how any, the slightest, suspicion should attach to you, for I am sure that I and all who know you in Delaware can bear testimony that you who know you in Delaware can bear testimony that you have always been held by our people as a man of unblemished patriotism and integrity.

I also learn that James Rice, Esq., has also been suspected or charged with disloyalty. I have known him well for some time past. He was one of my warmest, boldest, and most reliable supporters in the memorable campaign of 1860. If it can be possible that either you or he is disloyal, then I confess I shall not know where to find one true man. I shall, indeed, begin to doubt of my own loyalty when I come to question that of either of you. 1 hope the community where you reside may do you justice, to correct any misapprehension upon the subject.
Yours truly,
GEO. P. FISHER The Hon. Geo. P. Fisher is the Representative in Congress from Delaware.

WILMINGTON, October 10, 1832. Colonel THEODORE HYATI who has lately removed from this city to West Chester, was, many years, the Principal of a school here in which scholars were in-structed in the higher English branches, the classics, and mathematics. He was very successful as a teacher; discerning and competent jurges, from their own observation, attested his ability, and commended his method. His echool flourished, and was as prosperous at the timp of his removal as it had ever been. His removing was much restrict. much regretted.

Colonel Hyatt was a professor of religion when he come among us. During his residence here he maintained a consistent profession. He was active and useful in the church, confided in as a sincere, and sympathized with as a growing Obristian

We have been surprised to hear that a suspicion has been intimated of his loyalty. There was among us no more firm and constant supporter of the Union than Colonel Hyatt—he was loyal from principle, and we believe he continues steadfast, unwaveringly attached to the Government and institutions of the United States.

I have to s ate that if there is any foundation for an imputation so base, that you must have changed wonderfully since you left here. I cannot look into your heart, but I have the most thorough conviction, from your uniform language and conduct, that no more loval man lives in Pennsylvania. Indeed, I should have as soon trusted the education of two of my sons to a butglar or professed gambler, as to one who avennabled with sed gambler, as to one who sympathized with Secression If you want testimony to support your loy-alty, you can have any amount of it from the place of If I can be of any service to you in repelling this vile aspersion of your character, you can use me to any ex Very truly your friend,

Edward G Bradford, Rsq , is United States District
Attorney of Delaware, under the present Administration. WILMINGTON, October 10, 1882.
Having, for many years, had a personal acquaintance with Colonel Hyatt, I cheerfully testify to his loyalty. At the commencement of this wicked rebellion, he took a decided stane in favor of its forcible suppression, and was active, even to the detriment of his health, in organizing the militia of the State.

It is to us who know im a matter of surprise that his loysly should have ever been called in question, as in this latitude his character as an honest, high-minded, and the couch in loyal man is far above suspicion

I most heartily concur in the forgegoing statement in respect to the loyalty of Colonel Hyatt, and his genera good character. It is matter of surprise to those who know him here that his loyalty should have been called in question.

(UP STAIRS.) This organization offers peculiar advantages not before equalled by any regiment during the war. The Commander, Major Boberts, is a soldier of great experience of the Regular Army, 4th United States Artillery, and its officers have been appointed for their experience and ability. It is a permanent post, has comfortable quarters, is in a charmingly healthy locality, thus avoiding all the hardships and exposures of field service. The men will be instructed in all the duties of infantry soldiers, garrison as well as field, in sea coast, heavy and field srtillery. As the number of companies is limited, none but strong, able-bodied men will be received, and early application is advised. Bounty is allowed. Old artillery soldiers, who can come well recommended, will receive appointments as non commissioned Officers in this corps of picked men. oc6 mwf 6t FORT DELAWARE. - Recruits
