The sent interest is, comparatively, swallowed up, and sony animal known on the street is the Bull. Seemly animal known on the street is the Bull. There are private advices in the street, from Mashington, which lead to the belief that Mr. Chase will recommed an issue of more future, in order to meet the current expenses of the war. The Secretary will estimate the build did at a much larger figure than the community generally suppose it to be, but he will probably defer to the committee of Ways and Means to decide upon the expediency of issuing more currency; but as it is understood that a majority of them are in isvor of the measure, there seems to be but little dealt that Mr. Stevens will introduce a bill at an early day recommending it as the only way the Government can possibly obtain money to pay our Bolliers and sailors, and meet other ordinary expenses. the of the principal arguments of those friendly to the measure is, that if Mr. Chase should attempt to take money on the twenty-year six-per-cent. bads, there is not a sufficient amount of money in regulation to pay for them, and, consequently, the cly means left to him is to make an additional size of currency sufficient to employ the vacuum casioned by the withdrawal from circulation of and silver and the Wildest currency of the Peille Mail is 12314@124. Relating to the Company of the Lance of MARKET, Dec. 2.—The market has presented during the past week the same general features as noted at the date of our last review. We as noted at the date of our last review. We are unable to note any improvement either in business or in the quality of the cattle offered. The supply of extra shipping Beeves was confined to about 75 head, which sold readily at $3.40@3.50 $\text{P}$ 100 fbs gross. The question has been asked us quite often during the past menth, "What's become of all the extra beef cattle? Why are they not brought to the market?" The unusually small supply of this class of cattle at the different yards in the city for the past month makes the question very pertinent and to the point, yet we are unable to give a satisfactory answer. The demand for extra Beeves during the past month has been active at $3.20@3.50, yet drovers and farmers continue to overstock the A Butcher, Battmore

A RULE FOR TALKERS.—Whenever there are two words of similar meaning, one foreign and the other English, it always sounds more or less pe-dantie to use the foreign. Our attention is called to this by often hearing the French word suite (sweet) used instead of our own word, suit, when speaking of a suit of rooms or a suit of clothes. As Webster says:

"In all its senses the word is the same, and the affectation of making it French in one use, and Eng-
