CHRISTMAS TREES.—The Christmas trees for sale in the vicinity of Eighth and Market pre sent the appearance of overgrown evergreens. An immense quantity of these wintry blooms allure a great number of purchasers. To little folks, they suggest a vision of a beau-ideal Christmas tree, illuminated, and all but ablaze with the glowing hues of minated, and all but ablaze with the glowing hues of myriad-tinted lamps. They are suggestive of "goodies" done up in miniature cornucopie, "chock-full" of the saccharine concentration, of dancing dolls, and devils-in-boxes, of monkeys-on-the-pole, and toy tight-rope dancers. To old, onthe reminiscence-loving buyers, it speaks of past years of unlimited festivity. To those who wander back far into the Christmas lore of primitive days, it whispers of the times when jokes, laughter, repartee, forfeits, and dances were blended amid the orgies of wassail bowls and bowls of punch, the glories of soused bear's head and silver platters, and all the slighter pleasantries of riddles, conjuring, snap-dragon, and hat cookies. Evergreens should claim reverence not because of their perennial beauty only, but also because of the antiquity of their use. The present mode in which they are used as decorations are remnants of Druidical practices. Sylvan spirits used to think its boughs would protect them from the fingers of the frost. The mistletoe, beautiful in its nature as in its name, in its history and array of legendary song; the ivy, the laurel, and the rosemary, were long ago selected and employed as the natural embellishments furnished by the holiday wintry season. Chaplets, glossy-green, beauty-bright, and delicately intertwined, crowned fresh foreheads, and engaged fair fingers in their fabrica-tion. A hundred of the old English customs have died out. The German custom, having been inau-gurated, still remains. A look at the streets, where trees are for sale, is enough to convince one that thousands of Philadelphia homes will this year be rendered more bright and beautiful than is now their wont by the preparation and display of the happy

Captain. Martin sworn.—I am the commissioned military storekeeper at the Gray's Ferry Arsenal.
Mr. Duffield is superintendent of the laborers in the yard. I increased his pay myself. He is directly under my control, and not under that of the department at Washington; his office was created by necessity, and not by Act of Congress.

On cross-examination, the witness said that Mr. Duffield was recognized at Washington as the general superintendent of the yard. He has the right to sign my name to bills; he has no right to discharge men, or take them on, without my sanction; at times I direct him to employ men.

Andrew McGrath, sworn.—I know Mr. Duffield; when at the arsenal, I always looked upon him as next to the captain; I was superintendent of a gang of laborers, and received $32 per month.

The witness was asked if he had ever discharged or employed men, to which he answered that he had not.

Bernard M. Toole was also examined, but his evidence had no bearing on the case.

of securing the election of the officers of both chambers, as each party claims a majority. Until Thursday last, the hope was indulged that the opening of Select Council at least would be attended with order and decorum. The resignation of Mr. Catherwood, Democratic member from the Twenty-fifth ward, has given a new complication to matters. The cause of Air. C's resignation is secretly given out as arising from some misunderstanding with his Democratic perfect in the cause of Air. C's resignation is secretly given out as arising from some misunderstanding with his Democratic brethren in caucus. A certain member of the opposition, who would not go into a caucus of his own party, has thus given the Democrats hope to expect that he will act with them. To entice him, they offer him the presidency of Select Council, which it was generally understood would be given to Mir. Catherwood's seal? He was elected for two years. The act of Assembly disqualifies a member if he resides over a year out of the ward he represents. Mr. Catherwood, it is said, is thus disqualified. But, at the last election a candiate was put forth by the Democrats who was elected. The Democratic party, by this action, were determined that if they were foiled in one representative they should have another. The question now to be determined is whether Mir. O'Rourke, the new-to-be determined is wheth tive they should have another. The question now to be determined is whether Mr. O'Rourke, the newly-elected member, will be legally entitled to take a seat to which another was elected for two years.

In Common Council, the difficulties in the way of a peaceful and orderly organization are even greater. In two or three wards opposite candidates will claim their seats, and each can show certificates of having been duly elected. Nothing will be left unturned to secure, if possible, a Democratic organization of Common Council.

THE INQUEST.—Yesterday morning the coroner held an inquest on the body of Henry Bremer, who was choked to death while eating his supper at a restaurant at Second and South streets. While eating, he was noticed to be struggling violently, and the attendants, who ran to his assistance, found him to be struggling. No relief could be afforded him, and he was carried to the Union-street station-house. A physician was soon in attendance, but before his arrival the man was dead. The deceased had just received his discharge from the 3d U. S. Artillery, in which he served five years. He had his discharge in his pocket, and was thus recognized. coroner held an inquest on the body of Henry Bre-

IMPORTANT RAILROAD MEETING-THE AIR LINE FROM WASHINGTON TO NEW YORK. - We have been furnished with the following account of the railroad meeting held in this city on Monday, at which the Philadelphia, Wilmington, and Balt which the Philadelphia, Wilmington, and Baltimore Railroad, Camden and Amboy Railroad, and Baltiented: PHILADELPHIA, December 23.

more and Ohio Railroad Companies, were represented:

Philadelphia, December 23.

An important special meeting of the representatives of the several railcoad companies forming the direct road between Washington and New York was held here yesterday, and was fully attended. Much harmony characterized the proceedings, and measures of the most thorough character were adopted, looking to the increase of the advantages of the line as the great public route of travel.

The number of the through trains, with close connections, to accommodate the heavy travel between Washington and New York, was increased from three to four daily, while the time of all the trains now on the line is considerably reduced, and the hours of departure and arrival so revised as to promise greatly improved facility and comfort to passengers. The through trains will leave New York at 7 and 10 A. M., and at 7½ and 11½ P. M., and at 6 and 9.46 A. M. Thoy will leave Washington at 8 and 11½ A. M., and 3 and 6½ P. M., and at 6 and 9.46 A. M. They will leave Washington at 8 and 11½ A. M., and 3 and 6½ P. M., arriving in Washington at 6.20 and 9.40 P. M., and 3 and 5.10 A. M. Special agents of the route will travel upon each and all of the through trains constantly, and see that through passengers are properly assorted and accommodated in their own cars, and that their baggage, etc., is promptly and safely cared for. Three of the four trains are to be exclusively express, on which mere local travel will not be taken. By this a much improved certainty in the schedules will be increased. It was agreed that thirty new and splendid cars, the best that can be Luilt, should be at once put upon the line, with such running fixtures as would enable them to pass over the whole route between New York and Washington without change or interruption whatever. The new line arrangements will take effect on Monday, the 5th of January.

Steps were also taken looking to an agreement between the companies composing the route, by which double tracks shall be laid down, as s

ARRIVAL OF WOUNDED FROM FREDE-RICKSBURG.—At an early hour yesterday morning, about three hundred wounded soldiers from Fredericksburg arrived at the Baltimore depot, Broad and Prime streets. They were received at the Citizens' Volunteer Hospital, where their wounds were dressed by the volunteer medical staff in attendance. Afterwards they were taken away in the ambulances of the fire companies to the different Government hospitals. The following is a list of those belonging to Pennsylvania and New Jersey regiments:

BUTCHERS CONVENTION.—The butchers of the loyal cities of the Union will assemble in convention, in the city of Baltimore, on Tuesday, the 6th of January, 1862. We learn that almost every city of note will be represented. The subject of a more equal mode of taxation under the excise law is to be commended to Congress, and the adoption of measures of uniform character to prevent the syculating in fat stock now carried on at the expense of the consumers. The delegation from this city will, it is said, be quite large.

LADIES' FAIR.—We invite attention to the fair, now being held at the S. E. corner of Ninth and Spring Garden streets, for the benefit of sick and wounded soldiers. It is a really handsome affair, and got up for a praiseworthy object. It will continue open during the week. RELEASED FROM THE DRAFT.—Daniel Reyer, of Clearfield county and War. Stewart, of rice county, have both been released from the draft and got up for a praiseworthy object. It will continue open during the week.

BIBLE UNION MEETING. - A large and inluential meeting was held at the Baptist Publication House in this city on Monday afternoon, when the Rev. Warren Randolph was called to the chair, and he Rev. Mr. Castle, of West Philadelphia, acted as secretary. The object of the meeting was to listen to a lecture, which was delivered by the Rev. T. J. Conant, D.D., on the revision of the Bible. This venerable and learned scholar has been in the city a gathering of Baptist ministers from this city and a gathering of Baptist ministers from this city and vicinity. He gave a clear exhibition of the principles on which the Bible Union, of which he is one, is founded, of the manner it proceeds in its work, and of the great Biblical and literary resources of which it avails itself in prosecuting that work. Dr. Conant was listened to with great respect, and a vote of thanks was unanimously passed. We have been favored with the following resolutions, submitted by the Rev. Dr. Dickinson, editor of the Christian Chronicle, and pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wilmington, Delaware, passed at the meeting:

Christian Chronicle, and pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wilmington, Delaware, passed at the meeting:

Resolved, That we accept the recent reverses that have befallen our arms as significant indications that God is teaching this nation that "the race is not to the swift nor the battle to the strong."

Resolved, That these disasters conspire with other events to indicate that it is the will of Providence that the American Union is to be preserved only by the overthrow of the institution of human slavery.

Resolved, That we hereby reassure the President of our cordial approval of his proposed proclamation of emancipation, and, while deploring the causes that have rendered it a military necessity, that we nevertheless rejoice in the fact that it is a measure in itself in perfect harmony with the eternal principles of right, with the best interest of the while and colored population of our land, with the demands of a Christian civilization, the general welfare of mankind, and the good pleasure of God.

Resolved, That we assure the President of our confidence in his purpose not to be deterred from issuing the said proclamation of emancipation, on the first day of January, 1863, either by the entreaties of friends, the threatenings of foes, or by the present trial of the nation's faith; but that he will throw himself and the country upon the providence of that God who brought his ancient people to the Red Sea, and then bade them "go forward."

Resolved, That we recommend the observance of the last day of this year as a day of earnest prayer to Almighty God for His blessing upon the anticipated proclamation, and the observance of the first day of January next as a day of thanksgiving in view of its utterance.

Barney McIlhenny, whose photograph has a place in the Rogues' Gallery, was arraigned before Alderman White, yesterday, on the charge of the larceny of a picture, representing Daniel Webster addressing the United States Senate. The evidence set forth that the defendant and two or three other persons stopped at the oyster house of Mr. McClean, on Pine street, above Fifth, and, having indulged in bivalves, tendered a note in payment. The proprietor absented himself from the salcon to get some change. When he came back he missed a picture from the wall. Starting out, he finally saw the defendant at Eighth and Locust streets, with the stolen picture in his possession. An officer was called, and the accused was taken into ousjody. He was committed in default of $1,000 bail.

Frank Johnson, a colored man, was charged before the same magistrate with stealing a lot of candy from the store of Mary and Catherine Divine, two sisters, on Fifth street, below Walnut. The defendant entered the store on Monday night, and tried to rob the money drawer. Failing in this, he picked up a box of candy, valued at two dollars, with which he walked away. One of the sisters gave the alarm, and the daring fellow was captured without much trouble. He was committed in default of $800 bail to answer.

A Row on Front Street. [Before Mr. Alderman White,]

A Row on Front Street.

Yesterday morning the neighborhood of Front and Walnut streets was thrown into commotion, because an individual suddenly made an attack upon the public house of Mr. Polett. Several panes of glass were smashed to atoms, and some persons within the bar-room narrowly escaped the boulders thrown by the infuriated man. He was arrested and taken at once before Alderman White, to whom he gave the name of George Fredericks. The evidence was the defendant applied at the house of Mr. Polett for some liquor; the proprietor thought he had enough already and cleared him out. The fellow resisted, and was finally put out with just such force as was necessary to accomplish this work. He was committed.

Look Out for Pickpockets.

It is generally understood among the knowing ones of the detectives that the Philadelphia professional pickpockets, because of the "ninety-day law," have fied the city, and are now plying their nefarious business in other places. There are plenty of the profession in our city, but they are new here, yet they are evidently adroit thieves. Yesterday afternoon, a lady was relieved of her port-monnaie, containing the sum of $80, at Second and Callowhill streets.

It is probable that others lost their peeket backs. taining the sum of $80, at Second and Callowhill streets.

It is probable that others lost their pocket-books on Second street, as that ancient thoroughfare was pretty well crowded during the afternoon. To-day the market stands will be more than usually attactive, and the attendants in search of Christmas turkeys should be careful of their money-purse, or they might find themselves suddenly bereft of the wherewithal to purchase the necessaries for the proper observance of the day of enjoyment that will dawn to-morrow. The many fine stores that adorn the city draw great crowds of admirers. In some instances storekeepers have had posted in glaring letters, "Beware of Pickpockets." This is a good in admiring the beautiful might for the moment forget their pocket, and lose the material. Therefore, we caution the readers of The Press to beware of pickpockets.

finally the postmaster thought he knew the young gentleman, and said he was the son of a highly respectable citizen of Philadelphia. The young gentleman admitted it, and very well knew Mr. Walborn. Of course he did. The other gentlemen, however, who could not doubt the evidence of their own eyes, could have nothing to say, and no pocketbook was found. The loser had to pocket the losseseveral hundred dollars it is said. The detective police never use the ears on the Market-street or Green and Coates-street tracks. The pickpockets are aware of this, and therefore "go a gunning," as it is called, through these roads. Supreme Court of the United States at Washington.
