

THE PRESS.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1863.

turn to the mutual level of prices when this most unfortunate war is brought to a close. The present stock of cotton in Great Britain says 440,000 bales—would last three months, at a consumption of 80,000 bales a week, if none of it were exported to the Continent, but only two months if there were. The expected supply from India appears unusually large.

CONGRESS.

SENATE.—Mr. Foster presented a communication from the authors by the cotton famine in Louisiana, England, and elsewhere, and a resolution made in this country for their relief, but the Vice President said it was the uniform practice of the Senate not to receive communications from foreign powers. A bill to facilitate the transportation of troops was introduced. A resolution relative to the printing of official documents was adopted, also, one relating to the records of the Court-martial was laid over. A resolution directing the Committee on Commerce to inquire into the expediency of appointing an assistant collector of customs for the port of New York was adopted. A bill to amend the act relating to the removal of Indians from the State of Kansas was taken up and passed. The bill for the removal of Indians from the State of Kansas was taken up and passed. The bill for the removal of Indians from the State of Kansas was taken up and passed.

WASHINGTON.

Special Despatches to "The Press." THE PROPOSED NATIONAL GUARD. Senator Wilson's volunteer militia bill provides for the raising of 100,000 men, to be organized into 25 regiments of 4,000 men each. The bill provides for the raising of 100,000 men, to be organized into 25 regiments of 4,000 men each. The bill provides for the raising of 100,000 men, to be organized into 25 regiments of 4,000 men each.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

RESIGNATION OF GENERAL BURNEIDE. HIS FAREWELL ADDRESS. General Hooker in Command. General Sumner and Franklin Relieved.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC—Appointment of General Hooker.

The appointment of General Hooker to the command of the Army of the Potomac will be welcomed by the brave and gallant and energetic commander. This is the reputation which Gen. Hooker has earned on many a field, and which he possesses to-day in eminent degree. He has had the singular good fortune to go through this war without being committed to any action which would have identified him with any party but that of his country. In whatever position General Hooker has been placed, he has done his duty. Until he fought his way to distinction, no one held him a more humble position. He was called from civil life among the first Presidential army appointments, and in the latter part of July, 1862, he was placed in command of a brigade, which he distinguished by his bravery for the defence of Washington. He was subsequently placed in command of the forces in lower Maryland, and when McClellan moved to the Peninsula he accompanied him. It is no exaggeration to say that in that campaign General Hooker was the greatest soldier who followed him, speedily became known as a daring, bold, audacious fighting man, who always pressed his way until he obtained an advantage, and pushed his advantage until he obtained a victory. At Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, and down to Antietam, he never entered a battle without doing himself great renown. He takes command of the Army of the Potomac. They have seen him tried in every position that they can trust his valor and his genius. And yet it is not a feeling of regret that we part from General Burnside. He is a general whom we love, and his retirement will be regarded with universal sorrow. There is so much about General Burnside that we can never forget his bravery; such a high sense of honor; so much self-sacrificing magnanimity—that he will always be remembered with affection and esteem. He did not seek to be placed in the command of the Army of the Potomac. He felt his own weakness—that he wanted those transcendent qualities which enable a man to lead a host of followers, to command to victory. In North Carolina, he did his work well, and gained many important victories. When he joined the Army of the Potomac he labored zealously to do his duty to the best of his ability, his magnificent valor reflected glory upon our arms. The history of his connection with the Army of the Potomac is one that will do him honor. His defeat at Fredericksburg will not be remembered as a defeat, for it placed him among the noblest characters of history. He has been tried in every position that they can trust his valor and his genius. And yet it is not a feeling of regret that we part from General Burnside. He is a general whom we love, and his retirement will be regarded with universal sorrow.

DEPARTMENT OF VIRGINIA.

List of U. S. Prisoners who have Died at Richmond, Va. The following is a list of U. S. prisoners who have died at Richmond, Va. The following is a list of U. S. prisoners who have died at Richmond, Va. The following is a list of U. S. prisoners who have died at Richmond, Va.

DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA.

The Free Labor Association Proposed in North Carolina. The Free Labor Association Proposed in North Carolina. The Free Labor Association Proposed in North Carolina. The Free Labor Association Proposed in North Carolina.

THE PIRATE ALABAMA.

The Status of the United States Transport Hatteras off Galveston, Texas.—The Brooklyn gives chase to the Pirate, but is unsuccessful. The Status of the United States Transport Hatteras off Galveston, Texas.—The Brooklyn gives chase to the Pirate, but is unsuccessful.

ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND.

General Rosecrans and the Newspapers.—The Rebels Attack a Railroad Train.—The Rebels Attack a Railroad Train.—The Rebels Attack a Railroad Train.

THE KANSAS INDIANS.

Mr. Lane (Rep.) of Kansas, called up the bill for the removal of the Indians from the State of Kansas. Mr. Lane (Rep.) of Kansas, called up the bill for the removal of the Indians from the State of Kansas.

OVERLAND EMIGRANTS.

When Mr. Oregon, called up the bill for the better protection of the overland emigrants. When Mr. Oregon, called up the bill for the better protection of the overland emigrants.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. Hancock's Successor. Mr. Hancock's Successor. Mr. Hancock's Successor. Mr. Hancock's Successor.

THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM.

The House passed the bill amending the Judiciary Act of 1801. The House passed the bill amending the Judiciary Act of 1801. The House passed the bill amending the Judiciary Act of 1801.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.—The Senate passed the bill for the better protection of the overland emigrants. The Senate passed the bill for the better protection of the overland emigrants.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

THE MONEY MARKET. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26, 1863. There was much business done in the money market today, and the market was generally quiet.

CITY ITEMS.

Monthly Meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association. The regular monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held at their rooms, No. 111 Chestnut street, on Monday evening last.

ARRIVALS AT THE HOTELS.

Continental—Smith and Chestnut streets. The following are the arrivals at the hotels in Philadelphia on Monday evening last.

Table with columns: Name, Hotel, Address. Lists arrivals at various hotels including Continental, Grand, and others.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE.

Table with columns: Date, Name, Price, Quantity. Lists stock market transactions for January 26, 1863.

LECTURE BY THE REV. DR. HARWOOD.

This evening the fifth lecture of the popular course of lectures in the city of Philadelphia was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Harwood.

REMARKS BY THE REV. DR. HARWOOD.

By courtesy the time was afterwards occupied by the Rev. Dr. Harwood in reading a paper on the subject of the "Sabbath School."

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE.

Table with columns: Name, Price, Quantity. Lists stock market transactions for January 26, 1863.

ARRIVALS AT THE HOTELS.

Table with columns: Name, Hotel, Address. Lists arrivals at various hotels including Continental, Grand, and others.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE.

Table with columns: Name, Price, Quantity. Lists stock market transactions for January 26, 1863.

LECTURE BY THE REV. DR. HARWOOD.

This evening the fifth lecture of the popular course of lectures in the city of Philadelphia was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Harwood.

REMARKS BY THE REV. DR. HARWOOD.

By courtesy the time was afterwards occupied by the Rev. Dr. Harwood in reading a paper on the subject of the "Sabbath School."

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE.

Table with columns: Name, Price, Quantity. Lists stock market transactions for January 26, 1863.