WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN DROWNED .--- Yes terday morning the body of a well-dressed man was found in the Delaware near Christian-street wharf. The coroner held an inquest. There were no external marks found upon his person, indicating violence, and the jury rendered a verdict of found drowned.

From papers found upon him it was evident that the deceased body was that of Harry Connelly, a well-known resident of Philadelphia. The remains of deceased were removed to the Second-district station-house where they were identified by Lieut-Frank Hampton, who was well acquainted with Mr. Connelly,

In former years Mr. C. was a prominent politician In Philadelphia, his native city. He had attained the age of fifty-seven years. In early life he was a facturer of cotton goods, his mills being located in the State of Delaware. He was always an ad-mirer of Henry Clay, and an ardent supporter of the doctrine of that great stateman, "Protection to American Industry." In the course of time he relinquished the manufacturing business and came to Philadelphia and entered extensively into the iquor business, starting at Sixth and Minor streets, and finally removing to Seventh and Chestnut, at which place he conducted business for a period of ffteen vears.

It was here he became widely known, and esteem ed for his genuine business tact, goodness of heart, fine social qualities, and sterling integrity. Those who had attained the higher walks in political life never or seldom failed to pay their respects to Mr. Connelly while on a visit to the city. He was the happy possessor of good address, a fluent talker, and a warm friend. For a number of years he was a director of the Sunbury and Erie Railroad Company, and also one of the trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Works, having been elected to the position several years ago by the City Councils He had the faculty developed, in a large degree, of attaching himself to the people. They will regret to hear of his sudden and unnatural death. He was in company with a friend on Monday evening, and when they separated he said he would take a car and proceed home. This appears to be the last heard of or known about Mr. Connelly until his body wa found as above stated, in the river Delaware, near Christian-street wharf, yesterday morning.

FUNERAL OF REV. D. J. WHELAN.-Yesterday morning the funeral of Rev. David J. Whelan, who died on Saturday last, at Tamaqua, Pennsylvania, took place from the Church of St. Philip de Neri, in Queen street, above Second. Father Whelan was born in Waterford county. Ireland, and came to this country at an early age, en-tered as a student in the Seminary of St. Charles Borromeo, in this city, and thence graduated as a Oatholic priest. He acted as an assistant pastor in Catholic prices. The acted as an assistant pastor in St. Philip's Church during six years. For nearly two years he has been pastor of St. Jerome's Ohurch, Tamaqua, Pennsylvania, and in the dis-oharge of his dutics there he died, in, the thirty-eighth year of his age. He was yeay highly esteemed wherever known, and distinguished for picty, learn-ing, and Christian zeal. His remains arrived in this of your Moniday evolution and were escended to St.

eighth year of his age. He was very highly esteemed wherever known, and distinguished for picty, learning, and Ohristian zeal. His remains arrived in this olity on Monday evening, and were escorted to St. Philip's Church by a large number of the congregation. The requiem service at the church over which he lately presided was attended by nearly three thousand percens, the Catholic citzens of Tamaqua, we were to do, having set and eal business on Monday to convey his body, with becoming honors, to the railroad depot for Philadelphia.
St. Philip's Church by was filed to its greatest capadity, and the services were conducted in silence which was only broken at times by the sobs of the congregation. The remains lay in state beneath an elegant and tasteful catafalque, which was brightly lit up by innumerable candles. It occupied a large space in the middle aisle, directly opposite the altar. It was fourteen feet high by six feet wide, and eight and I has free tong. The top formed a graceful curvature, upon which was a cross bearing the words "Requirecant in eternum," and "Tu es sneerdos in cfernum." The catafalque was, we understand, the handlwork of Mr. Simon Gartland, under whose supervision the interment at the Cathedral Cennetry took place.
The Requiem Mass was sung, commencing at about 10 0'olock, the sanctuary being filled with elengtry to St. Oharles' Seminary. Deacon, Rev. Edw. Fitzmor fis Subdecon, Rev. ser, No. 1218 North Fifteenth street, and stolen therefrom a gold watch and chain. Mr. Keyser was absent at the time; there was no one home, we be-lieve, besides his wife. It seems the daring fellow entered the house, and ascended to the second story, from which he purloined the watch and chain. Mrs. Keyser was so: ewhat frightened at the presence of the stranger, and as he was about to leave the house she called for help. One or two car drivers or con-ductors seized the fellow, and had a short struggle with him. He was handed over to the custoly of a police officer, who conducted him to the lock up. The accused was caught "dead to rights," as the police call it. He was committed to prison to await trial at the present term of the court.

(Before Mr. Alderman Beiller.) A Pawnbroker Unlicensed. Michael McCabe was arraigned, at the Contral Station, yesterday afternoon, on the charge of keep-ing a pawnbroker shop without having taken out a license. Detective Levy testified that he had recently re-covered parcels of stolen goods at the shop of the defendant, and that no license has been taken out by the keeper. The defendant was ordered to enter $2,000 bail to answer at court.

One of the Party Caught at Last.

Sarah White, a colored woman, was arraigned on the charge of the larceny of some wash-clothes, the property of Mrs. Mary Mears, residing at 1714 Pine street. A short time since, the accused called at the residence of Mrs. Mears, and said she had been sent for the wash-clothes, "Who sent you for them?" said an inmate of the

"Who sent you for them?" said an inmate of the house. "Why, my aunt, to be sure; because she's gwang to the country, and won't do the washing this yere week." Nobody suspecting but that everything was right, the clothes were given to the applicant, and she took them away. They were not returned. Infor-mation was recorded in the private memorandum book of Lieut. Buckley, the chief acting dignitary at the Central Station, and Chief Franklin delegated Detective Levy to work out the case. He recovered some of the goods, and after faithfully watching suc-ceeded in capturing the individual whose "aunt had gone to the country." After a hearing the defendant was sent to the country, or in other words, to the County Prison, in the semi-tural section of the Grant Man

Specimen of the Gum Man.

Specimen of the Gum Man. A preity good looking young man, giving the name of Charles A. Scott, was arraigned before the alder-man at the Central Station, on suspicion of being engaged in fraudulent traffic. The officer in giving in his evidence, epoke in so low a tone that it reemed as if he was speaking confidentially to the magistrate. This passing strange that officers do not speak clearly. From what we could glean from the evidence, it seems the defendant had a lot of gum blankels, gum boots, gum shoes, gum coats, and he attracted the attention of a police officer. The de-fendant had traded some of the things for dothing at far below their real value. He seemed to he on a sort of peddling tour when accousts of the weak-viced official, he gave several accounts as to the precise manner in which he became the possessor of the goods. He said he attended auctions; that he attracted no his artest; nothing was publicly develop-ed showing any guilty knowledge on his part. He was required to enter bail in the sum of $1,000, to wavit a further hearing, to take place on the list inst, on the charge of larceny, and also with re-ceiving stolen goods. action of or Alt Action and a school method and a school of or Alt Action and a school method. The Committee on High School reported resolu-tions as follows: One, changing the title of J. B. Beal, professor of drawing, writing, and bookkeeping, to that of pro-fessor of drawing. Adopted. Another, changing the title of James A. Kirkpa-trick, professor of civil engineering, to that of profe-sor of bookkeeping and writing. Adopted. Also, one increasing the salaries of Professors Hopper and Rand to $1,500 per annum. Adopted. A communication was received from the principals of the Girls' Grammar Schools, urging that certain resolutions passed at the last meeting, in reference to admissions into the High School. take effect im-mediately.

ceiving stolen goods. Disorderly Boot-blacks. George Smith, Charles White, Charles Drain, Richard McGonigal, and Thomas McVay, all boot-blacks, were arraigned at the Central Station, on complaint of Mr. John Ottenkirk, the proprietor of a public house on Dock street. The complainant testified that he has been greatly annoyed by these boot-blacks for some time past, and he is determined, if the law has any virtue, to put a stop to it. The boys have been in the habit of loafing about the passing in and out, using profue and obscene lan-guage, running into the hotel, and hehaving in a very disorderly manner. The party were ordered to had bail in the same of $300 each to be of future good behavior. The magistrate also gave them to under-stand that if any of them were brought Lefore him again, on the same complaint, he would send them to the House of Refuge.

Bervice of the accession. Trainer the mass, the sermon, a polished and able preached of the thermony approximation of the accessed clergy man, was pal events in the life of Father Wheldan, and divert. upon each with a special reference to the influence which it excreted among those among whom he mi-nistered. The example which he set to others' was worthy of being followed, for in all things he acted with an eye single to the interests of religion and humanity. Self-interest was no characteristic of the deceased, for he worked not for hinself, but for the good of his fellow man. His ilfe had been one of self-denial, and suffering. He was enthroned in the hearts of his opgregation, and the best evidence of his success as allaborer in the vineyard was, that he secured their undivided affection. The speaker maked that those present would remember in their prayers the deceased priest, for though he did lead, it might be said, a spotless life, yet they alouid pray for him. All-clergy and laity-were brethren, and one needed the prayers of the other. The interment took place at the Cathedral Come-metery, West Philadelphia. The functal come-metery, West Philadelphia. THE SOLDIER'S RIGHT TO THE FRAN-CHISE.—The ISISt Regiment Pennsylvania volun-teers have recently forwarded to the Governor of this State a petition praying that the soldiers may have the right of franchise. The following is the

have the right of franchise. The following is the substance of the petition : "The undersigned citizens of Pennsylvania, now officers of the loist Regiment Pennsylvania volun-teers, respectfully submit to your Excellency the following memorial. It touches a grievance which is deeply felt by many who love their country, and who, prompted by that love, have taken up arms in defence of its National Constitution. "We find that in addition to the social and pecu-niary sacrifices, which are involved in a separation from our homes, our families, and our business, we are held to have forfeited the freeman's great politi-cal right of the elective franchise. "We feel oonvinced, your Excellency, that it could never have been the deliberate intention of the framers of our State Constitution to thus im-pose a penalty upon patriotism. And yet it not only does, impose a penalty upon ratriotism, but it offers a premium to disaffection. The practical effect is just as if the State of Pennsylvania were to announce to her sons as follows: "if the oth of fort of fort of fort for a rour political sights offers & pression to unsafection. The pression effect is just as if the State of Pennsylvania were to announce to her sons as follows: ""You who go to fight for your political rights shall be deprived of your political rights shall have your political infuence increased, through the ab-sence of those who do go. Those of you who make any sacrifice, who offer even life itself, in support of the Government, shall, for that reason, be deprived of your former share in the Government. Those of you who make no sacrifices in support of the Go-vernment shall have a greater share in the Govern-ment than ever, by reason of the absence of its de-fenders in arms." "'Such, may it please your Excellency, we are persuaded, was not the intent of the framers of our State Constitution. And yet such, practically, is the direct effect of disfranchising the citizen who volunteers to serve his country as a soldier. It leads every citizch in the field to inquire as follows: "'Is it possible that we loveour country less, and are we less worthy to be intrusted by it than before we took up arms to defend itt. Is it possible that we, who have offered to fight for the Government, deserve less of it than those who have stayed at home?" "All of us know men in our respective counties deserve 1985 of it bian table who have counties home?" "All of us know men in our respective counties who, so far from enlisting themselves, have dis-suaded others from enlisting. How hard it is for the soldier to think the disaffected citizens at home retain a power against the Government which is-taken from those who have gone forth to battle to uphold it!

The solute is power against the Government which is taken from those who have gone forth to battle to uphold it?
"In short, may it please your Excellency, we submit that for the Government to deprive one citizen of the right of voting. because he has drawn the sword to defend it, is to punish patriotism, to foster treason, and to practice suicide.
"If it were only the undersigned who were dis-franchised, it would be little more than a personal matter to ourselves. But it is probable that not less than one hundred thousand voters in the single State of Pennsylvania were prevented from voting at the late election; and they were deprived of voting for no other crime than that they had barred their bosoms to the bayonets of the common enemy of all.
"To rathors, or those who sympathize with treason, we make no appeal for redress, or even for a hearing. But can it be doubted that every patriot at home, severy patriot member of the Legislature; every patriot member of that great multitude of patriots who are now in the army?
"As a friend both of the soldier and the eitizen, may it please your Excellency, and as a friend of our Republican system of government, we respectively of worts in the facts to the Legislature; to see if some way cannot b devised by which to correct the great politicit anemaly of depriving, those patriots, the great heat fight of voting; who, in defence of that very right, brave hardships, dangers, and even death thesi?"
The alove appeal is signed by Lieut. Col. George F, Mofraland, Wang and on the Batz, and Cranchil, by Lieutonats Merkle, Potts, Mills, Oliver, Blodget/Holenback, Reber, and Jameson, by Sergeant Rook, Wade, Moxley, and Stover.

SCARCITY OF HORSES .- The constant demand for horses for the use of the army and for throughout the vicinity of Philadelphia, and this throughout the vicinity of Philadelphia, and this fact accounts for the rapid sale of Western animals, many of which have recently found their way to our markets. Quite a number of Bucks county men started West, a few days since, to buy and bring in horset for the home market. Several other dealers are now on the route homeward, or have already arrived, and the horse trade is quite as active as during any former season. Good horses have been obtained at the sales held so far; and dealers feel encouraged to try again.

MEETING OF THE BOND AND STOCK-HOLDERS OF THE CHESTER VALLEY RAILROAD COM-

HOLDERS OF THE CHESTER VALLEY KAILROAD UOX-PANY.—An adjourned meeting of the bond and stock-holders of the Chester Valley Railroad Company took place yesterday at half-past 12 o'clock, in the old Board of Trade rooms, at the Exchange. Joseph W. Ryerss was in the chair, and L. E. Corson secre-tary. The meeting was for the purpose of voting upon the acceptance of an amendment of the charter. At the previous meeting the tellers reported they had received 1,873 votes on bonds for the acceptance, and 481 votes on 2,416 shares of stock for the accep-tance. No votes against it.

THE LAYING OF WATER PIPE.-The bill introduced into the Legislature relative to the lay-ing of water pipe in this city, provides that in future ing of water pipe in this city, provides that in future the price recoverable from owners of ground for lay-ing pipe in front of their lots shall be only the actual cost of such work, to be ascertained from the last official report of the chief engineer. Water pipe is now laid in immense quantities, amounting to some twenty miles per annum, and the cost at present is feit to be exceedingly onerous, being over three times the actual cost.
