Speculation, of course, is the characterizing feature of the market, mingled, perhaps, with doubts as to the early settlement of the financial question in Washington. The necessi-ties of aur monetary position can searcely afford the do-lay in regard to the backbone, the mainstay of our ex-listence, and a general indifference on the part of Con-gressmen is not only reprehendible, but is calculated to create a terror among business men and persons of mo-derate nears that it will take a long time to remove. Now is he time for the trassury to be replensibled; just when Government loans are in quick demand at ad-vancing prices. Settle the question of finance, and ample means will be laid under the control of Secre-tary Chesi to meet all demand sagainst him. By some means, let Vongrees be startled into action.
