The arrival of the paymastera by the last trip of the Arago was an auspicious event, and already the diffusion of the greenbacks has commenced. But with them there was an advent of sharpers, whose object in coming was simply to reap the harvest of treasury notes sown among the troops. One of these gamblers—a fellow named James A. Story, alias Horton—was arrested at the Port Royal House yes-terday. He hails from Norwich, Connecticut, and in his possession were found various memoranda, advantage cards, and other ingenious devices for cheating at play. Story is now in confinement at the provost guard-house, with a sixty-two pound ball and chain attached to his leg. With his fine clothes and solemn countenance he cuts a sorry figure among his rougher-featured and more plainly-clad companions, whose chief an usement is to set his cannon ball rolling and watch the involuntary mimbleness of the unbucky prisoner as the ponderous weight bounds over the ground. Story was accompanied to this point by a con-federate named Ellsbury, on whose track a skillind detective is now at work. It is alleged that both the influence of a sutter in Beaufort, named Beard, workhed for them as his clerks, and who is sup-posed to have been aware of their -real character. The report goes that the collection was one of the larrest ever made in that church. Not very dissimilar in style, senten-tiousness, and effect, was the sermon preached by the illustrious Bishop of Orlean in his cathedral on a late Sunday, on behalf of the distressed operatives in the department of the Lower Scine, of which Rouen is the capital. His Lordship ascended the pulpit and said: "This is no time for long sermons, but for good works. You are all acquainted with the calamities of those whose cause I am come here this day to plead before you. Once upon a time a king, whose name is still cherished by us, said to his companions in arms, on whom he thought with reason that he could rely: 'Ily good friends, I am your king; you are Frenchmen; yonder are the enemy: Let us march "I will not address you in any other words this day than these: 'I am your bishop, you are christians; yonder are, not our enemies, but our brothers, who suffer: Let us fly to their succor."" The Bishop then descended from the pulpit and made the collection himself, which amounted to the sum of 16,299f. (about £612,) a very large sum con-sidering that it was the collection in only one church in a city that contains only 40,000 inhabi-tants. As the Indianola steamed down the river through the squadron the unusual and considerable noise-made by her escape pipes and her double sets of wheels attracted general attention to her, and gave sufficient notice to all her friends of what was up. Nothing could be seen of her, but the noise was sufficient to disclose her whereabouts, the direction she was running, and the high rate of speed at which she was moving. After passing entrely through the fleet, and on reaching the vicinity of the upper end of the canal, she shutfoff steam en-tirely and suffered the current to bear her along. The current in the bend in front of Vicksburg sweeps along at a rate of about four miles an hour. Of course the boat ran along at no less a rate, and with the advantage of making not a particle of noise. In his manner she rounded the point and was fairly beneath the formidable batteries, still she drifted along in perfect obscurity. But it was not to be the good fortune, even of this fortunate vessel, to wholly ende detection. The rebels were far too vigilant for that. Every foot of that levee was patrolled by wary sentinels. These could not be bamed for failing to discover the ap-proach of what could neither be seen or heard. But let a flash of light fail upon that boat, and how quickly if would ne hailed. And such a flash was destined soon to fail upon it. Just shead, a camp fire was burning dimiy upon the bank. As the drift-ing ship approached this camp fire a soldier stooped down and gathering some flaggots threw them into the fire. A bright blaze flashed up in a moment, ra-diating over land and water, exposing everything within its phere. We learn by parties arriving by the train last night that when the cars were at Lafayette—on the Charleston railroad, two stations this side of La Grange—yesterday afternoon, the people there in-formed them that some Federal soldiers and team-sters, who had been out foraging, had been enptured by the enemy. From persons thus exptured, who had contrived to escape, they learned that a Con-federate force, estimated by the escaped persons at four thousand men, was lying encamped six miles south of that place. Considerable excitement existed, and a dash on the Charleston road— for the purpose of destroying some bridge, or a portion of the rails—was feared. PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.—We mentioned last week that the Provincial Parliament had as-sembled at Quebec. Its organization occupied two days in consequence of the death of the late Speaker, Sir Allan MacNab. The Hon. Alexander Campbell, of Kingston, was unanimously elected Speaker of the Legislative Council, and the Hon. Joseph Edourd Turcotte, Speaker of the Assembly. The Governor General, in his opening speech, congratulates both Houses upon the spirit of loyalty and patriotism which is manifested throughout the country. He says that a bill will be submitted to improve the militia system; also, a measure for the better ad-justment of parliamentary representation; and a bill for the more equitable settlement between debtor and creditor. 3d. I., an ancient Indian burying-ground (supposed to be about two hundred years old), from which some curious relics have been ex-humed. The relics consist of a string of colored beads, thirty-four in number; a thin piece of slate-stone, about nine by twelve inches, beautifully im-printed with the fern leaf, and a round stone postle, some eighteen inches in length by eight inches in circumference, with which the red skins were proba-bly accustomed to "grind their grist." THE DEFENCES OF CHARLESTON.-A let-ter from the blockading squadron of Charleston, just received in Boston, says that from observation with powerful glasser and the statements of deser-ters, it is evident that Charleston is strongly forti-fied. There is no doubt that Fort Moultrie, as well as Fort Sumpter, is iron-clad, and that the rebels have a considerable number of very powerful guns in position. Still, if no accidents happen to our iron-clads (and a number will be kept in reserve to meet emergencies), the admiral in command (Dupont) is confident that he shall be able to capture the city. The laid troops at Charleston consist mainly of con-scripts, who would not probably make a very stout resistance to our march onward, in case the city should be captured. When the letter was written it was not known when the assault would be made. INDUSTRY OF GENERAL BANKS.-A New Orleans letter to the Roston Journal says. THREE CENTS. RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE

Christian Commission. Another of the series of meetings in behalf of the Obristian Commission was held on Sabbath evening the 22d inst., at Washington City.

Secretary Chase presided, and read a noble letter from President Lincoln, declining the honor of the chair, but endorsing, in emphatic and outspoken Christian terms, the objects of the Coommission Addresses were made by Mr. George H. Stuart, president of the commission ; ex-Governor Pollock, of Pennsylvania ; Hon. Horace Maynard, of Tenssee; Major General Howard, U.S.A.; Rev. Dr. Taylor, secretary of the American Bible Society ; Rev. Joseph T. Duryea, of New York ; Joseph Patterson, of Philadelphia, treasurer of the commis sion, and by Admiral Foote. The spirit of the meeting was patriotic and Christian. The great question of individual prac-tical piety was considered in its vital bearings upon the interests of the nation; and it was declared in emphatic, almost prophetic tones, that the religious element alone could conserve the life of the coun-try, and that unless it should arise and assert its power at home and in the field, the country, would be lost. The bold testimonies of General Howard and Admiral Foote, on this point, with the opening ad-dress of Secretary Chase, and the letter of the Presi-dent—and, indeed, the words of every speaker—left nothing to be desired by the Christian, and marked the meeting as one of the most patriotic and Christian that have been held since the war. The following is the President's letter declining sion, and by Admiral Foote.

relic of the past, she died respected by all. COL. ALLEN'S REGIMENTAL FLAG.—This war trophy, which was borne by the 155th Regi-ment Pennsylvania Volunteers at the battle of Fre-dericksburg, has been brought to Pittsburg by Quar-termaster Palmer and Mr. S. Pollock, sufter of the regiment. The staff was struck by a Minnie ball, about eighteen inches from the top, and cut in two, and the flag itself was pierced by bullets in fourteen places. It must be a matter of pride amongst the friends of the members of that valiant regiment to view the flag that was carried by them through that terrible battle. After being fixed on a new staff it will be returned to the regiment, with the name "Fredericksburg" inscribed on it. READING AND COLUMBIA RAILEOAD.—

Col. James Johnson, 175, Harrisbug. DEATH OF THE "OLDEST INHABITANT." Mirs. Elizabeth Myers, late of Antis township, Blair county, was, in many respects, a remarkable woman. She was born in the year 1754, consequent-ly she was 109 years old when she died. To realize the changes that occurred during her long and eventful life, we have only to reflect that, at the time of her birth, Washington was beleaguered by the French at Fort Necessity; Pittsburg was then a small fort in possession of the French; that Brad-dock was defeated next year; that she was twenty-one years old at the Declaration of Independence, and was fifty-eight at the breaking out of the war of 1812 i. She lived before steamboats were invented, saw canal boats cross the mountain, the "iron horse" do the same, and the telegraph compete with thought. Last and saddest of all, she lived to see traitors striving to breaking up the Government, which her husband fought and bled to establish. A relic of the past, she died respected by all.
