Several donations were received and communica-tions presented in reference to agricultural and kindred subjects. An interesting discussion upon the cultivation of the Chinese sugar plant, known as sorghum surer, took place, and many new facts in relation to it were adduced. A sample of the article was presented by Mr. Militon Conrad, of Westgrove, and its merits were practically tested by the members. Mr. Con-rad addressed the Stociety at some length, explain-ing the manner of its culture, and the prospective importance of orghum in the commerce of Penn-sylvania. He claimed that the development of sorg-hum should be urged on the ground of domestic economy. He stated, as his belief, that the moment Pennsylvania shall have introduced the culture of the Chinese sugar cance regularly into her system of husbandry, she will add to her positive wealth an-nually, over and above her present savings, more than a million of dollars. The aggregate of syrup made in Chester and adja-cent counties the past season cannot have failen short of 32,000 gallons, a gain of two to one over last year; and from present supparances Chester county alone will exceed this quantity the coming season. The sorghum plant may be sail to be a vigorous and determined grown jaust far outstrips the In-dian corn, its seeds are so small that one grain of orm will outweigh studied. The local state are so small that one grain of orm will outweigh studied. In poor soil, with a chance frosty night after it has come up, and dry, parching windle by day, the plant in he early stages of its growth must necess-nity be delicate and healthy growth through-enty of outgrows of the sine as Mr. Conrast's experience and observation have reached, fully counteracted all constitutional tendency to diseasa, and decured a vigorous and healthy growth through-out any other method, however, by which the diminutive plant shall be atimulated in its infancy to a vigorous growth, and the other conditions ful-fited, may succeed equaly weil. The following embraces bri render any information that his experience can sug-gest. He uses Clark's vertical three-roller, four-horse, mill, and Cook's patent evaporator, No. 5, capable of producing twelve to eighteen gallons of syrup per hour, according to the richness of the juice. It is an interesting fact connected with the erop of the past season, he said, that the juice, weighed by sacharo-meter, ranged from nine to fourteen degrees, while ordinarily it has weighed from six to eleven degrees. This difference is attributable to the extraordinary drought of the season, but not at all calculated to confirm the suspicion that the cane will depreciate in our climate.

Now, it followed that the agricultural interests of the States where sorghum can be successfully raised, with these the interests of our

Vicious Girls. Recently, as the readers of The Press know, quite a number of arrests were made of little girls who had been in the habit of going into counting-houses, places under prefence of selling matches or apples. Such a profession is not the kind for little girls to follow. It makes them coarse, rulgar, rude, and strips from them all that refines the female charac-ter; they become brazen, and are speedily cast from respectable society. There are many temptations which surround little girls who follow the business of apple ordentistical. They soon lose the art-of felling lies, no matter how strand become capable of telling lies, no matter how strand become capable of telling lies, no matter how strand become capable of telling lies, no matter how strand become ary be-man Welding, consequent upon the streng if a way be-man Welding, consequent upon the streng if a way be-ing the streng the most disgnsting stories at the expense of very aged men, some of whom are noted for their undeviating morality and even religion. Trembling with feele old age-trembling meintally with fear of having their good name tarniahed by the publication of the girls' statements, caused morality to weep over the melancholy scene of so much jurcenile depravity, sporting with and torturing silverhaired respectability. These girls, brazen to the lasi degree, running like so many streams from an impure fountain, must have had a most periodous example set them at home. Their mothers, or those who pretend to be such, have much to hawer for. There is an in-stitutive modesiry about a girl, even before reaching the see of womather, and the girls are reduced to protestional discustion. There is an in-stitutive modesiry about a girl, even before reaching the see of womather, and the girls are reduced to protestionally and the girls are reduced to the recent, and have a down and the first are reduced to the recent developed. THE PRESS.-PHILADELPHIA, THURSDAY. MARCH 5. 1863.

CLAND. TELLIAAUPILAPILA, iollowing facts: In the summer of 1861 this little girl had a fall, which injured here knee joint to such an extent that swelling was produced; and she was unable to walk freely. For some time her parents had her treated in various ways, but, no permanent relief being afforded, they concluded 'to take her to the defendant, whose reputation for effecting won-derful cures had reached thom. On Thankrgiving day last, therefore, in the after-examining her leg, he operated upon her. The child was laid on her father's lap, face down, and while in this position, the doctor raised her foet several times with one hand, while he pressed the other on the small of her back. Her father noticed, at the time, that comething enapped during this process of treatment, but paid no attention to it. The child sereamed a great deal, and the doctor told him to put his hand over her mouth, nothing was noticed on the child until the Sunday following, when her mother, while washing her, discovered this protu-berance on the spine; the father then took her to Dr. DcLacy's, at Fourth and South streets, who in-formed him that her spine was dislocated. On the reat day he called on the defendant, and he told him to bring the child up on the following morning this he had heard. The defendant told him that that was caused by the patting in place of a joint that her spine whet are or the spine was dislocated. On the coded, and that if he would bring the child hack in about three weeks—in the meantime having her child was not taken back. The defendant never at any time made any charge whatever for treating her. Among the other physicians called was Dr. Tames R. McClintoek, and, after examining the child was not taken back. Was caused by curvature of the spine, which might very probably have been produced by serofula ; that in his opinion it was very improbable that the there had heen hand was afflicted with serofula is the index there had received from Dr. Newton had caused it, although it might possibly have tended of not guilty. THE ITARKNESS CONSPIRACY CASE—DISCHARGE OF THE DEPENDANTS. Charles and Norris Harkness, who were heard some time ago on a writ of habeas corpus sur charge of conspiracy to defraud their brother. John Hark-ness, in the settlement of the affairs of the partner-ship of Charles Harkness & Sons, were discharged yesterday by Judge Allison. The charge grew out of the sale of the partnership effects on a judgment confessed by Charles Harkness, and the question raised on the hearing, and for the decision of which the case went over then, was whicher a partner, after the dissolution of a firm, could, even for a partnership debt, confess a judgment which bound partnership the confess a judgment which bound partnership the confesse of a private debt, while the chace went over then, was whicher a partner, after the dissolution of a firm, could, even for a partnership debt, confess a judgment which bound point in the case. The Commonwealth alleged that the judgment was confessed for a private debt, while the defence alleged, on the other hand, that it was confessed by the liquidating partner for a partner-ship debt. After a careful review of the decisions of the Supreme Court, the Judge said that he had come to the conclusion that a liquidating, partner-ship debt that would bind anything but his own interest; that it was void as to the other partners, and a sale under it conveyed nothing but his own interest; that it was void as to the other strents; that there then could be no combination against him, and no conspiracy, even taking the strongest ground against defendants, alleged by the Commonwealth, because the sale did not after thin. He had still his remedy at law, and could comple the purchaser to account. For these reasons the defendants were discharged.

CULP, deceased The Anditor appointed by the Court is nudit, settle, and adjust the third account of WILLIAM H. KEICHLINE, trastee and executor of and under the will of JAMES W. CULP, deceased, and to make distribution of the balance in the hands of the accountant, will 'meet the parties in interest, on TUESDAY. the Trih day of March next, at his office, No. 317 South Seventh streeet, at 4 o'clock in the advance.

which had so long restrained him, and to lay the whole case before the tribunals of the country. The action arose in the form of a demand for a judicial declaration that the plaintif is in reality the natural son of the late Mademoiselle Louise Delaunay de Villemessant, the daughter of Philippe De-launay de Villemessant, one of the body guards of Louis XVI., by his wife, Louise Hurault de Saing Denis. M. Lachaud, counsel for M. de Ville-messant, stated, in substance, that the mother of his elient, a lady of excellent family in Touraine, was seduced by a Colosel Cartier, whom she accompanied throughout Europe in the wars of the Empire, in which he greatly distinguished hmself. By him she had two children, the plaintiff, born at Rouen in 1810, and a girl named Isoline, now decased. The mother, after her elopement, bore the name of Car-tier, and that name was habitually given to her chil-dre during their infancy. Nevertheless, when the present plaintiff, at the age of sixteen, went through the Catholic ceremony of the first communion, he was described by his name of of Villemessant, which was also among the proofs. That he was also among the proofs. That he was also among the proofs. That he was also where, to all those who knew his mother, the striking likeness that, at the age of 21, M. de Villemessant, where and married without his mother's consent. On that occasion, in order to evade the law, he procured an "act of notoriety," in which he was described by the name of Cartier, such as having been born in Poland, of "arents unknown." Soon after the marriage, his mother forgave him, and he lived on terms of affection with her until her death, which happened in a most tragical way in 1847. Colonel Cartier thad then been long dead, and she, having losta lawsuit in which the best of his ability, and one of the proofs of her ac-knowledgment of him as her son was a bill in her favor, drawn by him, and endorsed by the rea-trage and she, having losta lawsuit in which the best of his ability, and one of the proofs lavor, drawn of him, and childred by her. However, in 1847, Midle. de Villemessant and her daughter iso-line committed suicide together, leaving letters in which they desired that their little furniture in their lodging at Montmartre might be given to the plain-tiff. Ever since that time, the name of de Ville-messant has been borne by the plaintiff without dis-pute. But, very lately, M. Oazain and Madame Vezein, the legitinate nephew and niece of his mother, brought an action against him in Paris, in which they alleged that their only real name was Cartler, and that he had no right to bear the family name of M. de Villemessant. In answer to this action the plaintiff, not wishing to brand the memory of his mother, contented himself with pleading the thotoriety of his name of de Villemessant. The tribunal of Paris, however, held that, in the face of the "act of notoriety" obtained by himself on the occasion of his matriage, the evidence of contrary notoriety was not sufficient, and it accordingly granted an injunction against his using the name of de Villemessant. M. de Villemessant appealed, and the Court of Appeal has just decided that, "from all the circumstances of the case, it resulted that the child born at Rouen in 1810, and duly registered there, was the appellant, and that he was conse-quently entitled to bear the name of de Villemessant, as legally belonging to him."

And in common with these, the interests of our whole people will be promoted by the early intro-duction of its culture. The superior quality of the syrup and sugar, the peculiar necessities of our present political condition, our natural love of in-dependence, combined with the consideration of the very limited amount of capital necessary to establish the manufacture, it seems should stimulate every farmer to introduce the culture of the cane, and should prompt enterprising me in every neighborshould prompt enterprising men in every neighbor-hood to provide establishments for its manufac-hood to provide establishments for its manufac-ture. At the conclusion of Mr. Conrad's statement seve-ral questions were asked, which were satisfactorily replied to. Among them, one as to the comparative profitableness of the sorghum cron, as compared with the cultivation of Indian corn. Mr. Conrad stated, as his experience, that of Indian corn, fity bushels could be raised to the acre. In the fall, at the time the syrup is sold, the corn realizes about seventy cents clear of expenses, which is less than the proceeds of an acre of ground planted with sorghum, yielding about two hundred gallons. Dr. Kennedy, secretary of the society, stated that this was the first time that so full, and explicit an explanation was made regarding this important subject, though many references had been made re-specting the conversion of sorghum into sugar. The society soon after adjourned.

MANUFACTURE OF WHISKY .- The manufacture of whisky has, of late years, become quite a business in Bucks county. There are no less than five places where apple whisky is made. The whisky made in Bucks county is all distilled from the juice of apples, and mostly made for farmers by the of spples, and mostly made for farmers by the shares. The distiller converts the cider into whisky, and keeps about one-third of the product for his pay. A forty-gailon cask of cider will make about ten gallons of whisky of ordinary strength. Some-times the distiller takes the apples fresh from the trees and returns a stipulated amount of liquor. Years ago the apple-whisky business was quite common in Bucks county, and many farmers thought it as important to have a barrel of whisky for family use as a barrel of vinegar. But times have changed, and whisky has lost the eminence it once enjoyed. The immense erop of apples last fall no doubt sug-gested the making of them into whisky, as many people had more than they knew what to do with.

[Before Mr. Alderman White.] Constructive Larceny. A case, which happens once in a great while, came up before Mr. Alderman White, of the Fifth ward, yesterday afternoon. Julia Debrun, the wife of the proprietor of a South-street Jew clothing store, was arraigned on complaint of Mary Barrett on the charge of the larceny of ten dollars. The cir-cumstances are these: Mrs. Barrett has a son in the army. A short time since he sent his mother fifty dollars in treasury notes. She received one twenty, two tens, and two fives. She paid some debts, and retained the twenty-dollar note and one of the tens. She went to the store of Debrun and purchased a dress for five dollars. She tendered one of the notes in payment, and received five dollars in change. On the next, day, on looking into her port monnaie, it not having been out of her possession at any time, she discoved a ten and a five-dollar note. She had given the $20, in mistake for a $10, when she paid for the dress. On explaining the matter to Mrs. De-brun, the latter refused to "fork over," alleging that it was not a twenty-dollar note that she had re-ceived. It so happened that the prosecutivi had a friend GOVERNMENT PROPERTY.-A recent army order prohibits any citizen from wearing a United States uniform, no matter how he came by it, whether by purchase or otherwise. Discharged whether by purchase or otherwise. Discharged soldiers have a right to wear a uniform as a badge of honor. The provos guards in the different parts of the State have been instructed to act under this order, and take from every citizen any portion of the uniform or buttons of the United States army which they may wear in public. It is well that these facts should be known. A-peanut man, whose stand is located on Chesnut street, had, recently, the but-tons cut from his coat by one of the provost guard. Many of the by-standers did not understand the meaning of this act, and were loud in the denuncia-tions against the guard, who were only carrying out the instructions of the War Department.
