The case is a peculiar one, and raises an interesting point. Both the parents are dead, and the child is now in the custody of its mother's relations.

This writ was sued out by the father of Mr. Macneil, the grandfather of the child, and is opposed by the mother's relatives, who are residing in Chicago, on the ground that the mother executed in 1860 a will, appointing her brother, the defendant here, testamentary guardian.

From the evidence it appears that the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Macneil was a very short and unhappy one; for after six months of wedded life a separation was had, and proceedings in divorce commenced, which finally terminated in a decree of divorce being entered.

Mrs. Macneil moved to Chicago, and quite recently came on again to Philadelphia, on business, from whence she went to Brooklyn, where, on the 9th of the present month, she died. Her will, making a testamentary disposition of the child, was executed in this city, but is, it is contended, by the laws of this State, void, and of no effect as to that particular portion. By the laws of Illinois, however, the widow has power to make this testamentary disposition, and accordingly considerable evidence was heard as to the allegation that the mother was domiciled at Chicago, Illinois, at the time of her death in Brooklyn, New York.

On the other hand, it is contended that even granting the change of the mother's domicile from this city to Chicago, Illinois, yet this would not operate to change the child's domicile, which is of the domicile of his father.

The defendants assert, however, that the child, after the death of the father, acquires the domicile of the mother during her widowhood. MR. Edward Young, on being sworn; testified that he is employed as a clerk in the Adjutant General's office. I know nothing about this discharge; I recognize the envelope; it is in my handwriting; I don't know for whom I wrote it; I know nothing about the paper but the direction; it might have been a card that was enveloped; I directed it for Mr. Ken; I don't remember any conversation we may have had; he merely said he wanted an envelope directed for a friend of his, and then handed me the paper; I did not open it; I put it into the envelope, and directed it for Kern; I think this was in the month of February; I never directed but one; I have been employed as clerk since the 21st of February, for general duties; have addressed envelopes; I do not recollect this envelope distinctly; I think it is in my handwriting; when I put the paper in, Kern said it was to oblige a friend.

Oyrus S. Halderman sworn.—Upon arriving at the office yesterday morning, the clerks opened the mail to make an examination, for we had suspicion that something had been going on wrong for some time; we had noticed considerable irregularities; I received the papers which Captain Freas has presented here; the blank form (a printed document) was evidently prepared at our office; they were sent to Washington; I then re-enveloped and sent to the commanding officer of the company as an application for a descriptive list; these notices are generally made out by Mr. Hufty; the signature of Oapt. Freas to this paper (holding the forged document in his hand) is a base forgery, for it is an imitation of the style in which he makes his signature; besides this, the discharge bears no date, and for this omission we had to overhaul all our books to ascertain this one case; I also recognize the has been known to relieve the most urgent symptom MR. Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions—Judge Allison.

An important counterfeiting case.

Joseph Branch, James Hewitt, alias Hughes, Mary Branch, and Susanna Hughes, were put on trial yesterday in this court, charged with making and engraving a bank-note plate in similitude of bills issued by the Western Bank of this city, with the design of forging and counterfeiting the notes of the said bank. The men pleaded guilty, while the women pleaded not guilty, and went to trial.

From the evidence it appears that Hughes was at one time before arrested by Marshal Jenkins, on suspicion of being engaged in counterfeiting, but a search of his house revealed nothing to criminate him, except the possession of some bank-note paper. He was watched pretty closely, however, and observed to frequent a house in Emeline street, above York. This was Branch's house, and a descent being made uponit by Marshal Jenkins and Sharkey, Chief Detective Franklin and Sergeant Tryon, of the police, a lot of counterfeiting apparatus was discovered. Plates for counterfeiting the notes of seventeen different banks, together with presses, and in fact all the necessary apparatus for carrying on an extensive counterfeiting business were found. These parties were all arrested. The defence set up was, that the women were the wives of Hughes and Branch, and were acting under the coercion and compulsion of their husbands, in remaining in the house where these operations were carried on. The Commonwealth alleges that they were not the wives of Hughes and Branch, but were accomplices in the counterfeiting. The case was not concluded when we closed our report. District Attorney Wm. B. Mann for the Commonwealth; John Goforth and Wm. M. Bull, Esqs., for defendants.

The jury in the case of John Hinckle, charged with perjury, returned a verdict yesterday morninglof guilty, but recommended the defendant to the mercy of the court. DURIFY THE BLOOD.—NOT A FEW Othe worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, not always been found which could equal in effect ATRES COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the blood, insilts the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the blood, its extraordinary virtues are not yet widely known, but when they are, it will no longer be a question what remedy to employ in the great variety of afflicting diseases that require an alterative remedy. Such a remedy, that could be relied on, has long been sought for, and now, for the first time, the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit certificates to show its effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken. Sufferers from Secrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Sores, try it and see the rapidity with which it cures. Skin Diseases, Pinngles, Pusulues. Blotches, Eruptions, &c., are soon cleaned out of the system.

Envelopes—Printed, large Paper—Wron-1 nis nand) is a base lorgery, for it is an imitation of the style in which he makes his signature; besides this, the discharge bears no date, and for this omission we had to overhaul all our books to ascertain this one case; I also recognize the handwriting on the envelope as that of Young; when he was charged with complicity with Kern he acknowledged that he had sent for two blanks of this kind for Mr. Kern; he at that time denied knowing who had written them or signed them; I have every reason to believe, from conversation, that the papers were prepared by Kern, and that Young sent them by the mail; in fact, he admitted sending this paper (paper shown); he also sent a paper for one of the 72d boys; this he placed in one of our official envelopes.

Oross-examined by Mr. Dougherty.—I never procured a discharge for anybody; I may have hastened or assisted some soldiers in getting their discharge; I have no power to make out a discharge except upon a surgeon's certificate or an order from the War Department; the general has no power to discharge any soldier; after we found out that Beverly Cotes had not been discharged we sent for him and he was taken to the provost barracks, and it was from him that we obtained that discharge paper (paper shown); Beverly Cotes is entirely innocent of any complicity with Kern; he said he padi Kern the sum of $50 to procure the discharge paper; he said he came to Philadelphia with the chronio diarrhea; he said that he had not been examined by any surgeon; he said he did not know that he could not be discharged without a surgeon's certificate; he said that Kern told him that he had a way of fixing it up; he said he knew no one in the case but Kern; I esaid hat Kern told him that he had a way of fixing it up; he said he knew no one in the case but Kern; I esaid hat Kern told him that he had a way of fixing it up; he said he knew no one in the case but kern; I asked him what arrangement he made with Kern to get his back pay; he replied that Kern told him he would have to forfeit it; I W FRANCK, AUCTIONEER, SAREPARILLA.

THE SOLDIER TRLLS HIS STORY.

Beverly Cotes was now called to the stand. He was a plain spoken man—very frank and unreserved in his answers to the many questions propounded to him. He has a healthy look so far as facial developments are concerned. The greatest interest was evinced by the listening spectators to hear his evidence. On being called to the stand the United States commissioner, Mr. Heazlett, remarked to him, as a caulitonary matter, that whatever he had to say concerning the case under investigation, he was not bound to criminate himself, that this was a civil proceeding. Beverly Cotes sworn.—I belonged to the 95th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers; about the second day before I got my furlough, the 20th of February, I think, I was taken with the chills and fever; I was very sick all that day; my furlough came about ten o'clock on Saturday night, and a snow storm set in as we started from Falmouth; we lost our way, and, finally, saw some of the sanitary commission; I asked them if I could not get to Washington, that I had been sick all the week; they advised me to come to Philadelphia, and try and get into a hospital; I got into open cars, and came Northward; I was very sick; I came to Philadelphia, and my friends, whom I cannot now recollect, advised me to see Mr. Kern and he would get me into a hospital; I went according to their directions to the corner of Tenth and Locust streets; I asked for Mr. Kern and they directed me to another corner; I went there and was informed that he was out; I was here introduced to Mr. Young; I stated to him the nature of my business, and if it were possible I should like to get my discharge; he told me to visit Dr. King, the medical director, and if my disease guarantied, I would be placed in a hospita; I then mentioned Mr. Kern's name to him, and Young replied that he would be there the next morning at eleven o'clock; I went there at that time on the next morning and saw him; I stated the nature of my case to him, and he said he would procure my discharge; I asked him if it would be correct, and he replied yes; about twelve o'clock on the same day he returned and gave me my discharge; this was on Saturday, the 28th of February, the day my furlough expired; this is all I know about the affair; this is the envelope and the paper he gave me.

Answer (pleasantly given). No, sir; nor in the habit of lying out of bed.

Sage lawyers smiled, and the spectators laughed. The witness retired.

A brief argument ensued on the nature of the charge, or charges, on which the defendant should be held. The Commissioner said that he was not prepared to give his decision in regard to the charge of forgery, and enticing soldiers to desert. These are two distinct charges. That of forgery may be tried under the State law. That of enticing soldiers to desert comes clearly under the United States law. This point he would like to submit to Judge Cadwalader, and, therefore, would suspend a decision until next Monday. U. S. Mavy. Anis point he would like to submit to Judge Cadwalader, and, therefore, would suspend a decision until next Monday.

Mr. Dougherty said that on this question he was ready to go on with the argument. There is no evidence that Corporal Cotes wanted to desert. This being the case, he could not see how his client could be charged with enticing him to desert.

Commissioner Heazlett replied that he did not think it necessary to enter into any argument at the present time on the subject. He would give his decision at 12 0'elock on next Monday. The defendant, Kern, must enter ball in the sum of $2,500 to appear at that time. Cotes entered bail in the sum of $1,000, conditioned that he appears as a witness.
