appendix of the original and the original appendix of the original original of the original [Correspondence of The Press.] NEW YORK, April 21, 1863. THE HONORED DEAD of to day with us is the late Lieutenant Colonel E. A. Kimball, whose remains lie in state in the Go-vernor's Room, City Hall, under a guard of honor, detailed from the Tist Regiment. Friends and sym-pathizing citizens. in large numbers are profiling detailed from the 71st Regiment. Friends and sym-pathizing citizens, in large numbers, are profiting by the opportunity to take a last sad view of a sol-dier, than whom none braver ever marched to bat-tie. Poor Kimball ! it was hard that he should perish miserably as he did, after daring a soldier's death in so many battles. From the hand that slew bim his countrymen have a letter of self-vindication IN THE DISTRICT COURT FOR THE death in so many Datties. From the hand that slew him his countrymen have a letter of self-vindication and vain regret; but who that looks upon that rigid manly face, as it haunts the Governor's Room to-day, can feel that it lies in the shedding of ink to day, can feel that it lies in the shedding of ink to atome for the shedding of such loyal blood. Kimball was the very ideal of a soldier and the very model of an officer. In the field, he was a lion, unconscious of fear, reck-less of danger, and eager to lead his men-foremost in a charge. In camp, he was ever at his post, steadily working the Hawkins Zouaves into that collective efficiency for which they have been pre-eminent in all their battles. The regiment saw in him just such an embodiment The regiment saw in him just such an embodiment of heroism as a regiment loves to follow when a of heroism as a regiment loves to follow when a battery is to be stormed, and loves to name in a regi-mental eong on the night after the fight. The men almost idolized him for his dare-devil bravery, and so furious are they at his death that all attempts so jurious are they at his death that all attempts to pacify them sufficiently for the good of the ser-vice must be unavailing for some time to come. I am glad to see that, in the procession by which poor Kimball is to be carried to his grave to-morrow afternoon, our 69th Regiment is to form a part. This, as you know, is the regiment is to form a part. 1ms, as you know, is the regiment of which General Corcoran was colonel at the first battle of Bull Run, and its participation in the last demonstration of public respect to all that remains of the fallen

COURT OF LOUISIANA. It is well known that for a long time past the bar in this city has been extremely desirous that the State Supreme Court should be reorganized. TEXAS ITEMS. By the arrival of the steamship Molville, at Now Or-leans, on the 18th instant, from the Rio Grande, we have received a copy of the Brownsville Ldag, of the 3d inst. We find nothing of much interest in relation to affairs in Texas in the Plap. We give below the only local items the paper contains: MINITARY MATTERS.—It is understood that Major Gene-ral J. Bankiend Magruder is en routs for this place. The commanding general of this Department is on a tour of inspection, intreding to visit, in his trip. San Antonio, Lavacca. Corpus Christi, Fort Brown, and probably the points above this place on the Rio Grande. 'General.' Magruder is accompanied by Captain Mat Nolan's mounted company.

Magrader is accompanied by Captain Mat Nolan's -mounted company. Major Duff's battalion has been raised to a regiment, and the major now ranks as a lieuterant colonel. The apparent thickness of armor on the sides of the Kzokuk was 5% inches, putton in a peculiar' manner--viz: Bars of inon, four inches wide and one-inch thesk, were placed edgeways over the skin of the ship, running fore and aff, one inch apart, and between them were placed strips of wood of the same dimensions; over this were half wore lates of iton, each 5% of an insb thick; secured on the edges of the ones by 1% inches its were half wore lates of iton, each 5% of an insb thick; secured on the edges of the ones by 1% inchesofts running between them, and through the skin, sad fastened by a nut on the inside of the vessel.
The actual weight of credial in armor on sides, as will be seen from this description, was 180 pounds per superfloial foot, equels to a solid plate of unit 3% inches in thickness. On the turrets an additional % inches of armor to 5% inchese, and the weight of metal to 150 pounds per superfloial foot, equels to a solid plate of a solid plate of 3% inches.
The question will naturally be asked--why was not the vessel more heavily armored? Simply because a vessel of her dimensions would not support any more. Increase the size of the vessel and the armor may be increased in the same ratio. If vessels old in eleven inches of solid row were disabled and placed hors de combai, is it to be wondered at that a little vessel, carrying but about 3% inches in the to be well lighted, naturally. No part of the machinery of the vessel was dis-abled or gave out. One gentleman informs the public that if the "Keokuk" and "Nahant" had had an inner skin protecting those inside the turrets and pilot houses sgainst the flying bolts, that the casualties would have been less. He will be surprised to learn a fact, which he should have made himself acquainted with before displaying his sagacity to the prejudice of the constructor-viz: that in the "Keokuk" there was precisely this arrangement covering every boll, and which doubtless contributed greatly to preserve the lives of those on board of her. Another gentleman says that " scientific officers" in the navy never had any confidence in the vessel. Possibly this gentle-man imagines himself, and a few friends of his way of thinking, to constitute a sort of "reservoir" of all the scientific attainment in the service; but, as officers whom the nation most honors, and justly holds in the highest repute, have expressed to me,

THE EXCOME TAX .- The assessors and THE INCOME TAX.—The assessors and assistant assessors of each collection district will assess the income tax or the 1st of May.next, upon every perion residing within the district liable therets. This portion of the taxable interest of the people, it is anticipated, will be among the most pro-lific courses of income yet resorted to by the Govern-ment, as the incomes from salaries in the various public positions were never greater than now. The regulations of the law, among other things, provide that every farmer or planter will be required to make a return of the value of his produce, without deducting for the labor or services of himself or facily, or for any portion of such produce con-surred by himself or family.

()RPHANS' COURT SALE OF VA-THE MADISON-SQUARE MEETING,

THE MADISON-SQUARE MEETING, yesterday afternoon, to commemorate the great up-rising of '6i, was attended by at least forty thousand people, and passed off with tremendous enthusiasm. At the hour appointed for the commencement of the speaking, the sky was overcast with dense clouds, the air was blustry and chill, and there was every indication of a speedy storm, yet the multitude came fully up to public expectation, and the display was grandly imposing. From all the buildings around the square, and from robes stretched over the street, the national colors floated in radiant profusion; six fine bands discoursed patriotic musio from the dif-ferent stand. ferent stands, annon noured forth crashing salutes from as many different plates, forth crashing salutes the Fifth Avenue Hotel sat the hero of the meeting, the venerable Winfield Scott. One of the sights of the day was a procession of sailors and marines from the Brocklyn navy yard, with moticed banners and a band of music; another was a turn-out of all the fine express vans of the city, decorated with flags and insignia, and drawn respectively by eight; six, and iour splendid horses. The great meeting at Madison Square even surpassed the Sumpter gather-ing of the week before. ing of the week before.

A TRIAL FOR MURDER

A TRIAL FOR MURDER was commenced yesterday, and is going on to day, in the King's County (Brooklyn) Court of Oyer and Terminer. The prisoner is Ignaiz Radetsky, who stands accused of murdering Sigismund Fellner, a wealthy diamond merchant, in October last. The body of the murdered man, shockingly cut, was found near Port Monmouth, New Jersey, and the crime was first traced to two women—Albertine Pflaum and Mrs. Marx—who had come over from Europe with, or in the same vessel with Fellner-and from them to Radetsky, who had field to the being a valuable Coal property in the Wyoming Coal region. Of course we announce this entirely upon report, as the reorganization of the court is not yet entirely complete—that is, the court is not yet ready, nor are its-rooms (opposite Jack-son Square) prepared for occupation and business. It is understood, however, that comunscions have been issued to Hou. Charles A. Peabody, as chief justice, and to Judge J. S. Whittaker, late of the Second District Court, and to Judge James L. Cole, formerly of the Supreme Court, as associate justices. The court will be opened as soon as possible. With the reorganization of this court the judicial system of this State is, we believe, complete—as all the in-ferior courts have been organized or, at least, repre-sented. [Before Mr. Commissioner Heazlett.] Held to Bail. The case of Benjamin Jackson and Louis Solomon was decided yesterday by Mr. Heazlett, the United States Com-missioner. He was brief. In his own mind he had not the least doubt of the moral guilt of the defendant; but as actual "force", as contemplated by the act of Congress was not resorted to, he could not see any other course ourse than to dismiss the complaint, but that he would hold the defendants to bail in the sum of $5,000 each, to be of inture good behaviour, and to keep the oractered. District Attorney,Coffer suggested that inasmuch as an act of Congress provides that a bill may be sent of the Grand Jury, in all cases that may arise under an act of Congress, notwithstanding the dismissel of a complaint, that the defendants present be required to append the Mr. Philips, coursel for the defence, made no objection to this, and bail, was this demanded.

[Before Mr. Alderman Fields.] Outrageous Conduct. Yesterday three young men, giving the names of Wil-liam Boney, Joseph Collins, and Matthew Gallagher, were arraigned before Alderman Fields on the charge of riotous conduct and committing an assault and battery on several persons. It is alleged a party of young men proceeded on Tuesday night to a place called "Dutch Sow," in a semi-rural section of the Nineteenth ward, and made an indiscriminate attack on the inhabitants thereof, during which a woman named Stull was so severely injured that her life is despaired of. Koney was required to enter ball in the sam of $1,500, and the other two in $600 each, to answer.
