WATCHES AND JEWELRY. A WORD ABOUT AMERICAN WATCHES. AFTER A THOROUGH TRIAL OF MORE THAN TEN YEARS the time-pieces manufactured by the American Watch Company, of Waltham, Mass., have gained a firm hold upon the favor of the public, and now, no less than 75,000 of them are speaking for themselves in the pockets of the people. From a very insignificant beginning the business has increased to an extent exceeding our most sanguing anticipations, and we are now ustified in stating that WE MAKE MORE THAN ONE-HALF of all the metals and live in the metals and in the metals are a second and in the metals are an another and in the metals are an another and in the metals and in t the watches sold in the United States. Repeated enlarge ment of our factory buildings, and the laber of 500 oper

tives, still find us unequal to supply the constantly creasing demand. And we may here observe that n withstanding the high price of labor and materials, we actually sell our products at less prices than those current five years ago. We refer to those facts only for the purpose of proper introducing another subject relative to our manufacts of watches ditterto our chief object has been to make sood watches for the million at the lowest possible price—something to take the place of the make-believe watches called "Ancres," "Lepinos," "English Patent Levers," &c., annually thrown upon this market, in countless the refuse of their factories, unsaleable at home and per-This object we have accomplished, and now we have to announce, that we have commenced the manufacture of watches of the very HIGHEST GRADE KNOWN TO CHRONOMETRY, unequalled by anything hitherto made by ourselves and unsumpassed by anything made in the world. For this purpose we have the amplest facilities. We have erected an addition to our main buildings expressly for this branch of our business, and have filled it with the best workmen in our service. Profiting by our long expe-rience, we have remodelled the form of our watches, in-troducing such improvements as have been suggested and proved to be good from time to time, and have instituted new and severe tests of isochionism, adjustment, and compensation. New machines and appliances have been compensation. New magnines and opposition of the perform their work with consummate delicacy and exactitude, and the choicest and most appoint of the performance of proved materials only are used. Nothing, in fact, is wanting either in mechanical principles, material, or workmanship to insure perfection in the result.

We continue to manufacture our other wall-known was continue to maintenance of other w qualities under the following names: "APPLETON, TRACY & GO." "P.S. BARTLETT," And the "Soldier's Watch," The latter, the lowest priced watch we make, is a substantial, reliable time-piece, cased in sterling silver— nunting pattern, and is not liable to get out of order either in marching, riding, or fighting. All the above escribed watches including the finest, which is named 'AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY" on the plate, are sold by watch dealers generally throughout the country.

Extracts from Critical Notices.

Its brilliant tyle, its ingenous sarcasm, its spirited description its exaggerated entipathy to the Emperor Napoleon and his policy, and, above all, the author's passion for renetrating into the myteries of state policy—the "secret histories" of events, have already been familiar to the public by a hundred "essays and reviews."—bondon Publishers' Circular.

A genuine history, and one of a very high order. Mr. Kingiake has had rare advantages. He has used them with an ability equality rare.—London Review,

Mr. Kingiake has produced a work which is no mere mixture of facts, fancies and fallacies, but is, in the fullest sen e of the word, history. It stands to the Crimean War in the same realtion as Sir William Naplers' "History" to the Peninsular War. Be has shown himself entitled to take rank among the best historians of warlike operations. We are not, as is often the case, blinded by the roar of artillery. Everything, thouge spiritedly depicted, his drawn with clearness and precision. Each movement is dnly explained, its object pointed out, and its progress followed. The manner in which one manouvre bore on another is also shown. We have here a series of brilliant panoramas, vet the skill of the writer councets them so admirably that we never feel any want of continuity. Mr. Kinglake places no, as it were, in the position of an airgus surveying the field of battle from a balloon —Athenoum London.)

Long expected and seeired, Mr. Kinglake's history cames at lask. And it comes entirely worthy of the genius of manufacture. It will be read with admiration and delight by all but those who will in in it the judgment. On the history has will not die—upon their own mixed. A great and immortal addition has been made to be history all history that will not die—upon their own mixed. A great and immortal addition has been made to be history all history that will not die—upon their own mixed. A great and immortal addition has be of history—of a history that will not die—upon their own misde de. A great and immortal addition has been madato the historical literature of England.—Saturday Review (London).

This brilliant history speaks with the eloquence of an advocate whose heart is in his cause, whom nothing has hinderedition full knowledge, and careful is rating of the facts of his cases, who scorns all will all upression or mire presentation, believes to the minutest thought that there is honest truth in every word he niters, strives to look through the multitude of scattered details to the true motives and living principles that undertie his narrative, and errs only under the impulse of just sympathies and generous emotions. The power of feeling lively interest in the events described is essential to every ligorian. His work, so far, is vividly true, sometimes passionately, sometimes even perversely true, when it is over "mercil as if the support of a high principle. Let us, then, honor the book the more for all the warmth with which it shapes a just harration of contemporary truth into active, strong, and undying protest against wrong. Remarkable, indeed, is the distinctions with which the large, true mind of the book speaks through a mass of small detail that would have over whemed any let searnest minn. Lord Raglan's papers were a part Examinar (London).

The book is one singularly picturesque, and yet its picturesqueness, is not mainly a material picturesqueness, like that of Macaulay, resulting from the grouping to excessionally shows his mastery over this manner also; it is rather, so to speak, a moral picturesqueness, turning child the display of character. As a naturer of expression, Mr. Kinglake is unsurpassed in contemporary literature—The Racder (London).

Readers who were entranced by the charm of Mr. Kinglake corn sing, the dramatic force which, he throws into the story of the builtee field, his trumphant defence of Lord Raggan from the foou calumines wickwere henped upon him, the whole tempered by the calm dignity of a The above work sent by mail, postage free (for any distance in the United States under 1,500 miles), on receipt of price. From the Compregationarist.

It contains the story of a young girl "round out," as the custom is in the New England villages. Her Northern mistress was a harsh, selfish and unfeeling woman, and the "bound girls" character is pleasantly and interestingly portrayed, as it becomes moulded and hewn out by the hard circumstances of her lot, ill she becomes "purified by suffering," a perfect woman.

Volumes might be filled with proof from all parts of the world, to prove that no remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine that acts - o promptly, even in the worst cases of pulmonary disease. A good appetite, complete digestion, strength, and a disposition for active exercise, is sure to follow its use. If you have been tampering with the many articles pat out by persons totally ignorant of the science of medicine, in theory or practice, and your case been neglected, the cough deep, with purulent and bloody expectration, pain and oppression, sore throat, diar hoa, night sweats, fever, parched skin, you will find in Dr. Swayne's Compound your only hope of cure. If the howelt are costive, or headache accompanies your disease, a dose of Swayne's Sarsapa, and Tar Fills will remove it. Thirty years' experience, and the increasing popularity of 'Dr. Swayne's Medicines," are convincing proof. Prepared only by
