On Saturday Chief Franklin took: into custody a man on suspicion of being regaged in the contraband business. He was sent to the deotors' apartment to await a hearing before the United States Commissioner. At present it is imprudent to say more than the following: The prison-criepreset is himself as a Union refuges, of Northern birth, who, after suffering imprisonment in South Garobirth, who, after suffering the selection of the Secretary, of Philadelphia. She was brought to this sport and changed captains. Early in the present month the sails of the Secretary were spread to the breeze on the Chesarcake, and in the usual time, the little skipper, waid to be a fleet sailer, dropped her, anchor in the waters of the Dilaware. Shortly after she sailed, Benjamin Franklin, Chief of the detectives of this city, received an important piece of informatia respecting the event. Placing himself in communication with the War Department, he received, on April 7th, the necessary order to act. A plan of operations was agreed upon; the movem his of the refugee were watched closely. The cargo was finally purchased, at a cost of $17,000. It was assorted, and just the kind now wanted in the South. About three thousand dollars' worth of the goods were prunchased at the saile of the cargoof the prize steamer Princess Royal. Final Hearing.

The four persons, Mason, Malory, Hope, and Alexander, who were arrested a short time since, on suspicion of having been engaged, directly or indirectly, in some or all of he recent store robberies, were arraigned at the Central Station for a final hearing. There was no evidence elicited implicating them in the robberies. Mr. Carlin (detective) testined that on Wednesday last he proceeded to New York; saw some goods there, which were identified as the property of flesses. Evans & Co., and stolen from their store on the 21st of March; the goods were not traced to the possession of any of the defendants; requisition papers were being made out against Mason and Malory, charging them with being fugitives from justice from that State; the papers have not yet reached the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. Taggart (detective) testified that Mason and Malory were in the same cell, and tried to effect their escape by cutting away the plastering and endeavoring to remove the woodwork. On this statement a charge of malicious mischief was entered against the accused, on which they were required to enter hall in the sum of $2,000 each to appear next Wednesday. Messys. Hope and Alexander were liberated on entering bail in the sum of $1,000 each to be of inture good behavior. ASSISTANT QUARTERMASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE,

Dr. Seiss Supreme Court at Nisi Prius—Judge Strong. THE STREET PAYING QUESTION DETWEEN THE GAS COMTRANY AND THE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT.

The City of Philadelphia vs. John McGlensey. An application for a special injunction to restrain the defendant, who is acting under a contract, and the Trusses of the City Gas Works, from proceeding with the repaying of a street, portions of which had been taken up for the purpose of laying gas pipe, on the ground that the Highway Department and that right exclusively. Justice Strong, on Saurday, delivered the following opinion, retusing the special injunction:

I have examined that sease with all the attention which the time if my command has enabled me to bestow upon it, and I have come to the conclusion that I ought not to cajon the defendant on interlocutory motion. I could not do it without deciding the whole case before it is ready for a final hearing. It ought not to be 30 decided. To my mind it is not quite so plain, though it may be probable that the trustees of the Gas Works have no power to repaye these portions of the streets where they have rightfully taken up the pavements for the purpose of laying down or repairing mains or service pipe. But upon that subject I am not willing to express a settled opinion in this stage of the case. I prefer having the answer before me when I prefer having the answer before me when I prefer having the answer before me when I is prefer having the status until final hearing. It is the exercise of extraordinary power, and it should be used with caution. When application is made for its exercise, the court should consider the inconvenience and expense to which granting thus in injunction would subject the defendant in the event of its cultimately appearing that he was in the right is clear, and to preserve the existing status until final hearing. To the Editor of The Press:
SIR: Could the rebellion be put down without interfering with slavery? Of this the President, surrounded by his Cabinet, is in a better position to judge than any private citizen can be. He has an awered that it cannot by issuing his proclamation.

Have not those who think otherwise overlooked the fact that the slave population forms a prodigious power for or against us in this struggle, and that it will be one or the other, according as we treat that population? In 1860 the number of white males between the ages of eighteen and forty-five was about 4,000,000 for the loyal States, and 1,300,000 for the dialoyal States. In the jatter of these States you have about 3,500,000 slaves, of whom 2,000,000 may be estimated as jaborers. From these laborers deduct 300,000 employed in domestic service, and this leaves 1,700,000 plantation hands engaged in tilling the soil, and furnishing subsistence for the army, and hence actually helping in the rebellion. Add this 1,700,000 slaves to the 1,300,000 whites between the ages of 18 and 46 and there is a military and pro-The Rebellion and Slavery. tidles:

A motion for a new trial, in, the case of the election ludges of the Twenty-fourth ward, convicted of fraudalently making out and signing a false certificate of election in fayor of isac Leech as member of Common Council from that ward, was also under argument towards the close of the esseion. the ages of 18 and 46; and there is a military and pro-ducing force of 3,000,000 in the disloyal States, op-posed to one of 4,000,000 in the disloyal States. Here it will be seen that the contending forces are much more will be seen that the contending forces are much more nearly, equal, than, we have been wont to imagine, Now, transfer this slave population to the Uniton side—adopt a policy which would, to a great extent, accomplish this most important result, and what do you do but most materially weaken the rebellion and strengthen the cause of the Union? Decline this policy—say you will not interfere with slavery in any way, and you at once please the rebels and leave the right arm of their strength untouched. Is this good sense? Are we so prejudiced against the black man that we would rather see our sons and brothers and fathers shot down on the battle-field, than have our cause served by black men? To the Editor of The Press:

Sin: The future historian will number among the most gallant of A merican heroes General James S. Negley, who, almost isolated from the outside world, commanded the defences of Nashville during a siege of unprecedented vigor by a ruthless and despotic enemy, whose machinations and strategies were defeated by the uniting vigilance and interior courage of the gallant hero of this notice. Magain, General Negley opened the fight at Muffreesboro immediately on the right of the main centre, and when surrounded by his brave Pennsylvanians, he nobly breasted the storm of bullets which sped with deadly force from the muskets of an enemy concaled behind their entrenchments, and when, with a strategy in combination with Rorearans, splendid in its conception as it was masterly in its execution, the tide of the battle was turned on that eventful Wednesday morn, when confusion, dismay, and an approaching rout was stayed, and order was brought out of confusion. The battle, apparently lost, was won. To General Negley more than to any other is General Rosecrans indebted for this important result. Who, then, better than General Negley, can the friends of the Union and the enemies of Copperheadism present to the people of Pennsylvania as their candidate for Governor?

General Negley fought in the ranks during the Mexican war, and has ever been willing to risk his life in defence of his country's honor, and although an original Republican, yet he now knows no party but that which will, in the strongest and most energetic manner, prosecute the war for the Union, regardless of all obstacles that may be thrust in the way of the final triumph of the cause of Truth, Justice, and Universal, Lineary.

If this proposition is true, it is very obvious there is no relative value between coin and greenbacks. The increase of price for gold is due to the fact, that, having no other article of merchandise wanted by our foreign creditors to supply the place of cotton and tobacco, we must use gold, which being private property, the holders must have inducements to part with it, precisely as four advanced in 1848, and as any other property advances when drawn into unusual channels or in excess of usual demands.

The absurdity of using gold as a standard is apparent when we consider that in Pennsylvania we raise 'immense amounts of productions annually, yet do not raise one gold dollar, and sinour best days never had ten millions within our limits (at any one time,) and even this liable to draft by our foreign creditor. To measure what we produce by what we cannot produce; is nonsense, ever causing confusion.

If Robert J. Walker had not deceived the people by his plausible folly in 1846, we would not at this moment be the slaves of foreign debt. He is equally in error about greenbacks. They are based upon and represent all productions and property of the people of the United States, and if circumstances, cause a demand for any article, (as a famine in Europe would enhance our flour,) it is not true to say that greenbacks have gone down.

Outon, essential to many manufacturers, heing scarce, and the large portion of laborers drawn from their industry, forces an 'advance of many articles (as a famine in Europe would enhance our flour,) it is not true to gold and other property will resume their wonted position. and other property will resume their wonted position.

It may be advantageous to brokers to disturb the money arrangements, but I trust the business portion of the public will not allow their fears to overcome their judgment, and look upon greenbacks as the cause of infation or of trouble.

In 1857, banks did not pay specie, yet their notes were used in business, and coin was five percent, and that because duties had to be paid in coin. Certainly greenbacks, bindinglupon all the property of the people, is a better currency than bank notes based upon the debis of individuals.

Business men, and laborers of all kinds, can have a voice in regulating a national currency, but have no influence or power over bank currency. Already are the good effects of our greenback currency being felt in the cheap rate of money. With low, interest, all men can have work, but 24 or 36 per cent. per annum is a heavy drag upon all business and labor. Who depends upon hire is idle.

I am, respectfully, yours,

DAMAGE TO THE WATER WORKS.-A

DAMAGE TO THE WATER WORKS.—A great landslide occurred on the facing of the Corinthian-avenue reservoir on Friday evening, extending the whole length from the avenue to Twenty-second street. There were also several slides on the Poplar-street front. The moving of the masses of earth was early discovered, and the attention of the Chief Engineer was called to the fact. Prompt action was necessary to save the reservoir from entire destruction. Had the slide, or rather slides, taken place late at night, it is thought that the whole work would have been destroyed. Workmen were employed in large numbers on Saturday, in making necessary repairs The greatest kind of excitement prevailed in the northwestern section of the city among the people, who were afraid they would be cut off from their usual supply of water. The Watering Committee will'visit the scene of destruction this afternoon, at three o'clock.

A YER'S PILLS.—ARE YOU SICK, FEEBLE, AND COMPLAINING? Are you out of order, with your system deranged and your feelings an comfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take AYER'S PILLS, and cleanse out the discordered humors—purify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in health again. They stimulate the functions of the body, into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, oppressed by the derangements, tate AYER'S PILLS, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint; is also true in many of the deep-seated and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly and many of them surely; cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure, such as Headache, Foul Stomach. Dysentery, Billous Complains, Indigestion, Derangement of the Liver Costiveness, or Constitution.
