SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1863. ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

The Whole Army in Motion—Probable Rea sons of the Advance-Crossing of the Rappahannock-Withdrawal of the Rebels, and Reported Occupation of Fredericksburg-Fifteen Hundred Rebels Captured-A Battle Imminent. special Correspondence of The Press. 1

ACQUIA CREEK, April 30. THE MOVEMENT COMMENCED. You have been apprised by telegraph that our ar my is in motion once more toward the rebel capital. I have not yet had time to proceed to the front, to obtain the fullest information; but, through officers arriving here en route for Washington, I have collected pretty full details of the movement, which may now be published. I think, without detriment o the interests of the Government. THE PRELIMINARIES.

The commanding general has been in possession of information for some time past, leading to a thorough understanding of the designs of the enemy in his recent movements in Virginia and North Carolina. It seems that the rebels are fully aware of their vulnerable position about Richmond from contemplated movements upon their communi-cations by our forces at Newbern and Suffolk, and as these movements could not be checked by the rebels shilst Gep. Hooker threatened Richmond, it seemed to be an imperative necessity for them to dislodge our detached corps in Virginia and North Carolina. To this end Gen. Hill was ordered to move upon Foster at Washington and Newbern, N. C., while Longstreet was to recapture Suffolk and Norfolk, if possible, and Henry A. Wise was directed to remove Gen. Keyes from the Peninsula. Hill found his match in North Carolina, and was ordered to join Longstreet before Suffolk. The Nansemond river is now blockaded by rebel field batteries with infantry, covered by redoubts, and the position is consiered so interesting as to require the presence of the Commander in-Chief at that point. ADVANCE OF GEN. HOOKER.

It is evident that the only sure method of relieving our troops now besieged at Suffolk was found in a direct advance of the Army of the Potomac toward Richmond. The details for this movement have been arranged for different propitious days for some time past, but owing to the wet weather and the horrible condition of the roads, it has been found impossible to move our army without incurring great risks and losses. On Tuesday last, however, t was determined to cross the river in two columns the one above Falmouth, on the road to Culpeper. to consist of cavalry, light infantry, artillery, engineers, and artisans, under Gen. Stoneman—the ther to consist of the main body of our army under the immediate supervision of the commanding

LAYING THE PONTOONS. On Monday night, our engineers made a selection for a point at which our pontoon bridges could be aid in safety, and the work of their construction was immediately commenced, and carried on without serious interruption. On Tuesday morning, two bridges were completed, and General Meade's army corps prepared to cross the river. THE FIRST MEN OVER.

I am informed that the first regiment of Union troops to cross the Rappahannock river on this ocasion was the gallant 119th Pennsylvania Volunstream, they were at once deployed to the right and left through the wooded skirtings of farms to observe the movements of the enemy. In this advance the wound, which it is said will not prove a serious one. Before night on Tuesday five pontoon bridges had been completed, and our entire army was crossing.

THE REBELS WITHDRAWN. As our troops advanced, during yesterday, the rebels fell back, skirmishing with our advance guard. It was soon discovered that the enemy had withdrawn his main column from the line of the Rappahannock, and contrabands informed General Hooker positively, that there were no troops, in great force, anywhere in our front, for a distance of

THE MATAPONY RIVER Falling back through the vale of the Matapony, the enemy destroyed the bridges over this stream and its tributaries, but did not appear disposed to dispute our continued advance very stoutly. During esterday a large number of prisoners were capfured, but they consist, for the most part, of men who could not keep up with their fellows in the rereat, and dropped along the roads and by-paths THE ADVANCE A SUCCESS. I learn that Gen. Hooker and staff crossed the river yesterday, and that to-day our troops are narching forward, driving the rebels back from every point as they proceed. There has been no heavy fighting yet, and no cannonade, except the firing of shells at the enemy occasionally, to dis-

THE NATURE OF THE NEWS. Every one here seems delighted with the news from the advance, and predicts great and decisive vic-The Government officers are especially good-na tured, and seem to think that the people will take this as another proof of the determination and abil-OCCUPATION OF FREDERICKSBURG.

It is reported that the city of Fredericksburg was ecupied yesterday with a strong garrison, under he direction of Provost Marshal General Patrick, and the railroad to Richmond is being rapidly re paired. It is also believed that Port Royal, on the Rappahannock, has been occupied by our troops and will be used as a landing for stores.

THE PROSPECTS. It is not thought that General Hooker will advance much further south just at present. I will not say why, because it is unnecessary to allow the enemy to obtain any idea of our future movements. Communication with another corps of our army will be opened in a few days, when the real merits of the present grand movement will begin to develop themselves, and some discoveries may be made that will surprise the public considerably. Thus far, fortune has certainly favored our arms in this movement. Our troops have been engaged in skirmishing all day, but no battle has taken place and it is thought that our losses have been slight. We are entirely prepared for the enemy, and when specially if we are attacked by the enemy in th progress of our advance.

MOVEMENT OF THE RIGHT WING. General Stoneman's light division has advanced to Culpeper. The railroad has been repaired and lovernment trains are running to that point. The reports from this column are encouraging, and we near nothing of the complaints of inefficiency in any particular, so common in other campaigns. PRISONERS TAKEN. Some fifteen hundred rebels were captured yester burg. About three hundred have been sent to Wash take the oath of allegiance to the Government of the United States.

CONDITION OF THE ARMY. The Army of the Potomac is in excellent condition, and the health and spirit of the troops are good. The men have unbounded confidence in their present leaders, and are quite good-humored over the prospect of a great victory over the rebels on Sunday next, not a hundred miles from Richmond.

Four Army Corps Across the River—A Vic-tory Rumored—News Expected Shortly. Pontoons are said to have been laid on Tuesday light and Wednesday morning across the river at Port Royal. Thursday morning, at daylight, the troops began to cross, and by ten o'clock A. M. four corps d'armée are said to have crossed in safety at Port Royal. Cannonading and severe firing have been heard on this side of the river. Later, there is a report that Hooker, with 50,000 men, had won a battle. This is, of course, uncer tain, but we shall have news before long. ORDER FROM GEN. REYNOLDS. HEADQUARTERS, FIRST ARMY CORPS.

HEADQUARTERS, FIRST ARMY CORPS,
April 24, 1868.

The commanding general takes occasion to thank the 24th Michigan, and Brooklyn 14th regiments, under Colonels Morrow and Fowler, for the prompt manner, in which they accomplished the object of the expedition to Port Royal. The endurance, shown by their march of nearly thirty-six miles in twenty-four hours, during the very inclement weather of yesterday, proves their value as tried and experienced soldiers, and entitles them to the highest admiration and praise. By command of Major General REYNOLDS.
C. KINGSBURG, Jr., Lieut. Col., and A. A. G.

RETURN OF GEN. STAHL. RETURN OF GEN. STAHL. FAIRFAX COURT HOUSE, Va., April 30.
An expedition, under the command of General Stahl, which left here on Monday, the 27th instant—

The object of the expedition was to patrol the country to the west of the Shenandoah, which was successfully accomplished. Several skirmishes took place between this force and Mosby's rebel command, which resulted in the capture of forty rebels, and one hundred horses. NARROW ESCAPE OF COL. TAYLOR, OF THE FIRST PENNSYLVANIA CAVALRY, FROM GUERILLAS. GUERILLAS.

Left Wing, April 27, 1863.—Colonel Taylor, of the 1st Pennsylvania Cavalry, was attacked by a party of guerillas last night, and had a narrow escape. Being officer of the picket line extending down the Rappahannock, near Port Conway, he was riding out, accompanied by six men, for the purpose of inspecting the pickets, when a band of some thirty guerillas suddenly fired, and then charged upon them, killing one horse, capturing one prisoner, and shooting the Colonel's hat away. The men immediately put spurs to their horses, and succeeded in penetrating a dense forest, where they remained concealed till this morning, the pursuing party at one time coming within thirty feet of them. Colonel Taylor made his way back to Falmouth this morning, and was arrested by our infantry pickets, and conducted to Major Platner, of the 33d New York. The orderly who brought him in was a detached man from his own regiment. Of course he was immediately released.

False Statements. Baltimore, May 1.—The statement that the Government has purchased a large tract of land of the Canton Company of Baltimore, for an arsenal, and that the Northern Central Pennsylvania Railroad Company have purchased of the same company a portion of their real estate in East Baltimore, are alike untrue. The last purchase made by the Railroad Company of the Canton Company, dates as far back as 1853 and 1854.

A New Fever, and its Treatment-Move ments of Porter's Gunboats—The Missis sippi Situation—The Rebel Loring's Defcat-A Negro Army-The Rebel Diversions near Cape Girardean and Memphis Our Prospect Better than Ever. Correspondence of The Press.]
MISSISSIPPI SQUADRON, CAIRO, April 26.

The crew of the Chillicothe have mostly all been sent to the general hospital, lately removed from this place to Memphis, in consequence of drugue, or break-bone, fever, contracted on the Coldwater and Tallahatchie rivers, in the Yazoo Pass expedition Many of the seamen of the "tin-clads" have also contracted the same disease. The crew of the Baron De Kalb have not as yet contracted it extensively, because she was not so active a participant in the expedition. The troops of General Ross have also suffered greatly from the same disease. It is not a very dangerous disease, but is a very troublesome one, and there is no better treatment for it than to let it run its course, feeding it when the patient feels hungry. It is an established fact that the donothing plan of treating typhoid fever, save the sustaining the system with beef-tea and wine, is the only one, and so of drugue. Both will run their course. We who have to treat ship fever, and camp fever, know that as long as our patients will eat they are in no danger. Very little medicine is required for most of the fevers known as typhoid, typhus, &c. The very large, and strong, and new-planned gunboat Choctaw sailed from here, some two days ago, for Admiral Porter's fleet, below Vicksburg. If, however, the news from that locality be true, sh will not have much to do; for it seems by all to be a conceded point that Vicksburg, if not already captured, will be evacuated or capitulate in a short time Most of Admiral Porter's fleet are below the city, while a very large portion of General Grant's army are at Carthage. With Porter below them, and Farragut above Port Hudson, and with our large land forces above and below Vicksburg, and General Banks' army below and to the rear of Port Hudson it is not easy to conceive how the rebels can hold out much longer. High waters have been our worst . We have reliable information from Memphis that, notwithstanding our troops fell back to within a distance of nine miles, we there outflanked General Loring's command, and, after giving them a good drubbing, succeeded in taking seven hundred prisoners, besides commissary stores, &c., &c., as well as the usual amount of negroes, made and provided in such cases, and who will be just in time to join and be drilled in some of the sable regiments that Adjutant General Thomas is having organized It is a mistake that we are going to have a large force of negro soldiers in Grant's army, and for the best reason in the world, viz., they are not here, having been run back from the delta and coast to the interior of the States along the Mississippi river. The regiment there was formed at Helena had to be run down and impressed, and, then, there was no examination of them by a medical board but they were taken of all ages, sizes, and colors and without much regard to their physique.

The news from Cape Girardeau, in Missouri, and distant from Cairo about fifty miles, is that the rebels are concentrating on the Cape from Arkansas. and purpose defeating our forces at that point. The rebel force is said to be seven thousand. Cape Girardeau has been reinforced by General McNeil, and it is thought that Captain J. P. Foster, of the navy, will come down from St. Louis, with a United States gunboat. The United States gunboat Little States gunboat. The United States gunboat intue

CAMP AT FORT GRISCOM, MOSCOW, TENN., April 5, 1963. ANOTHER REBUKE TO DISLOYALISTS AT HOME.

A meeting of the commissioned officers of the 97th Indiana infantry, at this camp, adopted strong war esolutions, from which the following earnest sentences are extracted. The resolutions were signed by all the officers, and approved by all the men of this gallant regiment: Resolved, That we have heard, with amazement and indignation, of the boldness and baseness of the Secession sympathizers of the North, in their attempts to destroy that Constitution and Union which makes us one of the nations of the earth, and which makes us one of the nations of the earth, and the laws that secure to us all our rights of property, and personal safety, and of their encouragement of the murderers of the generous-hearted men who have left home, family, friends, and comfort, and volunteered to meet toil; hardships, wounds, and death, in defence of our country, and those ingrates who would devote their own children to endless slavery and vexation, that they might gratify a selfish and unnatural appetite for eating dirt in the presence of a few proud and ignorant slavelords, whom they have, with true pagan idolatry, magnified into demigous. presence of a few proud and ignorant stavelords, whom they have, with true pagan idolatry, magnified into demigods.

Resolved, That we have no compromise to offer, no armistice to grant traitors, in or out of arms. Nothing but immediate, unconditional submission to the Federal Constitution and Laws.

Resolved, That each day, in the service of our country, only increases our love and adoration for its liberal, enlightened, and progressive institutions, unequalled since the dawn of history, and that we will stand by the stars and stripes, until, from the copper mines of Lake Superior, to the cane-hields of the Mexican gulf, from the canvas-whitened ports of the Atlantic, to the golden sands of the Pacific, no hand dare raise against it—or until we find bloody graves beneath its waving folds.

Resolved, That while we deplore the present civil war, yet as long as-brigands and buccaneers are anxious to strike at order and justice, so long we delight to fight; and that the land of cotton and rice has, ever since the days of Old Hickory, been a pertiferous swamp, fertile in political miasmas and destructive dogmas, and that we are willing to take the job of effectually cleaning it up, and making it fit for heafter, when the substituted habitation.

REPUBLIC OF MEXICO.

The Campaign in Mexico-A Spanish Account.

The Epoca of Madrid, of April 13, publishes the following letter from Vera Cruz:

Comonfort and Ortega do not agree. The cause of their dissension is that President Juarez has placed Comonfort under the orders of Gonzales Ortega. Generals Traconis, Parte Arroyo, Iglesias, Barreiro, and Parra have been cashiered. Parra has been confined in the island of Los Caballos. The reason of these measures is a plot which has been discovered in favor of Comonfort. The reactionist Arquelles has entered Mexico at the head of three hundred horae, and arrived as far as the Place de Guardiola, about one kilometre from the palace of the Government, where he disarmed a corps de garde. Zacatecas, Aguas Calientes, Lagos San Pedro and San Juan del Rio are in the possession of the reactionists. General Doblado is besieged in Guadalajara. The whole territory of Guanajuato and Nichosgan are in the hands of Meji. General Almonte has left Orizaba, with General Forey, for Quecholac, where the commander-in-chief intends establishing his headquarters. The army which is before Puebla, and which extends from Huamanta to Nopalucan, Quecholac, Aculcingo, and Tecamachules, numbers 21,500 bayonets and 4,500 cavalry. General Bazaine, who is at Nopalucan, has received orders to descend by Tiascala into the valley San Martin, and, until he has taken up a position at Ocotlan and Cholula, so as to cut off the retreat of the enemy, General Forey, with the main body, will continue to menace Puebla. That city cannot resist long. The garrison only numbers 10,000 good troops; the others are raw recruits, who will desert at the first opportunity. All the notable families have left Puebla. Los Puros have gone to Mexico, and the reactionists to Cholula. The battalion of Turcos, attached to the escort of General Forey, has arrived at Orizaba. At Perote the fort is occupied by a French company, and two hundred natives from Zucapoasela, who are greater devils than the Turcos themselves to Eght.

The letter says: "An express from the city of Mexico, on the 9th of April, has just arrived; On the 5th and 6th of April, the French, after severe-fighting and great slaughter, succeeded in retaining a portion of Puebla. On the 7th of April, the Mexicans repulsed them with still greater slaughter, driving them at the point of the bayonet beyond the outposts of the city.

"The French then retired to Cholula, seven miles from Puebla; where they were fortifying themselves."

THE MONEY MARKET. PHILADELPHIA, May 1, 1863.

The impression seems to be very general that gold has found its true value. The stendiness of the market for a week past, during which time good and bad news of an exciting nature have failed to move the market materially, is taken as an argument that 150 is the value of gold in cufrency. The knowledge that Gen. Hooker was moving on the Rappahannock, coupled with fears for his success, and the late reverse at Cherieston, has for his success, and the late reverse at Charleston, has had the effect of keeping gold from declining, while the enormous success of the five-twenty loan had the opposite effect, and prevented an advance. But when the ews is verified that a great victory has been won at Fredericksburg, and the result of to-day's subscrip to the five twenties is announced, we shall see how far these theorists were right. All the gloom of desponding var-critics, coupled with powerful bull interests in Third and Wall streets, have failed to produce an ad vance movement in gold, and a considerable fall may be expected if victory is vouchsafed to us in Virginia. The promise of quick and deathly blows from Rossurans and Grant, and those now falling from the hand of General Banks, will settle the question as to the value of gold Business was active on the street to-day. It is a very graftlying evidence of the generally sound condition of the market, that, although, on the whole, prices are augmenting, still the rising flood is continually checked by a temporary ebb, and the tide of speculation seldom runs so high as to burst the bounds which separate financial stability from panic and disaster.
