THE PRESS.-PHILADE PHIA, FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1863.

Mr. Roebuck's Efforts for Southern Recognition.

The London Spectator reviews the story of the Sheffield speaker's conference with the Emperor Napoleon, from which it does not appear that Mr. Roebuck has gained much belief or respect. The gollowing briefly explains the subject:

Robouck has gained much belief or respect. The following briefly explains the subject: "Mr. Roebuck on Tuesday said that the Emperor of the French stated to him that his Majesty had instructed Baron Gros to ask the British Grovera-ment whether they would be willing to join in recognizing the Confederate States." Baron Gros attimus that he has received no such instructions. Again Mr. Roebuck stated that the Emperor said to him, 'Some months ago I did make a formal application to England. England sent my despatch to America. That despatch, getting into Mr. Seward's hands, was shown to my ambassaior at Washington. It came back to me, and I feel that I was ill-trated by such conduct.' Mr. Layard, on Thursday, replied that the proposal was made on the 10th of November, by reading a despatch which was not left with Earl Russell, but was published in the Moniteur of the 13th of November. The answer, but not the French note, was sent to Lord Lyons, and it was M. Mercier, and not the British Minister, who delivered the proposal to Mr. Seward. Clearly, therefore, either the Emperor asid the thing which was not, "Witch is unlikely, or Mr. Roebuck did, which is more likely ; or the Emperor listened, Mr. Roebuck talked, and both misunderstood one an-other, which is very likely indeed." Reterring to the same subject, Mr. John Bright lately observed in Parliament: "He had destided a convergencing with the bar

Attering to be same surject, Mr. John Bright lately observed in Parliament: "He had detailed a conversation with the Em-peror of the French, and asked them to follow his lead in the greatest question ever submitted to that House. There was a time, when the honorable House. There was a time when the honorable member held very different language. He said he had no faith in the Emperor of the French, and he looked for nothing but enmity and bad faith from him. [Uheers.] He had, however, adopted the cha-racter of Tear lem, and was at his post. He then ex-claimed against his perjured lips hving touched the hallowed check of our beloved Queen. [Uheers.] But now he had been to Paris, and became a conspira-tor with the Emperor to draw his country into a policy hostile to its interests and degrading to its honor."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

THE MONEY MARKET.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16, 1863. There was more disposition to operate to-day, the news of the resumption of business in New York and the con-firmation of the fall of Port Hudson causing a better feeling. Gold was very weak, but did not decline during the forenoon. Towards the close it started up from 123%@126 to 126%, closing with a stronger tendency. The money market continues to show considerable over-abundance, and rates are ruling very moderate. Government securifies are steady, with an increased demand. The five-twenties are iscary, with an increased demand. The five-twenties are having a moderate sale, and we are hoping for quieter times putil the lst of Au-gust, in order that the minds of the people may taken rest from the oxhanisting topic of war alarms and home riots. We feel confident that if a week of entire peace were to be proposed, when we would be allowed to think of something else than strategy, flank move-ments, and death, and we could have a toach of the old-time feeling, there would be such an outpouring of the nation's wealth that the eyes of Ducle Sam would the nation's wealth that the eyes of Uncle Sam would fairly dance. We hope to see such a time soon, but not before the 1st of August next, perhaps. The stock market was stronger to day but somewhat Inactive, a decided feeling for Reading shares being pro-dominant, which opened at 62% and closed at 64 strong, an advance of 1%; Catawissa preferred sold at 22%; Phi-Iadelphia and Erie at 23%; North Pennsylvania sold at 16%; 35 was bid for Long Island; 48% for Little Schuyl-Kill; Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago first mortgages sold at 108%; new City sizes were steady at 108; 92 was bid for North Pennsylvania size; 32 for Schuylkill Navi-gation sizes, 1882; 110 for Pennsylvania mortgages; Cam-

Yesterday quite a breach of the peace occurred in his hitherto loyal and orderly city, and if it had not een for the timely arrival of the "Governor" al he way from Albany, who made a speech against Lincoln's draft," serious consequences might have naued.

Ten o'clock A. M .- The Governor has just made speech to the rioters, asking them to please to go home, and counseling moderation. Half past ten o'clock.—Excellent effect of the Governor's speech. Up to this time but one colored erson hung, and he not a full-grown one. Eleven o'clock.-On their way home the rioters gutted and burned a clothing store, for displaying at he door a white coat similar to the one worn by Iorace Greeley.

Half nast cleven o'clock .- The Government about o take vigorous measures to put down the riot. The Governor is preparing another speech. Twelve o'clock.—A block of buildings burned in Third avenue; one of them was occupied by a man who used to mend Horace Greeley's boots. Half past twelve o'clock .- Thirteen convalescent oldiers sent up to quell the rioters, that now numbered about three thousand. One of the soldiers scaped by feigning dead. One o'clock .- Strangers in the city, particularly those from Philadelphia, dressed in Clothing from Charles Stokes & Co.'s, under the Continental, were obliged to take their clothes off, for fear of being reckoned "aristocrats." Three cheers and a tiger for Governor Seymour and his "quiet and peaceful POLISH INSURGENTS .- The uniform of the Polish insurgents is a close-fitting coat, called a gunke, quite plain, without buttons, or frogs, and nade of coarse brown cloth, gray trowsers, a white black. The cavalry are dressed in the same manner, but their suits cannot compare in fit or quality to those made to order at the Mammoth Military and Civic Ulothing Dépôt of Granville Stokes, No. 609 Chestnut street.
