SCIENTIFIC NEWS.

The Eirctbio Light.—10 the Editors of the Boston Daily Advertiser: Through the kindness of Mr. Ritchle, whose repetit n of the electric light on Thursday evening was so interesting and splendid, I was enabled to make a more satisfactory measurement of the illuminating power of the battery at the State House than I had the means of doing on the occasion of its former exhibition on the 4th of July. As the results of the observation then made were published in your paper, it may perhaps interest some of your readers to have a statement of these later confirmatory and more accurate measurements. The battery in question, consisting of 250 Runsen pairs of the largest size commonly used, was arranged in the dome of the State House, and the carbon light and the photometric apparatus prepared for the purpose were placed in line across the same apartment, commanding a range of about fifty feet. In view of the immense power of the light, as observed in the previous experiment. I substituted for the 20 candle gas-burner, used at that time as the standard of comparison a unit ten times as great, formed by the flame of a kerosene lamp placed in the focus of a small parabolic reflector, and throwing its concentrated light on a photometric screen of prepared paper fixed in front of it, at the distance of five feet. Before the observation, the lamp and reflector were so adjusted as to make the light oast on the near side of the screen equivalent by measure to the action of 200 candles.

A platform supporting the standard lamp and screen at the assigned distance was arranged to slide on a horizontal graduated bar, extending directly toward the carbon points, so that the screen sould receive the rays from the electric light and from the reflector perpendicularly on its coposite faces. In making the observations the platform was moved to and fro until the illumination on the opposite sides of the screen gave by easy computation their relative illuminating power.

By a series of such observations it was found that SCIENTIFIC NEWS. from the screen gave by easy computation their relative illuminating power.

By a series of such observations it was found that the carbon light had a force varying from 62 to 61 times that of the lamp with reflector, making it equivalent in illuminating power to the action of from 10,000 to 12,000 standard sperm candles pouring their light from the same distance upon the surface of the screen. This, it will be remembered, is the effect of the unaided carbon light sending its rays equally in all directions from the luminous centre, and falls, vastly short of the illuminating force of the cone of collected rays which was seen stretching like the tail of a comet from the surface of the great reflector. Judging from some recent experiments on the power of such a reflector to augment the intensity of the light emanating from its focus, there can be no doubt that along the axes of the cone, when brought to its narrowest limits, the illuminating force of the canbon light as displayed on the State House could be rivalled only by that of several millions of candles shining unitedly along the same line. n concluding this brief notice of experiments In concluding this brief notice of experiments and results, which are not, without scientificas well as popular interest, allow me to express the satisfaction which all must feel in the thought that our city has been the first in this country, and perhaps, regarding the magnitude and success of the experiment, the first in the world to make the splendors and the wonders of the electric light a familiar public entertainment as well as a chosen illustration of patriotic feeling.

The Boston Journal says: "A correspondent inand the wonders of the electric light a familiar public entertainment as well as a chosen illustration of patriotic feeling.

The Boston Journal says: "A correspondent informs us that the electric light was seen from Monadnock mountain, in Jaffrey, N. H., which is about eighty miles from Boston by road. The effect is thus described: 'The night was not favorable for observation from the mountain, as there was a heavy mist on and around it, and some fog; still we saw the light very distinctly, and at two or three times it seemed to have a peculiar brilliancy, throwing jets of light up until they were lost in a dark cloud which seemed to hang between us and the light. Whether those jets were coassioned by the motion or revolution of the light, or by the sudden shifting of the very heavy mist or fog by the strong wind which was blowing at the time, we could not tell!"

THE LAKE TUNNEL AT CHICAGO.—The work of Unicago, iree alike from the impurities of sewerage and shore washings, has been decided on by the Common Council, and taken in hand actively by the Board of Public Works. A series of boring experiments have been made, with a view of assertaining the nature of the soil through which the tunnel will pass, and the result is highly satisfactory, each trial showing that, aside from a sandy deposit of a few inches in depth, the bed of the lake is a homogeneous clay, the best material possible through which to drive a funnel. pars, and the result is nightly satisfactory, each trial showing that, aside from a sandy deposit of a few inches in depth, the bed of the lake is a homogeneous clay, the best material possible through which to drive a tunnel.

Commencing at the location of the present water works, a tunnel will be run out a distance of two miles under the bed of the lake, in a direction perpendicular to the shore line, being about two points to the north of east, which will place the terminus opposite the extension of Division street. The tunnel will be five feet in diameter inside, formed of brick, and cemented, unless a vitreous solution should be used, for which the board has received an offer. The tunnel will slope towards the shore, so as to admit being emptied in case repairs are needed, the water being out off at the supply end by means of a gate. The depth will be about sixty-five feet below the surface, which will insure solidity in the clay excavated, carrying the work below the sand in every part, sufficient to issure against flooding by ruture before completion.

The tunnelling will be effected by sinking shafts at intervals of a little more than three-quarters of a mile, so as to allow of the work being prosecuted in six places at once. One will be sunk at the terminus, two miles out; one at the shore, and two-others intermediately. It was at first intended to sink them at intervals of half a mile, but, from some reason or other, that idea has been abandoned. The plan of the crib to be used at each shaft is pentagonal, or consisting of tive equal sides circumscribed about a circle, whose diameter is eighty feet, and will be about forty feet from base to top. It will be built of pine timbers, a foot square, and at distances of eleven feet clear will be two other internal structures of the same strength of material, leaving a central space whose inscribed circle will be thirty feet. These frameworks will be suitably braced together and bolted with thirty-inch bolts or nalls, making the whole crib as firm and compact answer at the present term of the court. acquad of men operating at each end, will be completed in something less than three bundred days of twenty-four hours each, admitting that the work is not interfered with by unforeseen accidents, or retailed by a soil less favorable to progress than the borings already made would indicate.—Chicago Times Times.

A Tin Mink in Missouri.—The discovery of a fin mine in Missouri is announced by a correspondent of the Scientific American. If the report be true and the mine workable, no more important discovery has been recently made public. We have heretofore been entirely dependent upon England and the East Indies for our supply of this important metal. The writer alluded to says, in his communication:

"The lode has a northeasterly and southeasterly bearing, extending nearly one mile, and the two deepest shafts are about three-quarters of a mile apart. The tract embraces about one thousand acres, but the ore is not thought to underlie the whole of it. The great body of the ore lies nestling in a beautiful valley, at the foot of three mountains, whose bases approach each other on a gentle slope, and at the head of a ravine running up from Saint Francois river and Stout's creek, among the mountains.

"These mountains are separated by pretty rivulets "These mountains are separated by pretty rivulets running down their sides and gathering into one at their bases, making a fine and enduring stream of water, flowing the whole length of the tract, and in abundance for all mining purposes. The ore, doubtless, extends under what is called the Blue Mountain, if it does not also under the other two mountains." CANNON .- For several years certain parties have CANNON.—For several years certain parties have endeavored to induce our Government to build a cannon to weigh not over 15,000 or 16,000 pounds, capable of throwing an 800 to 1,000-pound projectile at high velocity. They have always been met with the argument that such a cannon was opposed to the natural laws of force and resistance, and could not be built. We now see that Krupp, of Prussia, in the present year, has made a 11½-inch gun, weighing 17,666 and discharges a bolt weighing 1,000 pounds. This gun, like the one proposed to Government, is a breech-toader. A few such gans would soon level Fort Sumpter.—Boston Journal. would soon level Fort Sumpter.—Boston Journal.

THE DEATH OF SIR ORESSWELL ORESSWELL.—Sir Oresswell Oresswell, one of the most eminent judges on the English bench, died recently from the effects of injuries received in the Park from a runaway horse. He was the fourth son of Francis Easterby, Esq., of Blackheath, who, on marrying an heiress of John Oresswell, Esq., of Oresswell, took the name of that ancient Northumbrian family. He received his education at Cambridge, and in 1819 was called to the bar at the Middle Temple. In 1837, Mr. Oresswell was elected to the House of Commons as member for Liverpool, and continued to represent that city till 1842, when he was appointed one of the Justices of the Common Pleas, and invested with the rank of knighthood. In the year 1863, after the passing of the bill abolishing the old Ecclesiastical Courts of Doctor's Commons, with regard to probate of wills, divorce, and matrimonial causes, and substituting a special and exclusive jurisdiction for those cases, Sir Oresswell Oresswell was appointed by Lord Oranworth as the most fitting person on the judicial bench to fill the office of Judge Ordinary at that court, and by a special act he took rank and precedence next to the Lord Chief Baron.

The London Times thus refers to his subsequent Baron.
The London Times thus refers to his subsequent The London Times thus refers to his subsequent labors:

The work by which Sir Cresswell Cresswell will be remembered is the creation of the Divorce Court. Sir Cresswell Cresswell was appointed to preside here in January, 1888. It was an experiment distrusted at the time by the public, and most dangerous to the reputation of the man who should first undertake it. Sir Cresswell Cresswell's confidence in himself allowed him to accept it, and, as that self-confidence was fortunately in his case, well founded, it enabled him to carry it through. To him chiefly it is owing that the Divorce Court has been a great success. He has made a code of divorce law by his decisions, and hehas based it upon sound, broad principles. As a social lawgiver, Sir Cresswell Cresswell is as great as Lord Mansfield is as a mercantile lawgiver. He has built a bridge in chaos; and if his successor has the prudence to keep to it he may travel without any very violent falls.

The building up of a new system of law must have grown to be a labor of love with Sir Cresswell Gresswell. He had long since earned his pension. He was rich in private means; he was childless, and, indeed, ummarried. It could only have been an absorbing interest in his work, and a desire to consolidate the practice of his court, which could have induced him to toll on in a drudgery which consolidate the practice of his court, which could have induced him to toil on in a drudgery which must have caused him frequent disgust and continual labor. It is true that he was generally appreciated by his countrymen and countrywomen, and was, doubtless, conscious that he was doing his work well; but in the work itself he could have work well; but in the work hear he could have taken no pleasure. He was a hard-working, con-scientious, and successful public servant, and his life has been useful. How few there are who die, and of whom so much as this can be truly said; and who is there among us of whom we could truly say THE HARVEST WORK.—Already the golden-bearded grain is falling before the sickle; the reaper's song is heard from "morn till dewy eve." and the fruitful fields with their long swatts of garnered treasure, seem like a summer sea whose brightness charms and dazzles the eye. Next to a great victory, the assurances of bountful crops and a successful harvest are most gratifying, and we have every reason to believe that our crops this year will not only be satisfactory, but better than the average in quantity and quality. The weather has continued favorable in most parts of the country, and farmers have improved their opportunity. In all the Western States, the heavier part of the harvest is nearly over, and the new crop of grain is and barley are generally good, and there are no apprehensions of a scarcity of these staples. The harvest everywhere promises beneficent results. With fair weather, and no lack of assistance, the crops will be secured in good order, and plenty will reign in the land. "The Heaven Term."—A correspondent of the Boston Daily Advertiser writes: I notice that the press at the "Hub" is gradually adopting a phrase, with which our brethren at the "Metropolis" have lately enriched the English language—I mean "heated term," to indicate what. In Auglo-Saxon, is called "a hot spell" of weather. I would recommend that this rich vein should be worked a little deeper, and that we should call the "cold snap," which usually occurs in February, the "cooled term;" the part of March, when high winds prevail, the "blowed term;" the middle of April the "wetted term, and the Indian summer "the smoked term." THE POLICE.

THE POLIOE.

(Before Mr. Alderman Welding.)

Crushed Truth Must Rise Again.

Contain Henry Uncer, formerly the commander of a company in Col. Hermann Segebarth's 3d Pennsylvania Heavy Artillery Regiment, was arraigned, yesterday afternoon, before Ald. Welding, charged with the larceny of the sum of one thousand five hundred dollars, which had been handed to him by Col. S., to be paid to the members of the company. The following evidence was elicited:

Col. Hermann Segebarth sworn.—I was the colonel of the 3d Pennsylvania Heavy Artillery; I received money from the citizens bounty fund, to be paid to the men in the organization; I paid out a portion of the fund to the different captains, reserving some of the pay to keep the men from deserting. To Captain Unger I gave $1,500, and expressly told him not to pay it out at present to the men, but to keep it until further orders from me; this was the instruction I gave to him; the captain agreed to do so; about fourteen days after this, I was ordered, by the Mayor of Philadelphia, to pay all the men of my regiment; I issued the necessary order, and Captain Unger said that he had spent some of the money, and that he would have to go to Philadelphia to get the amount made up; he saddled his horse and drove away, and that is the last I saw of him; he left the United States service, and I heard that he had escaped to Canada; it was by such work as this that, for the time, my reputation was ruined; I arrived in Philadelphia an evening or two since; a friend called upon me and said that Capt. Unger was in town and wanted to see me, with the view of having the affair arranged; a warrant had been issued for him for some time, and he was arrested; the defendant admitted to the friend that called on me that I had pald him $1,500; I can have the friend here if it is considered necessary.

I can have the friend here if it is considered necessary.

Alderman Welding here instructed the defendant that he had the right to ask the witness any quéstions he might choose as touching the case.

He replied that he had sent a friend to Colonel Segebarth with the view of arranging a settlement of the affair, and did not think he ought to be arrested.

The defendant was required to enter bail in the sum of two thousand dollars to answer at court. We may say here that a German substitute broker was present, who seemed to be highly excited against Colonel Segebarth, but caused the arrest of the captain.

The community will, perhaps, remember the several arrests of Colonel Segebarth for not paying his men the bounty money, for which he was bound over on three separate charges in the sum of five thousand dollars each. This bail was reduced by the court, after a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus. The circumstances looked black against the accused. The parties were all German, and the affair could not be well explained. Besides this, the hearing was exparte, to which we directed attention at the time. Col. S. has, however, outlived the calumny, and now the truth begins to flash out that he was far more sinned against than sinning. [Before Mr. Alderman Beitler.] Superintendent Bound Over.

Superintendent Bound Over.

Mr. Superintendent Concanon, of Washington Square, was held to bail by Alderman Bettler. on the charge of committing an assault and battery upon a couple of young men in Washington Square. This was a cross action. The young men and a young woman had been arrested and bound over by Alderman Dougherty, as has been publicly stated. The whole height and front of the offending of the young men was simply they expressed themselves that the superintendent was entirely too rough in handling the young woman. The young men were seated in the Square when she passed along. They were strangers to her. She stopped and engaged in conversation. The superintendent came along and fook her away. The young men followed to the office, and were then arrested by the superintendent. This constituted the assault and battery upon them. [Before Mr. U. S. Commissioner Smith.] The Substitute Business. The Substitute Business.

John Tiger, a resident of the Nineteenth ward, was arraigned vesterday, at the United States Commissioner's office, on the charge of enticing, a soldier to desert his regiment and to go as a substitute in place of a drafted man. The soldier was detected and made a clean breast of the affair. The defendant was required to enter ball in the sum of $500 to suppure at the present term of the court.

PIRE! FIRE! FIRE! PHILABELPHIA, May 30, 1833.

M. G. Sadler, Esc., Agent for Lellie's Safes:

DHAR SIR: During the night of May 19, 1853, our Groever and Provision Store, at North Second and Willew streets, took fire at about 2 o'clock A. M. and as the store was a two-story wood building it burnt rapidly, and hefore the fire-engines could act upon the fire, our whole stock of goods, including much combustible material, and amounting to over $2,000, were wholly destroyed. We had one of your No. II Chilled Iron Safes, which was in the hottest part of the fire, and it came out of the fire not in the least injured, except the melting off of the name, plate gand paint. The contents inside were not affected in the feast, and we consider the Safe just as good a protection against fire now as before, and shall use it hereafter with increased confidence. The look works as perfectly as before the fire.

Yours truly, Momanus & CROFT,
Late 429 North SEGOND Street. Late 429 North SEGOND Street.

Attention to the above certificate is particularly requested, as it is the first trial of LILLIE'S SAFES in an accidental fire in Philadelphia.

I would say to all parties, who want a Fire and Burglar-proof Safe that LILLIE'S WROUGHT ABD CHILLED IR'N SAFES are much the cheapest and the only real Fire and Burglar-proof Safes now made; and to those who want simply a Fire-proof, I would say that LILLIE'S WROUGHT IRON SAFE is fully-caual in all respects to any of the most-approved makers, and it sold at fully one-third less price.

Laise am receiving daily in exchange for Lillie's Wrought and Chilled Iron Safes other Safes, and keep constantly on hand a general assortment of HERRING'S.

HYANS & WATSON'S, and other makers, many of them almost new, which I offer at, and even below, suction the sarthes interested are marticularly requested to an prices.

All parties interested are particularly requested to examine the Safes above described at my dépôt.
